CROWN PRINCE GETS A ROYAL RECEPTION

Lands on Spot Where Another Prince of Wales Stepped on Newfoundland Soil.

AMEMICANS AID IN SALUTE

Guns Boom Forth as Royal Heir Steps Forth From His Steamer—French Also Honor Him.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 19.—Edward, Prince of Wales, came to the "gateway of Canada" yesterday and landed on the same spot where, 58 years ago, another Edward, Prince of Wales, who later became King Edward VII, first set foot in the new world. A flat, sunken spot of stone marks the historic mark, bearing the inscription:

"H. R. H. Prince of Wales landed here July 30, 1860."

Today the future ruler of the British empire stepped across this stone to grasp the hand of the mayor of Halifax.

The greetings took on an international aspect and American naval men participated.

American and French warships in the harbor boomed out royal salutes as the royal heir left the warship Renown adding to the din of the huge guns on the Renown, Dragon and Dauntless and the crashes of the shore batteries.

The commanders of the warships were in the greeting party. Hundreds of "gobs" and officers on duty with Canadian trawlers lined up at attention when the prince came ashore.

The prince was again in the uniform of a captain in the British navy. He will wear this uniform as long as he is on the Renown, but will adopt the khaki of the army when he leaves the navy at Quebec.

At the government house the young prince stood on a raised pedestal in the lofty reception room and there received the addresses of welcome on behalf of the city and province. And while the oil portraits of his ancestors looked down upon him, he thanked the officials for the welcome accorded him and expressed regret for the calamity which befell Halifax in the great 1917 explosion. Later the prince visited the devastated region.

From the government house the prince was taken to the military hospital where hundreds of Canadian soldiers are recuperating from wounds or sickness. After shaking hands with several and asking about their wounds the prince was driven to the commons where the Nova Scotia veterans were drawn up for inspection.

Inspection of the troops, the conferring of decorations and similar military functions are keenly enjoyed by the royal heir.

Often he meets some officer he knew overseas and always stops for a chat. But the making of speeches and receiving addresses of welcome and being fussed over by officials are obviously embarrassing. The prince was palpably nervous today during the long addresses. He tapped his sword or fixed his necktie with quick nervous gestures. At times he blushed like a school girl but as soon as he got out among the soldiers he was again entirely at ease.

The prince was the honor guest at luncheon at the Waegwoltic club. The afternoon program included a corner stone laying and a public reception at which the prince was expected to shake hands with several thousand persons.

NO NEWS IS RECEIVED OF GIANT FRENCH PLANE

CASA BLANCA, Morocco, Aug. 18. No news of the great French airplane Goliath, which left Mogador for Dakar on Saturday morning, had been received here and there is much anxiety over the possible fate of the machine. In view of the solitude of the regions over which the airplane flew, however, it is premature to conclude that the machine has been wrecked.

Naval divisions here and at Dakar have been sent out with well manned ships to scour the coast, but it will take several days to complete the search. Until then hope will not be abandoned. The crew of the Goliath was provided with food and water sufficient for several days and while here took on board arms and ammunition.

Police Caught 3 More Alleged Thieves Last Night "in the Goods"

Three more automobile thieves were captured with the goods by the police last night. A Studebaker touring car stolen at 1:30 o'clock from H. A. Edson of Tuxedo, now 224 East Second street, where he was having a transmission repaired, was recovered by officers Bert Goode, Harold Boyd and John Henry about two miles southeast of town at 11 o'clock.

After the car had been discovered by a farmer southeast of town, the officers drove to the scene and Boyd and Henry hid themselves in the woods nearby. After two hours wait three men arrived and replaced the distributor which had been removed. When they all got in and started the motor the officers stepped out and covered them with revolvers.

At the police station the men gave their names as LeRoy Debos of St. Louis, C. B. Phillips and Leland Swift. Mr. Edgar, owner of the car, will swear out warrants for the men in the county this morning.

Last night's capture makes five auto thief scalps that officers Boyd and Goode have hung to their belt within 24 hours. The men are using a system that not only catches the thief, but brings back the car.

MEXICANS SAY U. S. RELATIONS FRIENDLY

Statement Given Out in Buenos Aires by Legation Declaring Good Feeling Still Exists.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 19.—The Mexican legation here today made public telegrams from the foreign office, Mexico City, saying that relations between Mexico and the United States remain tranquil. Exaggerated press reports to the contrary are false.

The telegrams detail the steps taken by the Mexican government to protect foreigners and explain the necessity for foreigners congregating in popular centers. The Mexican charge d'affaires states that federal troops have already annihilated such bandits as Zapata, Blanquet and "Juan Davila" and are now engaging Villa forces. The legation also made public a note similar to the Mexican reply to Washington referring to crimes in most cultured nations.

Many a man who boasts that he can turn his hand to anything has also a genius for putting his foot into it.
