"Most of the cases on the calendar yesterday were those which have been pending against defendants who all were over on Molokai last year."

August Henning, charged with malicious injury, will be tried on February 21, and Daniel Twohey, charged with grand larceny for an alleged gold brick game he put through with the old San Francisco theater act, will have a chance to be heard on the 19th of this month.

The case of Abraham Helena, arrested by Deputy Rose on an assault and battery charge, has been continued until this morning. Sam Kaeha, who ran over and seriously injured A. H. Smith on Hotel street, was arraigned and his trial for heedless driving set for the 24th.

Rice Paddy Case.

The suit for damage brought by Heen against Sheriff Jarrett for attaching some sacks of rice paddy was before the bar all yesterday afternoon in the district court. W. W. Thayer, who is counsel for the Chinaman who demanded the attachment is representing Jarrett, the latter being only a legal substitute in the case and E. A. Douthitt is representing Heen. The lawyers will argue the case tomorrow afternoon.

Damaged Features.

A Hawaiian showed up at the police station last night with a tale of woe which was extremely sorrowful and a countenance that was more sorrowful still. The tale he told was to the effect that he had been requested to buy a bottle of square face for a friend (?) and proceeded to do so in a Kewalo saloon. After he purchased it, he hunted up the man who ordered it with the hopes of getting a small reward, but he claims that while his friend received for the bottle with one hand the other descended on his face like the Day of Judgment and laid him out.

As proof positive that something awful and really happened he exhibited his face, which could hardly be considered as it had grown several times larger than nature intended. One eye was closed and protruded like a pumpkin full of promise and other things, and his cheeks were criss-crossed with gashes. His lip was cut and swollen to dimensions that effectually hid the rest of the lower part of his face. The police will go after his "friend."

Sportive Drunks.

Four festive, frolicsome drunks were arraigned before Judge Andrade yesterday morning in the police court, but as all were of the common kind and didn't have any starting costumes, they were given small fines. Malo Paniele was given a suspended sentence of thirteen months in which time he will endeavor to behave himself while in public. Kaohe and Charles Olesun were fined three plunks apiece and Henry Keomuna was soaked a dollar more. E. Landquist failed to appear and his bail was forfeited.

Letters From The People

AN EXPLANATION.

Editor Advertiser:—On my return from the Coast, I was surprised to be shown the article in The Advertiser of November 16 copied from the Denver Post, and learn the results.

In the first place, I did not write a word of the article or make the statements contained therein.

I neither spoke in public in Denver nor had a face to face interview with a reporter while there.

However, a stranger called up by telephone, and asked some questions of the people with whom I was stopping.

I was leaving the house with a friend when they called me to the phone and asked me a few questions. With the information obtained, emphatic comments, and arbitrary words which gave an entirely untruthful idea to me, an account, alleg[illegible] to be an interview was published.

I have never at any time or place discussed the political situation in Japan and Korea, nor have I any intention of doing so.

I was misquoted and the article written by the Denver reporter is bad to me, and my opinions regarding those matters.

I do not believe in newspaper interviews and have no intention of encouraging them.

My work in my home is to teach my children the power of love as taught by our Lord Jesus Christ, who came to bring "Peace on earth good will toward men," and not to teach them to be strife makers and political agitators.

I am a friend to the Japanese and believe that the misunderstandings and clashes, that will come, can be avoided if the people will learn the Christ spirit.

Very sincerely,
MRS. MELLA S. MACE.
