Athletes Eat 10 Times Daily Slumber 40 Winks at a Time

Riders In Six-Day Bicycle Race Spurn Pork and Beans At Frequent Meals; Some Display Marked Flashes Of Temperment In Selecting Food.

Chicago, March 11.—Men who eat as often as ten times daily and snatch their sleep in minute rather than hourly doses, make up the coterie of athletes who ride in the six-day bicycle races in America, according to the trainers who handle these athletes.

Aside from the riding itself, eating is one of the best things athletes do. Nor is their appetite during the six-day grind of the "pork and beans" variety. It is nothing if not epicurean, the riders displaying in some cases marked flashes of temperament in selecting articles of food.

Steaks are most popular among riders. Eggs in a variety of forms, chicken prepared in every conceivable manner and fruits are also eaten abundantly. Coffee is d in great quantities.

No Rip Van Winkles.

Some riders are satisfied with four or five meals daily, while others eat double that number. Trainers explain these lusty appetites are due to the constant tearing down of tissues of the riders' body, owing to the continued pedalling about the track. The body requires plenty of "ammunition" to enable the rider to drive his wheel along the wooden track for the 146 hours of the race.

As far as sleep is concerned, there are no Rip Van Winkles riding in the six day races. The riders' sleep comes in periods that average three to four hours, are more often less than an hour and very rarely are stretched out to eight hours. For a rider to get an eight-hour sleep, however, means that his partner must remain on the track, riding against the field, that long, and this is a feat not often attempted, requiring as it does pronounced endurance on the part of the rider.

There is no certainty about the length of the sleeping period. A rider may doze off when a "jam" is started on the track and he is aroused by his trainer and obliged to mount his wheel and resume pedalling to relieve his partner who, by reason of the "jam," which is nothing more than a sudden sprint, cannot continue the fast pace.

Three Essentials.

Men who have followed the six-day bike racing sport closely declare that the highest type of athlete is required for the event. For a rider in perfect physical trim, they declare, the long grind has no deterrent effect, and he finishes in as fresh condition as when he started, although naturally with many hours of sleep to make up. Strangely, the rider upon the completion of a six-day race, does not feel sleepy and it generally is several hours later before sleep comes. Drowsiness is noticeable, riders declare, for several days after the race.

Cleanliness is characteristic of the six-day rider. The few hours that he is able to take off the track are divided between sleep, baths, rub downs and shaving. Necessity for cleanliness is explained by the fact that the pores of the skin must be kept free from obstruction in order that the rider may keep as nearly perfect physically as possible.

Three things are essential for the bike rider in a long race, one trainer declared: physical fitness, cleanliness and courage. It takes grit and nerve to pedal around a ten-lap track for a week, and no matter how perfect the body, a rider would be unable to continue without plenty of "fighting heart."

Washington Enters Bowling Tourney For First Time In 10 Years

Toledo, Ohio, March 13.—After being out of the American Bowling congress for ten years, Washington, D. C. returns tonight and will have a team shooting for the money in the five-men event.

Fifteen Buffalo teams and one from Fond du Lac, Wis., are on the first shift. Others on the second squad are from Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and Newark, N. J.

Competition in the minor events of the tournament was resumed at 9 o'clock this morning with Detroit, Anderson and Muncie, Ind., and Buffalo and Kenosha bowlers in action. Milwaukee, Chicago and Louisville bowlers were scheduled.

Following are the leaders:

Five Men—Mineralite, Chicago, 2,904.

Two Men—G. Biddell, L. Lucke, New York, 1,272.

Individuals—W. Lundgren, Chicago, 729.

All Events—I. Lucke, New York, 1,851.

TOMMY GIBBONS IS FAVORITE IN FIGHT TONIGHT

New York, March 13.—A decisive result is hoped for tonight in the light heavyweight clash at Madison Square Garden between Tom Gibbons of St. Paul, and Harry Greb of Pittsburgh, in their scheduled 15 round bout. Gibbons, by virtue of his weight advantage, has been established the favorite.

The men are to weigh in at 172 but it is generally expected Greb will be several pounds under this poundage. In addition, the St. Paul scrapper has an advantage of two inches in reach and more than four inches in height.

Both Gibbons and Greb are expected to try desperately for knockouts. Greb has 28 knockouts to his credit since 1913. To his discredit is a knockout at the hands of Joe Chip. Gibbons, who also began fighting in 1913, has knocked out 43 men and has never been counted out. Tonight's meeting will be the fourth reunion between Greb and Gibbons.

COYOTES WIN.

Aberdeen, S. D., March 11.—South Dakota state college defeated Northern Normal and Industrial school here tonight at basketball, 39 to 22.

APPROPRIATION BILL FOR ARMY REPORTED TODAY

ficers and 132,000 men exclusive of 7,000 Philippine scouts.

An appropriation of $27,635,260 is recommended for continuance of work on various river and harbor improvements or which the chief engineers requested $43,000,000, $12,431,000 for the air service against $15,000,000 requested and $21,130,200 for the national guard, about $9,000,000 less than budget estimates.

Chemical Warfare Fund.

The committee recommended $500,000 for the chemical warfare service, declaring that sum sufficient to provide for a "minimum amount of development work and training along lines compatible with present conditions."

An appropriation of $2,750,000 is recommended for supplies and equipment for the reserve officers' training corps and $1,800,000 for civilian military training camps.

The bill carried $7,740,090 for the ordnance department, to meet in addition to other expenses, the cost of maintaining a skeleton force at arsenals "to keep alive the knowledge of the method of manufacture."

The amount carried in the bill for sea coast fortifications, the committee reported would not provide for any new projects, but would go entirely for maintenance of existing fortifications and for continuing the construction of a limited number of sea coast guns.

Rivers and Harbors.

The total recommended for river and harbor improvements, about $15,000,000 less than the amount sought by the chief engineers, is carried as a lump sum and projects on which work would be continued are not specified. None of the appropriations would go for new projects, however.

For the subsistence of the army the committee approved $16,550,000 approximately $13,000,000 less than last year's appropriation, the decrease being brought by a reduction to 30 cents per ration.

Appropriation of $425,000 is recommended for the construction, repair and maintenance of roads, bridges and trails in Alaska.

WRECKAGE OF FISHING BOAT WASHED ASHORE

Cape May, N. J., March 13.—Wreckage of a fishing boat with a net attached, believed by coast guardsmen to be one of the New England mackeral fleet, was washed ashore by a heavy northeast tide. The stern of the craft bore only the word "Boston."

The fleet of about 250 boats is fishing off the Virginia coast and is due here next month.

attorney for the relators in said proceedings, and filed in the supreme court of the state of North Dakota for use therein, on the 23d day of October, 1919.

That said N. J. Brevig was then and there a notary public with due and legal authority then and there to administer the said oath, and did so administer the same in due and legal form to the said O. E. Lofthus and Myron W. Thatcher, defendants herein. That Exhibit "A," among other evidence contained therein, contained the following statements so sworn to by the said defendants, viz:

"The Sisal Trust loan is shown as outstanding and unpaid in the financial statement that is submitted. These parties have at just the hour that this report is being made paid their notes in full, $11,000.00."

That said statement and evidence sworn to by the defendants, and each of them, was false and untrue, and known by them, and each of them, to be false and untrue, and was willfully, deliberately, knowingly and corruptly sworn to by said defendants, and each of them, knowing the same to be false and untrue in this, that the said Sisal Trust loan was not paid by the parties making said loan, or at all. The facts in reference thereto being that the said Sisal Trust loan notes had been, by the said O. E. Lofthus, with the full knowledge of the said M. W. Thatcher, exchanged, for a certain check drawn upon a bank in which no funds were deposited belonging to the said maker of the said check, as both the said O. E. Lofthus and M. W. Thatcher then and there well knew.

Condition of Bank.

That in the said Exhibit "A," referred to in the written oath herein set forth, in a summary of the financial statement of the Scandinavian-American bank referred to in said written oath of said defendants Byron W. Thatcher and O. E. Lofthus, said summary being in words and figures as follows:

Summary.

Capital stock	$50,000.00	$50,000.00
Surplus	10,000.00	10,000.00
Profit or loss (loss)	3,114.47
(Profit)		11,284.71
Net worth	56,885.53	71,284.71

Said summary as sworn to as aforesaid by the defendants, O. E. Lofthus and Myron W. Thatcher, falsely, willfully, deliberately and corruptly, knowing the same to be false, whereas in truth and fact the net worth of the said bank was not $71,284.71, but was in truth and in fact less than $56,885.53, as the said defendants O. E. Lofthus and Myron W. Thatcher then and there well knew.

Went to Supreme Court.

That the said statements set forth herein were material statements in this, that a motion and order to show cause in the proceeding entitled in the supreme court of North Dakota, herein set forth, was at said time pending, in which it became, and was at said time, material to show that the said Scandinavian-American bank, relator in said proceedings, was solvent, and said statements did tend to prove, and were by said defendants intended to prove in said proceedings the solvency thereof, whereas in truth and in fact the said Scandinavian-American bank, relator in said proceeding in the supreme court, was then and there insolvent, as the defendants O. E. Lofthus and Myron W. Thatcher then and there well knew, and said defendants did then and there willfully, feloniously, unlawfully, corruptly, knowingly and deliberately, knowing the same matter to be false, swear to the same as true, contrary to and against the peace and dignity of the state of North Dakota.

Wherefore complainant prays that the defendants O. E. Lofthus and Myron W. Thatcher may be arrested and dealt with according to law.

TRIAL OF MRS. OBENCHAIN IS RESUMED TODAY

Says She and Kennedy Went to Cottage to Hunt "Good Luck" Penny.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 13.—Cross examination of Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain on trial charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, her sweetheart, was resumed today in the superior court here. Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes began questioning Mrs. Obenchain concerning occurrences on the after and evening of August 5, last.

On direct examination the defendant said she went driving with Kennedy late in the afternoon and after staying until after dark at beach resort, they went to Kennedy's cottage at Beverly Glen. Kennedy was slain about 9 o'clock that night in front of this cottage. Mrs. Obenchain declared two unknown men rushed past her after two shots were fired at her companion. The prosecution contends the shooting was done by Arthur C. Burch, co-defendant in the case.

Mrs. Obenchain's features were pale and drawn as she faced the prosecutor today.

Keyes endeavored to get Mrs. Obenchain to fix definitely the time she was at the beach and when she drove to the Glen, but the defendant declared she could not do so. She repeated previous testimony that she and Kennedy went to the cottage to look for a "lucky penny," she declared she had hidden under a rock there some time in the previous year. She said she was uncertain what time of the year this was but that it was one day while she and her sister were out driving with a party of friends.

"I hid the penny so I could prove to Belton I had been at the cottage," she said. "He had always said I was too proud to go there."

SEN. JOHNSON ASSAILS FOUR POWER TREATY

really thought, when he addressed the senate and presented the treaties, that the conference had been conducted in this fashion. In the multiplicity of his duties he could not know all that transpired. He evidently was not aware that in all the minutes presented there is nothing concerning the quadruple alliance. Indeed there has never been greater secrecy concerning any document submitted to our people.

"It is true that two distinguished members of the senate were members of the conference. It is obvious from their statements upon the floor that they know little or nothing concerning its making. The treaty is presented to the senate without word or explanation and with a denial of any formation."

STAND PAT ON BONUS BILL, IS G. O. P. ATTITUDE

policy loans to be financed by the government. Mr. Mellon contended that "it is both dangerous and unwise" to attempt to avoid the cost of the bonus for the time being.

"There is no way," he said, "by which the American tax payer can avoid the burden, and if a bonus is to be imposed it is far better for all concerned that it be placed upon a direct and definite basis and paid for each year out of current revenues. To do this at this time will necessarily mean the imposition of additional taxes for this purpose.

The secretary estimated the cost of the bonus under the bill considering each of the possible choices offered to veterans, at more than $1,200,000,000 by Jan. 1, 1926. Whatever form the bonus measure might take, he asserted, would mean a cost to the government of from $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 for the next three or four years and possible continuing liabilities thereafter of more than $200,000,000 a year until 1943.

Presents Figures.

Accompanying his letter Mr. Mellon transmitted statistical tables prepared by treasury experts showing the varying cost of a bonus according to what percentage of veterans might choose the different plans of payment offered.

Mr. Mellon called attention to the fact that the bill makes no provision for raising additional revenue to meet the cost of the bonus and recalled to Mr. Fordney, President Harding's letter of Feb. 16 in which it was suggested that a general sales tax be enacted to provide the necessary funds or the bonus legislation be postponed.
