INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL GOES TO TECUMSEH

That Is, If the Board of Affairs Approves the Recommendations of the Managers.

Special to The World.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 18. The board of managers of the Oklahoma Industrial School for Girls located near the statehouse has approved the suggestion that the institution be moved to Tecumseh. The removal of the school rests with the state board of affairs.

George P. Clark, member of the board of affairs stated Tecumseh recently to inspect the sites tendered by people of that town and receive their proposal for locating the school there. Two sites were offered, one containing a little less than 160 acres located on the Williams high way and the other of about 84 acres near the southern boundary of the town. Mr. Clark favors the smaller site and says that it compares excellent and ample land, good water and all of the advantages he believes the board has in mind. It is possible that the matter will be disposed of within a few days.

During the session of the seventh legislature, when the school, sometimes referring to as the Tecumseh Home, was under investigation, the town of Boff in Pontotoc county made a fight to have the school transferred to that place. The legislature finally left the relocation of the institution in the hands of the board of affairs.

FORMER CROWN PRINCESS VISITS PRINCE'S REFUGE

LONDON, July 18.—The former German Crown Princess Cecelie will visit the island of Wieringen where the former crown prince is living, it was semi-officially announced today at The Hague according to Central News dispatch.

Divorce proceedings were said to have been begun by the former Princess Cecelie in April, according to a Zurich dispatch. There has been nothing to show, however, that papers in the case were ever filed, although a statement giving alleged incidents of cruelty was issued by the former princess' mother, the former grand duchess Anastasie of Mecklenburg-Schwerin.

Earlier dispatches from Berlin to Zurich reported the former crown prince had begun divorce proceedings, but this also remained unconfirmed.

The former crown prince and the former Princess Cecelie were married in June 1905. They have five children, the youngest four years old.

EXPLAIN TREATY, PRESIDENT SAYS

explanation of the treaty without a single change.

The senate worked most of the day on the army civil appropriation bill, but issues of the treaty fight were brought to the surface during the session by senator Fall, republican, New Mexico, who offered an amendment introduced by Senator Jones, stating that it is proposing to declare a state of peace with Germany. After a long debate and the amendment were on on a point of order.

The treaty resulted in a quorum call however, and helped break up a meeting of the foreign relations committee. Beginning of concluding the reading of the treaty this week, the committee decided to sit joint with Monday. The senate also adjourned to Monday.

Wilson Is Firm.

At the conference with republican senators today President Wilson is understood to have taken a definite stand against referring the league of nations covenant, plan of withdrawal or any other immediate issues of the war to have been finally settled. He also is said to have re-emphasized the conviction that article 10 of the league covenant must not be weakened if the league is to accomplish its purposes.

Senator Capper said he saw no attempt on Mr. Wilson's part to influence senate opinion except as he might do so by presenting the facts back of the treaty provisions. The president's attitude was not a belligerent one, the Kansas senator added, but rather reflected a desire to impart information and answer all questions that senators might put to him.

Senator McNary described his talk with the president as "very pleasant."

Other republican senators are expected to be invited to the white house on Monday.

senate, was informed today by Senator Fall, republican of New Mexico.

Senator Fall said the action of the American troops was not generally known, and that they were hard pressed to refrain not "to take any action that might result in controversy with the Carranza government."

With adequate orders to prevent raids and to protect American lives and property, the senator declared, one-half of the troops now on the border could guide it adequately. He praised their conduct.

Senator Fall read telegrams from Governor Lazaroff, New Mexico, and Hardy of Texas, protesting against the threatened withdrawal of the 4th cavalry through the promulgation of the order.

Chairman Wadsworth of the military committee said conferences with commanders for the army had been so reduced that there would be no more firing before after September 25.

Senator Hitch, Arizona said the war department had assured him every possible precaution would be taken to guard the border but that others received by him from border states indicated that the inhabitants here were not satisfied with conditions.

LAWYERS TWIST HIM, FORD SAYS

fore is expected to bring out and it seems to me that it makes no difference what anyone thought about it or knew about it. Whatever is there, is there, and the suit has been based upon it. It is a matter of law and fact whether he is entitled to recover damages for what was published.

"It seems to me, your honor, that if the man who brings his suit cannot find anything in it that bears on that question that said (alleg) is a matter for the jury to consider. Here is the man who says that his feelings were injured by it. Now I want to find out what it was that hurt his feelings."

Mr. Ford said to Mr. Stevenson:

Reads But Little.

"I will give you a little explanation of the way I feel. I myself very seldom read anything else except the headlines of any article. That is one of the objects of this case, to try and have people stick to the truth a little more behind their headlines."

In one comment on the editorial, Mr. Ford said he considered the whole article as bad but Mr. Stevenson objecting to the "fact" the fact that nothing was said about bomb throwing or overturning the government under democratic objectionable. When the lawyer read the statement that he takes the men who stands between him and services and punishes them for the service which protects him, Mr. Ford said that it was not true.

"Have you heard that as a result of our anti-preparedness efforts only 19 of your 20,000 employees attended a militia encampment?"

"But I don't know about that, Mr. Stevenson. It was on the Detroiter. I hired him to be my waiter on those things and took him to state only fairs. I understood that he carried our instructions. I have no personal knowledge of such a thing."
