ANOTHER ATTACK MADE ON FRENCH

Two Slain in Early Morning Attempt by Radicals.

FOUR MEN ARRESTED

Believed That Others Were Wounded by Guards Who Replied to Fire.

DUBLIN BECOMES EXCITED

Young Officer Who Was Slain Had Been Mentioned by Marshal for Work.

By The Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Dec. 28.—An officer of the guard and one member of a band of intruders were killed early this morning in a shooting affray in Phoenix park, a short distance from the vice regal lodge of Viscount French. In some quarters the belief was expressed that an attack was in preparation against the lodge.

About eight men are believed to have made up the band of interlopers. Four arrests were made.

At 1:30 o'clock this morning shots were heard in the neighborhood of the vice regal lodge. They continued intermittently at intervals for nearly an hour in that portion of Phoenix park between the lodge and the magazine. There apparently no direct attack on the vice regal lodge itself. The inmates of the lodge at first thought the shooting was connected with some sort of holiday revelry.

As the firing persisted, however, a military guard, consisting of an officer and two men, turned out and searched the grounds. Finding nothing unusual there they went through the park near the main road. While traversing the center of the park they engaged in a sharp exchange of firing with the intruders and Lieutenant Roast, who was leading his men, fell shot through the heart.

One of the attacking party also was killed. He was a civilian about 40 years old. According to some reports he was wearing portions of a soldier's uniform. No weapon was found on or near his body and up to the present the man's identity has not been ascertained. Pools of blood were found on the scene, which is about half a mile from the lodge.

After the shooting the intruders fled in the darkness. The four men arrested were not taken into custody near the scene of the shooting but were apprehended as they were leaving the park about two hours later. They denied having had any connection with the affray, and it is reported that no incriminating evidence was found on them.

After the shooting the military brought a machine gun to the scene. This was fired in the direction in which it was supposed the men had fled. Nobody was hit by the bullets.

The bodies of the two dead men were taken to the George's hospital where an inquest will be held tomorrow. Lieutenant Roast was only 20 years old. He was mentioned in Saturday's court circular as having been invited to dine with Field Marshal Viscount French, lord lieutenant and governor-general of Ireland, Saturday morning. Sunday he had bid farewell to his parents who had been paying him a visit.

There was great excitement in the city when the newspapers announced the occurrence. Crowds visited the scene during the afternoon.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—A Dublin dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph says that the officer killed in the attack on the vice regal lodge in Phoenix park was Lieutenant Roast. The member of the attacking party was dressed in an old uniform of a private in the British army. His body is reported to have been riddled with bullets.

The Exchange Telegraph's correspondent says it is understood that sniping at the lodge continued for only a few minutes and that the firing took place from the main road about a quarter of a mile from the lodge.

Several untoward incidents are reported from Ireland by the Sunday Evening Telegram. An attempt was made to assassinate a constable at Bally Bofey, county Donegal. The assailant fired a pistol from the street at the constable, who was sitting with his family in a bedroom. Nobody was injured.

A band of men raided a farmer's house at Victoria Bridge and carried off rifles. At Killarney a constable was shot and wounded Christmas eve while assisting other constables to quell a fight between soldiers and civilians.

It is reported that 20,000 rounds of ammunition have been stolen from the Dangarvan railway station. The consignment, it is believed was intended for the military authorities.

SEARCHING FOR SECOND ROBBER

Trail of Blood Found Leading From Scene of Tragedy.

THREE SHOTS FIRED

Two Empty Cartridges in Revolver of Hall; One Bullet Hit Cox.

DEAD MAN AN EX-CONVICT

Authorities Believe That Dead Hi-Jacker Was in on Bond Thefts.

Somewhere in Tulsa a wounded man is hiding, thought by the police to be the third party in the attempted holdup on East Sixth street late Saturday night, which resulted in the death of J. Arch Hall, floor manager of the Curtis Brown Clothing company, and also Leslie M. Cox, highwayman and ex-convict of the Texas penitentiary.

A trail of blood starting about a block from the scene of the tragedy and continuing on Sixth to Boulder and then noth until it came to an end on the corner near the interurban station of the Oklahoma Union railway, gave rise to the theory that the head highwayman Cox had a partner in his crime, according to L. W. Bewley, police captain, and that the unknown man was also struck by one of the shots fired from Hall's gun.

Three shots were heard by residents in the vicinity of the shooting when Hall returning home from his work was stopped within at few steps of his home at 113 East Sixth street and told to "stick 'em up."

Three shots were distinctly heard by persons living in the vicinity of the shooting after they had heard a command of "Stick up your hands." Instead of obeying the command Hall drew his .38 caliber revolver and fired at the high jacker, just as he had often told his friends that we would do in case he was ever held up.

One of the three shots fired entered the left side of Cox and resulted in his death a few minutes later at the Oklahoma hospital. Another shot fired either by Cox or his partner killed Hall, striking him just over the heart. The third shot that is believed by the police to have wounded the unknown partner of Cox, came from one of the two empty shells found in Hall's gun.

"I saw a man running down the street right after I heard the shots, declared a woman living near by. Another neighbor of Hall's reported to the police that he had come home just before the shooting, and had seen two men crouching by the side of a house two doors from the Hall home. Thinking they might be hold up men, he took to the center of the street to avoid them. They were crouched just opposite the point where Hall fell fatally wounded a few minutes later.

That the missing man is seriously wounded is believed because of the large clot of blood found a block down the street where he is thought to have fallen in his plight. There the trail begins and grows dimmer until it finally disappears some blocks away. A thorough search of all of the hospitals in the city failed to disclose the wounded man and the police believe that he is still without medical attention, as no report of any one similarly wounded has been made to headquarters, according to Captain Bewley.

Cox's death is expected to bring to an end the search for the two men who robbed the Japanese Trading company of Fort Worth, Texas of $14,000 in Liberty bonds last March. Dispatches from Oklahoma City last night state that L. M. Cox deposited $10,000 in bonds in the Farmers' National bank there September 9, 1919.

In Cox's clothing was found a clipping from the Kansas City Star bearing a Fort Worth date line of March 24, stating that one of the

DENIES RIVALRY LED TO VIOLENCE

Brown Murder Case Is Developing New Mystery.

WOMAN KEEPS SILENT

Sheriff Checking Up the Steps of Others in Michigan Case.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Dec. 28.—Statements that rivalry for her affections had led to threats of violence against J. Stanley Brown, killed in his automobile near here last Tuesday night, were denied today by Mrs. Dolly Peck Bennett. Mrs. Bennett, brought here this morning from Sandusky, Ohio, was questioned at length by Sheriff Caldwell and held for further interrogation. Meanwhile the sheriff was checking up her statement of her movements before and after the discovery of Brown's body, pitched over the wheel of his automobile, on the road between here and Detroit.

A taxicab driver and a soldier, sought by the authorities, have been located. It was the taxicab driver, according to statements previously made to the authorities, who had threatened Brown. Mrs. Bennett told the sheriff she knew a chauffeur acquaintance of Brown's.

The soldier, it was learned today, is being sought to substantiate a story that Brown had armed himself following the alleged threats against his life. According to this statement, Brown, fearing that in an impassioned moment he might use his revolver, turned it over to the soldier. The names of both the taxicab driver and the soldier are being withheld by the authorities.

RAIL PROBLEMS BEING DISCUSSED

Trainmen to Demand an Increase in Wages Before March 1.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Pending railroad legislation will be discussed at two meetings to be held tomorrow in Washington while a third, the question of an increase in the wages of railroad employes, is to be considered.

Foremost among the meetings will be the conference, called by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, at which chiefs of the four railroad brotherhoods and heads of 19 affiliated trades are expected to decide on the attitude to be assumed by organized railroad workers toward the anti-strike provision of the Cummins railroad bill. None of the four brotherhood chiefs had arrived in Washington tonight and the presidents of the other unions were reticent as to the action to be taken at the conference. The view was rather generally expressed, however, that the railroad workers would adopt a declaration of principles in accord with the stand taken by the Railway Machinists' union, which has voted to strike if the more drastic labor provisions of the Cummins bill are placed on the statute books.

The first meeting of the three involving phases of the railroad situation will be at 10:30 o'clock, when the members of the congressional conference committee on railroad legislation meets to iron out differences between the Cummins and Esch railroad reorganization bills as passed by the senate and house, respectively. Members of the committee said tonight it was not to be expected that any definite action would be taken tomorrow and certainly not on the anti-strike section of the Cummins measure, which is to be postponed until after other disagreements are eliminated.

The question of an increase in the pay of shop employes, pressure for the settlement of which was postponed last fall at the suggestion of President Wilson, pending the government's efforts to reduce living costs, will come up at the conference which committees representing six shop trades plan to have during the day with Director General Hines. Should the appointment with the director general conflict with the general meeting of railroad workers, it was said that the wage conference might be postponed until Tuesday.

Collinsville Chief Says Dansey Child Is Not In Tulsa.

ONLY NAME SIMILAR

Little Billy Holmes Plays While Guardian Tells of His Antecedents.

BOY IS PHOTOGRAPHED

Chief Allen Sends Picture of Local Lad to the Prostrate Mother.

Little Billy Dansey, of Hammonton, N. J., is still missing.

And the nation-wide search for the perfect baby boy who disappeared from home on October 8 continues, but not with Tulsa as its locale.

Robert Auton, chief of police at Collinsville, has gone back to his home, disappointed and disgusted that he should have been hoodwinked into believing that the little four-year old boy in the custody of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Schafer, of number 4 South Phoenix avenue, was the Dansey child. The boy with the Schafers is Billy George Holmes, whose mother resides at Bristow. Charles H. Allen, chief of the Tulsa police, has from the very first scouted the idea of the Dansey boy being here.

To the Collinsville correspondent of The World, Chief Auton said last night that he was convinced beyond any doubt that the Dansey child had never been in Tulsa. He went further and said that the whole affair was the effort of someone to participate in the $1,000 reward that had been offered for the recovery of the missing boy.

His statement follows:

"Two weeks ago John Saleman the father of Mrs. J. T. Shafer of 4 South Phoenix avenue, in Tulsa, told me that his daughter had a baby that answered the description of the missing Dansey boy, and asked me to help him get the reward of $1,000 for its recovery. He suggested that we split the reward three ways. I agreed to this, and wrote to Edward H. White at Hammonton, N. J., for a photograph and full description of the missing child.

"On Sunday, December 21, Mr. and Mrs. Schafer came to Collinsville, bringing the baby with them, but for some reason or other they refused to let me see the baby. So I awaited the arrival of the photograph and description from New Jersey.

"On Saturday, a newspaper man called me and asked for what facts I had. He said that my letter to Mr. White had been given out there for publication.

"This newspaper man asked me if I could tell him where the Dansey child was, and what I intended to do. I told him that in as much as the New Jersey authorities had given out my letter, that I had nothing more to say.

"Informing Mr. Salsman of the turn of affairs, we drove to Tulsa but the Schafers refused to let us see the baby but after two hours' time we succeeded in getting the baby, taking him for an automobile ride, which gave us a chance to compare him with the description of the Dansey baby. The only resemblance that we found was his name. He answers to the name of "Billy." I cannot understand the case at all."

Not until yesterday morning did the Schafers realize what a furore had been aroused over the thought that the Holmes boy, in their custody, was the Dansey child, so they immediately went to see Chief of Police Allen, relating to him in detail how they came into possession of him. Later they visited The World and told almost identically the same story, while the little boy in question played about the typewriters and desks, happy and carefree. Mrs. Schafer said:

"In the first place an ad appeared in the Democrat on October 5, from a woman in Bristow, wanting someone to take the child and keep it for $6 a week. The ad gave no reasons why she wanted anyone to care for it. I answered the ad that day, and on October 8 the Dansey child disappeared. On October 13 she answered my letter concerning the ad, and I received it about the 15th. We exchanged letters and made an agreement to bring the child. She brought the child over between the 20th and 24th of October, but as I was in Collinsville she took it back to Bristow, and as Mr. Shafer had business near Bristow he went and got the child, bringing it here. She did not say what the child's name was, but on the way here the boy said his name was Billy.

"We kept him three days, from Saturday until Wednesday, when she came to our house to see the boy.

"The papers printed stories about the Dansey baby being kidnaped in the east, and one night my father called me up on the phone and asked if I still had the child and told me that we had let it go home. He said, 'I believe it is the kidnaped Dansey baby.' He said he thought it answered the newspaper descriptions and so I took the woman's letters, writing down the dates when I first saw the ad on October 5, when the Dansey boy was kidnaped on October 8, and when I first received her first letter, dated October 13, and mentioned it was another boy.

DON'T DRINK ANY WARTIME BOOZE

Coroner at Chicago Warns Workers to Ban Substitutes.

DEATH LIST GROWING

Arrests Made in New Haven of Men Who Shipped Doctored Stuff.

CHARGES ACCUMULATING

Prisoners to Face Both the State and Federal Courts for Offenses.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Employers were asked today by Coroner Hoffman to address their workers at noon tomorrow and warn them against wood alcohol and other questionable substitutes for whisky. The coroner and members of his staff will make a tour of industrial plants tomorrow, issuing warnings against poisonous liquors.

Many of the deaths occurred among laboring men whom the community could ill afford to lose, the coroner said.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Investigation by the police of numerous deaths attributed to wood alcohol poisoning revealed tonight that in the last three months federal permits to manufacture perfumery have been issued to approximately 2,000 persons, of whom, it is said, not more than 50 are legitimate manufacturers of perfumes.

According to the police the holders of permits are entitled to buy what is known as "cologne spirits" at $4.80 a gallon, and those who bought it for other than the making of perfumes have made purchases amounting to thousands of dollars.

Another death in New York from poisonous liquor was reported today, that of Eugene Gasselin, who drank a large quantity of "wine" before he died. An autopsy will be made tomorrow.

John C. Varehi, a farmer who died shortly after being taken to a hospital, is believed also to have been a victim of wood alcohol and will also be the subject of an autopsy.

CHICOPEE, Mass., Dec. 28.—United States Marshal Edward J. Lyden today arrested four men on federal warrants two charging violation of the war-time prohibition act and two illegal transportation of liquor from state to state. The arrests resulted from his investigation into the deaths of more than 50 persons in the Connecticut valley since Christmas from drinking wood alcohol contained in a mixture sold as whisky.

Five more deaths had resulted since early this morning from alcoholic poisoning, three in Holyoke and two in Chicopee, bringing the total for the Connecticut valley, not including Hartford, to 53, divided as follows:

Chicopee 37, including two women, Holyoke, nine; Springfield four, including one woman, Greenfield one and Thompsonville, Conn., two.

Those under arrest on the federal warrants are John Nasilowski of Chicopee, and Harry Shapiro of Springfield, truck drivers who are charged with bringing the liquor into the valley; Adam Gwaltowski and John W. Starzyk, both of Holyoke, charged with violation of the war-time prohibition act. They will be arraigned before a United States commissioner tomorrow. All were released under $500 bonds.

Marshal Alfred Caton of the Chicopee police left today for New Haven, Conn., with warrants charging murder against four men who have been arrested in that city. The warrants were issued, the police say, on information given by William Baker of this town, who is held on a manslaughter charge, and Harry Shapiro of Springfield.

Although several new cases of the poisoning were reported today in the valley the number decreased considerably over Friday and Saturday.

ROBBER SHOT BY GROCER

Raymond Evans, Wounded, Goes to Hospital; Cops Find Him There.

Kendall Addition, heard in the reign of terror that prevailed in the downtown district early yesterday morning, was the scene of a shooting affray in which three men were involved, one of whom, it is said, later that night, it developed, by other incidents of the night in the number of shots fired.

Two men were wounded when four gangsters attempted to rob the Corner Grocery at Twelfth and Lewis. Before Raymond Evans is the only one of the robbers known in the police. He was shot in the neck at the store by the young man he attempted to rob. He made his way to Fourteenth and Troost and entered a taxicab from a house near there. He was taken to the Morningside hospital where he was pronounced out of danger last night.

One of the robbers who escaped wounded a son of Mr. Carrico, the owner of the store. The boy was not taken to the hospital.

A police call broadcast by the neighboring police departments was issued from the police, and a description of the robbers furnished, it has been shown by the youthful bandits for the purpose of carrying the loot from the grocery.

DISPUTE REPORT ON WALLACE CASE

Washington Says U. S. Citizen Did Not Violate Law.

IS SHOT FROM BEHIND

Mexican Report That Dead Man Attacked Sentry Flimsy Excuse.

OIL MAN DID NOT DRINK

Investigation Showed Axe Strapped to the Saddle of Wallace's Horse.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Claims of the Mexican government, as recently presented to the American embassy in Mexico City, that the killing near Tampico, late in November, of James Wallace, an American citizen, resulted from his failure to heed the warning of a Mexican sentry, are denied in an account of the incident which reached Washington today from the Aguila company of which Wallace was an employe.

The killing of Wallace caused the state department to make an urgent inquiry of the Mexican government as to the circumstances. The Mexican foreign office in its reply charged that Wallace while intoxicated, passed a sentry stationed at what was characterized as a "dangerous spot," and failing to halt, was shot and killed.

The Aguila company's report, which was presented at a meeting in Tampico of oil company managers and which is the first detailed account of the American's death to reach Washington, says:

"On the morning of the 26th day of November Mr. James Wallace, employed by us as foreman on our earthen reservoirs at Potrero del Llano, was riding from the office down to the tank farm, a distance of about 250 meters. On the road was an outpost of four government soldiers with a machine gun. As far as we have been able to ascertain Wallace's horse reared while passing this outpost and kicked the machine gun, whereupon one of the soldiers shot Wallace, killing him instantly. None of our men actually saw what happened. Some of them had been talking to Wallace a minute or two before, and hearing the shot they ran out of the office and found Wallace lying on the ground dead.

"The soldiers gave the explanation that Wallace insisted on passing between the machine gun and the sentry, that his horse refused to go, for which reason one of the soldiers beat it several times with the butt

STUDY JENKINS' CASE

Mexican Jurist to Determine Which Court has Jurisdiction in Prosecution.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 28.—Justice Urdapilleta has been delegated by the Mexican supreme court to study the records in the case of W. O. Jenkins, United States consular agent at Puebla, and to decide as soon as possible whether the Puebla state courts or the federal tribunals have jurisdiction. That step was taken because of legal complications which have arisen over the question of jurisdiction.

The only charges against Jenkins, so far as known, are those of giving false testimony and threatening witnesses, although Julio Mitchell, public prosecutor at Puebla, promised sensational revelations in the case soon, when interviewed here last evening. He intimated that Jenkins would be convicted of being implicated in rebellious operations.
