Mr. Klein has been on the road for thirty-two years, and had just completed arrangements to go to Mexico. He was taken suddenly ill, and it is feared his trouble is diabetes.

Sapho is a play that demands a competent company to properly portray the difficult characters. Miss Hosmer is known as a gifted actress, being possessed of a sweet personality. Her costumes are said to be models of the dressmaker's art, and her supporting company far above the average. And while both star and play are new to the local theater-goers, the organization comes with the highest praise from capable critics. This will be seen at the Odeon theater tonight. Prices, 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents.

About fifteen young men, mostly of the Central Iowa Business College, entertained their lady friends at the home of Mr. Otto Kohler, 309 East State street, where a very delightful time was enjoyed by all. A three-course supper was prepared and served by Messrs. David Carlson, Harry Jennings, Walter Bohen, Harvey A. Henderson, and Archie Maulsby, all being dressed in attirement to suit the occasion. The college colors of cardinal and cream were used in the decorations and supper. In a peanut contest, Miss Cynthia McCrary won the honors, and Mr. Ray Norton the second prize. In another contest between the boys and girls, the boys won the prize of a box of bonbons. Another entertainment of the evening was music given by Miss Lillian Pegg, Miss Bertha Bay, and Miss Bessie Moore. The guests were received by Mr. Otto Kohler and Mr. Glenn Lampman.

H. Jones at 10:30 Friday morning. Rev. James McGee will have charge of the service at Riverside.

Nixon & Zimmerman's musical fantasy, "The Gingerbread Man" will be the attraction at the Odeon theater Sunday night, March 1. This is really a delightful work and is rendered by a skilled company of artists that captivate all who hear it. Pretty stage effects accompany most of the musical numbers, quite an innovation in this class of entertainment. Prices, .25, .50, .75 and $1.00.

Mrs. C. E. Petithory, formerly of near Eldora, accompanied by her sister, Miss Georgia Koeppel, of St. Anthony, left the city this morning for Pingree Grove, Ill., near Elgin, where Mr. and Mrs. Petithory are going to live. Miss Koeppel will remain with her sister for a few weeks. Mr. Petithory went to Pingree Grove a few weeks ago. The ladies spent Wednesday night in the city at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Plumb.

Articles of incorporation of the Iowa Adjustment Company, organized for the collection and adjustment of accounts and for the making of commercial ratings and loans, were filed Wednesday afternoon by C. H. E. Boardman and G. W. Lawrence, who are the directors and incorporators. The company, which begins business February 1, has a capital stock, according to the articles of incorporation of $10,000, divided into $100 shares.

The ingenious unfolding of the story of the "Two Orphans," by many regarded as the most appealing story ever told in play form has been absorbing the attention of theater-goers for a quarter of a century, but the great play still holds its place among the most popular dramas of the day. It is welcome every season, and it is especially pleasing to learn that the production to be seen at the Odeon Saturday, Feb. 29, for matinee and night, is made with the only authorized Kate Claxton version. This alone gives the right and complete impression of the true greatness of this drama. Prices, 15, 25, 35 and 50 cents. Matinee, 10 and 25 cents.

Amended and substituted articles of incorporation of the Credit Guide Company were filed late Wednesday afternoon. According to these articles the name is changed to the Credit Guide Company of Marshalltown, and the following are the officers until the first annual meeting: A. H. E. Matthews, president; C. H. E. Boardman, vice president, and G. W. Lawrence, secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Margaret Englert, as administratrix of the estate of her husband, John Englert, filed suit for the March term of the district court this morning against Mrs. Bessie B. Patterson and C. E. Patterson, formerly of this city. The petition alleges that the defendants owe the Englert estate a balance of $238.32 for fuel furnished them during the years 1905 and 1906. An attachment is asked against the property and chattels of Mr. and Mrs. Patterson.

SHORT COURSE MEETING.

All Bills Will Be Paid Saturday, When New Organization Takes Charge.

At a meeting to be held in this city at the east court room Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, the executive committee of the Marshall County Short Course association will settle up all business of the recent short course, audit all bills, and issue checks to cover all indebtedness.

In the afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, at an adjourned session, the meeting of the county association will be finally wound up, and the books and money in the treasury will be turned over to the new Central Iowa Short Course association, which is to be incorporated. At the directors meeting it is very likely that the officers nominated by the stockholders last Saturday will be formally elected.

Not one cent of the money resulting from 125 subscriptions of $25 each, pledged to guarantee the expenses of the short course, will be called for, an assessment not being necessary, so successful was the meeting.

There are in the hands of Treasurer O. L. Ingledue about thirty certificates for premiums, awarded in the corn contest, which may be had by the persons winning them, upon application.

SURGEON'S SAD ERROR

Appliances Left Inside the Patient — Incompetency and Carelessness the Bane of Trades and Professions.

A recent report gives the harrowing details of a surgical case where after a severe abdominal operation, gauze and instruments were sewed up in the wound and the patient left to suffer untold agony. It was carelessness or incompetency, but the one to suffer was paying for the best that skill and learning could do.

It's the same in the wall paper business. Careless and incompetent dealers and workmen make butchery of your homes. Get the right people. See Dinges & Everist. Then your color scheme will be harmonious and artistic, not a slaughter house production. They are still in the dingy old building across from the M. E. church. They are still saving rent bills and clerk hire and giving customers the benefit of prices that make their 15 cent paper look like 30 cents. It costs nothing to call and examine or to talk over the telephone. See their stock and get their ideas. Then other women will want to copy your wall decorations.

Business Change.

Bruster & Kendall have sold their cash grocery to T. M. West and Mr. West sold one-half interest to E. E. Kendall. The new firm will be Kendall & West. They will continue the business at the old stand No. 8 East State street and will continue to make the lowest cash prices. It will be to the interest of the public to call and see them. Goods will be delivered to your door at lowest cash prices. Telephone new 448.

Overstocked.

On salt and flour middlings. This is of interest to farmers. I will make a special price for this week only, and will not quote special price to any one by 'phone. Call at my office and see me at 502 South Center street. Henry Weber.

Local Weather Record.

Wednesday night brought a marked drop in the temperature, the thermometer going down to 6 above, which was fifteen degrees lower than the minimum Tuesday night. At 7:30 o'clock this morning the temperature was 7 above. The maximum Wednesday was 22, compared with 41 for Tuesday.

Nation in Clutches of Dreaded Grip.

That the grip is no respecter of age, sex, class or nationality is very forcibly demonstrated by the prevalence of the disease at the present time.

In the large cities especially, so great has been the increase of the grip that it has almost reached the stage of an epidemic, and what is infinitely more serious, is the fact that its mortality rate is higher than ever before.

While it is true that the changeable temperature, exposure to cold air, wet feet, etc., render everyone more or less liable to this serious disease, the fact remains that the grip can not only be prevented, but its dangerous symptoms can be greatly reduced by taking a remedy that can be absolutely depended upon to act promptly and beneficially on the respiratory tract, which is the seat of the disease.

At the first sign of a cold, which usually announces itself by a sneeze, cough or peculiar suffocating sensation, a liberal dose of Piso's Cure will promptly check the progress of the cold, and by restoring healthy conditions, effect a speedy cure.

In the Police Court.

Paul Radloff, arrested for being drunk, paid the costs in Justice Millard's court this morning.

Irving and the Critic.

(London Tribune)

There was considerable rivalry between the two English actors, Sir Henry Irving and Beerbom Tree, just about the time that both of them were springing into prominence. Now it happened, at the height of the feud, that a play was submitted to Sir. Henry Irving in which he, as leading man, was required to ride a donkey in the second act. In spite of this feature, the play so impressed Sir Henry that he accepted it and starting rehearsing at once.

As the time for the dress rehearsal approached, Sir Henry put an advertisement in a London paper for "a donkey with stage experience." The following day a cockney appeared at the stage door leading by the bridle a very forlorn looking, half-starved jackass.

Hi cime to see Sir 'Enery about the bloomin' donkey," he announced.

Sir Henry was sent for at once to interview the applicant for the position.

"Has the donkey ever had stage experience?" queried Sir Henry.

"Oh, yes, me Lud," replied the cockney, "but I want to be frank with you, before you engage 'im. He acted with Mr. Tree."

"Indeed," said Sir Henry with a sneer.

"But I want to tell you the rest, me Lud; once in a very serious passage in Mr. Tree's soliloquy, the ass, 'oo was in the wings, 'ad the indiscretion to bray."

"Ah, a critic, too," remarked Sir Henry, and he engaged the donkey at once.

An Example to Policemen.

Chief Clerk W. H. Kipp of the New York police department was discussing with a reporter the qualities most desirable in a policeman.

"A policeman should be, above all things, resourceful," said Mr. Kipp. "There was a resourceful policeman wrestling with two troublesome 'drunks,' last Washington's birthday night. The men were more than the officer could manage till he dragged one to a trolley post, got his two arms around it and then slipped the handcuffs on him, leaving him there to hug the post till the patrol was ready to come for him."

How many loaves to the sack?
That's the real price of flour.
And why are there more loaves in a sack of Gold Medal Flour than any other kind?
Because cellulose and waste are carefully milled out by the Washburn-Crosby improved process.
And the bread is wholesome.
