WOMAN'S WORLD AND WORK . . .

LES YANKS.

Across the little furrowed field
Where duds and shell holes half concealed
By healing grass, disturb her course,
Mere Marie plods behind her horse
And "Vite, mon cheval," she cries
"Marche-toi"
Or "Blanchette, get un move on you!"

Wee Fifi, waif from racked Nanette,
Plays wanly on the terrace stair,
Upon her lips the ghost of joy,
And soothes her doll with "Atta-boy!"
Or crooms "Some baby!" and "Gee whiz!"
Plus chere, plus belle—I'll say it is!"

Old Papa Jean within his sleep,
Discussing sugary cow and crop,
Reiterates "Oui—oui is stuff!"
Or "Mille diables! Treat rom tough!"
And quite a bottle feefty-feefty
Whenever patronage is beefty.

Full soon the shell holes fill with grass
And battlefields and shell holes pass
Into the mist of yesterdays;
But still there lingers word or phrase—
A touch of western breezy slang
To lend provencal speech a tang

Stern battles, though the flags be furled,
Will boom in "Say—I'll tell the world!"
And sparks of many a valiant fight
Will flash in "Listen!" and "Good Night!"

Boy faces grinning, wistful, kind,
With each brisk phrase will come to mind;
Boy faces, grim and gray and drear,
That still could manage "Whoops, my dear!"
Who called the world's worst war "the fuss!"
In vivid speech incongruous;
Who joked like boys and fought like gods,
And caroled: "Bloney! What's the odds?"
Reduced the hell of Marne and Roye
To crisp and long-recalled patois
Those boys who said, "So this is France!"
And, gayly gallant, "took a chance."

JESSIE E. HENDERSON.

(Though the American expeditionary force goes, it leaves much of its slang behind.—Recent News Note.)

Southern Memorial Association.

An event of interest at the Confederate reunion held here last year was the organization of a memorial association by Mrs. McD. Wilson of Atanta, president general of the association in the south. Mrs. Orra Upp is president of the Tulsa organization. The announcement of the approaching general meeting has been issued from Atlanta as follows:

"To the memorial associations of the Confederated Southern Memorial association, and to all memorial association members:

"The invitation extended by the city of Atlanta to the United Confederate Veterans, Sons of Veterans, and the Confederate Southern Memorial association to meet in convention at Atlanta October 7, 8, 9 and 10 has been most graciously accepted, and you are hereby called to meet as per article IV of the constitution—'the time and place of the annual meeting of this association shall be the same as the annual meeting of the United Confederate Veterans.'

"Headquarters will be at the Piedmont hotel, and place of meeting the chamber of commerce assembly hall.

"You are urged to send large representative delegations, as matters of vital importance to our organization are to be considered."

Lassiter-Alley.

A pretty wedding of yesterday evening at 5:30 o'clock was that which occurred in the Boston Avenue Methodist church, uniting in marriage Miss Haleen Allen and Mr. Henry Newton Lassiter, both of this city. In the presence of a few intimate friends, the Rev. W. C. House, pastor of the Boston Avenue Methodist church, said the words of the beautiful ceremonial service, and listened to the plighting of their troth. The church altar was simply decorated with potted plants. The bride was very attractive, wearing a gown of Dotty Vanden, costume of pearl white georgette crepe, pearls pink satin. With this she wore a pink hanger in pink, adorned with small pink roses, and she carried a colonial bouquet of Marechal Niel rosebuds. The maid of honor, Miss Betty Hattis, wore a colonial frock of old blue French organdie with bonnet of the same, trimmed with blue forgetmenots. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of forgetmenots and delicate fern. Mr. Ned Hughes was best man. A wedding supper was served in Hotel Tulsa and the bride and groom went immediately to their new home in the Maryland apartments. The bride has been associated with the office of the city superintendent of schools as Superintendent Otherbritzer's secretary. The groom is reporter in the district court. Out-of-town guests in the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sanders of Muskogee. One of the prettily presumptial courtesies to the bride was the linen shower given her Wednesday evening by her maid of honor, Miss Hattie, in her suite in the Robinson apartments.

Picnic Party.

A congenial crowd enjoyed a picnic spread on Wednesday evening at Judge Campbell's farm, seven miles from the city. The inspiration of this pleasant outing was the presence of a quartet of visiting girls in the home of Mr. Caleb O. Smith at 402 East Eighteenth street, these being Misses Katherine and Virginia Smith, sisters of the host; Miss Katherine Kelly, all of Kansas City, and Miss Virginia Conkling of Hutchison, Kan. Miss Jeannette Rose, who is a sorority sister of these visitors, is assuming the responsibility of blazing the trail for informal social affairs to be given in their honor, all of which will prove interesting social news for the forthcoming days.

Mahaffey-Morford.

A quiet wedding which proved quite a surprise to their friends, was that of Wednesday evening, when Miss Floy Morford and Mr. Bayard Mahaffey were united in marriage, the ceremony taking place in the parsonage of Tigert Memorial church, the pastor, Rev. Harold Cooke, officiating. The bride is a Tulsan, while the groom is a resident of Fort Worth, Texas, and has just recently received his discharge from the aviation department of the army, having served as a first lieutenant. Mr. and Mrs. Mahaffey left yesterday for a trip to California, after which they will go to Detroit, Mich., to make their future home.

For Mrs. Thompson.

Mrs. E. W. Gambill and Mrs. C. E. Dowell entertained a number of their friends on Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Gambill's mother, Mrs. J. E. Thompson. Cards were enjoyed, the high honors being given to Mrs. William Hummill. Dancing also proved an enjoyable feature. An ice course was served afterwards to the guests, who were Mr. and Mrs. John Branstetter, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McPherson and Mr. and Mrs. William Hummill, Miss Clara Ratcliff, Mrs. Wyette and Mrs. Claude Oakley.

Engagement Announced.

Mrs. Richard Walsh Argue of Independence, Kan., announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Ethel Louise, to Mr. Donald Prescott Oaks of Tulsa, the wedding to be an event of early autumn in the home of the bride. Miss Argue has often visited Tulsa and is a young woman of charm. Mr. Oaks is prominently associated in the oil business here.

Picnic Supper.

The Young Woman's Guild of the First Presbyterian church will give a picnic supper in the church this evening at 6:30 o'clock. There will be an interesting program and associated registrations will be taken for the week-end camp which the girls will enjoy at the Y. W. C. A. recreation camp. They have been allotted the week-end from the 30th to the 31st.

To Introduce Mrs. Price.

Miss Betty Hudson was at home on Thursday afternoon, entertaining a small party of friends at bridge. Miss Hudson chose this method of introducing Mrs. Sylvan Price, a new acquisition to the young matron's set, who has just recently moved here from Marion, Kr.

Sequoyah Dance Tonight.

Members of the Sequoyah dance announce an informal midsummer dance for tonight in the old Knights of Columbus hall on South Boulder avenue. The presence of quite a number of visiting girls will give added interest to the occasion.

Informal Luncheon.

Miss Venetia Jones entertained informally at luncheon Wednesday in her home on South Elwood avenue.

Letters from Mr. and Mrs. Percy Collins of Tulsa, who are spending the summer in Manitou, Colo., tell of the many interesting social affairs enjoyed by members of the Tulsa colony. Many of them have summer cottages and are having informal home affairs, luncheons and picnics up among the mountains.

Judge and Mrs. Owen Owen and little daughter Mary have returned from a two weeks' fishing trip on the Kiamechi river among the Kiamechi mountains of Oklahoma. They were members of quite a party from other points in the state and report a glorious trip.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline but do not compel."

Friday, August 15, 1919.

Astrologists read this as an uneventful day in the rule of the stars. Neptune is in a strongly benefic aspect, while the sun, Mercury, Saturn and Uranus are all slightly adverse.

Oil is subject to influence making for its increased production and use. New discoveries are forecast.

Under this government of the planets public problems that have been hitherto perplexing should be near solution. A better understanding of the world relations of the United States seems to be promised.

Insurance matters will come much to the front in the next few months, according to astrologers. Government interests will be greatly benefited.

It is just as well not to indulge in any ventures in finance while this configuration prevails. Routine affairs should absorb attention.

Great increase in the birthrate will be noted this month, it is predicted.

Fires may be numerous, especially the last week in August.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of an active year that may bring a certain amount of strain.

Children born on this day are likely to be exceedingly clever and industrious. These subjects of Leo usually are forceful, magnetic, and fond of big achievements.

Tulsa a City of Natural Advantages

Raw Material for Big Carbon Plant Easily Obtainable —Chamber of Commerce Endorses the Sunlight Carbon Company.

At a meeting of the new industries committee of the Tulsa chamber of commerce Tuesday noon, the project of the Sunlight Carbon company, an Oklahoma corporation, was unanimously endorsed.

Some interesting facts were developed with reference to the natural advantages of Tulsa as a center for the manufacture of carbon products, the raw materials for which are easily obtained in Tulsa and vicinity. Carbon coke and carbon black are both by-products of oil and gas and manganese and zinc are the principal elements which enter into the manufacture of carbon.

One of the leading items will be motion picture projection carbons made by a new process discovered by Mr. Kathan of Chicago, Ill., who is an expert in every detail of the manufacture of carbon for commercial purposes. Mr. Kathan will also be in charge of the new plant which is shortly to be erected as their general superintendent.

Mr. Kathan's new process carbon was tested recently at a local theater before a committee of representative business and technical men, motion picture machine operators and heater engineers and demonstrated its superiority over all other makes of American manufacture. The demand for projector carbons is enormous and the initial output of the new plant will easily find a ready market.

The Sunlight Carbon company will also manufacture carbon plates for dry cell batteries at the rate of 25,000 per day. One Oklahoma electrical concern is ready with an order for a million batteries. The constant increase of new electrical devices, all of which depend on carbon for their successful operation, is responsible for the tremendous demand.

The board of directors of the Sunlight Carbon company will carry the names of the best business talent in Tulsa, far-sighted, aggressive, capable men of the type that have made Tulsa synonymous with success. This fact in itself will be an assurance to the stockholders of efficient management.

At the beginning the plant will employ about 250 people, this number will be increased as markets require and facilities are provided, until when coming to the full limit of its capacity, which is very likely in view of the enormous demand in this and foreign countries, it will carry on its payrolls between 1,500 and 1,600 employes.

Due to the fact that all the raw materials are of easy accessibility the business is unusually profitable. Recognition of this very important feature and realization of the value of such an enterprise in shaping the industrial future of Tulsa has enabled the matter of finance to such an extent that sufficient capital to complete the project is already assured from local sources.

Construction work on the plant, for which [illegible] will shortly begin.—Adv.

THE WISHING PLANE
BY WILLIS WINTER

The children went to visit Edinburgh castle early in the day—you remember we left them in Edinburgh yesterday. The great castle sets high on a hill and the little folks had a wonderful view of the city from the towers.

Jack and Jane had seen castles before, but this one was larger than any they had visited and they noticed something different about it. All around the outside of the stone building was a very deep ditch, too wide for anybody to jump across. The only way of getting into the castle was over a bridge—a drawbridge, Captain Brave called it. Then he told the children how the ditch was kept filled with water in the olden times. The knights, in their heavy armor, could not swim, of course, and therefore couldn't get across the ditch except by using the bridges.

These were built so that they could be pulled straight up on the castle side of the water so that no one could use them unless the king and his followers gave their permission. The bridges were kept raised all of the time. Anyone who wanted to enter the castle had to call to the guards. If the guards knew them or the strangers had business in the castle the bridge was let down. If not the guards refused to lower it. Many clever schemes were tried by the enemy to get the guards to let the bridges down, the captain said.

From Edinburgh castle the children were taken to Holyrood castle, where all the kings and their families lived, you know.

The children and their friends spent the next day in Edinburgh and then went to Dundee.

I'll have to tell you what interested the children most in Dundee. That was the great factories making rope and bags. These factories buy boatloads and boatloads of flax and hemp every year and make thousands of miles of rope and millions of bags. These are shipped all over the world. The children went through one of the mills and saw how both are made from the time the material is brought into the factories until the ropes in balls and the bags in great bundles are shipped out of the factories.

Next the children went to Aberdeen. The children quickly found out why Aberdeen is called the "Granite City." There are hundreds of granite "quarries"—which are about the same as mines—near Aberdeen and the city is built mostly of the pretty stone-like blocks.

It took Captain Brave only a couple of minutes to whisk the children from that city to Balmoral castle, the place where the beloved Queen Victoria of England spent many pleasant summer hours. Lady-dear told the children all about the queen who ruled so kindly and gracefully.

The ship yards at Glasgow, Scotland's great seaport, visited next, awed the children. The great city is located on the River Clyde. The huge harbor has been dug out so that ocean liners and all types of big boats can enter it and unload their passengers easily. There is much iron and coal in the land around Glasgow and it takes a great number of ships to carry these products away. Big manufacturing plants turn out goods for all parts of the world, too so you can see how important the harbor is to the city.

OWEN PARK DRIVEWAY TO BE IMPROVED THIS FALL

The Owen park drive is to be repaired this fall if the appropriation for repairing for the park board is of sufficient size, according to officials of the board.

The drive in question connects Irving place and the residential district west of Owen park at North Rosedale with the city paving east of the park and is the only feasible outlet for traffic from that section west of the park.

For some time the drive has been in a disgraceful condition and is almost impassable. Funds of the board have not allowed for its repair, but unless the failure of the two-mill city tax levy measure decreases funds to a great extent the drive will be repaired in the near future. It is estimated that new paving will cost $8,000.
