NORMAL SERVICE ON STREET CARS

Resumption of Traffic Brings Suspension of the Jitneys.

Butte's street car service was resumed this morning at 6 o'clock. With the exception that a few of the men were away on fishing trips, under the belief that the strike would last for a longer period, the working force was the same as usual. All the men were given their old numbers and the business of handling the city transportation was resumed the very same as if there had not been a walkout of five days.

The resumption of street car service marked the termination of the jitney service. As the automobiles, mushroom-like, had appeared the very morning the strike was declared and cared for the transportation from Meaderville and the south side, so this morning the jitneys disappeared. One jitney worked the Meaderville line until 9 o'clock, when discovering that the people were again patronizing the street cars and appeared satisfied with them, the jitney returned to the barns.

The sudden termination of the street car strike was a source of disappointment to many jitney operators. At least three or four were known to have purchased autos under the impression that the strike would last for some time and that the profits of the operation would pay for the car. Little money was made by jitneys during the strike. The jitneys were availed of only on the long runs, especially on Harrison avenue and Meaderville. The high cost of gasoline prevented any big profits from jitney service at from 5 cents to 25 cents.

200,000 MEN TO BE CALLED OUT SEPT. 1

An additional half inch allowance on chest expansion also is allowed to men above 68 inches in height where there is no sign of disease.

Men with poor teeth also will be more closely scrutinized hereafter. Where dental work will restore the teeth they will be enrolled.

Sight and Hearing.

A punctured ear drum is found to be no barrier providing the hearing is half normal. Modifications are made also in sight requirements which will give physicians wider latitude in accepting men despite some defects of vision.

Provost Marshal General Crowder has urged prompt action by the local boards in certifying for service men who make no claim for discharge or exemption. A report to the district boards is required at the close of each day's work, and similarly district boards will report each night to the adjutant general the men finally accepted.

Must Have Enough Men.

Local boards are urged not to stop examining men when the quota has been reached. The boards should be certain beyond doubt that enough men have been certified, the statement says General Crowder also states that men serving prison terms for misdemeanors are not exempt. If the civil authorities will not release them for military service they will be required to present themselves for examination when their prison terms have been completed.

ASKS FOR CUSTODY OF THE MINOR CHILD

Ida Brown is seeking a divorce from George A. Brown on the ground of cruelty. The couple were married in this city, May 22, 1913, and there is one child. The plaintiff accuses her husband of calling her vile and obscene names and threatening to kill her. The plaintiff asks for the custody of the minor child, an attorney fee of $250 and $50 a month for the support of the child. Attorney Harry Meyer represents the plaintiff.

DECREASE IS GREAT IN MONTANA CROPS

Wheat and Barley Production Almost One-half Under Estimate.

That the Montana crops have suffered immensely due to adverse weather in the spring is shown by the government crop report issued for the month of August. This report, compiled by the bureau of crop estimates and transmitted through the weather bureau, shows that in the case of winter wheat and barley the production will be a trifle over one-half of that of the past year.

Uncle Sam's forecast Aug. 1 for Montana winter wheat is 7,900,000 bushels, while last year's production under the December estimate was 11,825,000 bushels.

The August forecast for Montana spring wheat is 13,100,000 bushels against 16,830,000 bushels last year.

The production of oats in the Treasure state last year was 25,080,000 bushels, while the present forecast is 16,500,000 bushels.

Montana produced 2,660,000 bushels of barley last year, against an estimated production of 1,410,000 this year.

Estimates on other Montana crops follow:

Flaxseed—Aug. 1 forecast 2,190,000; production last year, December estimate, 3,088,000 bushels.

Potatoes—Aug. 1 forecast, 6,580,000 bushels; production last year, December estimate, 4,875,000 bushels.

Hay—Aug. 1 forecast, 1,950,000 tons; production last year, December estimate, 1,983,000 tons.

Apples—Aug. 1 forecast, 308,000 barrels of three bushels; production last year, December estimate, 256,000 barrels.

Sugar beets—Aug. 1 condition 65.9, compared with the ten-year average of 93.

Prices—The first price given below is the average on Aug. 1 this year, and the second the average on Aug. 1 last year: Wheat, $2.06 and $1.90 per bushel. Corn, $1.87 and $1.06. Oats, 80 and 40 cents. Potatoes, $1.76 and 85 cents. Hay, $16.50 and $8.30 per ton. Eggs, 34 and 25 cents per dozen.

PERSHING'S PLAN WILL MAKE BIG ARMY CHANGE

Army Division to Be Reduced to 19,000 Men for Warfare in Trenches.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Reduction of the strength of the American army divisions to the European standard of 19,000 men and the revival of the old army corps major tactical unit was recommended, it was learned today, by Major General Pershing, after a careful study of conditions at the front. American officers are convinced that sound military reasons induced the French and British war offices to adopt this tactical formation for trench warfare.

Reduction of the divisions means a big job for the war department. Much administrative work already completed probably will have to be thrown aside and done over. General Pershing's recommendations are positive, however, and the department's attitude is the same as it was toward General Funston during the Mexican trouble. The wishes of the man on the ground, on whom rests the responsibility for actual operations, will be met as far as is practicable.

One effect of the reduction of both brigades and divisions will be to create many additional vacancies in the grades of major and brigadier general.

"THE ETERNAL SIN" A BIG ATTRACTION AT THE RIALTO THEATER

"The Eternal Sin," the present attraction at the Rialto, is the second production by Herbert Brenon, director for Selznick-Pictures, his "War Brides" having proved one of the greatest sensations in the history of American films. The star of the cast is Miss Florence Reed, one of the greatest favorites of the stage and screen.

The story of "The Eternal Sin" deals with certain dramatic episodes in the life of Lucretia Borgia and is taken from the play by Victor Hugo, author of "Les Miserables." The traditional view of Lucretia is that she was poisoner and typical member of the notorious Borgia family. In "The Eternal Sin" another side of her character is shown. She takes vengeance after medieval fashion upon a group of men who caused the assassination of her brother. The relatives of these men denounce her to the one person for whom she cherished a pure and unselfish affection. Again Lucretia seeks vengeance and while she accomplishes her end circumstances result in her deeds recoiling upon herself in a tragic fashion. In this story there are several scenes which must be classed among the most sensational ever conceived by an author and yet they are free from the suggestiveness that is usually the accompaniment of sensationalism. In the cast supporting Miss Reed is Richard S. Barthelmess, who played the part of the youngest son in "War Brides;" William E. Shay, who has had leading roles in almost all of Mr. Brenon's photodramas; Alexander K. Shannon and other popular players.

AMERICA TO DO GREAT WORK FOR RUSSIANS

Russell, workmen's council, political parties and socialists; Cyrus H. McCormick and Charles Bertron, finance; James Duncan, labor; John R. Mott and Charles R. Crane, religion; Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, army; Rear Admiral James H. Glennon, navy.

Reports on labor conditions particularly are being eagerly awaited by government officials and labor leaders because of the great activity of workingmen in the formation of the new government and the conflicting unofficial reports on that feature of the situation. Although Mr. Duncan has not completed his special report, he gave an outline of some of the principal features of it today to set at rest conflicting stories.

Will Do His Share.

"The Russian working man certainly will do his share," Mr. Duncan said. "He has done it already and he is entering into the spirit of the new government with a whole heart. When the scheme of government finally is rounded out he will be found to have a big hand in it and he will discharge his duties properly.

"Gradually the workingmen are assimilating the idea of organization and I expect them to round out some sort of a federation embracing both skilled and unskilled labor, more similar perhaps to the British system than to ours. While I was in Petrograd, a meeting of 29 trades was held for the purpose of organizing and the men listened with apparently keen interest to my explanation of how labor operated its organizations in this country. I do not know what the results of that meeting have been but when we left the outlook for effective organization was splendid.

"Russian workingmen still are dazzled by their privilege to organize. Of course under the czar they had no labor organizations because such bodies were regarded as revolutionary and their members were subject to the severest penalties. Now that they have organizations they scarcely know how to operate them. It is not unusual for the workers to leave their benches in the middle of the day, call a meeting and advise their employer that they are displeased with conditions.

"Their street meetings are peculiar. Guaranteed the liberty of free speech, they are making the most of it. The military guards permit them wide latitude and they have some heated wrangles on street corners. At the close of the debates, however, it is customary for the leading belligerents to exchange cigarettes, shake hands and proceed to other meetings.

"The eight-hour day, enforced soon after the revolution, has greatly pleased the workers. It is a wonderful sight to see workers who have been tyrannized for years, coming out of factories at 4 o'clock in the afternoon with nothing to do until tomorrow.

Wages Raised.

"In many cases wages have been raised 100 per bent. This seems large, but when it is remembered that wages in Russia always were low and it was not unusual for manufacturers to make from 50 to 200 per cent, the increase does not seem exorbitant. The workingmen are just beginning to realize that their employers have been waxing rich off them and that heretofore they have been taking vacations of from two to three months during the summer with large sums in their pockets.

"I look for very close affiliation between the government and labor. Activities of the workingmen in the council now presage this and the laboring classes are bright enough to maintain their present hold on the situation."

Describing the sessions of the workmen's council, in which he sat almost daily for a month, Charles Edward Russell said it compared very favorably with other similar executive bodies. Greater apparent difference, he said, was in the absence of laundered collars. Only the newspaper reporters wore them, he said.

"The council is very well regulated," he said. "There is no such disorder as might be expected. While there are more than 1,000 members, 820 with votes, and 200 without votes, they are under good control.

"All members may speak on any proposition, if they desire, but speeches are limited to 10 minutes except in the cases of ministers and visitors. I recall that one minister occupied two hours in explaining the proposed railroad rehabilitation plan of the United States. I addressed the council for about an hour and a half. The ministers are given seats on the floor but no vote."
