Insurance Agent Fixes Blame for High Rates Here

Laxity of officials in apprehending automobile thieves is paying their bonds at a prohibitive figure, and in convicting them when they are found, was charged by L. N. Ka[illegible], the local insurance agent, who spoke at the Rotary club luncheon at Hotel Polo Wednesday noon, for the prevailing high rates of automobile theft insurance.

Since June 1, he explained, all automobile policies have contained provisions that not more than three-fourths of the face of the policy is payable in event of loss. They also provide that the insurance companies are not responsible for the loss of spotlights and other accessories that are not regarded as an essential part of the automobile. The "three-fourths" rule also applies to policies written on fire insurance, Kaiser said.

Until several months ago, he stated, Tulsa, Oklahoma City and the other large centers of Oklahoma were regarded as sections in which the loss of automobiles by theft was greatest. Now, however, the same opinion prevails regarding the entire state, even the smaller towns and villages lose automobiles in the same proportion to the larger cities.

Col. Ira Reeves, new managing director of the Chamber of Commerce, made a brief talk in which he assured Rotarians he expects to devote all his energy to the upbuilding of Tulsa, and urged club members to come to his office any time they have constructive plans for the betterment of the city so these plans may be carried out.

L. R. Darrow was Rotarian of Wednesday's luncheon.
