BOBBY HUGHES AND MUTT M'KEE BOX 12-ROUND DRAW

JACKSON-BROWN GO A BURLESQUE

Hughes and McKee Stage One of Greatest Scraps Ever Seen in Tulsa.

NO DECISION ON FINAL GO

Referee Cochrane Declares Last Fiasco No Contest—George Wins.

By LARRY DAILEY

Stepping through 12 fast rounds of sensational rolling battle Bobby Hughes of New Orleans and Fowler (Mutt) McKee of Oklahoma City tied as pretty a battle as ever fought in the city auditorium-convention hall last night. The draw decision of Referee Edward Cochrane met with great approval. No other verdict would have been acceptable.

Nate Jackson of Oklahoma City and K. O. Brown of New Orleans staged the greatest burlesque on the ring game ever seen here. For 15 rounds they stalled and clinched hardly a clean blow having been landed by either boy during the entire 45 minutes. At the conclusion of the fiasco Referee Cochrane refused to give a decision and declared all bets off.

Just what was the matter with Brown and Jackson no one was able to determine. From the first gong, when they fell into a clinch until the last bell ended their hugging match Jackson and Brown provided the fans with the most laughable spectacle they have seen for some time—better than any Chaplin comedy.

It was fortunate for the future of boxing here that Hughes and McKee staged such a brilliant exhibition. Had it not been for that tilt the fans would have gone away vowing never to return. And they could not have been blamed.

Hughes and McKee fairly scintillated in their wonderful speed and cleverness. Both took and gave with equal ability. Scarce a blow did they miss, while their punches carried steam and accuracy. Clean boxing, toe-to-toe slugging and clever work was shown by those boys. It saved the game for Tulsa.

Hughes started fast and had the better of the going in the early rounds. Until the eighth round the bout was all in favor of Bobby. At this stage McKee rallied and aided by a slight weight and reach advantage evened up the argument.

It was a far different Hughes than the boy that boxed Earl Puryear here about a year ago. Hitting with greater power, assimilating punishment without being visibly affected and boxing cleverly, Hughes showed that predictions that he is a coming champion have not been in vain.

McKee also was a different boy than in his last appearance here. Mutt's infighting was superior to that of Hughes. McKee presented a powerful defense and there is no doubt that Mutt has arrived as a topnotcher.

Four rounds are given Hughes, four to McKee and four were even. The first, seventh, ninth and 12th frames were a toss-up. Hughes had the second, third, fourth and fifth, while McKee is given the eighth, ninth, 10th and 11th.

It was McKee's infighting which, aided by his slight superiority in weight and reach, earned for him a draw. Hughes showed superior form in open fighting and was the aggressor throughout most of the bout.

Bobby Hughes has been matched to box Earl Puryear in the second 15-round go preceding the Harry Greb-Bill Brennan tilt here July 4, and judging by Hughes' work last night Puryear, despite the fact that Early is to battle for the title with Pete Herman Labor day, the local boy will not be a heavy favorite, if he is the choice at all.

Fred "Kid" George of California stopped Glen Bartles of Tulsa in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round bout. Bartles was in no condition while George showed he has come back to excellent form. After the third round it was only a question of how long Bartles could stay. The hard hitting Tulsan was not knocked out—he was simply too tired to have continued another frame.

OKLAHOMA LEADS U. S. IN ARMY RECRUITING

And Tulsa Is Leader of the Leading State, Report of Col. John G. Tyndall Shows.

Tulsa's recruiting record for the last month is a matter of pride to those in charge of the local station, for the reason that it is ahead of the record of the headquarters station in Oklahoma City which surpassed every other station in the United States in the percentage of recruits to the population, according to a report from Col. John G. Tyndall, in charge of the Oklahoma district.

Oklahoma's percentage was almost double that of its nearest competitor, Indianapolis. New York came third and Chicago took fourth place.

Friday was the big day for this month, 11 men having been accepted at the local recruiting station. Nine of these were previous service men. More men have already been sent to Oklahoma City this month than were recruited in the entire month of May.

BORDER AMY SURGEON DEAD FROM EXCITEMENT

EL PASO, Texas, June 16.—When his orderly went to his office at military headquarters today he found Maj. T. B. McCown, district surgeon, lying dead on the floor. He was last seen alive at 11:30 p. m. Sunday. It was stated at headquarters today that the excitement due to the military expedition against Villa forces in Juarez probably caused his death from heart disease. Major McCown was unmarried and came here from Fort Hauchuca, Ariz.

Reisler Announces Another All-Star Card Independence Day.

ONE OF GREATEST CARDS

Both Scraps to Go 15 Rounds—Ticker to Announce the Title Go.

In keeping with his policy of providing great boxing shows for local fans, John J. Reisler, promoter of the Tulsa Sporting club, last night announced another all-star card which promises to equal in class, that night's brilliant show. Harry Greb of Pittsburgh and Bill Brennan of Chicago, light heavyweights, and Bobby Hughes of New Orleans and Earl Puryear of Tulsa clash in two 15-round bouts at Convention hall July 4. In addition, there will be a ticker from the ringside at Toledo which will convey news of the world's heavy title mill.

Harry Greb is the husky who in three years has battled his way from obscurity to a place at the top of the pugilistic ladder. His meteoric career rivals that of that other sensational battler, Jack Dillon. Greb is a fitting successor to the giant killer. Arising to a place of prominence at the time of Dillon's decline, Greb shortly established himself as a wonderful fighter—as a man capable of holding his own with any boxer of his weight in the game.

Greb started as a welterweight but soon took on the added poundage, fighting his way through the middle limit to the light-heavy class.

While boxing as a middleweight, Greb defeated Mike Gibbons, Jack Dillon twice, Bob Moha, twice, Mike O'Dowd, Jeff Smith, Soldier Bartfield and others. He has knockouts over Greek George Brown, Frank Mantel in addition to others of lesser prominence. Battling Levinsky, Jim Coffey and Willie Meehan are some of the light-heavies who were victims of the smoky city man's slashing attack.

Brennan was defeated by Billy Miske here a few weeks ago, the St. Paul battler winning by a shade. Although Miske was entitled to the decision, Brennan put up a great battle which indicates he must yet be considered as a championship contender.

The banlams need no introduction to Tulsa fans. Puryear defeated Jack Loadman in a great bout here several weeks back and is matched with Champion Pete Herman here Labor Day. Hughes is one of the new sensations of the ring, with all the earmarks of a coming champion and will give the popular local boy a great fight when they meet.

Daily Dope By Larry Daley

Unusually in a boxing battle for the heavyweight title it is the condition of the champion that the fans are most interested in. It is taken for granted that the challenger will be in the best shape possible but the crown wearer, some times with years of ring service behind, is subject to much conjecture regarding his condition. So it was with Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson, when the former was beaten by the dinge and when the latter succumbed to Willard.

When articles were signed for the battle between Willard and Dempsey there were doubts expressed as to Jess' ability to get into shape—that the months out of the ring had seriously impaired his fighting ability. Dempsey, the youthful challenger with numerous fights added to his record the past year was thought to be in the best condition—and it was upon his youth and vigor against Willard's age and nonring appearance for several months that Dempsey was conceded an even chance or better by many ring critics.

Since both men have got down to active work, however, no doubts have been expressed regarding Willard's condition, while, contrary to ring tradition, Dempsey, according to stories sent out from Toledo, may not be in as good shape as the champion.

Willard was not hog fat. While he has not been engaging in matches for some time, working in his circus has provided him with plenty of boxing. Then, the outdoor, wholesome life by the champion in his country home near Lawrence, Kansas, has greatly benefited him. Nature is the greatest trainer of them all and Willard is one of nature's greatest lovers. The clean life lived by the champion, the shunning of the white lights and refusal to enter into the fast life so often lived by a champion and for which Jess has been the target of much unjust criticism, will bear fruit July 4.

Making one-night stands during his vaudeville engagements is not conducive to the best results in training for a title mill. An injury received during a sparring exhibition may hamper the challenger—though nothing regarding that injury has been written lately. It was during one of Jack's vaudeville performances that his sparring partner became enraged when hard hit and before Jack Kearns could ring the bell, both were mixing it in lively fashion. Two of Dempsey's ribs were badly hurt during that encounter.

Willard has not defended his title for some time. It is true that he will be in condition July 4 Dempsey will probably be in great shape too. And you can bet that no great fighter with Willard's size will whip a man not any better and probably not so good.

With the reporting to the Oilers of Wayne Barham, pitcher hopes of the fans are again given a fresh start. Several times during the season it looked as though the Oilers would have had the proper combination only to discover another weakness.

There is nothing wrong with the catching. In fact, in Mickey O'Brien the Abbotts have one of the best catchers in minor league baseball, a lad who looks like big league timber. Marion is a capable receiver. Cleveland and Wuffli form the best combination on the left hand side of the diamond in the league. Goodwin is a heady, clever fielding second baseman.

Tilly, Burke and Davis form a formidable outfield trio, without a superior in the league. First base is the only doubtful place. Slattery fields well but his hitting appears to be weak. Brokaw is a better stocker than Slattery and would make a capable man on the initial sack.

Barham comes highly touted and the pitching corps needs a man of his ability. Haines has not been going good. Salsbury is overworked. While Bayne is, consequent good form and the addition of one more capable tosser, the Oilers will present a club that should be up there in the race.

New Pitcher Reports to the Oilers; Abbotts Are Home Tomorrow

Wayne Barham, new addition to the Oilers' pitching staff and who won nine and lost two games with the Vancouver club of the Northwestern league this season, reported yesterday and may work in Wednesday's game with St. Joseph.

There are no games scheduled in the Western league today, the northern clubs traveling south, where they open a 14-day stand, the last invasion of this section by the clubs on the other end.

Fourteen games are scheduled on this trip and three postponed contests must be played. During the long stay here this month the Abbots must make a drive toward the top to be in shape to hold their own when they start their long swing around the circuit in July.

BILL BRENNAN is coming back to Tulsa. Within a few days the Pittsburgh heavyweight who sprung such a surprise here recently by forcing Billy Miske to the limit to gain a decision will be here to begin training for his encounter with Harry Greb at the Tulsa Sporting club on July 4. He will be gladly welcomed for he made a big hit with Tulsa fandom when he was here before. Not such a royal welcome, however, awaits Leo P. Flynn who will accompany him. Tulsa does not forget that on his previous visit to the city he openly charged Referee Cochrane with deliberately throwing the decision to Miske for a monetary consideration, said considerating being connected with certain wagers he said he had seen made by a couple of Cochrane's Kansas City friends whom he had brought here to act as his betting commissioners.

So far as Cochrane is concerned, he has not suffered any loss of prestige because of the attack. Neither has the boxing game, for the charges were so preposterous on their face as to be universally discredited. Cochrane's reputation for honesty and competency is too well known to allow such accusations made by one so notorious for his asinine breaks as Flynn to gain credence. On the spur of the moment, he carried a few of his hirelings and henchmen and a few Brennan partisans with him, but the pendulum of public opinion soon swung back the other way until now Cochrane's popularity is greater than it ever has been before.

It is unfortunate that Brennan is encumbered by such a manager. Bill is a likable big fellow. He is a fair fighter and in his battle here early in the spring he showed that he is game. He could be kept fairly busy were if not for the fact that Flynn is persona non grata in cities other than Tulsa, and it is a striking recognition of Brennan's popularity that John Reisler has brought him back to Tulsa in the face of Flynn's terrible and inexcusable blunder.

Jack Kearns and others of Jack Dempsey's handlers would be doing their charge a favor if they would cease nagging the champion. Three times in his career as a pugilist Jess has been made "fighting mad." All three were knocked out and one of them never did wake up. Every few days recently someone has pulled something that has riled the title holder and if they keep on there is liable to be another disaster. The most recent piece of fuel was the discovery the other day that Kearns was slipping into the Casino to spy on Willard while he works. Naturally the champion was very much peeved when he learned of it and has sent word to the challenger's camp that he will be glad to have any of Dempsey's sparring partner's work with him some afternoon so they can get information as to his condition first hand.
