Something About the Sewers.

The dirt and boulders taken out of the excavation for the completed Los Angeles street sewer, to make room for the cement pipe, has all been taken to grade Seventh street, east of Alameda, by order of the authorities. A few small piles remain, but do not obstruct the street. The main sewage now runs from Sonora street to the city limits. The branch sewer on Commercial street is made of wood, and distributes much of the sewage into the cellars of merchants. This should be changed to a concrete pipe, similar to the other sewers. The San Pedro street brick sewer is covered with thick planks, and is much better than a wooden box sewer. The Alameda street sewer, which was to have progressed northward from Commercial street when the main sewer on Los Angeles street was completed last week, is still in abeyance, and no arrangements have been commenced to connect the east and west streets with the sewer, as ordered. This is a very necessary thing for health, yet nothing is done, and the old cesspools remain, a nuisance which could not exist by connection with the sewer in the streets.

Tossing the Sledge.

The strong man who always has a pleasant smile for the customers at Bob Eckerts' aquarium, and who prides himself in the name of John Mann, conceived the idea on election morning that he could throw a 20 pound sledge a little farther than our Surveyor, Stevenson, on a wager of five dollars to twenty and the drains. Agreeable to programme the night before, the contestants and crowd assembled early election morning in front of the court house, to settle the question of herculean strength. Stevenson grasped the sledge first and after swinging round a couple of times hove the hammer 64 feet with ease and perfect grace. Mann then came forward perfectly confident of success and sent the sledge whirling but, in consequence of the resistance of the political miasma, it landed only thirty-three feet from the toe mark. John has not mentioned the subject since. He is as sedate and dignified as some of our defeated candidates.

Another Improvement.

The large lot on the northwest corner of Alameda and Commercial streets, owned by Messrs. Mott & Spence, was formerly occupied by old and dangerous rookeries up to a few months ago, when they were destroyed on both streets, and Mr. E. F. Spence erected and completed the two-story building which bears his name on Commercial street, opposite the Lankershim flouring mill. Now Mr. S. H. Mott has a force of men digging a cellar on his property adjoining on the east and north of the new Spence building. The foundation will be commenced to-day and rushed to completion, after which the brick walls will go up to the height of two stories, in the form of an "L," making a corner of substantial buildings where, up to a few months ago, rotten adobes existed. Thus the building steadily increases.

The Nashville Students.

It is aptly said of this troupe that several of the more difficult solos are rendered with great ability, but it is in the rendition of original plantation melodies, "camp meeting" choruses, etc., that these colored minstrels excel. The instrumental accompaniments are admirably executed, and altogether the Students give a performance at once enjoyable in its diversity and pleasing in its primitive originality. The company appear at the Grand Opera House on Saturday afternoon and evening next, when they will undoubtedly be greeted by a large house. Reserved seats now on sale at the Opera House.

THE COUNTY.

The Full Returns Not Yet Received.

TWO DEMOCRATS PROBABLY ELECTED.

The City Does Not Sustain Her Democratic Name, and the Republicans Make Large Gains in Every Ward.

The returns from the city and county come in slowly owing to the great length of the ballot, which includes 34 different names and propositions. The Republicans are ahead on the Electoral vote in the county about 500, with thirteen precincts to hear from which will probably reduce this majority slightly. On the county vote the result is very variable. The Prohibitionists have drawn away a large number of Republican votes, which may elect perhaps two of the Democratic candidates. The wrath of the Republicans against the Prohibitionists is intense. The language used by that party against the sunspinery fellows would shame the "army in Flanders." From present returns the Republicans have elected two and perhaps three of the five Supervisors and probably three Members of Assembly, and the two Superior Judges.

For District Attorney, G. M. Holton is at this writing 300 votes ahead and is probably elected. So far as heard from the Congressional district goes about 500 for Col. Markham.

At 12½ o'clock this morning the votes in the Sixth and Third precincts were not all counted, but are given as far as canvassed.

For Township Justice, Rudolph Rauney, Esq., is elected by about 600 majority, and H. C. Austin is elected City Justice by a large majority. Charles H. Penning and J. C. Cline obtain the prize of Constable, which is a very valuable office under our present laws. The defeated candidates take their back-set with the utmost good nature and the best of good feeling prevails. Probably no very important election ever occurred in Los Angeles with so much good nature and courteous conduct as that which took place on Tuesday last.

The proposition to issue $500,000 of county bonds for the erection of a Court-house has been voted down, principally because the people are disgusted with the plan of the building adopted by the Supervisors. Among all the plans presented the most worthless was adopted and the people, while anxious to have a new Court House, are not willing to pay for a tawdry looking building, devoid of grace and working in utility. It should not be understood that the people do not feel able to build a Court House, but they do feel that they should have a noble and useful structure, and are willing to pay for it. The building must and will be erected. The project is not killed, but postponed. Following are the returns as far as obtained:

Lang Social Club.

This club was formed at Lang's Station, S. P. R. R., Cal., on Nov. 1st, 1884, with a membership of twenty-five at the first meeting, with the books open for further enrollment. A full set of by-laws and regulations with order of business has been adopted. Many ladies of high respectability have enrolled their names and take great interest in making a grand success of the movement as its objects are of a high order, such as temperance, improvement of the mind and the cementing of mutual and lasting friendship. The programme during the session will be principally declamations, debates on questions of general interest, and intermixed with plays and dialogues. No doubt on next Friday night there will be at least fifty members enrolled.

Meetings weekly on Friday evenings, at Sulphur Springs Hotel.

Arizona News.

[From Sunshine and Silver.]

Mining is king in Arizona. Anybody who, for any reason, destroys confidence in our mines by upholding fraud and misrepresentation, is the enemy of the people and retards our prosperity.

It is a fact, which is apparently not generally known, that there is at present no treaty between the United States and Mexico to define the standing of our citizens in that country, the former treaty having lapsed. This is a disgraceful state of things, and accounts for the powerlessness of our Consuls to assist Americans, when they are held in noisome dungeons, for months at a time, without trial.

Ostrich Farming.

A gentleman from the Anaheim Ostrich Farm informs the HERALD that the experiment which for some time was a doubtful proposition, is turning out to be, as Dr. Sketchly predicted, a grand success. Not only the sale of the eggs and feathers is proving to be very profitable, but the success in hatching and development of some forty healthy chicks, has established beyond a doubt that this important factor in our resources will soon be carried on in Southern California on a huge scale and prove one of our most profitable industries.

yQueer Fish.

[Charleston (S. C.) News, October 18.]

Some sailors caught a curious fish in the harbor yesterday. It is said that nothing like it has ever been seen here before. It is a foot long, has a head like a frog, its body being like that of any other fish, except that instead of the fore fins there are two large wings, 8 inches long and 5 inches across. The wings are speckled like those of a whippoor-will, and are formed of a very thin, transparent film instead of feathers.

Blue Gum Forests.

As the planting of blue gums for their prospective value for fuel or timber continues, it will be well to place on record a careful and complete report of the well-known Haywards experiment, made by Gen. James Stratton, and those who succeeded him in the possession of the property. The figures have been prepared for us by Isaac Collins, of Haywards, who is well known for his caution and his desire to present facts accurately.

The plantation was 29 acres in extent, and was popularly known as "Stratton's Blue Gum Grove;" the location was near Haywards, in Alameda county, and the trees were set in the winter of 1869-70. The following is a complete statement of the receipts from the enterprise:

Thinnings out up to 1875	12 cords
" in 1876	149	"
" in 1877	100	"
" in 1880	1,000	"
" and chopped roots	100	"
Total	1,361	"
1,361 cords, at $6 per cord	$8,166
700 telegraph poles sold	525
Total receipts	$8,691

The land was entirely cleared in 1880, and devoted to other purposes. So the time occupied in the experiment was ten years, and $8,691 represents the net receipts from 29 acres of land given for 10 years to blue gum growing.

It would be interesting to have the debit side of the account figured, with the interest on the valuation, the cost of planting, the cost of getting the wood into marketable shape, etc.; but that must be left for the mathematical bent of any interested person, as we have not the data. We believe that the place for such ventures is where land is low in valuation, and special attention must also be given to the exposure of the situation to frosts and heavy winds, for the blue gum does not take kindly to these agencies. We shall be glad to have the experience of all our readers in forestry ventures with all sorts of trees in all sorts of situations.—Rural Press.

Some Morganatic.

[London Truth.]

A Leipsic journal has compiled a list of morganatic marriages which have taken place within a comparatively short period, with the object of showing that when the Grand Duke of Hesse espoused Mme de Kalomine he did nothing at all exceptional, and it points out that the wrath of his relatives in England and at Berlin is really very unreasonable, which has all along been the opinion in Germany. There has been seventeen unions of this sort, and it is added that "they all turned out most happily." The list includes one Emperor, four Kings, one Elector, two Archdukes of Austria, and several princes. The indignation of the English relatives is all the more absurd, as, according to the German law, the marriage of Princess Louise with Lord Lorne is a morganatic union.

Fare to the Worlds' Fair.

Goodman, General Passenger and Ticket Agent of the Union and Southern Pacific railroads, states: "The rate agreed upon by the lines interested for excursion tickets to New Orleans and return is $145. Tickets will be placed on sale November 20th next, and must be used for the eastward trip within thirty days of sale, and for the return trip within sixty days of the same date. It is possible that the time for the return trip may be extended to ninety days. Tickets will not be sold after April 30, 1885. Tickets will be on sale allowing the holder to travel in either direction, via Omaha or Kansas City, he paying, in addition to the $145, the local fare between New Orleans and Omaha or Kansas City."

Big Dinners.

Over indulgence in eating and drinking is generally followed by headaches, dullness, languor and other disagreeable sensations. Anyone finding himself in that unfortunate state will obtain relief most readily by taking Syrup of Figs. C. F. Heinzeman is agent for Los Angeles.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral wonderfully increases the power and flexibility of the voice, enabling public speakers to speak clearly and without fatigue. If people who are troubled with colds would take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral before going to church or places of entertainment, they would avoid coughing, greatly to the comfort of both the hearer and speaker.

Astronomy is a beautiful science. We are told that if a railway was run from the earth to the nearest fixed star, and if the cars ran at one cent for every hundred miles, and if you took a mass of gold to the ticket office equal to the national debt—$3,800,000,000—it would not be sufficient to pay for a ticket to the nearest fixed star aforesaid. It would certainly be mighty discouraging to go to the ticket office with a mass of gold equal to $3,800,000,000, and be informed that the fare was $5,678,052,000. But though we could not afford a trip to the fixed star, it is a consolation to think that there is something within our means, which will do us far more good, and that is a cup of rich, aromatic and invigorating Eola Tea.
