What the People Want.

A VERY lively controversy is going on just now between the New York Herald and World as to whether President Cleveland should or should not appoint a member of the Cabinet from the Independent Republicans, who are supposed to have contributed largely to his election. The World is of opinion that the new President ought to surround himself with exclusively Democratic advisers. In the course of its argument it dwelt upon the fact that the disaffected Republicans desired to defeat Blaine, and that in that achievement there was ample compensation for their efforts. This is unquestionably a just presentment of the matter. Allowing them the most patriotic incitement for their hostility to the Plumed Knight, the mere gratification involved in their success in beating him ought to be sufficient reward. The Herald, however, says:

The Independent Republicans have not asked and probably will not ask Mr. Cleveland for office. But in our judgment the President-elect will make a very serious mistake if he does not urge, and, so far as he can, compel them to take a share, and an important share, in his councils. It was not the Democratic party which elected him; it was by the united efforts of honest Democrats and honest Republicans and against a very great Democratic defection that he was chosen, and he cannot hope to carry out the important reforms to which he stands pledged without the continued confidence and zealous assistance of the men of both the old parties who chose him.

We regard this view of the matter as strained and fanciful. What reasonable man would have the slightest distrust of President Cleveland surrounded by the recognized chiefs of his party? Most Democrats hope to see the new President imitate the example of Lincoln, who took his cabinet from amongst those who had been his leading competitors for the Presidential nomination. With a cabinet made up in large part of those who were balloted for in the Chicago Convention, Mr. Cleveland would inspire the country at large with genuine confidence. Nine Americans out of ten hope to see the noble and commanding figures of Bayard, Thurman, Randall and McDonald seated around the council board of the new Democratic President. There are several familiar and admirable names from the South that would add to the feeling of hope and security that such a cabinet would excite in the country.

There is one aspect of the matter which the New York Herald fails to recognize, and that is that the American people are very distrustful of anything that looks like a political bargain. Henry Clay was instrumental in the election of John Quincy Adams, and the mere suspicion of a bargain in that instance killed both Adams and Clay. Coalition ministries and cabinets are rarely successful. In fact they never are, either in Europe or America. The country does not look for any bigoted partizanship from President Cleveland, but it will expect him to give the people a patriotic administration, soundly Democratic to the core. While we are in no sense ungrateful to the Independent Republicans who helped to give the vote of the State of New York to Cleveland and Hendricks, we yet believe that they look for their reward in a higher form than office.

IT is understood that a strong effort will be made at the coming session of Congress to create a District Court of the United States for the Southern District of California. This movement ought to be successful. The enormity of compelling suitors to go four or five hundred miles to obtain a hearing, together with the oppressive costs necessarily incident to such a system of litigation, is at last beginning to attract great attention. All that is needed to obtain a remedy is a little energy on the part of our California representatives. This great boon may almost be had for the asking. Senator Miller has expressed himself as unreservedly in favor of the measure and Senator Farley has always shown himself to be responsive to the needs of Southern California. The Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles would do well to take advantage of the assembling of Congress to again memorialize that body on the matter. We should remember the venerable adage that constant dropping will wear away a stone.

IT is a pleasant thing after a shipwreck to look around and descry the faces of those who have been spared engulfment. The experiences of the Democratic party of California have not been pleasant this year. Many good men and true have been swallowed up and have disappeared, some of them having been gathered into "the limbo of things lost upon earth," or caught up as "an alms of oblivion into the wallet of time." The comely and genial lineaments of Hon. Barclay Henley figure amongst those who have been saved as though by fire. By a small but satisfactory majority he will replace himself in Congressional marble halls. Mr. Henley is a gentleman of splendid abilities and magnetic manners. By the time his second term shall have drawn to a close we predict that there will be few men in the lower house who exert more influence than he. We congratulate not only himself but the Democratic party and the people on his success.

THERE is perhaps no finer instinct of patriotism than that which leads men to sacrifice themselves upon the office-holding altars of their country. We are pleased to see that in Los Angeles just now this noble band of patriots are in full force. From the office of Postmaster to that of Collector of the Port of Wilmington there are citizens to be found who will immolate themselves to serve their fellows. In this fact, by the way, we have a pleasing guarantee that the future of our fatherland is secure.

COL. WALTER S. MOORE having retired from the contest for the Republican nomination for the Mayoralty the struggle will be divested of much of that jump and animation which would have signalized the Republican cohorts if he had remained in the field. The Colonel is a born politician, and he would have made Rome howl if he had remained in the field. We are inclined to think that his withdrawal is owing to the fact that he knows lightning never strikes twice in the same place, and that it is hopeless for the Republicans to expect to carry Los Angeles twice in succession. He shows his usual sagacity by retiring gracefully and in good order. It will hardly be questioned that he is the most indefatigable worker his party has; and that, to that extent, it is weakened for the approaching contest.

THE Republican municipal primaries yesterday were singularly spiritless, a very trifling vote being polled. We are inclined to think that the public has had enough of elections for a few weeks, and that it will require the introduction of some electrical influence to warm them up to any point of enthusiasm. That the spirit of Knight errantry has not altogether died out from amongst mankind is shown by the circumstance that Mr. E. M. Hamilton has allowed himself to be announced as a People's candidate for Mayor. Verily, the soul of Benjamin F. Butler is still marching on.

THE Judge who admitted young Spreckels to bail in the sum of $5,000, after he had made a most cowardly attempt to assassinate the proprietor of the Chronicle, is rightfully coming in for a great deal of animadversion. Human life has been held entirely too cheap in California, and it is just as well that we should turn over a new leaf.

Business Men of Los Angeles.

Many States in the Union at present are competing with California for European immigration, but the fertility of our soil, and particularly the climate of the Southern part of the State, are great things in our favor. The most enterprising business men of Los Angeles come from all parts of the Union, among the foremost of which must be mentioned the Pacific Restaurant, opposite the Postoffice.

LOS ANGELES JEWELRY STORE,

No. 24 North Main Street.

L. M. Wagner. C. F. Mohrig.

Factory, 16 Requena St., Los Angeles, Cal.

We call the attention of Country Jewelers in Southern California to the fact that we have opened a Jewelry Manufactory in Los Angeles, California, where we execute everything in first-class style that skill of hand and machinery can do, at the lowest possible price. All orders are promptly filled when ordered. We should be pleased to receive any kind of an order from the city or abroad. Our specialty is the manufacturing of fine Quartz Goods, Diamond Settings and Gold Chains. People will find it to their interest to call on us, as we mean exactly what we say—nothing misrepresented in our line. We will give country jewelers the benefit of our silver-plated ware as cheap as they can get it in the city of San Francisco, as we buy direct from the manufacturer and give you as large a discount as any one. We buy for cash and sell for cash low down, in everybody's reach. Try our prices on silverware—you will be astonished how low they are.

—NEXT COMES THE ASSAYING OF GOLD, SILVER AND QUARTZ NUGGETS.—

We advance any amount of money on ORE OF GOLD OR SILVER sent to us for Assaying, and don't you forget it. You get all your ore is worth in value of U. S. gold coin. The head of this enterprise is our reliable Jeweler, Mr. Wagner, who came to this city nearly three years ago, commencing in small style but advancing step by step, and is now one of our prominent Jewelers and Manufacturers and Managers in Southern California. He only accomplished this through honesty, industry and fair dealings with his customers. All who know Mr. Wagner will find him correct in all his business transactions. He is an old experienced hand for the last thirty years in the Watch and Jewelry business. The partner in this late enterprise is C. F. Mohrig, an old, honest manufacturer and resident of San Francisco, for the last 35 years, and has made up his mind to live the balance of his life in Los Angeles. You will find him trustworthy in all transactions and dealings.

Our line in Gold and Silver Watches is as large as any in the city. You will find a fine assorted stock in jewelry of all kinds, and as low as it can be sold. We don't say that we will sell at cost. We can't do that, as we have to meet our expenses. We call the attention of our lady and gentleman customers to the fact that in the future time and orders given to us will have prompt attention. Don't forget the Los Angeles Jewelry Store, as this is the only place in Southern California where Manufacturing and Assaying is done.

We are respectfully yours,

WAGNER & MOHRIG.
