WEIGHTS ARE NOTHING OF THE PAST

Inspection of coal weights during the three days has revealed the fact that for the present at least 2,000 pounds are being delivered for a ton. This is according to a report made by Mayor W. H. Maloney by Inspector F. P. Riordon. He has appeared at parts of the city to swoop down upon the delivery men. Sales have been tested and all the city by their owners. To date there hasn't been one, said Mr. Riordon yesterday. Mayor Maloney is of the opinion that for the present the people may feel secure that they will get full weights.

Anyone who suspects he is getting short on a ton of coal may call at the health office at any time and will be glad to check up on the matter.

Mayor Maloney ordered the coal inspection to continue throughout the winter.

LAST TO INVEST IN BONDS WITHDRAWN

Motion of authorizing J. H. Curtis, as administrator of the estate of W. M. Larmour, to invest $10,000 of Liberty bonds did not come up before Judge Dwyer this morning as the request was withdrawn after he had discovered that the law provides that wards can not be invested in any bonds or securities for a longer period than one year at a time. The first account of the guardianship of Larmour was presented to the court today.

WILL BE SEVERE IN SNOW CASES

City Attorney Requests Police to Rigidly Enforce Ordinance.

City Attorney George D. Toole yesterday asked the chief of police for a strict observance of the snow and ice ordinance and this morning patrolmen made the rounds to see that all sidewalks were cleared.

"Snow and ice on the pavements mean accidents," declared Mr. Toole. "Accidents mean damage actions against the city and these mean money out of the taxpayers' pockets.

"So far the city has been extremely fortunate in the matter of accidents. We want to continue our record along that line and the only way is to keep the sidewalks free from ice.

"Every citizen owes it to his neighbor, to the city and to himself to strictly observe the ordinance. Those that do not will be taken care of in police court.'

Judge P. J. Whitty promises to be severe this winter upon all persons brought before him for snow covered sidewalks.

HIDDEN CAUSES WHICH BROUGHT ON THE WAR

National Lecturer of Theosophical Society to Make Addresses.

Tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock Eugene W. Munson, national lecturer of the theosophical society, will begin a series of three lectures at the Unitarian church. The first lecture is entitled "What Comes Out of the War." The speaker will point out the hidden causes, as occultists see them, which have led to the war, contending that the war is the natural result of the nature and actions of the nations engaged in it. Terrible as the war is, Mr. Munson thinks that it was inevitable, that the results will be worth the price—a liberated humanity, a federated world.

The second lecture, on Monday night, is entitled "The Portals of the Past," and deals with the great problem of free will and destiny in man. How far we are really free, and how far we have the power of choice as to our actions. The lecturer claims that we can have full control if we will but take the time and trouble to understand ourselves and the worlds in which we live.

The third lecture will be a stereopticon on "Thought Forms." In this lecture Mr. Munson throws on the screen what he claims are reproductions of thought forms as they have actually been seen, and sketches made of them at the time. The lectures are free and the public is cordially invited.

HABEAS CORPUS WRITS REFUSED TO TWO MEN

Judge Bourquin of the federal district court today refused writs of habeas corpus in the cases of Carl Harking and Fresl Mangs, petitioners. Mangs and Harking, two Finlanders, are held in the county jail on a charge of failing to appear for military service before the Butte local board.

In their petitions the two men declare they are aliens and that they claimed exemption as aliens in the proper form. They assert that the action of the local board in denying their claims was upheld by the district board. The men failed to cite the reasons for the action of the boards and the court held the showing insufficient. Amendment of petitions will be allowed.

Beet sugar factories in the west, the notice states, are not only producing enough for all normal requirements, but have a surplus, and housewives of the west are advised that it is not advisable to stock up with sugar for fear of a famine.

FRACTURED SKULL FATAL TO POWERS

Succumbs to Blow in Head With a Rock Thrown by Mike Sullivan.

Maurice Powers, who was struck in the head with a rock by Mike Sullivan last Monday night and had his skull fractured, died at St. James' hospital last night. Coroner Lane after viewing the body had it removed to Duggan's undertaking parlors. An inquest will be held Monday.

The assault of Sullivan on Powers was the result of a quarrel between the two men while both were drinking in a Centerville saloon. After leaving the place, according to a statement made by Sullivan, who is held at the county jail, he started to walk to his home on Missoula avenue near midnight, when he noticed that Powers was following him. He called and told Powers not to come near him and at the same time picked up a rock. Powers still followed him and Sullivan threw the rock, the missile striking Powers on the head and fracturing his skull. Powers fell to the ground and was not discovered until an early hour the following morning, when he was removed to the hospital. Thursday the county attorney's office endeavored to secure a statement from Powers, but he declined to tell anything as to how he received the injury.

Powers was 45 years of age and resided on East Summit stret, where he leaves a wife and six children, the youngest being only 1 year old. He was a blacksmith at the Anaconda mine. The mother, one brother and four sisters of the deceased live in Idaho.

Sullivan is 32 years of age and is a miner employed at the Mountain Con. He lives on Missoula avenue.

"I saw an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and wrote for a free sample. At the end of four days I found improvement so I bought more, and I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment when I was healed." (Signed) Leo Mitchell, 2038 E. Ward Street, Seattle, Wash.

AMERICAN AMBULANCE MEN IN REMARKABLE ADVENTURE

They Substantiate the Defeat of Austrians on a Balkan Front Which Had Been Denied From Berlin. They Find a Chicago Man Among the Austrian Prisoners Who Admits He Made the Mistake of His Life When He Went Back to Fight for the Dual Monarchy.

Koritza, Albania, Oct. 5.—(Staff correspondence of the associated press.)—The American ambulance section stationed here, made up of men from Leland Stanford, Jr., university, California, has won distinction of late. First, it made a record advance of 40 miles, keeping up with the recent forward sweep of General Grosetti's forces from Poprodek to Padaholja on Lake Ochrida—one of the biggest military advances of the war and the farthest advance any automobile section has made in these parts.

The culminating achievement of the Californians has been bringing in proof positive confirming the French account of a recent desperate fight in which 300 Austro-Bulgarians were killed and 450 captured, which had been denied in a German communique. The proof, coming from an independent American source, has been received with great satisfaction at French headquarters.

The Americans secured their evidence of the French success by a chance meeting with the convoy of Austro-Bulgar prisoners as they were brought back to the prison camp. The ambulances were moving along the road, parallel with the long file of prisoners, when a voice suddenly came from the prisoners' ranks: "Hello, Americans." This was in good English and the prisoner who spoke was soon sorted out.

From Chicago.

"I am from Chicago," he said, "and I'm mighty glad to see some of my American fellow citizens."

"But what are you doing there as an Austrian prisoner?" asked Walter E. Brun of Oakland, Cal.

"I'll tell you," said the Austrian prisoner frankly. "I was living at Chicago when the war broke out, but as a native-born Austrian I felt I ought to return to my country. I did and it was the greatest mistake I ever made in my life. Such a dog's life as I've had. Such hardships; such food.

"Why not half of the men know what the war is about or what it's for," he said. "The one thing every man in the Austrian ranks wants is peace and he knows Germany is the obstacle to Austria getting peace. That makes a bitter feeling against Germany among the men."

Meanwhile, others among the collegians were gathering very exact data concerning the encounter in which the prisoners were taken. William R. Rodgers, of San Francisco, who drives one of the American ambulances, and S. C. Peck of San Mateo, Cal., made a count of the prisoners. Their count tallied 446. Their car later followed the prisoners all the way to the prison camp. Peck got two medals from the prisoners, showing on the head of Francis Joseph, with the words "Bosnia - Herzegovina-Dalmatia 1914-1915 Weltkrug."

Opposed to the War.

These medals showed the prisoners were from the Czech and Bohemian classes, the elements opposed to the war. Many of them openly declared the Czech element was seeking to be captured at every opportunity. An Austrian captain was among the prisoners who talked freely with Brun and Veron B. Chiddendon of New York, a Harvard man.

"We get no news and know nothing of what is going on in Austria," he said. He confirmed the story of hardship and misery in Austria, as told by men in the ranks. "Milk and eggs have become a memory," he said. "There is no money except paper and iron. There are tickets for everything—bread tickets, meat tickets, potato tickets."

Along the route the American ambulance men gathered up many evidences of the recent hasty retreat of the Austro-Bulgarians which the German communique had denied. A. D. McLaish of San Francisco laid in quite a stock of empty 75 millimetre Austrian shell cases and powder bags. Others took down the signs above the officers' quarters in abandoned camps and these now adorn the ambulance headquarters here at Koritza.

It was noted at these abandoned Austrian camps that much of the supplies left behind in the hasty flight came from neutral quarters—Swedish sardines, Swedish matches and similar material.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER IN HELENA NOV. 3

Mayor W. H. Maloney this morning received an invitation from A. E. Spriggs, chairman of the state democratic committee, to meet W. D. Jamieson, assistant treasurer of the national committee, who will be in Helena on Nov. 3. Mrs. Bass, chairman of the woman's bureau, will also be present.

The mayor said he intends to try to make arrangements to attend the session of the democratic leaders throughout the state.

SOLDIERS ENTERTAINED.

Mrs. R. W. McDonald delightfully entertained 12 members of the Coast Artillery now stationed in Butte at dinner at her home, 830 West Copper street, Thursday evening. Other honored guests were Miss McGregor, who recently returned from Red Cross work in France, and the Rev. E. J. Groeneveld, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The evening was pleasantly spent with games, music and fortune telling.

Last night a number of the soldiers were entertained at the home of Mrs. Will Lutey, 1024 Caledonia street. A number of young ladies were present to assist the hostess. Music and games afforded the amusement and a merry time was had by all.
