THE WORM TURNS AT LAST

THE TELEPHONE COMPANY HAS RUN THE LIMIT OF PEOPLE'S PATIENCE—A NEW COMPANY IN PROSPECT.

At the city council meeting on Monday night Mr. J. H. Whyte, manager of the Chamber of Commerce presented a communication attached to which was J. H. Thatcher's reply to the letter addressed to him by the Chamber of Commerce regarding the poor telephone service in Astoria.

Some time ago the Astorian published an article regarding the poor service and urging that the management would give Astoria an improvement or at least a partial improvement. Mr. Thatcher, according to those in a position to know, has been putting off these improvements for the past ten years with the result that it is now a race between the slow-footed messenger boy and the Astoria telephone system, as a means of communication between business houses, with the messenger boy and "odds on the favorite."

Promises have been made which are not kept until patience has ceased to be a virtue and when Councilman Hansen in the meeting of the council on Monday night, moved that the city attorney be instructed to examine the franchise to find if there was not someway by which it could be revoked, he met with not only the backing of his fellow members but with the plaudits of a much abused people.

The telephone company has reached the limit of the patience of the people and unless something is done before the city attorney can report to the city council and that body take action there will be an opening for a new telephone company to get a franchise that is valuable.

There is no question about it that our telephone system causes Astoria to be laughed at by visitors. A visitor reaches our city and going to the nearest phone takes down the receiver, places it to his ear and awaits a reply from "central." After he has waited about five minutes—and five minutes is long in such a case—he is fortunate if some one tells him that he should ring up "central," a system that in the smallest town he has probably reached that he was compelled to follow this antiquated method. Imagine his opinion of the enterprise of Astoria! His opinion of Astora's enterprise must be a low one though as to its good nature or gullibility there is no question but that it is somewhat enlarged.

It is to be hoped that the proposed action of the city council will have the effect of placing an up-to-date system in this city. Conditions differ with those of the time when the present system have expired and it is not a question of the old Bell Telephone Company threatening infringement proceedings against users of telephones that were not owned by them.

"There are others" is a common expression and in this case this expression is peculiarly apt. There may be a new telephone company in Astoria soon that will give good service.

T. J. Potter Brings Down Blooded Angora Goats.

BUILD REGATTA GRANDSTAND

Elder Arrives and the Breakwater Clears Vessels Clearing With Big Cargo of Lumber for California Ports—Redondo Arrives Down From Sound—Notes.

The T. J. Potter came down last night but brought a light passenger list. Captain Sullivan brought down 91 passengers but considerable freight for Astoria.

The principal consignment of freight for this port was 50 Angora goats which are to be taken to Gearhart Park for Theodore Kruse. Goats of this breed are peacable as a rule but they are hard to manage. It took the whole crew of the Potter from Captain Sullivan down, with the aid of Agent Roberts, to get the valuable animals landed. When a goat wants to be perverse he is the kingbolt in the business. There is nothing he can't do with his horns and a steward who gets one of those crooked bone prongs in his ribs is inclined to drop the animal. Being little they are carried by one horn and dragged along up the gang plank. Some of the crew grabbed them around the waist and walked up the plank like a man with a big Teddy bear. A goat with his waist encircled by the brawny arm of a deckhand is an ignoble sight, to say the least. Those 50 goats seemed like 500 before they were all landed and the three last brought off by one strong deckhand; with a goat in one arm, a ewe in the other and booting along in front of him a yearling lamb which was just sprouting horns.

At the Tongue Point Lumber Company's dock the Beulah, Captain Skipper, will be ready to put to sea in a few days. This vessel will take 600,000 feet of lumber to San Francisco. Other vessels due for loading at the company's dock are the Daisy Freeman and the J. B. Stetson.

The United States lighthouse tender Heather, Captain Byrnes, left early Monday morning for the Sound where she will be engaged for an indefinite time changing channel buoys and other aids to navigation.

The gasoline schooner Della entered at the custom house yesterday, the cargo being cheese from Nestucca Bay.

The schooner Churchill is at Knappton, from San Francisco, loading lumber for return.

The City of Panama, Captain Nelson, entered at the custom house yesterday from San Francisco to Portland.

The steamer Breakwater, from Portland to Coos Bay, cleared at the custom house yesterday.

The steamer George W. Elder, from San Pedro and way points to Portland, entered at the custom house yesterday.

The steamer Redondo, with general cargo for this port and Portland, entered from Seattle yesterday.

The steamer Johan Paulsen, with general cargo for Portland, was one of the entries yesterday at the custom house from San Francisco.

On the A. & C. R. R. has a gang of workmen putting down new ties on the trestle near the Parker House. The ties are watched closely on these trestles and the company has a gang of men at work all the time putting in new sleepers.

The grandstand committee of the Regatta celebration has the work of building the grandstand at the foot of Eleventh street well under way. The supports for the seats are all placed and the boards forming the place where sightseers will view the sports will soon be in place.

The Sue H. Elmore arrived in last night from Tillamook with passengers and a big cargo of dairy products. She left out again this morning at 4 o'clock with her limit of passengers aboard all bound for the Tillamook Fair and Carnival.

The Della left out yesterday for Nestucca with a cargo of merchandise and provisions.

The Gerald C. passed out yesterday bound with freight and passengers for Siletz.
