With the Oil Men

L. C. Huntley, of Pittsburgh, Pa., [illegible] city and has probably [illegible] as interesting a career as any of them and is largely responsible for the development of the [illegible] & Transport Corporation and he says that he left the management of the domination [illegible] large shareholders, who [illegible] here, whose personality was strong for him. Mr. Huntley is noted as a geologist and is the author of a lot of good geological stuff on Mexico. In speaking of [illegible] years being sent out from New York by the Island Oil & Transport Corporation that they have a well at 28.5 gravity. Mr. Huntley says that the well was shot while he was still connected with the concern at this depth of 1,4[illegible] and that the gravity was [illegible] high for Mexican stuff but the well was located to far away from the transportation, to be of great value.

[illegible] H. Kelsey, of the Prairie Oil & Gas company, is back from a five [illegible] trip which took him through the Texas fields, and later to New York and Chicago. He says that the weather in New York two days [illegible] the hottest ever known for June and that he is mighty glad to get back to this delightful climate. He says though he was extremely pleased with the way things are going with his company.

H. C. Meyer, general manager for the Riverside Eastern, the Riverside Western, and the Riverside Oil company of Illinois, at Pittsburgh, Pa., is in the city and says that the tank wagon price situation in Chicago is soon going to be properly cleared up. He thinks that the new arrangement will mean that the garages are going to have a differential of one cent per gallon and that the price will be be a to at least 24 cents per gallon. This will certainly be good news to the great number of cooperative plants in Oklahoma who have been selling their stuff at 20 1-2 cents long enough.

James E. Carroll, attorney for the Prairie Oil & Gas company, with headquarters in Independence, Kansas, is in the city on company business.

John Cleary, of the Kelsey-Cleary Oil company, who now makes headquarters at Ponca City, has been in town for a few days and received the glad hand from a large circle of friends.

J. G. Rodgers, prominent lease man of Independence, Kansas, is in the city on business.

W. G. Skelley, prominent oil producer of this city left last night for a business trip through the Texas fields.

VIGOROUS RECOVERY IS MADE BY STOCKS

Rally Results When Call Money Rate Is Unexpectedly Reduced Prices Make General Advance.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Stocks made vigorous recovery today from the [illegible] depression of the previous session in numerous instances to more than all of last week's losses. The rally resulted mainly from the unexpected relaxation of the rate for call money.

Loans opened at 9 per cent but soon fell to 6 on offerings of new money from local and interior institutions. The demand was normal however, in competition with yesterday's urgent requirements.

Dealings centered very extensively in stocks which suffered greatest impairment in last week's reaction, especially oil and motors, their rubber subsidiaries, American woolen and some of the local tractions and miscellaneous issues, including Interborough consolidated pfd, Brooklyn Transit, Industrial Alcohol, International Paper and American Ice.

Shippings also rallied briskly with support to tobaccos and leathers, and United States Steel made up all but its smallest fraction of the preceding days 1-8 point decline, while American Car, Bethlehem Steel, Harvester and Baldwin Locomotive developed marked strength.

Remittances to London and Paris weakened slightly and further exports of gold were reported, including a large consignment to South America.

Bonds were firm in the main, in sympathy with some irregularity in foreign issues and foreign war loans. Old U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

New Wales Oil Refinery

World's Washington Bureau,
Tulsa Building.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The department of commerce today made public the following dispatch from United States Vice Consul Bernard F. Haie stationed at Swansea, Wales, concerning the establishment of a new oil refinery in that part of Great Britain. The dispatch, which is dated May 8, 1919, is as follows:

"The creation by the Anglo Persian oil company of extensive refinery works at Forsyth, near Swansea, is viewed from both the national and the local standpoint as one of the most important undertakings ever contemplated in South Wales. It will be the first refinery of any importance to be erected in the United Kingdom for the complete refining of imported crude petroleum. There are four refineries for the redistillation of various petroleum products and also one or two which are capable of handling imported crude oil to the extent of removing the lighter products for the purpose of obtaining the residuum, but there is no other refinery in this country capable of extracting all the various products (benzine, kerosene, gas oil, heavy fuel oil, etc.), which this new plant will be capable of turning out when complete.

"Large concessions of valuable oil lands in Persia have been acquired by the company, which will transport the crude oil to Swansea by means of its own fleet of tank steamers. Swansea is to be the western distributing center. On arrival at this port the oil in its crude state will be pumped three miles to the refineries on the Skewen Burrows. Having undergone refining, the oil will be pumped back again to the King's dock, Swansea, where extensive storage tanks, wharfage accommodation, etc., will be provided on land recently leased from the Swansea harbor trust. The company contemplates a total expenditure of about $25,000,000.

"The site chosen for the works will eventually cover 1,000 acres. Some 1,400 men are already engaged in excavation and preliminary work, and great progress during the summer months is anticipated.

"The works, when completed, will offer employment, directly or indirectly, to between 3,000 and 4,000 people. To house the workers, the company has organized an extensive housing scheme and is already proceeding with the erection of some 300 dwellings in the Neath district. It also is planning to set aside a recreation ground for employes and to build a hall, to be used not only for social meetings, but also for work of an educational character in connection with the petroleum industry.

"The new industry will be a great commercial asset to this port, the revenue from dock charges and dues alone is estimated by the Swansea Harbor trust at $200,000 to $300,000."

Telegraphers Discuss Plan of Asking President to Intervene to Bring End to Walkout.

CHICAGO, June 17.—The climax to observations made across of company and telegraphers officials will be reached within 24 hours, union leaders declared tonight after a meeting of executive strike headquarters here.

A telegram was sent to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, stating that the strikers would abide by Mr. Gompers' word in a conference to be held by Mr. Gompers and other federation officers and representatives of the union officials. At one of these conferences the question of placing the strike situation before President Wilson for a settlement will be discussed.

Officers of the Order of Railway Telegraphers announced today that 50 per cent of the Western Union employes had been affected by the strike of railroad operators, and claimed for business men and others of delaying the strikers in the fight for the right of collective bargaining.

This statement was refuted by officers of the Association of Western Union Employes, who declared business was handled that only slight inconvenience is caused by the action of railroad operators and that reports to the Postal Telegraph company strikers are returning to work in a day or two.

An attempt by the Association of Western Union Employes to have the order of Railway Telegraphers to refuse instructions for refusal to handle commercial business was made when the latter organization severed the association with being dominated by Western Union officials and charged that it was not a union body.

Replying, the association officials denounced the attitude of the railroad telegraph leaders and declared the "disgruntled persons" directing the strike do not represent the commercial telegraph craft.

Union officials said that in a number of towns electrical workers, particularly telephone operators, had gone on strike.

S. J. Konenkamp, international president of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, claimed tonight that labor bodies in various parts of the country were pledging support to the wire strikers and that the number of men idle was steadily increasing.

Youthful in Body and Mind

Never mind your age—as measured by years. How do you feel? That's the thing that counts!

See this sprightly old gentlemen coming toward you down the street. His birth record would show you that he is past seventy. But judging from the easy grace with which he swings along, his erect carriage, his ruddy complexion, the keen glance of his eye, his whole appearance the very picture of health, you would say that he is not a day past fifty. He is young in spite of his three score years and ten.

More frequently you see the opposite of his type. Men scarcely in their thirties—haggard, listless, weak, nervous—men who take no interest in life, just dragging out a weary existence, all in, tired and worn out. Though young in years, they are, nevertheless, old men. Their vital forces are on the wane. They've lost their "punch" and "pep." They feel old—and they look it!

Stay young by keeping your body fit. Keep stomach, bowels, liver, kidneys and bladder healthy and active. Build up your strength and health. Nothing will accomplish these results better than

Buckskin Tubes Have This Extra Long Splice—

Many a tube that is otherwise Okay, gives out at this point. "Splice too skimpy" is the reason the tireman usually gives. And you're out the price of another tube.

There's nothing skimpy about the Buckskin's splice. It is extra long—from 2¾ to 3 inches. Some tubes' splices are as short as a half inch.

Because the Buckskin's splice is extra long, it permits effective welding of the overlapping ends. These are joined by the acid cure making the Buckskin virtually one piece. A short skimpy splice usually indicates a "vulcanized joint" and an over-vulcanized weak spot in the tube. The acid-cured splice is always the best, but must be a long, liberal one to eliminate all danger of air bubbles and leaks. The Buckskin splice is acid-cured and extra long.

The Buckskin is the tube made for the Southwest climate. Hot, dry weather won't affect it. The Buckskin will not crack or stretch. It keeps its life and shape indefinitely. Is extra thick and tough. But you can get the Buckskin at the price of an ordinary tube.

If your dealer is out of the Buckskin, he can get it for you from the close-by distributor. Ask about the phenomenal Buckskin guarantee before you buy your next tube. Look for the Indian head on the Buckskin's gray box.
