IGNORE LEADERS IN PACT PARLEY

Senate Factions Work Independently for Compromise.

MOVEMENT IS GAINING

Taft and Bryan Take Hand in Trying to Effect Agreement on Treaty.

COMMITTEE MEETS TODAY

Several Plans to Be Considered; Democrats Not Hopeful of Results.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—On the eve of the expected holiday recess, the movement in the senate for a peace treaty compromise apparently was gaining ground today with plans taking shape for a conference early next month between republicans and democrats who want ratification.

It was indicated that neither Senator Lodge, the republican leader, nor Senator Hitchcock in charge of the administration forces in the treaty fight, would be a direct party to the original negotiations, although later it was hoped both could be brought in.

Taft and Bryan Active.

Former President Taft has reopened communication with the mild reservation republicans and is understood to have made suggestions along the line of such a bipartisan agreement. Democratic senators also have heard from W. J. Bryan, who is said to have approved the compromise conference plan.

Formal consideration of issues of the peace treaty fight will be reopened tomorrow by the senate foreign relations committee and an effort made to work out a new compromise plan to be placed before the senate after the holidays.

The resolution of Senator Knox, republican, Pennsylvania, to declare that a state of peace exists, is expected to be the basis of the committee's work. Various modifications are expected, however, so as to incorporate provisions which republican leaders hope will draw democratic support.

May Pledge Aid.

Among the changes and additions understood to have been considered by the republicans is one designed to preserve to the United States any material advantages embodied in the treaty as it stands. Another suggestion is that the resolution include a general declaration of policy pledging the United States to intervene in any future European war which menaces civilization.

Some members of the committee desire to see action also on Senator Knox's alternate resolution to ratify the treaty with the league of nations covenant excluded, but the objection was made today that a two-thirds vote would be required for that measure, making the outcome much more dubiful.

Democratic members of the committee were not hopeful tonight that the republican majority would get together tomorrow on any compromise measure acceptable to the administration forces in the senate. All proposals for a separate declaration of peace have met with stubborn democratic resistance heretofore and it was predicted in some quarters that lengthy debate in the committee would prevent action tomorrow.

SENATE FIGHT WAITS

Democrats Postpone Conference—Underwood Claims Advantage by Action—Hitchcock Confident.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The conference of democratic senators called for tomorrow to consider election of a minority leader was postponed tonight until January 15.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, acting democratic leader since the death of Senator Martin of Virginia, cancelled the call for tomorrow's conference, after an agreement with Senator Underwood of Alabama, his opponent for the democratic leadership in the senate, who advocated postponement because of the absence of many senators and also in order that Senator Glass might take his seat under appointment to fill out Senator Martin's term.

In the opinion of Senator Underwood's friends, postponement increased his chances for election because it is hoped that by January 15 final action may be reached on the German treaty. Senator Hitchcock's managers, however, declared tonight that they are assured of enough votes for his election.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 19.—New Indian witnesses in the court investigation at Puebla into the case of William O. Jenkins, the American consular agent, testified that they saw him deliver arms and ammunition to the rebels before his capture, according to press dispatches from Puebla tonight. The arms and ammunition, the Indians declared, were intended as the first installment of Jenkins' ransom.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—President Wilson enjoyed the first real snowstorm of the winter today, spending an hour on the south portico of the white house wrapped in a fur coat. Earlier in the morning the president walked about his room and the adjacent corridors for a short time, Rear Admiral Grayson, his physician, said.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—There will be no Christmas tree at the white house this year. This has been definitely decided after conferences between members of the Wilson family. The president was very anxious to have his grandchildren about him this year and his improvement has been so favorable that tentative plans had been to bring the McAdoo and Sayre children to Washington. Dr. Grayson, however, opposed the plan.

DENVER, Dec. 19.—Following decision by a sanity commission that Mrs. Emily Lippincott Powell, daughter of Horace H. Lippincott, wealthy Philadelphian, was suffering from paranoia when she shot and killed her 10-year-old daughter, Jacqueline, here a few weeks ago, it was expected today that she would be removed to a sanitarium in this state when she recovers from wounds inflicted by a pistol shot in an attempt to commit suicide.

SENATE TO VOTE ON RAILS TODAY

Agree to Dispose of the Cummins Measure for Return.

KEEP STRIKE CLAUSE

Repeated Attempts to Modify Provisions Against Walkouts Rejected.

MAY KEEP U. S. CONTROL

Rumor That President Will Extend Federal Power; Adjourn Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—After a session of more than 12 hours the senate tonight failed to reach a vote on the Cummins railroad bill, but shortly before midnight adjourned with an agreement to vote finally on the bill at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow. A concurrent agreement also called for a final vote at 11:30 o'clock on the sugar control bill.

A proposal by Senator La Follette, republican, of Wisconsin, upon which he plans to speak tomorrow, extending government control of railroads two years, alone prevented passage of the bill tonight, the senate having disposed of all other important amendments including rejection of all efforts to eliminate or modify the anti-strike clause.

The agreement for final disposition tomorrow of the railroad and sugar control bills cleared the way for adjournment of congress tomorrow for a two-weeks' holidays recess until January 5. No doubt was expressed by leaders that the recess plans would be carried out, although for a time tonight objection to the proposals for votes on the sugar and railroad measures threatened to disrupt the program. The senate will meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The senate remained in session until a late hour tonight in an effort to pass before adjournment the long considered railroad bill and enable congress to recess tomorrow for the Christmas holidays.

Decision today by the republican steering committee of the senate that the bill must be passed and the legislation sent to conference before any recess could be taken, leaders said, greatly improved prospects of hastening final action. There was a noticeable weakening in the ranks of the opposition, advocates of the bill claimed, saying assurances had come from opponents that no protracted obstruction would be attempted.

Before the final contests on the two principal disputed provisions of the bill—the anti-strike and other labor clauses and the proposed rate guarantee to the railroads—the senate disposed of many minor amendments including a proposal by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, to guarantee minimum wages.

Crowded Drug Store Robbed Last Night; Bandits Obtain $400

Twelve men "stuck 'em up" at the command of two unmasked robbers who raided the Brims drug store, 1703 South Main, at 10:30 o'clock last night and secured from the cash register and the pockets of their victims about $400 in cash and two valuable diamond rings.

Entering the crowded store apparently to purchase a package of cigarettes, the two men drew revolvers and searched every one present. One woman in the store was passed up, but all of the men in the room were forced to give up their valuables. A third robber, who guarded the front door, even deprived a passerby of a pair of gold glasses. W. J. Brims, proprietor of the store, was unable to estimate the amount of his loss, and police had found no trace of the "high-jackers" late last night.

New Member of Cow Club Eats Dynamite and Gets Owner $60

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The cow that burned up Chicago, the cow that jumped over the moon, the cow that raised the fatted calf, and the cow that died on the tune—they will have to recognize an addition to their celebrated quartet now.

She's the cow that ate up $60 worth of government dynamite out in Willard, Washington, and made the wheels of congress go round until her owner got $60. The house passed in its consideration of weightier subjects long enough today to pass the necessary bill. Contributory negligence on the part of the government road builders, who left the sticks of dynamite where "bossy" could eat them, was the verdict.

Strangely enough it didn't blow up the cow; it only poisoned her, but it nearly blew up the house of representatives.

The house evidently enjoyed its little excursion into the field of humor and switched from cows to false teeth.

It passed a bill to pay Michael McGarvey $35 for a set he lost while working at the quartermaster's depot, Governor's Island, last July. The government compensation committee had refused his claims, but the house was in a compassionate mood and thought otherwise.

ATTEMPT TO SLAY COMMANDER FAILS

Shots Are Fired at Lord French in Ireland From Ambush.

ONE ASSAILANT IS DEAD

Fire Is Returned and Proves Fatal; Another Is Put Under Arrest.

By The Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Dec. 19.—A determined but unsuccessful attempt was made today to assassinate Viscount French, lord lieutenant of Ireland.

The attack evidently had been carefully organized at a spot in a narrow, winding road with high walls and hedges, affording the assassins good hiding places. One of the attacking party was killed and a detective seated with the chauffeur of the vice-regal car was slightly wounded in the hand. Viscount French was not injured. Some distance away a policeman, patrolling his beat, was shot in the ankle.

Use Bombs and Guns.

Both bombs and revolvers were used by the assailants, the number of whom is variously estimated at from five to 15. The smaller number, however, is considered more probable. The vice-regal party fired on the assassins as they fled across the fields, but they escaped, except the one man killed, who was shot through the head.

Viscount French had been visiting Royle and Roscommon and returned today by train at 1 o'clock. He alighted at the suburban station at Phoenix park, near the spot where, in 1882, Lord Frederick Cavendish, chief secretary for Ireland, and Thomas H. Burke, his undersecretary, were assassinated.

BONDS IS GIVEN POST

Former Assistant Named to Succeed District Attorney McGinnis—In Tulsa Yesterday on Mission.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Archibald Bonds of Muskogee was nominated to be federal district attorney for eastern Oklahoma.

Mr. Bonds was in Tulsa yesterday on a special investigation of the fuel situation by direction of Attorney General Palmer, when informed by a World representative of his appointment. He had nothing to give out concerning his plans further than to say he had nothing radical in view. His confirmation is expected soon.

Mr. Bonds was a member of the third Oklahoma legislature from Rogers county. He served as assistant United States attorney under D. Hayden Linebaugh and for a time under W. F. McGinnis, who succeeded Linebaugh, resigning to enter private practice in Muskogee. When Mr. McGinnis tendered his resignation Mr. Bonds became a candidate for the position and was indorsed by Senator Owen. The other candidates were C. W. Miller, assistant under McGinnis, and acting United States attorney since the retirement from that office on November 1 by McGinnis, and Carl Monk of McAlester. J. Berry King of Muskogee had also been mentioned for the position.

BERGER ELECTED TO FORMER SEAT

Ejected Congressman Is Winner Over Fusionist by Near 5,000.

"NO MORE ELECTIONS"

If Verdict Is Refused District Must Go Unrepresented—Governor Phillips.

VICTOR CARES BUT LITTLE

Matters Not What Congress Does, Winner Says; Bodenstab Continues Fight.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 19.—Victor L. Berger, socialist, today was re-elected to congress from the Fifth Wisconsin district, having defeated Henry H. Bodenstab, republican, running as a fusion candidate, by 4,806 votes.

Berger's total was 24,367 and Bodenstab's 19,561. The returns indicate that approximately 9,000 voters did not go to the polls. The total registration in the district was about 53,000 votes.

Should the house of representatives again refuse to seat Berger, there will be a vacant chair as far as the Fifth Wisconsin district is concerned, until the regular election in 1920, as Governor E. L. Phillip announced tonight he would not call another special election.

No More Elections.

"I do not believe in spending any more of the people's money in that way," the governor said.

Berger made the following statement:

"While my election may undoubtedly be characterized as nothing short of a revolutionary act, in view of opposition by the entire capitalist class, not only of Milwaukee and Wisconsin, but of the country—yet it can not exactly be called a victory of the socialist party.

"The socialist party simply took the lead and furnished the advance guard and foremost champions.

"As a matter of fact, my re-elec-

PASS WAR RISK BILL

Measure Asked for by Legion Goes Through Congress Hurriedly—Adds to and Simplifies.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The house bill increasing war risk insurance allowances of American soldiers, sailors and marines doubled in the war, was passed today by the senate with amendments requested by the American legion.

The measure known as the Sweet bill was passed by the senate in less than five minutes and without a record vote. It provides for additional payments to war risk beneficiaries of about $40,000,000 annually and the war risk insurance bureau is authorized to make December payments on the increased basis.

The bill also provides simplified administration of the war risk insurance plan and modifies requirements as to proof of dependency.

Happy Home in Tulsa Blighted as Husband Casts Lot With Reds

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Dec. 19.—Three wives accompanied members of the I. W. W. convicted at Kansas City, who came to Leavenworth today to enter the penitentiary. Among them was Mrs. A. M. Blamberg, formerly of Tulsa, Okla.

Mrs. Blamberg is said to be the daughter of a Washington, D. C., insurance man and a college graduate. She declared she did not know her husband was an I. W. W. or that he had been detained until six months after his arrest.

"We owned our home in Tulsa, Okla., and were prosperous," she said. "When the war began I went to Washington to see a brother in the army off for France. Mr. Blamberg wrote me from Augusta, Kan., advising me to remain in Washington until he sent for me. I first learned of his arrest when I came out to Kansas. We have lost our home since his arrest."

She stated that she expected to go to Wichita, Kan., and there work to bring about the release of her husband.

Attorney General Broached Plan Because Unionists Would Be Jailed.

VICTORY, PALMER SAYS

Cabinet Member Tells His Side of Negotiations to Probe Committee.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Attorney General Palmer told a senate coal investigating committee today a full story of his own and the general government's actions in connection with the strike of bituminous miners, concluding his testimony with the declaration that the "firm, strong hand of the government" finally had forced the miners to yield.

Alfred M. Ogle, chairman of the executive committee of the Bituminous Coal Operators' association, took the stand a moment after the attorney general concluded and told the committee that Mr. Palmer endeavored on Friday, December 5, to induce the coal operators to compromise with the miners on a basis of more than the 14 per cent wage increase suggested in behalf of the government by former Fuel Administrator Garfield.

Ogle surprised the committee with the assertion that Mr. Palmer had told the operators Federal Judge Anderson at Indianapolis, who issued an injunction against the strike leaders on the government's application, might "act in a characteristic fashion and put a lot of union leaders in jail," thus precipitating a "terrible industrial situation."

Considered It Surrender.

"We replied," Ogle said, "that we considered the proposal a cowardly, dastardly surrender of the rights of the public and the government. We considered it a compromise of principles, far more important than any question of the wages of miners, or our own profits as operators of coal mines. We thought it a question of the maintenance of law and order in the United States."

Ogle's testimony, given after Attorney General Palmer, who was before the committee practically the entire day, had left the ropm, came as the climax to a series of revelations concerning the government's movements in the strike. The operators' chairman refused to divulge details when first put on the stand, but finally told his story after getting permission to consult his attorney, Rush Butler, who was also called as a witness.

Continue Probe.

Chairman Frelinghuysen of the senate committee indicated, after conclusion of the hearing, that the investigation would be continued on the strength of the information brought out.

The attorney general, aided by questions from Senator Townsend, republican of Michigan, took the committee over the entire ground traversed by the government in the strike after Fuel Administrator Garfield, who later resigned because of the settlement, had suggested and the miners had rejected a 14 per

FIGHT RENEWED ON HIGH PRICES

Committee Holds Conference and Will Tell the Results.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Cabinet members and other high officials who have been assisting Attorney General Palmer in the fight on the cost of living, today held their first conference since the coal strike sidetracked all other activities.

Reports were received by the conference from H. E. Fisk, special assistant to Mr. Palmer, which were said to show continued progress toward keeping down prices.

"The reports were especially gratifying," Mr. Palmer said, "taking into consideration the fact that when we began our campaign last summer we were at the high point of supply and the low point of demand while now we are at the low point of supply and the point of demand."

INJUNCTION CASE IS UP SATURDAY

Oklahoma Natural Co. Is Ordered to Appear Before Owen.

Hearing on the petition for appointment of a receiver for the Oklahoma Natural Gas company, as asked by the city of Tulsa last Wednesday, will be held before Judge Owen Owen in district court Saturday morning. By a court order made shortly after the filing of the petition the gas company, the defendant, is to appear in court and show cause why such a receiver should not be appointed to take over the entire plant and assets of the defendant company with the view of furnishing an adequate gas supply to the patrons of the city of Tulsa.

The petition alleges the gas company operating under two franchises granted in 1887, has failed either to provide sufficient gas for domestic and industrial purposes or to charge the amount allowed under the franchises as maximum. The petition states that the gas company on application for the Oklahoma corporation commission, on three separate occasions has been allowed to raise the rate charged in this city for gas in violation of the franchise. In addition to failing to furnish the proper amount of gas needed by the city during the cold winter weather

Still Need Funds to Assure Children a Happy Christmas

Tulsa will.

No city on earth has more wealth per capita than Tulsa. No city on earth has a more generous hearted populace than Tulsa. No city her size has so many big men of finance as Tulsa. No city of wealth and prosperity has well-to-do citizens who are as eager to lend a helping hand to their less fortunate fellows. No city anywhere will more readily respond to a worthy cause than Tulsa—Tulsa a truly wonder city because she has a wonder citizenship.

Tulsa needs but to know and Tulsa does. All day yesterday donations came into The World office in response to the appeals for the Empty Stocking Fund. Again the total passed the $100 mark. Even after the list had closed last night, donations were received that totaled almost $100, and will be added to list of subscribers published Sunday.

Why not make today the biggest day of all? With last night's subscriptions to start it and with donations equal to those of the last two days, the total would be within easy reach of $1,500 asked for by the humane officer. That would bring smiles to the faces of the little children of the poor and joy to the hearts of the city's needy. It would assure a happy Christmas to hundreds of homes in Tulsa that would otherwise be cold and drear. Let's go. Make today a real demonstration of Tulsa spirit.
