GERMANY PAYING OFF

First Payment to Be Made Through United States Is Deposited in New York Banks.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The first installment of Germany's reparations payment to the allies, to be made through the United States—$5,775,000—today was in the federal reserve bank of New York. The German government through four New York banking institutions, completed the deposit yesterday.

The payments were made in the transfer of banking credits.

Financial men today, in discussing the payment, recalled that Germany recently had been buying dollars by the sale of exchange abroad, causing a tremendous decline in the exchanges of all countries. This dollar credit acquired by Germany was believed to have been assembled in New York to meet the allied reparation payments.

SHE FOLLOWS HER MOTHER

Little Rock Woman Induced to Take Tanlac Through Parent's Restoration

"Tanlac restored my mother's health so perfectly that I began taking it myself and just two bottles have helped me wonderfully," said Mrs. Godfrey, 604 E. 4th St., N. Markham St., Little Rock, Ark.

"A short time ago I seemed to have a nervous breakdown, she continued. "My stomach became so disordered that nothing tasted good and I had dizzy spells. I got down to weight of 100 pounds. My stomach was so bad gas would come up and I had to sit up in bed to get my breath. I felt all in a daze and became weak and nervous. My stomach was so bad I could not eat much food. I was constipated and my liver was sluggish. I was in a terrible condition when I started to take Tanlac.

"But I think Tanlac is just wonderful. It has helped me so much in such a short time. I have only finished my second bottle but already I feel like a different person. I enjoy what I eat and am gaining in weight. The pains have about all gone from my back and I have been built up so I feel better and stronger in every way. I have nothing but the highest praise for Tanlac.

Tanlac is sold in Tulsa exclusively by the Quaker and Puritan Drug companies.—Adv.

WIVES DISCUSS THEIR RIGHTS

Use of Maiden Name Debated by Authors and Actresses

NEW YORK, June 1.—Men and women authors discussed the question of the use of maiden names by married women in a discussion held here today. Among those who participated were Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, who advocated the use of maiden names by married women, and Mrs. Ida Husted Harper, who said she had always used her husband's name and was referred to as Mrs. Ida Husted Harper.

Albert Bush, who showed considerable heat in indignation at the proceedings in the Hotel Pennsylvania said Miss Ferguson, who asked questions regarding a young man chorus girl, Mr. Bush said it was possible Miss Ferguson might know more than he would have to have accounts of the late John Drew and was referred to by Miss Ferguson and Mr. Bush. Mrs. Clark, who presided, also made a statement with the back Miss Ferguson, also wanted to know about passports, and was informed that it was a steamship company rule that men's married name be used, but that it was a matter of convenience and custom and not of law.

Another event broke after Ernestine Rose Michael Strauss, wife of Paul Dazrosch and author of Claire de Lune.

Miss Strauss told with every manifestation of regret that she had married Mrs. John Barrymore to her contract with Joseph Friedman, who said her lawyer advised her to do so in order that her rights might not be prejudiced. She was searched when Miss Hale and others explained that the question of marriage was another and at least well one was known. If the name she desired to use, if the Friedman contract of marriage was so thoroughly established that the identity of the owner and wife could not be questioned. There was no legal obstacle to using it as a married.

The women who attended the meeting and heard Miss Hale, Mr. Bruce and others explain the name status of married women were surprised to find that they were not nearly as much hampered and discriminated in law as they believed. Mrs. Ferguson, who asked questions, said she was "pleased to know that I can go to a hotel and sign my name Mrs. Ferguson and not Mrs. T. H. Clark." Mrs. Ferguson also said she would sign all her checks Rose Ferguson and not Mrs. T. H. Clark. Mrs. Ferguson also said she was married with the back Miss.

There was some discussion of both the value and the validity of names that in the strictest sense of custom are not real. That evoked vigorous defense of the value of professional names as well as their legitimacy by decree signed all sorts of players. Jack Dempsey and Jane Cowl were mentioned as persons of widely dif-

TULSA, OKLAHOMA—

EDITORIAL

The ribbons Fanny Brice shows my middle name as Bessugus. but friends who know me well call me "bugs." It suits me fairly well at that because I AM a crank about bugs, particularly the bugs that destroy food, pester dogs, pets and poultry and menace human life.

About a dozen years ago, the government, too, became interested in bugs and believes me, they've got the goods on them too. Maybe, sandbugs and other critters enough to fill a potato barrel full of lemons are charged against them. Proof that flies, for instance, carry countless millions of disease germs, leaving them in the family beefsteak, on baby's bottle, or on the dinner table, has been established. Typhoid, tuberculosis, summer complaint—as many as 3 million on a single fly is common.

And Listen! How flies do multiply. It is estimated that one Mother fly lays 120 eggs in the first 10 days of June. By September her descendants have increased to 4 sextillions, 234 quintillions, 564 quadrillions, 612 trillions, and many trifling odd millions, millions and thousands. No wonder they call me "bugs."

But wait! I don't propose to stand for them, do you? You don't HAVE to. You can wipe them out easily, effectively, simply, quickly. We discovered their vulnerable spot a few years back. The "critters" have no lungs. They MUST breathe through their skins.

Hofstra Powder is lighter than air. It floats like smoke. Traces into every nook and cranny. It envelopes insects in crowds. The pure pyrethrum, combined with certain chemicals and wafted in the air with the corn starch ingredient, closes their skin pores and kills them dead. This page is full of human interest stories of what Hofstra does to bugs of various kinds. Read them and join thousands of others in the battle of humanity against insects for the sake of personal comfort and public health.

The Sink and Bread Box Was Alive With Ants

Where they came from nobody knew, but there they were, crawling all over the sink; up the sides of the bread box; all over the drain board; everywhere. What a mess—thousands of nasty, little, red ants that could not be knocked away or scraped off. In another hour they would have been in the refrigerator gumming up the butter and running the other foods. She hastily procured her Trusty Hofstra gun and with a few well aimed shots enveloped the whole colony of ants in a cloud, like smoke off a cigar. Then she left the room for five minutes. When she returned, Lo and Behold, the Ants were not. All that remained was a lot of little round black balls. The ants had simply doubled up, died. Not one escaped to tell the tale.

Every Housefly Carries Enough Deadly Germs to Kill Your Baby

Every Summer thousands of babies die in America—babies that are seemingly well cared for. With the hot days they suddenly develop vari-off maladies; fail to take care of their food; grow thin, irritable, languish and often die. One of the most common troubles is known as summer complaint. It might be better known as flycomplaint. Ordinary flies carry from one to three million deadly disease germs. Flies from filthy districts carry as high as five hundred million. One fly, which lights on baby's glass or bottle or crawls headlong into the milk can inoculate your baby. Sticky fabrics are flies and don't catch them all. Poison baits kill some flies but may kill baby too. Baudrics are clumsy and little. Clear the whole house clean with Hofstra. It's harmless insecticide and does a thorough job.

An Ultimatum To Roaches They Are Powerless To Resist—Kill 'Em

Roaches are Ghostly things. They lurk in dark, damp places; under your drain boards, in musty closets; and in dark, dark basements and cellars. They are carriers of disease. They devour a lot of food and they are certainly offensive to have about. There's one way to reach them, no matter how inaccessible the place they live. Shoot a Cloud of Hofstra in their direction. It will float and float right into the deepest, darkest recesses. They can't stand it. It suffocates them utterly. You can rid your whole house of roaches in just a few shots daily for a few days. Hofstra isn't a poison. No Danger whatever.

If Mother Hen Could Pray "God Bless Hofstra"

Have you considered what a true, noble Mother a Hen must be. She sits on her eggs for three long weeks, scarcely leaving them for a moment even for food or drink. She MUST keep these eggs warm, for if chilled they never will hatch. And while she is thus engaged, along comes a horde of nasty, blood-sucking lice to make her life miserable. They crawl over her by the thousands; get into her feathers; camp on her person and drain her vitality, but still she sets. How sad she must feel to think that in spite of everything she can do, her little ones will become infested too. Hens can't set or lay well if persecuted with lice. Little chicks die by the thousands from mites and lice. Don't stand for this loss. Bring comfort and content to your flock with Hofstra.

Never Failing Recipe For Fleas

If you love your dog, you will hate his fleas, for no dog will have a friend who doesn't hate fleas as he does. A Loaded metal gun of Hofstra costs 15c, at any drug or grocery store. Buy one and try this recipe:

1 dog full of fleas
1 Hofstra Gun full of Hofstra
1 newspaper to stand dog upon
1 person to press the gun.

Place dog on newspaper; press the bellows top of gun and shoot a cloud of Hofstra well into the hair. If the dog has long hair, brush it the wrong way while shooting the powder. Keep dog quiet for five minutes. Then gather up Newspaper, Fleas and all and burn it. This is a sure flea recipe. Never fails.

The Worm Will Turn—Turn Up His Toes—and So Will Mr. Potato Bug

Listen Mr. Gardener, don't you take any back talk from Cabbage worms, or Potato bugs, or any of the rest of that bunch of vegetable pirates. You don't have to. You make your garden as free of marauding pests as bootleggers at a Prohibition convention. And you don't have to take a pan and paddle and pick 'em off one by one, either. Get you a Hofstra Loaded gun 15c, Buy you a package of Ammunition If-tusa along with it and refill the gun time after time. Just shoot clouds of Hofstra in among and round the plants. Shoot it up under the leaves, so that it reaches where the foliage is thickest. Hofstra floats and floats. Covers large areas quickly. Gets to where every bug lives. Cuts off his air. Kills them by the hundreds.

P. S.—Avoid arsenate of lead and other poisonous compounds on the vegetables you expect to eat. Hofstra does better work, quicker and is absolutely harmless. NOT a poison.

The Organized Force Against Insects in America's Big Industries

Can you imagine Henry Ford, or even Ford's office boy running around the Ford Factory at Detroit with a fly swatter, waiting to get one fly at a time into a compromising position. Ford don't do things that way. It's Quantity production with him. And Quantity production of flies and insects too. The Ford Motor Company uses Hofstra. It's the clean, quick, economical way to wipe out insects by the thousands. The Morris Packing Plants use Hofstra. Likewise the Hershey Creameries, Kellogg's Corn Flake Co., The Van Noyes Interstate Company operating all dining service on Four big Southern and Eastern railroads. These are but a few of the big names in American business who rely on Hofstra. Hundreds of Big hotels, State and County institutions, Hospitals, etc., buy it by the Gross. It is NOT a Poison. It is Harmless to Humans, but sure death to Most insects.

The Insect Legend of the Death Flower From the Flowery Kingdom

In Japan, flies fear to go inland, for Nature in her wisdom has produced a flower which is death to flies. It is called Pyrethrum; It is a dwarf Chrysanthemum, looks like a daisy. When it blooms, the Pollen is wafted by the winds for miles. Humans cannot even detect it in the air, but it brings death to insects by sealing the pores through which they breathe. It acts exactly the same as fungus sometimes seen on Flies in America. You see them caught in a spiderweb with a growth of grey mould over their bodies. The Fungus is natures way in America but it doesn't act quickly. Hofstra is Simply Pyrethrum flowers, pulverized to talcum fineness combined with chemicals and Corn Starch which multiplies its effectiveness.

Ask Your Grocer or Druggist For a Loaded Hofstra Gun 15c

Be sure you get the genuine—spelled H-O-F-S-T-R-A and sold in cartons red and yellow metal gun, ready loaded with powder. Don't throw this gun away when empty. It is substantially made and will last a long time. Comes apart like a shoe polish tin and can be refilled time after time at a very low cost.

Refill Gun From Hofstra Packages, 20c, 60c and $1.20

Buy at least a 30c size package when you get your gun. Keep more ammunition handy. The 30c size re-loads gun 3 times; the 60c size re-loads gun 8 times; the $1.20 size re-loads gun 20 times. Hofstra sold only in round yellow guns; and in rectangular, red, black and yellow packages.
