A MANILA LETTER

Was Received From an Anaconda Soldier.

WAS IN THE BIG BATTLE

Describes the Advances of the Troops on Caloocan--The Bullets Fell Like Hail.

One of the best letters yet received in Anaconda from the volunteers at Manila is at hand from Private G. P. Brown of Company K, Montana volunteers, to his father, T. J. Brown, who resides at 510 East Fifth street. Mr. Brown, Sr., is an old soldier and his son, according to reports, is a chip of the old block for the young man is said to be among the best fighters in the Montana regiment. Young soldier Brown is a graduate of the Portland, Ore., high school, just a little over 18 years of age. His letter is dated "On the Battle Field" at Caloocan, P. I., Feb. 13, 1899. He says:

"We are now camped at Caloocan about six or eight miles from Manila. The insurgents attacked our outposts all along the entire line about ten or twelve miles long. Our troops got word about 7 o'clock and the boys were moving to the front in an hour or so. It was our company's turn to stay in quarters and watch the barracks.

"About 2 o'clock we received orders to move to the front. We were soon on the road. The fighting was terrific. The warships were shelling along the beach. The artillery on the insurgent blockhouses and an improvised gunboat was pouring it into them up and down the Pasig river. Our company was held in reserve and did not get under fire until about 11 o'clock on the morning of the 5th. The boys had regained our outposts which they had retreated from during the night.

"We were on a flat piece of ground, probably 20 acres, along which were bamboo shacks. Companies L, H and K were in the center of this open space. The Third artillery and Kansas were on the left of us, the rest of our regiment and the Tenth Pennsylvania on our right supported by the Utah battery. Directly ahead of us the insurgents were hidden in an old Chinese cemetery. It was on a hillside about 75 or 80 feet high. We were advancing in a line of skirmishes toward this place when all of a sudden the insurgents poured a volley into our ranks that would make your hair stand on end. All our troops threw themselves flat down on the ground on their stomachs and the insurgents poured bullets into us for about three hours. The bullets came so close that we could hear them whiz past our heads. The insurgents were bent on wiping us out because we were in the opening. While they were busy doing this the Tenth Pennsylvania flanked them on the right and the Third artillery and Kansas on the left.

"Our lieutenant colonel (Wallace) sent word to the captain of the artillery that if he would cease firing we would take the cemetery. He said 'boys fix your bayonets and we will give them one of those old time American charges.' We took the cemetery and poured volley after volley into them on the plain as they were running. The Utah artillery trained their guns on the church and blockhouse nearby. We were charging them over the field when Major General MacArthur made us stop. We moved back down to the place where the fight commenced and took up a position before the cemetery.

"The fight continued at intervals of about an hour during the night and we did not get much sleep. Early the next morning we were on the move and occupied the territory which we had taken Sunday. The next two or three days were spent making preparations to surround them. The Kansas regiment took the woods to our left by degrees, killing two or three hundred and capturing ammunition, 10,000 knives and five wagon loads of tin meat cans. The Third artillery threw up entrenchments to our right supported by the Utah artillery. Almost all the time the Kansas regiment was fighting on our left. One night when the company had been on the firing line and the Kansas boys had been fighting a couple of hours and they had routed the insurgents their band struck up 'There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight,' and followed up with the 'Star Spangled Banner.'

"Skirmishing continued during the next two days. We were about three miles from Caloocan. It was considered one of their strongholds. Two battalions of the Idaho's came up during the afternoon and the artillery and warships commenced shelling the town and woods. Promptly at 4 o'clock the infantry commenced to advance. The Filipinos poured a raking fire into our ranks but the boys pushed on. Col. Wallace was shot and came to the rear. Charge after charge was made by our boys, not a shot having been fired on our side. Several ridges were gained and the firing line was formed. Volley after volley was poured into them and they began to run, then the boys yelled and charged them and we had them over three miles, about a mile past Caloocan. This is a railroad station and car shops. We are using the trains to carry ammunition and supplies. Our company was very fortunate. We did not lose any body. Most all of the boys have relics of the field, some rifles and some knives. We all carry knives in our leggins for close work. Our regiment has lost two killed is placed from 8,000 to 11,000 killed. This placed from 8,000 to 11,000 killed. This leaves us all well and in good health.

"Company K, First Montana Infantry, U. S. V. GEO. D. BROWN."

A large gathering attended the social dance at Turner hall last evening. The music was good and a pleasant time enjoyed.

D. J. Hennessy of Butte was in the city last night, having come down to see the grand opening at the Copper City Commercial Co., store.

There will be a sociable at the A. O. H. hall tonight and Saturday night. Admission 50 cents. Music by the Margaret theater orchestra.

Another snow fall last night and this morning is anything but pleasant for the eve of Easter Sunday. The milliners are not at all pleased with such weather, which is detrimental to the sale of Easter hats.

The school board met last night with Trustees Tuttle, Twohy, Wellcome and MacCallum present. The business transacted was routine work which occupied the attention of the board for an hour or two.

County Assessor, Geo. Miller, is mailing the assessment lists to the tax payers of Bald Butte, Lincoln and other points in the northeast part of the county which will be segregated from Deer Lodge county, June 1st. By this it is evident Mr. Miller will make the assessment for the benefit of this county which is believed to be just although not stipulated in the bill.

M. C. Leonard, the owner of the barber shop at 213 East Park avenue, is trying to locate the person or persons who broke a large plate glass in the door of his shop Tuesday night. It was discovered by Officer Marchion when he went on his beat in the morning. The night officer did not know anything about it. Nothing was taken away. It is more than probable a drunken man fell against it during the night.

The flower dealers complain about a scarcity of lillies for the easter trade which is due to the plants being destroyed at nearly all the green houses in the state by some kind of an insect. Potted plants and cut flowers are plentiful. An unusually large amount of cut flowers have already been ordered by the church people and others, who will give Easter parties. Violets and reds are the predominating colors this year, therefore in the absence of lillies the red roses will be very prominent in Easter decorations.

Sheriff Conley who returned from Denver yesterday morning, received a letter from that place today, which may lead up to his becoming an heir to some vast estate. The letter came from J. H. Collins, a lawyer in Denver who was established in 1859. Attorney Collins wants to know Mr. Conley's age, birth place and all about his ancestors for the purpose of finding the heirs to a certain estate in which the writer says there is money. The sheriff was evidently discovered as a probable heir by the lawyer seeing his name mentioned in the Denver papers.

FINGERS TO SPARE

Yesterday morning Dr. English was called to the western part of town to amputate a finger on each hand of an infant about three months old, which was done. It appears that when the child was born it was blessed with five fingers on each hand besides the thumb. In place of having one little finger on each hand, it had two, and the extra ones were cut off, and the child is doing nicely. A son was born to the same family about six years ago and he was born the same way, with an extra finger on each hand. When this child was a month old the extra fingers were cut off and the boy has a well developed pair of hands today. Dr. English has a similar case west of Anaconda in the family of a Finlander, who have a child eighteen months old which also has five fingers besides the thumb on each hand, and each finger is well developed. The index, second and third fingers are well developed, the little finger less and the second little finger still less. Nothing was ever done to remove the surplus fingers. Otherwise the child is hale and hearty, and will grow up with a total of six fingers on each hand, unless they are amputated as was done in the case of the child in Anaconda.

IT WAS NOT CLARK

The Man Brought Back From Denver

IS NOT THE MAN WANTED

For Complicity in Holding Up Gagner's Saloon--Description Almost Fits Him.

Sheriff Jack Conley returned from Denver, Colorado, yesterday morning, having in custody a man supposed to be Edward Clark, who was arrested at the latter city March 3, for holding up Gangner's saloon in this city, November 10, 1898. A few days after the arrest of the man in Denver his photograph was sent to Anaconda and identified by several as a true likeness of Edward Clark whose home is in Anaconda, and who is charged with being an accomplice of Joe Sullivan, who is now serving a term in the pen for holding up the saloon. The relatives of Clark who know him best did not see the photograph, but other friends did and they said it was Clark, probably to throw the officers off. After several days requisition papers from Governor Smith came March 21st. On the following day Sheriff Conley went to Denver. He returned at an early hour yesterday morning but his return was not made known until late in the afternoon, and then it became known that from the first time the sheriff saw the prisoner in Denver he was suspicious of his being Clark. Arriving in Anaconda it turns out that the man under arrest is not Clark at all, although the resemblance is very similar. The prisoner is an older man. He is still in custody. Just what will be done with him is unknown. He is a white elephant in the county jail and now the officers are cursing the photograph and the parties who identified it. It is liable to prove an interesting case yet when the man who is arrested and detained from his liberty gets out, provided he is not Clark and Clark's friends say he is not.

WARRANTS REFUSED

At the last meeting of the city council it was ordered that Frank Stebbens, Thos. Laboef and John Marchion (republicans) be paid $100 each for services rendered in July 1897 as special policemen during the races in Anaconda. Yesterday Mayor Leiser signed the warrants and the men who are now policemen called at the office of City Clerk O'Leary for them. They were refused by the clerk (democrat) with the statement, that the warrants would have to be given by the mayor. Clerk O'Leary claimed yesterday, as he did in the council that they were illegal, and he therefore would not give them up. The officers were allowed to look at their scrip in the warrant book and then went away to the mayor who was advised and is investigating the case.

SUPT. TITSWORTH RESIGNS

It was learned last evening on absolutely good authority that Frederick S. Titsworth, superintendent of the converters of the Anaconda Copper Mining Co., resigned yesterday noon. It was through Mr Titsworth that the recent labor trouble at Carroll is said to have come about on account of the way he drove the men in the converters. Although he resigned he did so at the request of the company according to reports at hand. His place will not be filled for some time, but will be under the management of Capt. W. M. Kelly and Pat Dalton who had charge before Titsworth came, and who were the foremen under him. Mr. Kelly and Mr. Dalton work on opposite shifts and are considered the most practical, experienced and just to both employer and employes of all the Anaconda foremen in the Copper City. The saving of the superintendent's salary alone is no small item, provided the plant can be conducted without such a head. Mr. Titsworth, who has resigned, has not given out his plans for the future. His residence is at 500 Cedar where he has a splendid home just completed.

TOM-CAT AND COYOTE.

Boise City Statesman: A Boise man who was passing over the sagebrush plains near Meridian the other day was treated to an exhibition that was as strange as it was interesting. It was a battle between a cat and a coyote.

Plainly the night's prowling over the prairie had netted the coyote nothing in the way of a good, square meal. When first seen he was stealthily gliding about, his nose to the ground, searching, as they always are, for something to appease his insatiable appetite. He was surveying the surroundings from a slight knoll, when there appeared on the scene a great tom-cat—a burly fellow, who also seemed on a quest for breakfast, some toothsome morsel, as a cottontail, or a young grouse.

When Tom hove in sight the coyote smiled a satisfied smile. Tom had not at first seen the coyote; in fact, was not aware that a foe was near until the first charge, when the coyote sprang at him. But, quick as a flash, he parreid the first thrust, and then squared for action.

The coyote plunged into the battle, intent on bearing down his antagonist with brute force alone, and this probably saved the day for Tom. This time Tom got in a left swinging blow on the coyote's jaw, letting first blood; then jabbed with his right, bringing the coyote to a stand, and sending him to his corner under a sage-brush, bleeding.

In the second round the coyote sprang into the fight much as in the first, and with about the same result to him. The cat uppercut him as he rushed in, then, swinging, mauled him with left and right until the air was full of brown-gray hair. The round was furious throughout, with honors clearly for Tom.

The coyote might have been counted out, if the gophers that watched the fight had been counting. He deliberated long before coming in for the third round, but his belly ruled his mind, and to the scratch he came—slowly, this time.

Tom was ready, and rushed the fight. He crowded the coyote and backed him over the knoll, planting a left or right whenever or wherever he pleased.

Finally, after much sparring, Tom got in the deadly knockout blow. The fight was his, but he took no mean advantage. When the coyote was down he stood over him, giving him more than the limit of time for him to come up, but canis latranis had enough.

He slunk away to his sage-brush, and felic domestica, his back up, with his head over his shoulder to see that he was not made a victim of treachery, sidled off to continue his hunt for a nice young cottontail.

The Baltimore & Ohio, after hearing reports of impolite conduct on the part of employes, has issued a notice calling upon all trainmen and agents to be good.
