A SUSPECT.

Honolulu Merchant's Experience In San Francisco.

Among the passengers who departed ...Honolulu on the steamer Mariposa ...Saturday was a gentleman who is ...well known grain merchant of the ...nds.

There would have been but little sig...ficance attached to the announcement ...d not the fact become known about ...n that the gentleman returns to the ...ne of his daily business pursuits with ...darkened countenance and an angry ...mper that promises to create no little ...turbance on the Hawaiian islands ...ould the merchant permit himself to ...carried away by his present excited ...ndition.

The suspect was stated to have as...sted in the first revolution on the ...nds, and bitterly opposed the king's ...rty. He is, however, very popular, ...d holds a high position in the estima...n of the white population of the king...m.

The gentleman's family has been visit...g friends in this city for several months ...st, and he recently came up from the ...nds on the steamer Australia to es...rt his family back to their home. Dur...g his few weeks' stay here the suspi...ous actions of two male individuals ...used him to believe that he was being ...adowed. A development of circum...ances proved this fact conclusively.

The indignant merchant succeeded in ...arning that he was suspected of having ...ome to this city for the purpose of pur...asing arms for the insurrectionists, ...ho might begin another revolution soon ...d perhaps in time to rescue the men ...t present undergoing trial at Honolulu.

When he had secured this informa...ion his anger knew no bounds and his ...marks of several prominent Hawaiian ...ficials were not of a nature tending to ...levate him, in their estimation at least.

A steamer could not carry him too ...oon to the islands, and before departing ...n the steamer Mariposa his friends ...tate that he promised to make the at...osphere in certain localities in Hono...lulu so warm that the existence of the ...ame officials would be far from enjoy...able.

The party shadowed has friends who ...are awaiting the news of the result of ...his arrival at Honolulu which they ex...pect by the next steamer.—[Exchange.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Nothing new; the rain and mud.

Judge McCully sits in chambers hearings during this week.

The S. S. Rio de Janeiro arrived at 2 A. M. this morning.

Polynesian Encampment I. O. O. F. has elected officers for the ensuing term.

The rain prevented many lodge meetings from being held last evenlng.

The weather prevented a full meeting of the Typographical Union on Saturday evening.

Country residents say that their roads are in far better condition than those in Honolulu.

The bark Amy Turner arrived here from Boston on time and is docked at Brewer's wharf.

An energetic young man possessed of a practical business education would like employment.

"Shall the property qualification be abolished?" is a thoughtful editorial on a live political problem.

Mud! That's what, and the Hawaiian Hardware Co. tells, in their advertisement, how to get rid of it.

Messrs. Hollister & Co. are putting in a private telephone wire between their Soda Works and the main office.

The ADVERTISER presents this morning a synopsis of the most important foreign news received last night by steamer Rio de Janeiro.

A number of the hack drivers intend to utilize gondolas on all down grade trips, if the attribute of Venice keeps coming much longer.

A notable party, consisting of Admiral Kimberly and members of his staff, enjoyed the hospitalities of Dr. McGrew, at Halawa, on Sunday last.

Numerous changes are being made in the arrangements of lavatories, etc., in the Government building all of which tend greatly to the comfort of the occupants.

The S. S. City of Rio de Janeiro, Wm. Ward commander, sailed from San Francisco December 3, 1889, at 4:36 P. M.; arrived at Honolulu December 11th at 1 A. M.

The steamer Mokolii arrived in port here, a little past midnight, from Lanai and Molokai. Capt. McGregor reports (per Bell telephone) having experienced heavy weather.

The bar and billiard room as well as the main building of the Hotel is now lighted by means of electricity supplied by the Government and has given excellent satisfaction.

It is reported that Mr. P. A. Dias, editor of the Luso Hawaiiano, the Portuguese newspaper, will leave for Madeira on the steamer Alameda, in the interest of Messrs. H. Hackfeld & Co.

Error was made in connecting the name of J. F. Colburn with the libellants of the Planter. The libellants were Messrs. Nathan and Green, and this change is made without notice.

The U. S. S. Mohican was delayed from engaging in target practice until this morning, when she weighed anchor and took a short cruise for that purpose, returning again to her anchorage this afternoon.

Road Supervisor Hebbard has paid some slight attention to the ADVERTISER'S suggestion and has detailed one, solitary, lone, employee to scrape the mud from the crossings. Detail a few more and give them brooms.

Some litttle trouble was experienced by the telephone operators last evening. The Bell company report that the troubles with their lines were entirely within the scope of the heavy squalls from Nuuanu valley, and were but temporary.

During the greater portion of yesterday, the only great inconvenience to pedestrians was the mud which filled the roadways and concealed the crossings. The gentle rain dropped in occasional heavy showers. Towards midnight the wind blew strong and the rain in torrents poured.

Mr. C. Gertz since the removal of the taro patch, in front of his place of business on Fort street has been planning what to do at the next rain and now that the opportunity offers he states that he places his small packages, for the steamers at the Esplanade, in boxes, puts the receipt book on top and forwards the lot per Fort street gutter line to point of destination.

Hearing in Chambers.

THURSDAY, Dec. 10.

BEFORE HIS HONOR CHIEF JUSTICE JUDD.

H. Nathan & Co. vs. Barkentine Planter. Libel. Petition for release on bond. Ordered that the vessel be released on $5,000 bond. W. A. Kinney for libellants; A. S. Hartwell for libellee.

Steamship Subsidies.

Private advices by cable from Europe say that the differences between Sir William Pierce, the British ship owner, and the Canadian Pacific Steamship Co. have been patched up. The basis of the settlement is unknown, but the company will continue to use Pierce's ships for the Victoria-Hong Kong route and also the Danube, which makes connections for Portland at Victoria, for another year, at the expiration of which time the Canadian Pacific's new $1,000,000 steamships will be put upon the route.

The Canadian Co. has not yet made provision for any Australian line but the officers say it will do so if Congress fails to provide liberally for the Oceanic Co. If that company is strengthened the Canadian Co. will confine its operations to its China route and its trans-Atlantic service.

Both the Pacific Mail and Oceanic companies are going to Congress this winter loaded with arguments in favor of subsidies. The danger that the American flag will be banished from the trans-Pacific business is becoming greater every day, and this will be fully set forth. The Oceanic Co. hopes to have a sufficient appropriation made for a fortnightly service to the Colonies with intervening steamers to the Islands.

FAILED TO CONNECT.

The Mechanics' Union Committee Hold the Fort.

A special meeting was called last evening, under the auspices of certain members of the Mechanics' Union, for the purpose of a gathering together of the committees of the Hui Kalaiaina and Mechanics' Union in convention, ostensibly for the purpose of nomipating candidates for the positions of Nobies and of Representatives from the district of Honolulu. The meeting was to be held at the Knights of Pythias Hall and 7 o'clock was the hour named for the assembly. At a little past the hour there was a full and complete attendance of the members of the Executive Committee of the Mechanics' Union and they seemed prepared to take the bull of politics by the horns if necessary. Mr. Dan Lyons the president pro tem, was the sole representative present of the Hui Kalaiaina interests although he was not a member of the committee appointed. After a patient wait until 8:30 P. M. chairman Mehrtens of the Mechanics' committee called the meeting to order, and, after jocosely stating that it seemed as though the Union was in the majority, he suggested that remarks would be in order upon subjects of importance to the political prospects of the Union. In response to the call, several of the gentlemen present, including Mr. A. Marques, ventilated their ideas. At a little past 9 o'clock the members of the Union retired, the committee of the Hui Kalaiaina having failed to connect.

A Highbinder Hoisted.

Jim Lu Chu On, a Chinese, who has been a resident of these islands these many years, and who should have known better, made a desperate attempt yesterday morning to satisfy his personal revenge on the property and people connected with Henry F. Poor by tying a sack partially filled with gunpowder (about 12 pounds) to the trellis work of Mr. Poor's dwelling house, on Emma street, and exploding the same. The result of the intention of Jim Chu On was that he found himself a much burned and lacerated Chinaman and most decidedly placed "hors du combat" while the house was but little injured although the inmates were much frightened. The cause for the dastardly act is supposed to be an insane idea of fancied injury and it is a matter of congratulation that the attempt failed in its effect. The Chinaman was placed in charge of the police and has been since removed to the Hospital.
