MOORE MAKES FIGHT TO BE ALLOWED BOND

Former Bootlegger Held for First Degree Murder Starts Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

ANOTHER MAN IS IN AFFAIR

Neighbor Tells Court She Saw Mrs. Moore Hugging and Kissing While Husband Was in Jail.

Habeas corpus proceedings to free Dud Moore from the county jail where he is being held on a charge of murder, were instituted in the district court late Friday afternoon by D. M. Martindale, Moore's attorney. Moore was held for the district court at the close of his preliminary hearing Friday morning, Judge R. C. Maxey announcing that the evidence justified trial in the district court on charge of murder. Hearing on the habeas corpus will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning in the district court.

Moore's preliminary hearing occupied the greater part of two days, finally adjourning shortly before noon Thursday morning. Moore did not take the stand at any time during the trial, although witnesses for the defense took up the entire second morning.

At the opening of the hearing on Friday morning, the defense tried to show that someone may have entered the building and shot the woman, offering as testimony threats made against Mrs. Moore's life.

George T. Bonstein, an attorney in the office of D. M. Martindale, testified that he had heard a man and woman threaten to kill Mrs. Moore within a year. Mrs. Moore had sent to jail a man by the name of Collins who had been working for her and on his release both he and his wife told her that "she would cash in her checks within a year," and that she "couldn't get by with anything like that."

She Borrowed Revolver.

A. G. Thorne, residing in the house next to Moore, said that men and women were coming to the house at all hours of the night and that he has seen several young men hanging around the house.

That Mrs. Moore was in possession of the gun was the testimony of D. M. Martindale, Moore's attorney. Martindale said that she had borrowed a gun from him in April as Jack Dykes, a man who was living at the house, had lost hers. Later he lost the one Martindale loaned her and she promised to replace it with one she had taken from Moore after his return from the penitentiary. Moore had come into the house and had found a hat belonging to Dykes lying on a chair. According to Martindale's testimony Moore was excited and had to be pacified before he gave up the revolver.

Dykes was at one time early in the summer held on a murder charge at Independence, Kan., and was released through the efforts of Mrs. Moore and Martindale, who made the trip to that city to free him. The murder charge is still pending, Martindale said.

On cross examination Martindale admitted that Mrs. Moore had told him a few days before her death that she expected trouble from her husband and that she might call on him any minute.

Equally sensational was the testimony of Mrs. Singleton, who lived over the Moore garage at the time of the shooting, repeated by both attorneys in the absence of the witness, Mrs. Singleton had seen Dykes and Mrs. Moore in compromising positions several times. Mrs. Moore sitting on the man's lap and hugging and kissing him. The ladder which several witnesses said they saw against the house and which the defense tried to prove had been used as a means of entrance to the house, Mrs. Singleton said was lying beneath the stairs on the outside of the garage covered with boxes and was there when she returned to the premises at 10 o'clock on the morning of the shooting.

Must Have Been Murdered.

At the close of the trial Judge Maxey, in summing up the evidence, said that from the evidence introduced it was a physical impossibility for the woman to have shot herself and that it was unreasonable to believe that anyone who might have entered the house to kill her would have entered Moore's room and fired at him after killing Mrs. Moore, as the testimony of several witnesses showed that the two shots had been fired after the first which must have killed her. Judge Maxey said that he would recommend that the district court allow Moore the privilege of bond.

SHERIFF SAYS BOYS ARE STEALING CARS IN TULSA

Two Ford cars were recovered east of the city Friday by Sheriff James Woolley, making a total of four found in the same vicinity within the last week. One of the cars was a Ford delivery truck driven there by two boys who abandoned it and ran through a corn field shortly before the sehriff arrived. The other car was a roadster stolen from Oklahoma City on May 10, the body having been changed since that time.

According to Woolley a gang of boys are driving cars out of the city and shifting the bodies on them during the night. No arrests have been made in connection with the auto cases.

Discloses Air Scandal Before Parliament

Earl Stanhope.

In a fiery denunciation on the floor of the British parliament of conditions in the Women's Royal Air Force during the war, Lord Stanhope disclosed what probably will be the biggest British scandal of the war. Through his vigorous stand the house of lords have ordered an inquiry into the dismissal of Miss Vinie Douglas Pennant from the command of the Women's Royal Air Force. The lady commander was dismissed on the ground of her alleged "unpopularity." Earl Stanhope declares it was due to her efforts to put an end to laxity and immorality in the force. The Earl, in his scathing denunciation, stated that girl members of the force, training as motor drivers, who were given all night leave, often returned to the station in a very drunken condition and driving government cars. He also stated that following Miss Pennant's dismissal a colonel whom she had removed was reinstated and lived in the same quarters as some of his subordinates.

REDUCED OIL RATES FOR OKLAHOMA-TEXAS

Independent Refineries Granted Reduction Effective September 6, Railroad Officials Say.

A reduction in freight rates on petroleum from the Texas oil fields to Oklahoma refineries, effective September 6, has been announced by the United States railroad administration, according to information received in Tulsa Friday. The reduction is regarded as a victory for independent refineries, as under the old rates they would have been unable to compete with the Standard Oil company's pipe-line transportation.

The reduction was effected by Congressman E. B. Howard, who took the matter up at the request of the Western Refiners' association and the Tulsa Traffic association.

With the group system of rates for incoming oil upheld, Tulsa was placed in group No. 3 with Muskogee and Vinita, as under the same system for outgoing oil.

The new rate for group No. 3 is a reduction of about 6 cents a barrel on shipments, Tulsa now getting oil from the northern Texas fields at 20½ cents and from the Ranger field at 23 cents.

Brady Wins in Police Court.

Two residents of the Gurley addition were arrested yesterday on complaints of the city health department that their premises were not kept clean. The case will come up in police court today. Among those ordered arrested recently was W. T. Brady. It was complained that some of his property on North Boston street was in an unsanitary condition. The cases against him were dismissed, the court holding that the tenants were the responsible parties and not the owner.

Laborers Strike for More Money and Road Work Is at Standstill

The first indication of an organized movement among common laborers for a wage increase came Friday morning when perhaps 25 men employed on a road job in the hands of Joe Lantry, local contractor, walked off the job upon refusal of an increase in pay from 45 and 50 cents an hour to 62½ cents an hour.

Lantry stated late Friday that he would not meet the increase demands of the men and that they are merely imbued with the high wage fever which is sweeping the country. No adjustment was made and the road work is at a standstill.

C. O. Eyre, now pushing construction on the Tulsa-Sand Springs road, stated that if further demands for increase in the common labor wage scale are made upon him he will be forced to discontinue work, according to C. B. Douglas, general secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Although the walkout on the Lantry job was not an organized move, reports from various sources indicate that such a move is being fostered among the laborers.

NEW BUYING SYSTEM IS ADOPTED BY CITY

Requisition Method Will Centralize All Purchases in the Auditor's Department.

TAKE IN ANOTHER ADDITION

Congressman Howard Asked to Introduce Bill in Congress Asking Government to Pay Sewer Tax.

Hereafter all purchases of materials necessary to the operation of the various departments of the city government will be made through requisition upon the office of Charles F. Burke, city auditor, it was definitely decided at the meeting of commissioners Friday morning following reading of a survey of city business affairs and an audit of city books, rendered by Evans A. Nash, certified public accountant, in which the auditor strongly recommended the requisition system.

The commission evidenced favorable for the requisition system and the new plan was unanimously adopted. It is positively stated that such a system will simplify accounts at the auditor's office and that an accurate check can be kept at all times on city accounts outstanding.

For example: If the water department was to purchase 40 pounds of lead, requisition for this commodity would be made upon the auditor. With the auditor's approval the purchase would be made and a record of the deal would be on file in two offices. The system has been for each department to purchase outright, the bill being presented by the merchant at a later date and necessitating approval from the department making the purchase before issuance of warrant.

The report of Accountant Nash showed that despite war prices and conditions the city has operated throughout the fiscal year and has a surplus of funds applicable to all departments. Upon recommendation of the public accountant certain obsolete phases of bookkeeping which have been in use at the city auditor's office are abolished with the result that the bookkeeping system is improved.

Several of the minor funds have been consolidated with the general fund eliminating the necessity for various kinds of warrants and placing several accounts under one general heading. The report also recommends that accounts and records of a more strict nature be kept by the clerks of the municipal criminal court. City Auditor Burke collected $3,600 in long standing accounts due the city during the past year according to the report of Nash. In conclusion the report states that business and accounts of the city are in excellent condition and that the administration should be proud of such a state.

Contrary to the recommendation of H. H. Wyss, city engineer, suggesting that because of lack of competition in bidding the contract for paving amounting to 64,000 yards at a blanket cost of $5.40 per yard, $302,400 in all, awarded recently to the Parker-Washington paving company through David McCormick, annulment would be the proper procedure, the city commission ratified the contract.

It was stated that the great need of paving necessitates immediate action and was in influence with the commission. The streets affected are sections of Wheeling avenue, Norfolk, Newport, Owasso, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Tracey Park place, Denver, Elwood, Boston, Fifteenth, Buena Vista, Rockford, Troost, Utica and Swan drive.

It was stated at the meeting that the Conway paving company of Chicago, a large firm expected in on the bids, had opportunity to bid but did not. Another letting of 12,000 yards of paving is scheduled for August 19 at which time the commission hopes for competition in bidding.

Ask U. S. to Pay Tax.

A resolution calling upon Congressman E. B. Howard of the first Oklahoma district to present a bill to congress through which an appropriation will be made for governmental payment of sewer assessments upon the old fairgrounds property, commonly known as "rag town" and "squatters addition" and not city property but a portion of Creek Indian lands, was passed by the city commission.

The land in question is located on West Archer. It has been improved by the city with sewage to the extent of work and material costing $42,39 in all. The city is asking the government to foot this bill which is chargeable to no other source.

Less Railroad Noise.

Complaints filed some time ago with the commission by Judge J. A. Gilphant and E. W. Henshaw to the effect that railroads of Tulsa were acting in bad faith by blocking street crossings for more than 15 minutes and sounding engine whistle signals at all hours of the night were satisfied at the meeting Friday.

Letters from the various railroads accused advised the commission that the annoying actions of rail employes had been ordered stopped and that the railroads desire immediate notification in case of further trouble.

Another Addition Joins City.

Mountain View addition was unanimously voted into the corporate limits of Tulsa by the commission upon receipt of a petition from property owners. A petition for sanitary sewage systems for Capitol Hill addition was also approved by the commission.

GOVERNMENT SENDS SHIP AFTER BOY WHO ENLISTS

Uncle Sam will send an airplane to call for John Herman, a Tulsa boy, who enlisted in the air service and was sent to Oklahoma City yesterday. The plane will carry Herman to Post Field, Fort Sill.

Dee Alderman, also of Tulsa, enlisted in the infantry for one year, at the army recruiting office yesterday. Walter H. Ramsey of Mountain Home, Ark., went in the medical corps for one year, while Ralph Fox and B. K. Engles, both of Sapulpa, signed up for three years in the signal corps for service in Havana. Edward F. Lewis of Foyil, who entered the air service, will leave for Oklahoma City this morning.

NATIONAL GUARDS STILL WORK FOR MORE SOLDIERS

With assurance from the Tulsa chamber of commerce that an armory to accommodate the four Tulsa units of the Oklahoma national guard officers and enlisted men of the local battalion have renewed their energy in the attempt to recruit up the local companies to full strength, as required by state law.

It was announced Friday that enlistment is open at the "armory" at Fifth and Boston, where officers and non-coms are on duty each night. Application can also be made for enlistment at the C. W. Daley cigar store, Third and Boston.

The local units have many inducements to offer prospective recruits and all able bodied men between the ages of 18 and 45 are accepted.

Old Trader's Dope

OLD TRADER TOLD YOU SO THREE YEARS AGO in DOPE. He said that to disband an army was as dangerous as the fighting. Now is the time to sit steady in the boat and USE HORSE SENSE. DO NOT LISTEN to AGITATORS. If you raise wages you increase the cost of production, and everything will go higher. That would be right and just to labor, but there is a class of poor unfortunates who are unable to work for wages. What shall become of them? They are going hungry now. OUR PUBLIC MEN are DODGING the REAL FACTS in the case and CATERING to the prejudice of the people. It is easy to say that JOHN DID it and then shun responsibility.

If congress would make an export law putting a heavy duty on everything going out of the country then prices on everything would soon adjust themselves and come to a lower level. OLD TRADER says bring HOOVER home and feed our own people first, and then ship the surplus away to the starving people in the devastated war zones.

WYSS, CITY ENGINEER, TENDERS RESIGNATION

Connected With Municipal Government for 10 Years, Quits Job and Will Go to Delaware, Ohio.

With acceptance by the mayor and board of city commissioners at the meeting Friday morning of the resignation of H. H. Wyss as city engineer, to take effect August 15, a city engineer who probably has handled more municipal engineering work than any other of his profession in the state was formally released from the service of Tulsa.

Wyss has been in the employ of the city for the past 10 years, accepting his first position, as assistant city engineer, in 1909. For the past three years he has been chief of the city engineering forces.

Wyss announced Friday that he is resigning to go into the consulting engineering game and that he intends to leave Tulsa for another climate because of the ill health of Mrs. Wyss. The Wyss family will leave August 15 for Delaware, Ohio, and from that location Mr. Wyss will conduct his business.

No successor has been chosen for the vacancy and no applications have been considered by the city commission.

MARINE OFFICER ENTERS SERVICE AS A PRIVATE

Rather be any rank of men than none at all.

This was the sentiment of Second Lieutenant C. H. G. Hornbeck, resigned as an officer and enlisted as a buck private of marines.
