NOTED EDITOR IS DEAD IN PORTLAND

J. F. Carroll, Known Throughout the Northwest, Succumbs to Illness.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 4.—John F. Carroll, publisher of the Telegram, died last night after an illness of several months duration.

He was 59 years of age, a native of St. Clair, Pa., and had a long career as a newspaperman.

After completing a course in medicine at the Western Reserve university at Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. Carroll entered newspaper work in 1874 on the staff of the Missouri Republican, now the Republic, at St. Louis, and was city editor of the Omaha Bee in 1888. Later he was a reporter in Wyoming and Montana, was employed on the Cheyenne Leader and editor of the Cheyenne Weekly Leader for eight years. While there he went through the celebrated Wyoming rustling war, taking the side of the small ranchmen. For six years he was managing editor of the Denver Post and general manager of the Denver Times.

Since coming to Portland in 1892, Mr. Carroll was connected with the Oregon Journal as managing editor and with the Evening Telegram as publisher. His work was of the constructive type.

Mr. Carroll leaves a widow and eight children.

BURY INDIAN IN A RED WHITE AND BLUE CASKET

Hoquiam, Dec. 4.—Declaring their deceased member was a true patriot who loved America with all his heart, Indian tribal brothers selected a casket of red, white and blue broadcloth for the remains of Wilson John. The casket was the only one of its kind in the city, but the Indians would be satisfied with nothing less. With a large party of mourners, the funeral cortege left Hoquiam by boat for Chenoise creek, where the Indian burying ground is located. The casket was placed in a steel vault and sealed, before being lowered into the grave.

The body of Wilson John was found afloat near the mouth of the Hoquiam river. The Indians had searched for two weeks for the body. Deceased was 20 years of age.

NO COMPLAINT.

"What are we going to do about the scarcity of meat?"

"Don't say muffin' 'tall 'bout it," said Mr. Erastus Pinkley. "Ef we can't git ordinary meat, we'll be jes' naturally obliged to eat fried chicken."

GOING ABOUT IT IN WRONG WAY

Sinn Feiners Alienating Friendship of America, Says Dillon.

Dublin, Dec. 4.—John Dillon, nationalist member of the house of commons, addressing the Ancient Order of Hibernians in Dublin recently, condemned the Sinn Feiners for "alienating the sympathy of the United States from the Irish cause." The friendship and support of the Americans in Ireland's struggle for liberty were their greatest asset, he said. But what was happening in America today filled him with horror. Friends and supporters of the Sinn Feiners in Ireland, he said, were now charged with treason to the flag, and with entering into a combination with Germany to defeat America. He was deeply convinced that the Irish race in America would take steps immediately to disassociate the name of Ireland from such conduct.

Nobody, said Mr. Dillon, could execrate the fatal character of the policy of undertaking to make Ireland a republic, and, as a first step in that career, quarreling with the United States and turning on the flag which was the dearest to the Irish race and flag in the world.

TRAINED BANKERS ARE IN DEMAND

London, Dec. 4.—Sir Richard Vassar Smith, in a recent address before the Institute of Bankers said one feature of recent banking developments had been the greater and more immediate need which leading banks had experienced after financial relations with other countries by the creation of foreign departments and the opening of branches in foreign countries. The employment of international bankers means a demand for young Englishmen with a knowledge of foreign languages, foreign exchange and the commercial and financial conditions of other countries.

Preliminary examinations of the institute for the coming year had been opened to women.

He saw no reason for depression or discouragement with regard to the future. Reconstruction after the war would be long and difficult, but it must be undertaken by removing all fetters from the multitude of processes and by approaching the problem in a strong and good spirit.

He stated that the first and most serious question in the reconstruction of relations of capital and labor should be one of a thorough inquiry into the causes that have led to the unrest which existed before the war. The need of small industries on individual lines was more be said and manufacturers and traders must organize for mutual aid.

He urged strongly the necessity of better communications after the war. The cost of small industries on individual lines was more be said and manufacturers and traders must organize for mutual aid.

WAR TO END IN TWO YEARS, "SPIRITS" SAY

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 4.—Delving into the dim and darksome past and unusually foreboding the future, the Illinois popular Ouija board of review has been refined in Springfield.

The gleaming of the board of inner spirits is that the war will terminate in two years. The question was asked the "spirits" by many persons following the conflagration southeastward here.

MANY BIG SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Copenhagen, Dec. 4.—Tabulations of subscriptions to the seventh German war loan show that over a fourth of the people twelve and a half millions in all subscribed to subscriptions of over a thousand marks each. The subscribers totaling over three million.

The sixth loan had only 79 subscribers in the eight-million class.

There was a marked decrease in the number of small subscribers as well as the total number of subscribers.

The only classes showing an increase in number of subscribers or total subscribed are those whose half a million which are responsible for over a third of the loan. These figures are indicative of the extent to which the rich have subscribed by war surplus interests.

Good to Have in the House.

Coughs, colds, croup and hoarseness are prevalent. Colds promptly checked mean saving of time, money and health. Pneumonia and other serious illness may follow a neglected cold. T. F. Lynch, 100 Spring avenue, Pittsburg, Pa., writes: "For many years we have kept Foley's Honey and Tar in the house and it has saved many dollars in doctors' bills. It is fine for colds." A child's health is too precious to risk giving imitations or substitutes; insist on Foley's. Newbro Drug Co.—Adv.

A NEW LINE.

Glasgow, Dec. 4.—Two Clyde shipbuilding firms have been turning their attention to the manufacture of artificial limbs and have produced in 48 hours a limb at a moderate cost which is said to be far superior to any other produced in the country.

One thousand maimed soldiers have already been fitted and 9,000 are on the waiting list.

SPLENDID PROGRAM BY THE MUSICAL CLUB

Mme. Elsa MacPherson Presents a Very Excellent Entertainment.

The second concert of the season by the Butte Musical club at the St. John's parish house last evening was one of the same high character that has marked all previous public appearances of this organization. Mme. MacPherson was in charge of the program, which included selections from Bach, Sibelius, Chopin, Schubert and others. Those who took part in the program were: Miss Janet MacDonald, Miss Marjorie Gilbe, Mrs. Ed F. O'Flynn, Mme. Elsa MacPherson, J. Andrews and Miss Margaret McHale.

A distinct feature of the entertainment was the lecture by Mme. MacPherson on the origin and development of the pianoforte. Mrs. MacPherson rendered some special selections in explanation of her talk and each one of them was a musical treat for the small number of people who attended. It is regrettable that there are not more people at those concerts, which are proving to be strictly high class musical entertainments. The programs for the occasion were supplied by the Symons Dry Goods company.

WORKING ON THE MUNICIPAL RINK

Little Winter Weather Needed to Have Ice in Shape by Sunday.

A cold snap for the balance of the week is all that is needed to make the kiddies of Butte happy. Today Sam Kinville, in charge of the Clark play grounds, began flooding a certain section of the ground for the skating rink and he says that with any sort of winter weather he will have the place in shape for use by Sunday morning.

The rink is to be maintained by the city, just as it was a year ago, and there will be no admission fee charged. It will be open for the use of the young and old alike and all those who are inclined to indulge in the greatest of the winter sports will be welcomed to enjoy themselves at the expense of the city.

The space for the rink has been made considerably larger than it was a year ago and it will afford ample room to accommodate the crowds which it is believed will attend. Kinville will have a couple of assistants to keep the rink in shape and it will be flooded after the last skater has left for home.

The shelter house on the playgrounds has been extended and will be used as a change room. Provisions will also be made for the caring of wraps and the like. The building contains drinking fountains, lavatories and the like and everything will be kept neat and clean.

ALL BAKERS OPERATE BY FEDERAL LICENSE DEC. 10

orders of the government. The order of Uncle Sam will place the entire country on a war basis as far as bread is concerned.

Two Wheatless Days Now.

At the present time there are two wheatless days each week. On these days only war bread is made by the bakers. This is made of 20 per cent corn flour, 10 per cent rye and the balance wheat. On Monday the bakers operate under license, and when the government orders it it will be impossible to buy any bread other than war bread in the bakeries of Butte.

Under the new rule each loaf must weigh a pound. At the present time the loaves made by the Butte bakers are 12½ ounces and they wholesale at 8 cents. The new loaf of 16 ounces will wholesale at 10 cents and the retail price will probably be fixed at 12½ cents or two loaves for 25 cents.

Chairman Osenbrug declared today that bread in Butte has been cheaper than in the east, explaining that local bakers did not raise the prices when the price of flour soared as did the bakers in the east. Mr. Osenbrug stated it is his conviction that, in line with further conservation plans, he expects the government to issue an order soon that all bread must carry 20 per cent corn flour.

"I expect this order to be issued before next Monday," said Mr. Osenbrug. "Under the license of the government the bakers promise to follow all orders and regulations made by the government. Bakers who have thus far been using 20 per cent corn flour have done so voluntarily to help Uncle Sam."

Mr. Osenbrug explained that under the license there will be a uniform loaf over the entire country. Sweet rolls are abolished absolutely. Only two pounds of sugar and the same quantity of lard can be used for each barrel of flour. Bakers have been using eight to ten pounds of each per barrel.

No Stale Bread Returns.

The rules regulating supplies on hand and prices are much the same as those governing other licenses. For the bakers, however, it is specified that "in selling bakery products, the licensee shall keep such products moving to the consumer in as direct a line as practicable and without unreasonable delay;" furthermore, that "resales within the same trade without reasonable justification, especially if tending to result in higher prices, shall be dealt with as unfair."

According to authorities of the government stale bread returned actually has been destroyed in the past to the amount of 400,000 barrels a year. Therefore, in drafting rules, the government officials provided for punishment in the event that a baker accepts in trade or by discount of refund bread and other bakery products which have not been sold by the retailer. By forbidding the exercising of this practice, food officials believe a saving of millions of pounds of flour, sugar and lard will be registered each year. The retailer, aware that stale bakery goods cannot be returned, will purchase more carefully, it is reasoned, and also will learn to conserve on all edibles.

Regulations as to Weights.

Special rules and regulations governing licensees manufacturing bread and rolls follow:

"The licensee shall manufacture bread and offer it for sale only in the following specified weights, or multiples thereof, which shall be net weights, unwrapped, 12 hours after baking: Sixteen ounce units (not to run over 17 ounces). Twenty-four ounce units (not to run over 26½ ounces).

"Where twin or multiple loaves are baked, each unit of the twin or multiple loaf shall conform to the weight requirements of this rule.

"The licensee shall manufacture rolls and offer them for sale only in units weighing from one to three ounces, but no rolls shall be manufactured or offered for sale which shall weigh unwrapped, 12 hours after baking, less than one ounce or more than three ounces.

"The standard weights herein prescribed shall be determined by averaging the weight of not less than 25 loaves of bread of any one unit, or five dozen rolls of any one unit, and such average shall not be less than the minimum nor more than the maximum prescribed by these rules and regulations for such units.

"The licensee in mixing any dough for bread or rolls shall not use the following ingredients in amounts exceeding those specified below, per unit of 196 pounds of any flour, or meal, or any mixture thereof:

"Sugar: Not to exceed three pounds of cane or beet sugar, or, in lieu thereof, three and one-half pounds of corn sugar. Where sweetened condensed milk is used, the licensee, in determining the permitted amount of sugar, shall deduct the added sugar content of such condensed milk from the amount of other sugar, of the kind herein designated.

"Milk: Not to exceed six pounds fresh milk from which the cream have been extracted, or the equivalent thereof.

"Shortening: No shortening to be used except as follows: Not to exceed two pounds of compounds containing not more than 11 per cent animal fats. In lieu of such two pounds' the licensee may use not to exceed two pounds of vegetable oil.

"The licensee in making any bread or rolls shall not add any shortening fats to the dough during the process of making or to the bread or rolls when baked."

Sugar Saving Urged.

The United States food administrator, in view of the national necessity for conserving sugar, and in view of the fact that bread is being successfully baked by many bakers without the use of any cane or beet sugar, is requesting bakers to reduce the sugar content below the maximum permitted by the above rule. It is probable that a reduction of the sugar allowance will be found necessary at a later date.

The food administrator also is asking bakers throughout the country to establish, wherever possible, co-
