MANHOOD; HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED. - A new and original ESSAY on the radical cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHOEA, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., also Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits induced by self-Indulgence or Sexual Extravagance.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents. The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of Self-Abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife - pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps. Also, Dr. C. C. Clark's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the publishers,

FRATERNITE.

BY ROSE TERRY.

Crosses, gilt martyr of a bank, Barred round with ingots yellow, The poet whom you do not thank, Is not a "wretched fellow!"

The garret of his dreaming sleep, Is tapestried with splendor; Whose glitter makes no angels weep, His heart is true and tender.

Poet, the Dives you despise, Has pleasures in his money! Dear butterfly, some beauty ties To bees in making honey!

The gold and jewels of your flowers, He copies in his treasure; Must all your brother's happy hours, Be meted with your measure?

Fair woman, whose averted eyes, Cast scorn on shame's poor daughter, The soul whose kindred yours denies, Was himpld once as water!

Who kept thee from the precipice, Where sin with love-lips kissed her? Through him who granted Mary's peace, Pray for thy wretched sister!

And thou, on earth most desolate, Blame not the passer by thee, Whose veiled eyes droop not out of hate, Whose thoughts no love deny thee!

If thou art, on earth most desolate, Blame not the passer by thee, Whose veiled eyes droop not out of hate, Whose thoughts no love deny thee!

If there are mountains in the world, Are there not also valleys! Where Love's blue standard swings unfurled, Where every true heart rallies!

Ranked in one hope, the difference dies, That keeps us from each other, And underneath millennial skies, Each man becomes a brother.

ADDRESS OF THE DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE.

DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE ROOMS, PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9, 1867.

To the Democracy of Pennsylvania:

Victory crowns your efforts and Pennsylvania is redeemed.

The Keystone proclaims her hatred of despotism, her fealty to the law, her fidelity to the Constitution.

You have elected Judge Sharswood, a representative man, to the Supreme Bench; reversed the majority of last year, and added to the number of your Senators and members of the House of Representatives.

New York and New Jersey will follow where you have led, and the future is your own if you will grasp it.

To your untiring efforts in the work of organization, is this result mainly due, and to you belongs the honor of the triumph.

New honors await you, new labors are before you.

You have won the fight for position, let us now prepare for the great battle of the coming year.

Pledging ourselves to the maintenance of a government of law for the entire Republic, to the preservation of the supremacy of our own race, to the development of our immense resources, to the reform of abuses, corruption and extravagance, and through these to the relief of the tax payer, and the payment of the public debt, let us move resolutely forward.

By order of the Democratic State Committee. WILLIAM A. WALLACE, Chairman.

A Mournful View of the Situation.

The Boston Advertiser takes the following mournful view of the situation:

Pennsylvania and Ohio, States which have seemed to be securely Republican, and which we carried last fall by aggregate majorities of nearly 60,000, have seen those majorities disappear, and we lose the one, while the other is saved at best by a close contest, which leaves their Legislature still in doubt.

In Iowa we have also largely reduced majorities. If, moreover, the common impression as to the influence of the October elections does not prove to be erroneous, and still more, if the causes which have produced these misfortunes do not suddenly cease to operate, we may expect to see New York imperiled, if not lost, at the next month's election.

It adds not a little to the mortification with which this result must be received, that our heavy loss in Ohio is so plainly due in large part to the proposed amendment to the State Constitution, introducing impartial suffrage.

Here, in Massachusetts, our record is clear upon this point, and what we have undertaken to prescribe for others has had its place for years upon our own statute-book. But it is little less than humiliating to have this public demonstration, that after such a period of awakening as the nation has now had, a great State like Ohio, which is supposed to be well advanced in its political ideas, and which has not been thought to hold any doubtful position as regards the reconstruction of the South, should thus draw back, as did Connecticut before her, from the needed step in amendment of her own institutions.

A "DISTRESSED MOTHER" writes to the Allentown (Pa.) Democrat for advice, which she gets, thusly: "The only way to cure your son staying out 'late o' nights' is to break his legs, or else get the 'calico' he runs after to do your house work."

The deaths from yellow fever at New Orleans from the week ending on the 13th of July, to September 28, were one thousand six hundred and ninety-six. The fever has subsided at Galveston, and the streets are filled with convalescents.

MRS. LINCOLN'S WARDROBE FOR SALE.

Full Explanation of the Whole Matter - Important Letter from Mrs. Lincoln - Her Complaints of the Ingratitude of Republican Office-Seekers.

(From a New York Paper.)

The announcement has already been made in these columns that Mrs. Abraham Lincoln, widow of the late President, was compelled to dispose of some of her personal effects in order to keep out the slender income which remained to her after the settlement of her husband's estate, and that she was, in fact, in this city under the assumed name of Mrs. Clarke, for the purpose of superintending the sale of her property.

As Mrs. Lincoln is no longer anxious to withhold from the public the facts in the case, there can be no propriety in imparting further information upon the subject, as obtained from the lady herself.

THE PROPERTY LEFT BY MR. LINCOLN.

Upon the death of Mr. Lincoln an effort was made to appropriate for his wife and family the sum he would have received from the United States had he lived to have finished his second term of office, to wit: $100,000; but it resulted in appropriating but $25,000, the amount of one year's salary as President. Of this sum, $3,000 were required to discharge certain standing obligations, leaving about $22,000, which, with the house and lot in Springfield, Illinois, owned by Mr. Lincoln previous to his election to the Presidency in 1860, was all the property which fell to Mrs. Lincoln. Her present income, she states, is but $1,700 a year, of which $300 comes from her old house in Springfield. It appears from this that Mr. Lincoln not only saved no money while he occupied the White House, but really lived beyond his income, which, in connection with the natural reluctance of his widow to return to the simple style of living to which she had been used before her residence in Washington, has compelled her to part with some of her personal effects at the present time.

LETTER FROM MRS. LINCOLN.

Appended are several letters written by Mrs. Lincoln in relation to this most unpleasant business, the contents of which will surprise the public. The first, in order of their date, appeared to be the following:

CHICAGO, September 1, 1867.

"MR. BRADY, A notice in a New York paper having attracted my attention, that you sold articles of value on commission, prompts me to write you. The articles I am sending you to dispose of were gifts of dear friends, which only urgent necessity compels me to part with, and I am especially anxiously that they shall not be sacrificed. The circumstances are peculiar and painful; therefore, I hope you will endeavor to realize as much as possible for them. Hoping soon to hear from you, I remain, very respectfully yours,"

"MRS. A. LINCOLN."

THE ARTICLES FORWARDED TO NEW-YORK.

The next letter, bearing the same date as the preceding, is as follows:

CHICAGO, SEPTEMBER 1, 1867.

"Mr. Brady, Commission Broker, 609 Broadway, New York:

"I have this day sent to you personal property which I am compelled to part with, and which you will find of considerable value. The articles consist of four camel's hair shawls, lace dress and shawls, a paasol cover, a diamond ring, two dress patterns, some furs, &c. Please have them appraised, and confer by letter with me."

Very respectfully,
"MRS. A. LINCOLN."

THE ARTICLES TO BE SOLD.

In this connection is given an inventory of the articles sent to Mr. Brady, with the valuation affixed to each:

1 black centre camel hair shawl, long$1,500
1 white centre camel hair shawl, long1,200
1 black centre camel hair shawl, square400
1 red centre camel hair shawl, square350

2 superfine point lace shawls, square300
1 white point lace shawl, long2,000
1 white point lace shawl, square4,000
1 white point lace shawl, square150
1 white point lace shawl, square250
1 white point lace shawl, square80
1 Russian sable cape1,500
1 Russian sable bonnet1,200
1 diamond ring1,000
2 dress patterns50
Some furs50

Also, many other articles, including diamonds, rings, &c., &c.

MRS. LINCOLN'S UNION OF REPUBLICANS.

A significant feature of the subsequent letter and memoranda, is the feeling entertained by Mrs. Lincoln towards leading Republicans. She complains bitterly that men who besought her influence to secure their official positions, and were profuse in promises if she would gratify their wishes, now give her the cold shoulder. Certain persons of that party, such as Thurlow Weed, Henry J. Raymond, Wm. H. Seward, and others, she is particularly severe against, and that it is through their influence that the "boys in blue" fought upon this platform. The war over, the radical negro influence commenced a reconstruction of the platform of the party by taking from the platform the Union plank and putting in its place negro political equality. Since then the platform has been going down—down—until public opinion has determined to completely crush it. The black thing is already a wreck, and by the time the November elections are over the radical platform will be among the things that once had an existence.

What next? Will the leaders persist in the wrong—persist in pursuing a course which must continue to drive the Union men of the war to the support of the old Democratic organization—or will they open the door to all loyal men opposed to negro political equality and the Democratic organization and its leaders? We have no doubt the same leaders who controlled the Democratic party during the war will have a controlling influence in that party should it again get into power, but we cannot see that any measures they would propose would be more destructive of the Union, the happiness and prosperity of our people, than the measures which have and may be forced upon the country by the radicals who have thus far been too successful in controlling the party organization opposed to the Democratic party.—Huntingdon Globe.

men, and had become fully aware, before his death, of their treachery and falseness."

MRS. LINCOLN UNDER AN ASSUMED NAME.

As the negotiations with Mr. Brady proceeded, Mrs. Lincoln deemed it best that her name should appear, the reasons for which are given in the following extract from a letter written by her.

(Extract of a letter from Mrs. Lincoln)

"Through the ingratitude of the Republicans towards the memory of the late lamented President, the family of their chief have been left to suffer want and destitution. Therefore it is natural to suppose that when it became imperative necessary for Mrs. Lincoln, the honored and beloved wife of the late President, to dispose of apparel and jewelry to enable her to meet the common necessities of life, it was certainly in better taste that Mrs. Clarke, rather than Mrs. Lincoln, should appear in the proceeding. Although in overwhelming sorrow she was by an ungrateful Republican party deprived of her rightful maintenance, she should appreciate her delicacy in desiring to keep her true name and their own ignominy from being known in the world."

SUBSEQUENT LETTERS.

The next letter presents more in detail the reasons for her actions in this sad matter, at the same time expresses her regret that the ingratitude of Republicans may do injury to the Republican party!

CHICAGO, September 22, 1867.

W. H. BRADY, Esq.—You write me that reporters are after you concerning my goods deposited with you—which in consideration of my urgent wants, I assure you I am compelled to relinquish—and also that there is a fear that these newsmen will seize upon the painful circumstances of your having injured the Republican party politically.

In the case of this party and for universal freedom, my beloved husband's precious life was sacrificed, not for the world would I do anything to injure the cause. My
