Personal Mention.

General W. H. L. Barnes is registered at the St. Elmo.

James P. McClure, of Honolulu, is at the Grand Central.

John R. Brierly, Collector of the Port of San Pedro, is at the Grand Central.

The Fay Templeton Troupe, twenty-six in number, are registered at the Pico House.

Mr. John Bonner, formerly connected with the New York Herald, made a pleasant call at the HERALD office. He is making a tour of the State in company with Judge Wallace.

Mr. A. Petsch, one of the proprietors of the Hermosa Tract, near Cucamonga, was in the city on a flying visit yesterday. Mr. Petsch contemplates a visit to his old home in Berlin shortly, and proposes to take in the New Orleans Exposition on his way home.

W. E. Ward, of the Plumas National, and a thirty years' resident of Plumas county, gave the HERALD office a pleasant call yesterday. This is Mr. Ward's first trip to Southern California, and he expresses himself highly pleased with the country. Mr. Ward is the guest of his nephew, T. H. Ward, of this city, who, like all Angeleños, are anxious to have all their friends and relatives join them in this land of prosperity and plenty.

Another Postoffice Complaint.

Wm. H. Cook, traveling agent for the Rural Press of San Francisco, who has been in the city for some two weeks attending the late District Fair, has been unable to get any correspondence by mail from his employers although of great importance to both, until yesterday. He has called at the office regularly, knowing there must be a letter come for him as often as three times a week, but he was assured there was nothing until yesterday, when he was handed six letters from commercial handwriting, "Wm. H. Cook, Los Angeles, Cal." Mr. Cook and his employers have suffered financially, aside from the inconvenience, by this unnecessary delay of their mail in this office. The letters bore the dates of their arrival at this postoffice, which ran from the 11th to the 22d of this month. The only excuse offered by the imbecile attaché of this asylum was that he could not make out whether it was Look, Sook, Book, Crook or Cook, and after trying all the boxes for these names, thought he would palm them off on the gentleman they were addressed to, in such a plain, bold hand that it would be impossible to mistake the name. If Mr. Cook does not warm the dessert in the ears of the Postmaster and his illustrious delivery clerk, that held back this important correspondence, through the columns of the Rural Press it will be because language fails to do the subject justice.

Baggage Record.

As an index to the enormous amount of passenger travel to and from this city, and the number of arrivals who have located here, the following summary of the Baggage Department of the Railroad company is invaluable. The year ending the first of October shows there were 74,610 pieces of baggage checked in and out of the depot in this city. There were 44,421 pieces of baggage checked in and 28,684 checked out, showing a gain for this city and vicinity of 30,189 pieces of baggage that did not return. From this deduct 1505 pieces of baggage checked to local points, it leaves 28,684 pieces. This of course does not include the thousands of trunks and parcels of baggage brought on the excursion and immigrant trains, that will more than double the number of baggage regularly checked by the company. The exhibit of that department shows that the heaviest month in the year was in December '83, and that April, May and June of this year were also very lively months in the way of overland travel. From present indications the overland travel will increase at a rapid rate as soon as the election is over. Several excursions are billed to start for this city on the back of election day, that will begin to arrive here by the middle of next month.

Wheelbarrow Bet.

J. C. McMenomy and E. Nittinger made a bet on the election yesterday, which is substantially as follows: If Blaine should be elected, McMenomy is to wheel Nittinger from the corner of First and Main streets to the Pico House; thence down Main and Spring streets to First, and down First to the starting point. Should Cleveland be elected Nittinger performs the laborious part of the contract and McMenomy will hold the ribbons. A brass band will lead the procession and a committee of reliable gentlemen will accompany, to see that there is no "sojering." A collection will be taken up along the route, which will be equally divided between the Catholic and Protestant orphan asylums. In case there is a repetition of the 8 to 7 business the judges are to decide who propels the barrow. The performance will take place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, as soon as it is definitely known who is elected.

Democratic Spanish - American Meeting at the Old Mission.

There will be a grand rally of the Democratic Spanish-Americans at the Old Mission to-morrow, Saturday evening, October 25th. The meeting will be addressed by Y. C. Fuentes, Rafael Sepulveda and other speakers. The Spanish-Americans in and about San Gabriel and the Old Mission, are eminently sound on the Democratic ticket and are wide-awake in this campaign. There is every prospect that there will be a good crowd in attendance and a jolly time generally.

For Widows and Orphans.

The Tivoli Troupe will to-night give a benefit to the Frank Bartlett Post to aid the funds of the Post, which are running very low in consequence of the expenses incurred in the burial of deceased comrades, many of whom come here in the last stages of disease with a view of improving their condition, and come too late. It is quite likely that there will be an increased attendance at this popular resort on this occasion. The usual complimentary tickets will be suspended this evening.

Passengers Due From the East To-Day.

The following is the list of passengers from the East, via the Southern route, to arrive in Los Angeles at 12:20 P. M. to-day, specially telegraphed to the HERALD from Casa Grande, Arizona:

J A Moore, J W Bird and wife, Mrs B Chapman, New York; F P Sigler, Miss Faherty, S Upham, Los Angeles; E Sherman and wife, San Francisco; H Waterman, Chicago; H. W. Davis, Ohio.

The Mine Courts.

MAY THOM.

J. H. Thomas, drunk—Discharged.
E. Niederaur, drunk—Plead guilty. Friday Oct. 24th set for sentence.
—Mayberry, malicious mischief—Set for Oct. 25th.

JUSTICE MORGAN.

C. H. Bush et al, malicious mischief—Continued.
Sam'l A. McCurdy, disturbing the peace—Set for Oct. 31st.

Funeral of Mrs. Froelich.

The funeral of Mrs. Froelich, the wife of Captain Froelich, of the police force, was attended by the entire department yesterday at the Cathedral on Main street. The scene was solemn and impressive, but will probably fail to be sufficiently impressive to deter other women from pouring kerosene on a fire, or from filling a burning lamp. Capt. Froelich has the sympathies of the whole community in his great and unexpected bereavement.

Gen. W. W. Smith.

Brigadier General W. W. Smith of the N. G. C., who recently tendered his resignation to Governor Stoneman, appears to be slowly wasting away with consumption. He is now stopping at Mound City and does not seem to have improved by his late residence in San Francisco. The General is a typo and used to be foreman of the Riverside Press and Horticulturist.

Warner's Excursion.

Warner's excursion from the east arrived this morning, bringing one hundred excursionists. A large portion of them have come to spend the winter in Southern California, with a view to locating here, while a few of them, who have been here before, have come to stay and brought their families and household goods.

Mining Location.

Yesterday Charles Happ and C. T. Healey located two mining claims, of twenty acres each, described as follows: The NE ¼ (40 acres) of the SE ¼ of Sec. 2, in Township 5 north, Range 12 west, S. B. M., and known as the Fine Gold claim, in the county of Los Angeles, State of California.

Pampas Premiums.

In the list of premiums for best pampas plumes, Mr. J. M. Stewart got away with the premiums, and not for "best display" as reported to the HERALD. This journal had previously announced that Mr. Stewart had 40,000 plumes in his beautiful garden.

Recorded.

The following instruments were filed in the County Recorder's office yesterday: Nineteen deeds, six mortgages, three releases, four miscellaneous papers and two marriage licenses.

Masquerade of Eagle Corps.

The great masquerade ball of the Eagle Corps will take place to-night at Armory Hall. The grand march in costume will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

League of Freedom.

There will be a special meeting of the League of Freedom this evening at Turn Verein Hall, at 7 o'clock, sharp, for the ransaction of important business.

Married.

A license to wed was yesterday granted to A. C. Brownie and Jennie Phillipson.

PROPOSED VINTAGE FESTIVAL.

An Annual Harvest Home Festival to be Established.

In relation to the suggestions made in an editorial of the HERALD of Wednesday in favor of an annual festival of the vintage season, quite a number of our leading viticulturists have signified their hearty accord with such an enterprise and promise their hearty co-operation.

The inauguration of an annual convention of vintners and vigherons and a harvest feast would be of incalculable benefit to the viticulturists of this section as well as to other portions of the State. The exhibit of vines, fruit and wines on such occasions would be very instructive and beneficial. The discussion of the best means of battling with the enemies of the grape, whether it come from the fungi, insect family or the inane opposition to the manufacture of the pure juice of the grape, would be of incalculable benefit to our viticulturists. Another matter of paramount importance to our wine men could be intelligently handled and discussed to great advantage, viz: What shall we do with our rapidly increasing volume of wine? The adaptability of certain altitudes, soils and the best methods of irrigation, and much other valuable information of vital importance could be disseminated on such an occasion that but few ever learn from the annual sessions of the State Viticultural Commission. Mr. Wemore, chief viticultural officer of the State, estimates the wine crop of Southern California for '86 at 200,000 tons, which requires concert of action to handle and find a profitable market therefor. All these questions and a thousand others could be handled on such occasions with great profit to this section, that is in a fair way to soon be the greatest wine-producing part of the world. Let Messrs. Hellman, Rose, Dreyfus, Shorb, Nadeau, Baldwin, Frohling and others of our largest vignerons and vintners move in the matter at once, and the great Annual Harvest Feast and Festival of Southern California will be a fact. The columns of the HERALD are open to discuss this matter to mature plans for organization. The meeting should be one of great festivity, with music, procession, song and dance and a grand social reunion from one end of the land to the other. Such a festival would attract visitors from all parts of the United States, and be the greatest festival in America. Right here in Los Angeles is the place to start and keep this great celebration. It will be inaugurated without a doubt in 1885.

Petrolia at Home and Abroad.

The region about the oil wells at Petrolia, north of Anaheim, is strikingly like the oil fields of Baku, near the Caspian Sea. The soil is impregnated with oil, gas and asphaltum, so that the whole earth might be burned deeply down by igniting the asphaltum. The Baku region is up on the mountains overlooking the sea, like the mountains of Petrolia, and the yield of oil is enormous. Mr. Charles Marvin gives the following description of the Baku region in the Independent Journal:

"The earth around the wells for about two miles has this surprising property, that by taking up two or three inches of the surface and applying a live coal, the part which is so uncovered immediately takes fire, almost before the coal touches the earth; the flame makes the soil hot, but does not consume it, nor affect what is near with any degree of heat. Any quantity of this earth carried to another place does not produce this effect. Not long since eight horses were consumed by this fire, being under a roof where the surface of the ground was turned up, and by some accident took flame. If a cane or tube, even of paper, be set about two inches in the ground, confined and closed with earth below, and the top of it touched with a live coal, and blown upon, immediately a flame issues without hurting either the cane or paper, provided the edges be covered with clay; and this method they use for light in their houses, which have only the earth for a floor; three or four of these lighted canes will boil water in a pot, and thus they dress their victuals. The flame may be extinguished in the same manner as that of spirits of wine. The ground is dry and stony, and the more stony any particular part is, the stronger and clearer is the flame; it smells sulphurous, like naptha, but not very offensive.

Lime is burnt to great perfection by means of this phenomenon, the flame communicating itself to any distance where the earth is uncovered to receive it. The stones must be laid on one another, and in three days the lime is completed. Near this place brimstone is dug, and naphtha springs are found.

"Baku," he continues, "supplies Ghilan and Mazanderan and other countries contiguous with naphtha." In his days, "the chief place for the black or dark grey naphtha" was "the small island Wetoy, now uninhabited, except at such times as they take naphtha from thence." By Wetoy he meant Svlatoi, or Holy Island, off the extremity of the peninsula of Apsheron. Describing the operations of the petroleum exporters, he says: "The Persians load it in bulk in their wretched vessels, so that sometimes the sea is covered with it for leagues together. When the weather is thick and hazy, the springs boil up the higher, and the naphtha often takes fire on the surface of the earth, and runs in a flame into the sea in great quantities to a distance almost incredible. In clear weather the springs do not boil up above two or three feet; in boiling over, the oily substance makes so strong a consistency as by degrees almost to close the mouth of the spring; sometimes it is quite closed, and forms hillocks that look as black as pitch, but the spring, which is resisted in one place, breaks out in another. Some of the springs, which have not been long open, form a mouth of 8 or 10 feet diameter.

Old as the Deluge.

The ancient historic olive tree, mentioned in the writings of Moses and in the career of that ancient navigator Commodore Noah, seems to have made a permanent settlement in Los Angeles. The old orchard at San Fernando, which has done duty for a hundred years, during the past few years pending a long litigation has been sadly neglected, and the admirers of the ancient grove thought that the days of the trees were numbered. But they have been most agreeably disappointed. Since the termination of the suit and the transfer of the land back to the care of the Church the land about the old grove has been plowed and the old trees that seemed so woebegone and likely to perish, have put on new life and strength and are now in as vigorous growth as if in the morning of life, and are now full of large and handsome fruit, a sample of which may be seen at the HERALD office.

Mr. P. Cazenave, a French horticulturist, was called to the restoration of the ancient grove of about 400 trees, and nobly he performed his task. Under his skillful management and culture the old trees that looked so forlorn and weary, over which the winds of a century had swept, have become rank and lusty in their growth and show that in their veins lives an endurance of a millenium of years.

Mr. Cazenave began his operations by pruning off the superfluous branches, from which he obtained about 300 loads of wood. The trees are now again loaded with fruit after a respite of several years and a half accomplished death, and will make about 30 gallons each of very superior oil, worth in the aggregate about $30,000 for the entire grove, all of which has been accomplished by a little intelligent care and culture on the part of M. Cazenave. Let others follow his example and prune all the old olive trees and plow the ground and give them a new start in life, and they will renew their strength like the eagles, and run and not be weary and walk and not faint. All along the coast counties are ancient olives, that have been long neglected and have ceased to be productive. These can be improved and made highly productive by following the course pursued by M. Cazenave. Who will commence the work of renovation of these ancient and most valuable trees, which are linked in sacred memory with the history of the human race?

The Weather.

For the past three days the temperature in the city has been very high, but with no wind worth mentioning. The usual breeze of four to five miles an hour has been the regular afternoon zephyr, while our neighbors in San Fernando have had a hot blast for three days that has dried their stubble fields so that they are now burning off the vast amount of straw that remained in the way of plowing and sowing. While this hot equatorial wave has prepared S an Fernando for a seeding season, on the east of the city, about forty miles, on the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, the draft of the wind came through the Cajon Pass with terrible force and covered the track of the railroad with sand and gravel during both day and night. A force of men was kept constantly employed in clearing the track to enable trains to move with safety.

This gale extended all down through the Santa Ana valley with great power, and yet during all this time the city was in a calm, with less wind than the usual summer sea breeze, while at the north the hot breath of the equatorial region rushed towards the city at the rate of twenty miles an hour, but passed about one thousand feet overhead without rippling the atmosphere of Los Angeles, and the same gale at the east, at a distance of forty miles, blew off fruit, and ear ried away the dried alfilerilla, and even the soil itself.

For freedom from great atmospheric vicissitudes, Los Angeles is the most noted city in the whole United States. The temperature yesterday was lowered a little over 8 degrees at the maximum, and 5.3 degrees at the minimum, being three degrees below that of the previous day.

Democratic Rally at San Fernando.

The Democratic meeting at San Fernando on the evening of the 20th, was called to order by J. T. Wilson. Mr. J. Harp was chosen Chairman and Mr. C. R. Rinaldi, Secretary. Abbot Kinney was the first speaker. He ably reviewed the tariff question. He reviewed the inequalities and injustice of the present tariff and showed the necessities of a reform that would work to the best interests of the masses. Col. Flournoy, Thomas B. Brown, A. W. Potts, R. M. Barham, C. E. Miles, A. Sepulveda, S. Levy, A. G. Ruxton, J. W. Broaded and John T. Wilson, contributed their eloquent passages to the occasion, to the great satisfaction of the large crowd who were assembled and who, by their expressions, heartily endorsed the nominees of the entire Democratic ticket. San Fernando that has heretofore been Republican can safely be put down as Democratic hereafter.

Growth of San Bernardino County.

The printing of the Great Register has just been completed in the Index job room, and shows 3948 names. The number of names on the Great Register in 1882, two years ago, was 2906, and in 1880, or four years ago, was 1795. It will be seen from these figures that the voters of San Bernardino have more than doubled during the last four years, and that the increase during the past two years has been a little over 33⅓ per cent. This is a very handsome showing indeed, and compares well with the increase in Los Angeles county. It shows that we have now a population of over 30,000 in this county, with every probability of a more rapid increase during the next year than any previous year in its history.—Index.

The Mascotte.

Last night the Opera House was filled by a large and fashionably dressed audience to witness the opening night of the Fay Templeton Opera Bouffe Company. The troupe was particularly happy in its selection of an opera for its first appearance before a Los Angeles audience. Audran's Mascotte is one of the most irresistibly comic pieces now on the American stage and abounds in many light, catchy airs, as well as some that express deeper sentiment.

Miss Fay Templeton took the part of "Bettina," the Mascotte, and from her first appearance on the stage completely captured her audience. She possesses a clear and finely modulated voice; her form is the perfection of grace; her face is charming, and she is thoroughly chic. She made the "Gobble song" popular in this city, and the refrain is haunting everybody who heard her sing it last night. She was the recipient of a magnificent floral harp after singing the "Gobble song," and on encore was presented with a beautiful bouquet. The costume she wore after her elevation to the position of a Countess, was a chef-d-oeuvre of the milliner's art, and was painted by a master's hand. The exquisite grace and abandon of Miss Templeton, whether as the turkey girl or the reigning beauty of the court, won the hearts of the spectators. She is now doubtless, queen regnant of Opera Bouffe, and the mantel of Alice Oates has fallen on her shoulders, where it rests gracefully. Harry Brown as "Prince Lorenzo" had a thorough conception of the part and was a great favorite with the audience. Signor George Olmi, as the shepherd "Pippo," who won the hearts of the ladies at a glance, is the picture of manly grace, and is the possessor of a splendid voice. Miss Tillie West's "Fiametta;" the "Rocco," of William Guiberson, and George Travener's "Prince Frederic," were all above the average, and showed that Miss Templeton is ably supported. It can safely be predicted that a large audience will greet Miss Templeton to-night, when Lecocq's opera, Girofle-Girofla, will be presented. Miss Alice Vane will also appear in this charming opera.

The veteran John Templeton, the father of Miss Fay, and one of the best actors in the line the writer ever saw, accompanies the troupe, and much of the success of the company's presentations is due to his through direction of the stage business.

Arizona Items.

The Arizona Star, of Tucson, has the following items of interest:

Jack Bolyn, who, on the charge of perjury in the Murphy Gibson case, has for the past several weeks been confined in jail, is reported to have become demented. At times he is said to become quite violent, and is kept in chains and confined in a close cell. An investigation in his case is shortly to be made.

For the week past it has been an open secret that a defalcation of some $1200 or $1400 had been discovered in the office of Wells, Fargo & Co., of this city, and that officers from San Francisco were here investigating the matter. They have finally reached a conclusion of their labors, but the result and subsequent action to be taken have not yet been made public.

A man claiming to be a Frenchman, a resident of New Orleans, and giving his name as D. Luis Mavroid, was run over by a freight train at Casa Grande, Thursday night last, while attempting to get on the brakebeam of a car for the purpose of stealing a ride. He was fearfully mangled, the train having passed over and crushed to a jelly both legs above the knees, and his right arm above the wrist. He was brought here yesterday morning and taken to St. Mary's Hospital, where Dr. Handy, assisted by Drs. Fenner and Spencer, amputated the injured limbs. The shock to his nervous system because of the accident was, however, too great and he died yesterday about 2 o'clock, and was buried last evening. No money was found on his person. He said he had a wife and three young boys in New Orleans."

Calico Clippings.

The Print has the following items of progress and interest:

R. W. Waterman spent several days of last week visiting the mines, with intentions of purchasing.

John G. Overshiner, proprietor of the Print, is rusticating in the City of the Angels, and without doubt is courting some of the angels as well. Go it, John.

Men have been put at work on the new strike at the Sue mine, and some very fine ore is being taken out. The strike promises to be one of the very best ever struck in the Calico District.

Freight traffic has increased over fifty per cent on this division since the Atlantic & Pacific took possession. Passenger travel has also visibly increased.

Since our report in last issue of the Print the following shipments of bullion were made from mines in Calico mining district through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express: Two shipments from the King, $11,951; one from the Bismarck, $5,892; one from the Cuba, $6,379. Total since Jan. 1st, 1884, $666,390.

"A-are y-you a-an admirer o-of s-soldiers?" asked a West Point cadet of a young miss with whom he was waltzing. He was short of breath and growing dizzy. "I-I d-don't k-know," she replied. "I-I n-never s-saw any."

Mining News.

On last Tuesday we were favored with a call from Mr. J. B. Cook, of the Providence mining district, who presented us with a number of fine specimens from the leading mines of that locality. From him we gleaned the following items of interest.

The Bonanza King Mining Co. have commenced sinking from the seventh to the eighth level in the main shaft. They have lately struck large bodies of rich ore and the prospects of their mines are brighter than at any time since their opening. They have from 80 to 100 miners constantly employed and are working up about 24 tons of ore in their mill daily. Their bullion shipments will compare favorably with those of other bonanza mines.

The Perseverence mine, owned by R. P. Kerr, is working four men, and has arrived at a depth of about 80 feet. Good ore is being taken out, which is being shipped to the Kingman Sampling Works.

The owners of the Bell McGilroy mine, Messrs. Dwyre and Gorman, are working several men, and within the past week have struck a large body of high grade ore, showing a vein of four feet in width. The ore assays up in the hundreds.

Messrs. Barret, Cook & Co. are working a few men on the Mozart group of mines. They are opening up a very rich body of ore, the indications of which are decidedly promising, and have now on the dumps several tons of rich rock.

The mines generally, throughout the camp, never looked better than at the present time, and that the future has millions in store for the mining men of Providence is not doubted.—Calico Print.

Cotton Items.

Notwithstanding the depression in the cotton goods trade of the world, the south is steadily pushing on in the building of new cotton mills. Among the enterprises of this kind now under way are twenty-three mills costing $3,250,000.

The cotton crop of Texas last year was worth more than the cotton crop of the entire United States in 1843. Forty years ago the few settlers in Texas lived on game. To-day the State contains more than 10,000,000 cattle, sheep, horses, mules and swine.

Alabama has now twenty-three cotton mills, Georgia sixty-two, North Carolina ninety-two, South Carolina eighty-one, Tennessee thirty-three, Virginia fourteen, Maryland twenty-four, Louisiana seven, Mississippi eleven, Texas six, Kentucky five, Arkansas four and Florida two.

Florida cotton is a month earlier than her neighbors.

Tennessee has thirty-three cotton mills, 1461 looms and 78,877 spindles.

Last year forty-five cotton factories were erected in the South and many more are contemplated.

Cotton mills in this country that were worth $40,000,000 in 1830 rose to $141,000,000 in 1870, and to $208,000,000 in 1880.

United Verde Copper Company.

Our reporter called on Gov. Tritle this morning and requested information as to what the product of the United Verde Copper Mines has been since the furnace started last year. He obligingly gave the following figures:

The furnace has run to October 1 1884, 289 days, and Supt. Thomas gives the product by assays at the mines 4,396,951 pounds of refined copper equal to approximately 2198 tons. And the product in silver is 237,351 ounces. Estimating the average price of copper at $250 per ton the gross yield of copper amounts to $549,500.00, and rating silver at $1 per ounce, $237,451.00. This does not look as though the enterprise was a failure as has been said by some of our exchanges.—Miner.

"Will you pull the bell?" she asked of a man across the aisle as the car reached the corner. "No, madam," he answered with a bow, "but I will be most happy to pull the strap which rings the bell." "Ah! but never mind. The strap is connected with two bells, and you might stop the wrong end of the car." And the look she turned upon him was full of triumph veneered with cayenne pepper.

Business Men of Los Angeles.

Many States in the Union at present are competing with California for European immigration, but the fertility of our soil, and particularly the climate of the Southern part of the State, are great things in our favor. The most enterprising business men of Los Angeles come from all parts of the Union, among the foremost of which must be mentioned the Pacific Restaurant, opposite the Postoffice.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

Warranted to speedily cure burns, bruises, cuts, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, cancers, piles, chilblains, corns, tetter, chapped hands, and all skin eruptions, guaranteed to cure in every instance or money refunded. 25 cents per box. For sale by C. F. Heinzeman.

Lord Chesterfield, the pink of politeness in his day, said that a true gentleman should be always suaviter in modo, fortiter in re, which means mild in manner, strong in action. This is precisely the character of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. Nothing operates so mildly and yet so powerfully in removing disease.

Judge for Yourself.

While every one is doubtlessly aware of the great popularity of the new, pleasant and effective remedy, Syrup of Figs, yet if there is any one suffering from any of the ills arising from a disordered or inactive condition of the liver, stomach and bowels who has tried so many remedies without being cured, that he has lost confidence in the efficacy of medicine and the testimonials of strangers, we would say it costs nothing to try Syrup of Figs and judge of its merits for yourself. Unlike all other liver medicines and purgatives, it acts gently yet thoroughly, giving strength to the organs on which it acts, thereby enabling the invalid to form regular habits and be restored permanently to health. Trial bottles free and large bottles for sale by C. F. Heinzeman.
