AMUSEMENTS

Clara Kimball Young at the Orpheum Theater

Clara Kimball Young, starring in "Without a Soul," to be seen today for the last times at the Orpheum theater. Coming tomorrow and Thursday, Ethel Barrymore in "The Awakening of Helen Ritchie."

GREAT AUDIENCES WITNESS REMARKABLE OFFERING BY PAULINE

Many great audiences have filled the Broadway theater in times past and the present great Pantages vaudeville show there certainly is affording occasion for more such audiences.

Pauline, the wonderful mystery and whose feats have astonished and are puzzling all Butte, is the star of this show and the talk of the town. Not only is his act fascinating from a scientific standpoint, but extremely entertaining as well.

APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCES FILL EMPRESS THEATER

The excellent vaudeville bill which has been playing to crowded houses at the Empress this week will be brought to a close tonight. The last two performances will be given this evening and those who have not yet seen the show should by all means attend tonight. Prelle's famous miniature circus is a delight for old and young alike and some very clever feats are performed by the animals in the troupe. This is only one of the big features, as five additional acts of merit make up the remainder of the program. Be sure and attend tonight if you have missed the show. The performances start at 7:15 and 9:15 o'clock.

BUTTE TRAINMEN PLAN GRAND BALL AT THE COLISEUM

Butte lodge No. 580 of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen will give a benefit ball at the Coliseum, Montana and Mercury streets, the evening of Jan. 24, to aid a crippled member. Although this is a benefit affair it is planned by the committee to have it elaborate in every way. An augmented orchestra under the leadership of William Sielaff has been donated and the Pallas Candy company has given the use of the hall free. J. H. McBain is the chairman of the committee and a very pleasant and enjoyable evening is assured to everyone.

A New, Harmless Way to Banish Hairy Growths

(Beauty Topics.)

By following this suggestion any woman can, in the privacy of her own home, remove every trace of hair or fuzz from her face: With powdered delatone and water mix enough paste to cover the not wanted hairs; apply and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off and wash the skin. This method is unfailing, harmless and quick in results, but care should be employed to get the genuine delatone.

HENRY FUNERAL.

A number of friends attended the funeral services in St. Patrick's held this morning in memory of William H. Henry, who was the first city auditor for Butte. A high mass of requiem was celebrated. Burial was in the Holy Cross cemetery.

JOINT.

"That reformer certainly hates the saloon, doesn't he?" said Smith.

"Yes," replied Jones. "Why, he refers to an argument in a saloon as a joint debate."

SOME OF THE WEST'S MOST THRILLING ADVENTURES CENTER ABOUT THE LIFE OF THE LATE BUFFALO BILL

BUFFALO BILL, THE MAN WHO MADE HISTORY IN THE WILD WEST AND A SKETCH ILLUSTRATING ONE OF THE MOST THRILLING ADVENTURES IN HIS LIFE OF THRILLS.

Some of the most thrilling adventures of the wild west occurred in the life of "Buffalo Bill," who died last week in Denver.

As pony express rider, buffalo hunter, government scout and all-round wild west adventurer, Col. William F. Cody furnished a host of hair-raising stories in which he found his life in danger.

Here are some of his adventures:

Buffalo Bill and Scotty, his companion, were leading a mule team home with buffalo they had killed near the Saline river, Ark., in 1868, when a band of Indians surprised them. They had previously planned just what to do in case of such a surprise, so they acted instantly.

All the buffalo carcasses were taken out of the wagon and banked around the back wheels.

Bill and Scotty lay down behind the dead buffalo under the wagon and, when the Indians got near enough, fired.

The Indians began circling about, drawing their circle closer. An hour passed. Bill's horse and the mules had been killed, while the two men had brought down five Indians.

Firing from beneath the wagon had almost stopped, for ammunition was giving out and the penned-up men carefully chose their victims. The Indians were 50 feet away and ready for their last dash when cavalry came up from a nearby post, and the Indians fled.

At another time Buffalo Bill was riding home alone one night with sage hens he had killed, when he struck a rendezvous of horse thieves. It was too late for him to leave without being seen, so he planned to deceive them.

The gunmen wanted his horse, which Bill had left down the road. Two went with him. Returning, Bill dropped one of his sage hens and asked the man beside him to pick it up. As the gunman stooped, Bill knocked him senseless with the butt of his revolver.

At the same instant Bill wheeled about just in time to drop the other gunman before he could draw his revolver. Bill jumped on his horse and was off, with the rest of the gang on foot behind him.

The road was too rocky for the horse, so Bill got off, sent his horse down a steep hill and climbed up the opposite direction. From an advantageous position he watched the gunmen follow the stray horse down the hill, and Bill felt safe again.

Buffalo Bill was at another time chased by a band of Indians, bullets whizzing past him. At intervals he turned and let "Lucretia" (name he gave his rifle) at them. He aimed slowly and dropped the leader every time. A detachment of soldiers again saved him.

As government scout Buffalo Bill went long journeys and ran gauntlets of Indians, always coming out victorious.

DOESN'T KNOW THE BODY WAS FOUND

Alleged Slayer of Auto Tourist Declares Crime Can't Be Proven.

San Francisco, Jan. 16.—Albert W. Blancett, accused of the murder of Clyde Armour, his traveling companion, near Santa Fe, N. M., arrived here today in custody of the chief of police of Albuquerque, on his way east to stand trial. Blancett was arrested at Friday Harbor, Wash, Jan. 1.

Armour was on an automobile trip from Sioux City, Ia., to Fresno, Cal. His bones were unearthed by a dog 20 miles from Santa Fe Sunday.

Blancett does not know that a dog dug up the body of Armour at Glorieta, N. M., and he thinks the state will have a hard time proving murder without the corpse, Chief of Police Galusha said.

Blancett, who is 22 years old, shot himself in the neck after his arrest in Friday Harbor but will recover. "I don't want mother to know," he said after he shot himself.

Galusha said he had not questioned his prisoner nor would he allow others to do so, fearing the defense would make capital of it owing to Blancett's condition. Prisoner and captor will leave here tonight.

Blancett was accompanying Armour from Denver overland in an automobile. He is accused of murdering his host and burying the body near Glorieta last October. A dog nosed the body out of its shallow grave. Arriving in Santa Fe, Blancett, it is charged, assumed Armour's name and received $600 from Sioux City, Ia., and from Armour's mother in Fresno, afterward selling the automobile and going to Friday Harbor.

POSTS NOTICES OF THE CITY PRIMARY ELECTION

The posting of notices to the public by Clerk and Recorder Sam L. Anderson setting out that registration for the city primary election closes Feb. 16 is a reminder that the city campaign is not far off. The primary election takes place March 19. The time expires March 2 for registration for the regular city election.

NEXT NATURALIZATION HEARING JANUARY 26

R. W. Thomas of the government naturalization bureau with headquarters in Seattle dropped into the city this morning on his way to the eastern part of the state, where he will appear at naturalization hearings. The next hearing in this city is Jan. 26 and Mr. Thomas will return to be present on that occasion.

MISS O. HEINA DEAD.

Miss Olka Heina, aged 37 years and a resident of the city for some time, died yesterday from an illness. She was employed as a waitress. She is survived by a brother in Duluth, who is on his way to Butte to arrange for the funeral. The body was removed to the Sherman & Reed parlors.

CREAM FOR CATARRH OPENS UP NOSTRILS

Tells How To Get Quick Relief from Head-Colds. It's Splendid!

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passage of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh will be gone.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Relief comes so quickly.

PYTHIANS INSTALL THE NEW OFFICERS

Big Celebration at Induction of Members—Anniversary Next Month.

With the installation of the newly elected officers of three lodges in Butte of the Knights of Pythias and of one lodge of the Pythian Sisters in the temple last evening, preparations were made for the celebration of the 53d anniversary of the foundation of the order. The installation ceremonies were carried out before a large attendance of members and the evening was concluded with an informal dance. Officers of the lodges of Damon No. 1, Oswego No. 9, Calanthe No. 40 and Pythian Sisters No. 3 were inducted into office.

Thomas F. McCollum, district deputy grand chancellor, presided at the installation of the knights. He was also inducted into one of the lodge offices. Mrs. Mary Johns, assisted by Mrs. Mary DeLonais and Mrs. Bessie Cox, with Mrs. Agnes Nichols furnishing the music, installed the new officers of the Pythian Sisters.

The officers installed were:

Damon No. 1—James Slater, chancellor commander; Louis H. J. Kelly, vice chancellor; Thomas F. McCollum, prelate; Philip Parcell, master of work; John G. Evans, keeper of records and seals; Sam R. White, master of finance; George Tucker, master of exchequer; J. Dan Mudd, master-at-arms; David S. Matthews, inner guard; W. H. Roberts, outer guard.

Oswego No. 9—W. T. Hugo, chancellor commander; Floyd F. Johnson, vice chancellor; A. D. Clark, prelate; W. A. Turpening, master of work; C. H. Smith, keeper of records and seals; Clem Vogel, master of finance; Charles T. Lomas, master of exchequer; R. H. Manchester, master-at-arms; Dan Palfreyman, inner guard; Robert Jaap, outer guard.

Calanthe No. 40—Bert Haycock, chanbellor commander; J. J. Harris, vice chancellor; J. Jay, prelate; J. H. Gribble, master of the work; W. C. Basher, keeper of records and seals; E. A. Ford, master of finance; Thomas Bettens, master of exchequer; Cecil Bennetts, master-at-arms; S. Webber, inner guard; J. W. Julian, outer guard.

BEING A WOMAN, SHE JUST HAD TO TALK

Topeka, Kan.—After 68 years of silence the opportunity to tell the troubles of her married life on the witness stand was sufficient to restore the voice of Mrs. Cordelia Kirkpatrick of this city, who is suing her husband for divorce.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick, who is 72, became deaf and dumb when 4 years old as the result of illness. She had taken the stand and was endeavoring to transmit, through an interpreter of sign talk, her tale of marital woe. Neither her fingers nor those of the interpreter, however, proved adequate to say all that Mrs. Kirkpatrick thought of her husband.

Suddenly she leaned forward, and, in a low voice, said: "I believe I can talk!"

She was able also to hear when her attorney shouted questions in her ear. Mr. Kirkpatrick, 14 years her junior and also deaf and dumb, was less fortunate. His opportunity came later in the day, but his vocal cords failed to respond to the stimulus which had proved effective in his wife's case.

HEARING WILLIAMS CASE.

Judge R. Lee Wood of Helena, who yesterday commenced the hearing of the application for the settlement of the final accounts of the special administrator in the matter of the estate of Rachel Williams, is still engaged in the case today in Judge Dwyer's department of the district court.

ROSE WANTS DIVORCE.

William H. Rose is asking for a divorce from Elma Rose on the ground of desertion. The complaint in the case shows that the couple were married in Aberdeen, S. D., Aug. 9, 1908. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney A. F. Verheyen.

WHEATLEY FUNERAL.

Funeral services for Patrick Wheatley were held today with a mass at St. Mary's church. The funeral was attended by a large number of friends. The cortege proceeded from the home, 329 East Summit street, to the church and later to the Catholic cemetery, where the burial services were carried out on the family plot. There were many floral offerings.

WALLNER FUNERAL.

Many friends, including a large number of the baseball and bowling enthusiasts of Butte, attended the funeral services held in the Daniels & Bilboa parlors this morning in memory of Adolph (Heine) Wallner. Burial was in the Mountain View cemetery.

J. KERWIN DEAD.

Jeremiah Kerwin, aged 58 years, a miner of Butte, died yesterday from a lingering illness. Until word is received from relatives in York, N. J., his former home, no arrangements will be made for the funeral. The body is at the Daniels & Bilboa parlors.

ROSSER GRIFFITH DEAD.

Rosser Griffith, aged 41 years, died yesterday at a local hospital from a lingering illness. He had no relatives in Butte. The body was removed to the Daniels & Bilboa parlors.

SMOKES ASKED FOR BELGIAN SOLDIERS

L. B. Woods is Responding to Appeal for Money to Buy Cigarettes.

L. B. Woods, the general agent of the Great Northern in this city, is taking a few minutes from his arduous railroad work to raise a small fund to supply some of the soldiers in Belgium with cigarettes and tobacco. He is doing this in response to an urgent appeal sent out from the "Over-Seas" club, which is collecting subscriptions of 25 cents each from smokers to help make a present of 50 cigarettes and a package of good smoking tobacco to the soldiers in Belgium, who are too poor to buy a smoke for themselves.

"Have a smoke," the local smoker says casually to his friend as they meet on the street and the result is two bits for two cigars. That is the amount which Mr. Woods is asking his friends to contribute to this fund to help the poor fellows to get a little comfort out of their extraordinarily precarious and uncomfortable positions. The name of each donor will be forwarded on the box of cigarettes and tobacco to the soldiers and the recipient of the box will find a postcard with the address of the donor in the package. The soldier will then write a personal note of acknowledgment to the person who is responsible for him having his smokes and will probably write a little story telling of his experiences in the trenches.

Mr. Woods received the communication from the "Over-Seas" club this morning.

A homely man is Daniel Dugg,
His face would scare a cop;
And yet he has a handsome mug,
It's in the barber shop.

CIRCLE REPORTS SHOW ACTIVITY

Central Council of the Parent-Teacher Body Meets at High School.

With excellent delegations from the various circles of the city the central council of the Parent-Teacher association met last evening at the high school, Mrs. L. C. Graham, the new president, taking the chair. There was a general discussion of the proposed revision of the teachers' pension law; reports were received from the circles, all showing gratifying success and splendid results, and it was decided to invite Miss Mary F. Rausch, head of the extension department of household economics in the University of Washington, to deliver an address in this city in the near future on "The Twentieth Century Home." A committee consisting of Mrs. C. H. Bowman and Mrs. L. M. Harley was named to correspond with Miss Rausch and ascertain the most convenient date for her appearance here.

A "child welfare" meeting toward the close of next month will be held, when an entire day's sessions will be devoted to the presentation of papers on subjects of vital interest to the child. All women of the city interested in such work will be invited, while a general invitation will be extended to the citizens to take part in the meeting. Miss Ada Madden, on behalf of Mrs. M. S. Parsons, presented a report on recent efforts to have a special matinee once a week for children at a local theater, with children's pictures. It was found to be a loss financially and the attendance proved a disappointment to the committee.

THE WISE FOOL.

"There is no such thing as a safe bet," observed the Sage.

"How about the bet you were going to make and didn't?" asked the Fool.

He Finds "Kondon's" on the Job.

Don't try to work with your head all stuffed up. A tube of genuine Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly will make you clear as a bell. 50 million intelligent Americans have used Kondon's for cold-in-head or nasal catarrh.
