OKLAHOMA HIGH AT LEGION MEET

Chatfield Avers Delegation One of Strongest at Big Convention

PATRIOTISM STRESSED

State Assistant Adjutant Says School Book Action Among Prime Resolutions

Oklahoma's delegation to the national American Legion convention in Cleveland, O., was the largest delegation in comparison to the membership of the state represented and the distance traveled, according to J. C. Chatfield, assistant state adjutant of the American Legion, who with his bride, formerly Miss Venetta Jones of this city, arrived Wednesday for a short visit en route to Oklahoma City.

Rank High in Honors.

There were 48 in the Sooner group, half the numerical strength of the New York representation. The Oklahoma delegation also had the largest representation of medal honor men in the persons of Harold Taylor of Seminole and Sempler of Atoka, both possessors of congressional medals of honor, and among the 30 living Americans having that honor. Taylor and Sampler were made honorary chairmen of the Oklahoma delegation.

The Americanism program adopted by the legionaires was to a great extent based on the resolutions accepted by legionaires of the department of Oklahoma at their convention in this city recently, Chatfield said. E. K. Bixby, who was chairman of the Americanism commission of Oklahoma, was a member of the Americanism commission at the national meet.

Recommend History Study.

Adoption of the Americanism program was perhaps the most important action taken, in Chatfield's opinion. "This program recommended that the curriculum of all schools, both public and private, include compulsory study of American history and civil government and that such study be given in a simple but clear form down in the lower grades. It was suggested that in the lower grades emphasis be placed not as much on dates, but on stories from our history and the manner in which the principle of freedom has been the guiding star throughout our whole national life."

Further recommendations, as described by Chatfield, were that there be appropriate and impressive ceremonies with patriotic organizations assisting, when aliens are naturalized, and a more liberal policy in night schools for aliens.

"It was also urged that the posts interest themselves in playgrounds, libraries, public centers and all movements for community betterment," Mr. Chatfield said. "The national Americanism commission will hereafter have its headquarters in Minneapolis and maintain a bureau, with paid officials, to stimulate activities along this line and to advise and assist local posts in such activities."

Again We Have Promise That Men's Clothing Is Sure to be Cheaper

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Bertram J. Cahn, president of the Wholesale Clothiers' association of Chicago, has forecast a reduction in clothing prices, which, he said, will be even more noticeable in spring goods, it was announced today.

Mr. Cahn asserted that manufacturers will make small profits this fall and asserted that many clothiers were foregoing profits and selling at cost. He predicted, however, that material costs would be lowered by spring, and woolen mills will have announced a cut of from 20 to 25 per cent for spring goods. With labor's cooperation in increased production, he foresees still further reductions in prices.

Mr. Cahn's statement, it was said, was authorized by the National Association of Clothiers as the first authentic statement on the present clothing situation.

MAN 'CONFESSES' KILLING DENTON

Police Doubt Veracity, However, of His Story Solving Murder Case

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Joseph Rodriquez, under arrest here for the abduction of an 18-year-old girl, today "confessed" to the murder of J. C. Denton, wealthy Los Angeles mining promoter, according to a statement by Captain of Police John O'Meara, but when the alleged "confession" was made public doubt began to be cast upon it.

Rodriquez was quoted by Captain O'Meara as saying that he and another man strangled Denton to death with a rope in his own home while a woman looked on, that they then robbed the old man's home of money and stocks of large value and that other persons in the house buried the body in the cellar where it was found a few days ago, sealed up in a small room and covered with earth. Rodriquez, according to the police, came here several days ago from Los Angeles, reportedly to act as a Los Angeles detective who accompanied him to investigate the Denton case locally. He professed knowledge of the perpetrators, it was said.

Then came his arrest in connection with the alleged abduction of an 18-year-old San Francisco girl. For two days local police questioned him concerning the Denton case. Today during the questioning he called for a priest. The priest came and after the "confession" was given, Captain O'Meara, the latter said.

ator Harding, who in his speech at September 13 seems to lend entire approval to the existing status quo.

Warm receptions were accorded Governor Cox through his trip across Kentucky today. Starting with an early morning meeting at Elizabethtown, he addressed several thousand persons on the public square at Bowling Green, speaking here to several hundred business men at the commercial club dinner and to a crowd of several thousand on the courthouse lawn. He also was cheered during his four platform speeches at Horse Cave, Glasgow Junction, Scottsville (twice) and Franklin, Ky., this afternoon. At Franklin he was introduced as the "next president." He also was introduced as the "hope of southern womanhood."

At Bowling Green a low platform of loose planks broke down just as the governor concluded his address, derailed almost entirely in the people. The candidate and several guests were shaken somewhat by the drop of about three feet, but none were injured.
