NEW YORK CARMEN THREATEN AGAIN

MEN WILL CARRY OUT STRIKE UNLESS SEVENTY MEN ARE REINSTATED.

CLAIM EMPLOYERS UNTRUE

Claim That Arrangement Is Made For Men To Be Taken Back Without Prejudice By Companies.

NEW YORK Aug 15.—A renewal of New York's street car strike was threatened tonight unless the companies reinstate more than seventy employes discharged, it is said because of activity during the recent street strike. The carmen declared that the companies are not living up to the strike settlement agreement which provided that these men were to be reinstated without prejudice. Conferences are being held.

HARNESS RACING AT HALF-CENTURY MARK

NEW YORK, Aug 14.—With more than a thousand trotting meetings scheduled throughout the country for the present season it is difficult for those not acquainted with the facts to realize that the beginning of trotting meetings dates back only half a century. It is a matter of record, however, that the first big harness meeting ever held in the United States or elsewhere was opened at Buffalo just fifty years ago today. The meeting caused a great stir among the followers of trotting all over the country, especially when it was announced that $12,500 in purses would be distributed. Up to that time practically all the best horses met only in match races or in special contests arranged for particular starters. "Premiums" of $100 or a little more were sometimes offered for "trials of speed" at agricultural fairs, but these were usually limited to one a day brought together only local or third rate horses. The success of the Buffalo meeting resulted in a great boom in harness racing and led to the organization of the sport in all sections.

PREPAREDNESS IN CIVILIAN CRUISE

SEVERAL THOUSAND MEN EMBARK ON TRAINING VESSELS FOR WEEKS.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Aug. 14.—Several thousand strong and sturdy young Americans will embark tomorrow on a fleet of Uncle Sam's warships, preparatory to spending four weeks in learning the fundamentals of naval science and thereby fitting themselves for service in the event of war. Officials of the Navy Department believe that the importance of these practise cruises can scarcely be overestimated, since they will break the usual zero in the training program mapped out by the General Board to build up an adequate and efficient naval reserve.

"preparedness." The presence of the civilian sailors at sea will do for the navy what the militia camps and elsewhere are already doing for the army.

Numerous parts on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts have been designated as the points of embarkation for the civilian recruits, who will participate in the cruise. The battleship Illinois will rendezvous at Narragansett Bay, off Long Island. The Pacific squadron recruits will depart from Seattle and other Pacific coast ports on battleships and cruisers that will rendezvous at San Diego and later proceed to Honolulu.

The first week of the cruise will be occupied largely in the trip to the rendezvous points. The second week will be spent in our coastal waters. Target practice will take place the third week and the last week will be spent in defense work. Motor boat competitors also will be included in the last few days of the cruise.

The civilian recruits will be given instruction by the same training officers employed from the Naval Academy during their training periods. They will sleep in hammocks, similar to those in their substitutes for the regular sailors at home; they will help clean ship, polish brasswork, assist at the engine room and generally go through the routine duties of any jack tar.

From daybreak until [illegible] a regular program of duties awaits the civilians, with almost every minute filled. Before breakfast they will get a half hours work in the drill gymnasium of the citizen sailors. They will be drilled and instructed in [illegible] and 5-inch guns of the ships, in drill, and boating of all kinds, the use of torpedo defense, Quartermaster's duties, marine and electrical machinery, including radio work. Emergency drills, such as fire quarters, collision, man overboard, and general quarters are also scheduled.

Mixed with the work, however, will be much recreation and instruction of a conditions period. In such spare time allowed to go swimming, have calisthenics, and hold rowing and football contests and intersquad bouts. Lectures as and private instruction will be given daily by navy officers in addition to the practical experience afforded.

At the end of the cruise each volunteer will be given a certificate specifying the duties he performed, recommendations and the naval rating he is best qualified to fill. Volunteers also will announce the intention of whether they will volunteer for naval service in case of war within the next four years.

AUSTRO GERMANS MAKING A STAND
