RACIAL SECURITY NOW CHINA'S SOLE DESIRE

Orientals Fear Exploitation and Domination by Foreigners—Shantung Is Important.

CONSIDER AMERICA FRIEND

No Dread of Bolshevism Is Felt by Chinese Foreign Minister—People Are Democratic.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—"China wants a period of security against exploitation and the elimination of further domination by foreign powers. This security, we think, has not yet been assured by the treaty of Versailles. China wants to develop after her own ideals, not those of some foreign power."

The foregoing declarations were made in an exclusive interview granted the International News Service by Lou Tseng-Tsiang, Chinese foreign minister, who has just left for Paris after a visit to London to present the respects of the Chinese president to King George and distinguished members of the British government.

Needs Security.

Replying to a question as to what is China's greatest need today, the Chinese foreign minister said:

"Most of the people said we need finances most. I do not think so. Finances are certainly important, but there is another more important thing. China expects the friendly nations, particularly America, to give her a period of security—a period during which she can reconstruct her administration, which, above all, is very important."

Dr. Lou declined to discuss the Shantung negotiations or Japan's policy. He indicated that it would be asking too much from him to predict what would be the result from the widening boycott of Japanese goods throughout China.

"We feel very deeply about this Shantung affair," said Dr. Lou. "Shantung is a very important province. It is the cradle of Chinese civilization and the birthplace of Confucianism."

Dr. Lou was asked: "In view of Japan's relations with Korea and her activities regarding China during the past year what great power does China look to for sympathy and understanding?"

The minister answered:

"I sincerely believe America is our disinterested friend. America has done a great deal for my country, but China, in order to be helped, should show that she is able first to help herself."

Does Not Fear Reds.

Dr. Lou was asked if there was any chance of China drifting into bolshevism.

"It is most probable that bolshevism will not come into China," he declared. "If it does, it will not stay. For bolshevism will not take root upon soil which will not support it. It is a plant that is foreign to our soil for three reasons.

"1—The Chinese religion is really Confucianism and the teachings of Confucianism instil subordination and respect for the elders. This teaching permeates the rank and file of the whole country.

"2—There are peasants, but no big landlords in China. The peasants own their own farms and have their property so the common people will oppose it as well as the rich.

"3—Big industries have not been developed in China. Our industries are still local and are carried on along arrangements whereby the manager shares profits with the workers. In other commercial life there is much resemblance to profit sharing. On the whole Chinese life is very democratic."

Dr. Lou said that one of the reasons he had come to the occident was to observe the effect of the war, especially on British life. In parting, he said:

"If you go to any town in China today your best introduction will be your statement that you are an American."

TRACTION EMPLOYES ASK HUGE INCREASE

Fifty Per Cent Wage Boost Is the Demand of Gotham Car Men's Union—Strike Tuesday.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—A general traction strike, affecting elevated, subway and surface lines, will tie New York tighter than a drum by Tuesday unless the railway heads grant the employes' demand for a 50 per cent wage increase, heads of the car men's union asserted this afternoon.

Elevated and subway employes probably will be ordered out at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, according to labor leaders, who have given the Interborough company until 6 o'clock tonight to answer their demands.

It was also announced by officials of the Amalgamated association of Street Railway employes that all surface line employes in Manhattan and the Bronx would be ordered to strike at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning unless their demands are complied with by that time.

SUFFRAGE RATIFICATION BEFORE GOVERNORS' MEET

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Efforts will be made by the national woman's party to make ratification of the federal suffrage amendment a paramount topic before the governors' conference at Salt Lake City next week, according to Mrs. Abby Scott Baker, political chairman of the woman's party, here today on her way to the Utah capital.

Efforts are being centered now, she said, on persuading governors to call special legislative sessions for ratification of the amendment in the hope that women may be enabled to take part in the fall elections.

We don't know what is worrying Elsie Ferguson, but we wonder whether the names of the films adapted from plays have anything to do with it. "The Lie" kept its title when it was screened with Miss Ferguson in the leading role. But her latest Artcraft vehicle is adapted from "We Can't Be as Bad as All That," by Henry Arthur Jones, and its new name is—you'd never guess—"A Society Exile."

This picture is released on August 17 (tomorrow) and begins its engagement in Tulsa on that day. Nothing is too good for the Magic City.
