Bunco Men Waiting for Victims.

[New York Tribune.]

Standing in front of the Fifth Avenue hotel one bright day recently, Detective Prior said to me: "Bunco men were never so thick in the history of New York as they are now. Why, there's a hundred of them over there in the park, sitting around expectantly waiting for victims. They swarm Broadway all the way from the Battery up-town. They work up to the Windsor hotel on Fifth avenue. There's no end to their schemes. They catch the grangers in the parks with cattle-raising, ranches, hogs, horses, gold and silver talk. They come into the hotels and spread out great big maps all marked up with red lines and blue dots and black crosses. They exhibit little phials of yellow stuff (brass filings ten chances to one), and they point to the map and point to the phial and talk about millions here and millions there. If their sucker don't bite they will come outside and strike the first man they meet for a quarter.

"Their favorite hotel racket, though, is the horse scheme at a private stable. They get acquainted with some guest of the hotel, pretend to be starting for Europe, to have a pair of horses that they hate to sell, but would let go for a song to any one who would take care of them, and when they get a victim they stick him with a pair of old rack-a-bones at a big price."

Hyacinth Webster.

[Texas Siftings.]

Jim Webster was recently blessed with a son. His wife determined that the son and heir should have a high-sounding name, and selected a very beautiful one. When the child was presented to the clergyman for baptism the latter said:

"Name this infant."

Jim scratched his head for a while, and finally said:

"Squash."

"Dat's no proper name for a Christian child."

"Sunflower, den."

Once more the clergyman shook his head incredulously. Jim Webster leaned over and whispered to his wife to give the right name.

"Hyacinth," she replied.

"Well, I knowed it was some kinder garden truck."

No Monday Paper.

Knoxville, Tenn., is said to be the only city in the United States of 30,000 inhabitants, and having railroads, steamboats, telegraphs and telephones, that publishes no paper on Monday.

"The Hell of Halemaumau."

We have received the following very interesting letter from Mr. Merton R. Cotes, who, with his wife, joined the last Volcano party, some of whom have since returned to the city. The letter is dated from the Volcano House, July 17th, and is as follows:

"DEAR SIR—I have barely time to send you a hasty note to inform you that Mrs. Cotes and myself, with a party of fifteen others, left the Volcano House at 5 p. m. and arrived back here at 12:30, having explored the marvels of this wonderland.

"We found the little beggar, Halemaumau, and the "new" or north lake, exceedingly active. From time to time Halemaumau was one mass of rolling molten fire, running in huge waves from six to ten feet high, just like the surf after a severe storm, and in many places jets of the most brilliant fire played throwing up thousands of sparkling diamonds in the air fifteen and twenty feet high. Our guides stated it has not been so active for a very long time.

"In crossing the great lava beds we found it very active in many places, vomiting forth molten fire precisely similar to the molten iron I have seen issuing from our large furnaces in England, when some enormous casting had to be made. We were on several occasions in most dangerous proximity to the active fire, and were compelled to walk immediately over it on the partially cooled lava for a space of at least two miles."

The party which accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Cotes on this most satisfactory visit were Messrs. G. C. Beckley, U. C. Roberts, F. T. Griffiths, E. M. Lauclanz, Rev. John Hemphill and Mrs. Hemphill, Mr. U. Johnson, Captain W. Matson, Miss E. M. Knowles, Miss Helen Severance, Mr. George Deacon, Mr. B. Deacon and five others.

Dillingham & Co. vs. G. Sandemann, assumpsit. F. M. Hatch for plaintiffs. On plaintiffs' motion, and clerk's certificate, ordered that defendant be defaulted for failure to answer. Plaintiff waived jury. Judgment given for plaintiffs for amount claimed.

Court adjourned at 11 o'clock a. m.

MONDAY, July 20th.

The King vs. Lu Tune, housebreaking. The Attorney General and Antone Rosa, Deputy Attorney General, appeared for the prosecution. J. M. Poepoe appeared for the defendant. Plea not guilty. The jury acquitted defendant.

W. H. Shipman vs. J. H. Nawahi, damages. W. R. Castle and L. A. Thurston for plaintiff; P. Neumann and W. A. Kinney for defendant. Case tried before a mixed jury. Case unfinished at adjournment of Court for the day.

Excursion to Bird Island.

A very large crowd assembled at the wharf last evening to witness the departure of the excursionists to Nihoa, or Bird Island. The Royal Hawaiian Band was present under the leadership of Professor Berger, and played a variety of musical selections. The most noticeable feature among the tourists was that most of the ladies were robed in calico, while the men wore woolen shirts. Leis of every shade and color were abundant. His Majesty the King, H. R. H. Princess Likelike, and His Excellency J. M. Kapena were among those who came down to see the party off. As the last whistle of the steamer Iwalani sounded, three rousing cheers were given, and hats and handkerchiefs waved in the air. H. R. H. Princess Liliuokalani took with her a fine Hawaiian string band to enliven the trip. Mr. Hoffnung and his family only proceed as far as Niihou with the party.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The time in the mile dash was 1:47¾ and 1:49¼, and not "2," as printed yesterday.

The steamer Lehua will leave on her usual trip for the windward ports of Maui to-day at 2 p. m., instead of at 4, as ordinarily.

His Excellency the Minister of Foreign Affairs will give a reception at his city residence next Thursday evening in honor of Mr. Katsunaske Inouye, H. I. J. Majesty's Special Commissioner to Hawaii.

The Royal School closes next Friday, the closing exercises commencing at 9 o'clock a. m., and continuing until noon. Parents and friends of the pupils are invited to be present.

Mr. Tavernier has a picture on his easel that gives a view of the crater of Kilauea as seen by the party who visited it a few weeks ago. The view is much more comprehensive than any that has been painted heretofore by Mr. Tavernier, and promises to be one of that gentleman's happiest efforts. It will be on exhibition probably by next Saturday.

Mr. Kay, manager of Kukuihale Plantation, celebrated the fourth year of his marriage at that place last Friday evening, on which occasion the following guests were entertained: Dr. James Brodie, V. S., W. H. Purvis, Dr. Greenfield and wife, W. C Miller, Miss Watson and Jos. Marsden, Captain Freeman and Purser Webster of the Iwalani were also present. Music and dancing were kept up until a late hour the following morning.

The public hiring out of children to the lowest bidder still obtains in the Swiss canton of Berne. A heartrending case of this kind is reported from Biel, where the public crier, despite the tears and entreaties of the widowed mother, "placed" her four young children of 10, 8, 6 and 2 years for 28, 31, 40 and 70 francs, respectively, for the remainder of the year, thus separating the whole family for fear lest the wretched woman become a burden upon the town. And that is done in republican Switzerland.

The American Fashion.

[Chicago Herald.]

They are moving Lord Carrington's house in Whitehall, London, en masse, to an adjacent site, after what they call the American fashion, and the operation, so simple with us, is causing considerable excitement in London. Had they taken to this American fashion earlier many houses of historic interest, among them the several residences of Milton, might have been saved.

Parnell's Oratory.

[Chicago Times.]

Mr. Parnell's always frigid style of oratory has become even colder and more nonchalant than ever. He speaks, except on rare occasions, as an official duty, apparently, rather than from any other motive, and seems to take a pleasure in showing that, as it was not by mere talk that he gained his unique position, he need not imitate the loquacity of his followers.

According to the Moon.

[Boston Budget.]

At Harpswell, Me., those engaged in digging clams the past winter have received $7 per barrel for them. It takes eight or ten bushels of the shell fish to fill a barrel when the shells are removed, that is, at full moon. But according to The Bath Independent, it takes twelve bushels if the clams are dug when the moon is in its first quarter.

On the Bermudas.

The only animal known on the Bermudas are rats and mice brought by ships and bats blown from the main land Birds, however, are numerous.

The Mound-Builders.

The Indians, according to Professor J. W. Powell, were the "mound-builders," and some build mounds to the present day.

Covers the Case.

[Mobile (Ala.) Register.]

Col. Tom Saffold said: "I was talking with Gen. Toombs the other day and he said: 'Saffold, the greatest vice to which the human family is addicted is gambling, and yet do you know there is not a word in the Bible in condemnation of it?' Gen. Toombs is in error. The tenth commandment covers the case. "Thou shalt not covet" stares, or ought to stare, every gambler in the face. At the bottom of every species of gambling is the covetous desire to get the money of other people without just recompense.

The sunflower craze, florists say, is quite dead. The sunflower had to pass away, of course, soon after Oscar Wilde, the gentleman with a hand like a ham; but we have the consolation that the seeds are just as good as ever for chicken-feed. And what this great nation needs is an egg diet.

Scientific Batting.

[Exchange.]

Science has come to the aid of base-ball players, and announced for the benefit of batsmen who are ambitious to make heavy hits that the ball should be struck at the angle of twenty-three degrees in order to send it to the greatest possible distance.
