HATS! HATS! HATS!

Fall and Winter Styles Just Arrived

Youman's.

This celebrated hat is light and flexible and the nobblest hat worn, the leader in New York City.

E. M. Silverman's

Fine flexible hat we are making a specialty of and will sell it cheaper than any house west of New York.

Stetson's.

We carry the largest and most complete line in the city, both in soft and stiff hats and at low prices.

NOBLE, WOOD & CO.,

The exclusive Hatters, corner west of Opera House.

LOCAL JOTS.

"Phœnix," Noble's great solo-drama, at the Theatre to-night.

"Dead to the world, but living to you, Leslie Blackburn!"—Phœnix.

"And the villian still pursued her—to be continued in our next."—Phœnix.

Last night's shower put the roads and atmosphere in exactly the right condition.

Don't forget to let the children see the great matinee of "Love and Law" to-morrow afternoon.

The Olympic Club will occupy the elegant new hall in the Jennings block after the 1st of October.

The real estate agents are reporting some sales this week, and a general revival in the realty business is anticipated.

Mrs. Charles was given fifty days in the jail to-day for her uncharitable conduct, and the soldier was turned over to the authorities at Camp.

The three Turks about the city selling their native ornaments, attract considerable attention from their odd style of dress and customs.

McCornick & Co. to-day received one car of Hanauer bullion valued at $3,350; two bars of Stormont silver, $3,400, and Queen of the Hills ore $2,820. Total value, $9,570.

The club houses down the State road did a lively business last night after the races and ball game. Several teams rolled into town this morning with loads of celebrators in high glee.

Dr. Bowers met Mr. Wright, of Frisco, at Juab yesterday, and conducted him to the Nineteenth ward. The gentleman has an attack of pneumonia, but is now on the road to recovery.

The job printing establishment of Mr. Frank Nelden scattered sample copies of a unique and handsome pamphlet Theatre programme throughout the audience at the Theatre last night.

Another child of Mr. and Mrs. Morris, of the Eighth ward, succumbed this morning to diphtheria. The afflicted family are now watching over their last two children, who are seriously sick with the same disease.

The property recently purchased by Young Bros., and mentioned in the DEMOCRAT, was formerly owned by H. S. Eldredge, and not by Mr. Madsen, as stated. Consequently it is a part of the Old Constitution building, the south end of the property.

The DEMOCRAT of the 23d, in relation to the "Fountain" fight, implicated through misinformation a waiter of the St. James Hotel in the affray. The St. James waiters are recognized gentlemen by Mr. Greenwald and the guests of the house, and no one of them had a hand in the fight of Wednesday night.

A foolish young bicyclist with knee pants undertook to monopolize the sidewalk of the Z. C. M. I. block last night, and collided with a delivery team. The two-wheeled perambulator was knocked gallywest, and when the knight collected his shattered frame and bargain the driver of the team gave him such an emphatic going over as he will likely remember along with his bruises.

Another child of Mr. Morris, of the Eighth ward, died of diphtheria at 11 o'clock this morning. Several cases are reported in the vicinity of the Eagle Gate, and servants connected with the families are allowed to run at large. It is but little use, however, to call attention to such violations of quarantine until we have officers capable and willing to enforce the regulations.

The Presbyterian ladies, with an eye to business, combined with sociability, will give an oyster supper in the Presbyterian Church, commencing at 6 o'clock this evening. Everybody being invited, everybody should go. The supper will cost only a trifle and will not be of the regulation kind—three oysters in a plate of soup—but a genuine supper, with an enjoyable time thrown in.

Judge O. N. Powers' charge to the Grand Jury yesterday at Provo, is broad and stringent, and is another staggering blow to unlawful cohabs. The Utah polygamists can now more fully sympathize with brothers Gowans, Bowen and Lee, the Tooele co-trio who were sent home crestfallen last Wednesday, with five indictments for their obnoxious crimes. Judge Powers with Judge Zane rules that an indictment can be found daily where a period covers the time of U. C.

A race free to all occurred at about half-past 2 this afternoon. A horse attached to an express wagon slipped his bridle and ran up Main street, turning toward the Emporium clock with a determination, no doubt, of changing the time, which has been constant for some months past, but before the horse could succeed in getting his forefoot upon the dial, a horseman overtook the runaway and stopped any and all chances of changing the hours as long indicated by that wonderful clock.

A FAMILY without small children can get the use of an elegant house for six months, at a nominal rent, by inquiring at the DEMOCRAT office. *

SMOKE the Celebrated "Famous" Cigar, manufactured by Sam Levy. *

Presbyterian Supper.

The Ladies of the Presbyterian church will give an oyster supper this (Friday) evening, in the lecture room of the church, to obtain aid for their Christian work. Doors open at 6 o'clock. The public cordially invited. Supper, 50 cts. *

How It Affected Barnum.

The old showman, now in his seventy-fifth year, is as vigorous as ever, owing, he says, to total abstinence from rum and tobacco. Had it not been for this total abstinence, the news of the death of Jumbo would, he feared, have killed him.—Commercial Advertiser. The only parallel to this extraordinary proof of the preservative power of total abstinence is reported in the "Pickwick" report of a meeting of the Brick Lane Branch Total Abstinence Society, whose one saved sinner testified that his wooden legs lasted twice as long as they used to do before he left off drinking.—New York World.

MILTON NOBLES LAST NIGHT.

"Love and Law." Presented to a Large and Enthusiastic House.

Milton Nobles' Dramatic Company last night opened at the Theatre for a short engagement. The audience was seated some considerable time before the curtain rung up. The delay was caused by Mr. Nobles and several members of his company arriving late, the Utah Central failing to get in on time. During the long wait the orchestra kept the large audience in a good humor by playing several fine overtures.

Finally, about half-past 9 o'clock up went the "rag," and from the rise to the finish nothing dragged in the play, which is of that character as to never fail to get a large audience and solicit frequent applause. "Love and Law" is full of wit and humor and pathos. In the second act, when Cutit gets worked up to such a rage that he would kill Hits, the scene is very realistic, and just such as can be seen every day in the rendezvous of the low in the back streets of London or New York city.

To-night Nobles' ever-popular "Phœnix" will be played, and another full house may be confidently expected. As a special treat to the ladies and children, a matinee of "Love and Law" will be played to-morrow afternoon, commencing at 1:30 o'clock. The Theatre will be crowded, and everybody should go early.

The Grand Jury Will Settle It.

The cutting case against J. A. Fitzgerald, continued from yesterday afternoon, was brought to a blunt end to-day. Judge Speirs decided from the amount of evidence that the defendant was guilty as charged, and bound him over to appear before the Grand Jury under bonds in the sum of $800. Mr. Fitzgerald was very irate, and said: "Have you a telephone?" On being answered in the affirmative, he replied: "Bring it here; I want to speak to some of my friends." He went to the conversational medium instead, and failing to find an $800 bondsman not attending the races and ball game, he was permitted to escort an officer down town in search of the necessary.

Mr. Jake Bamberger and William McQueen became sureties, and Mr. Fitzgerald was set at liberty.

The doctor attending Murray's cut eye says he will probably lose it. Murray is about the town with one optic bandaged, and with the other on his antagonist, whom he considers a dangerous man.

PERSONAL.

R. C. Chambers arrived from Park City last night.

Bruce Taylor, of Ogden, is smiling upon Salt Lake City to-day.

A. G. Campbell has returned from his southern mining interests.

Mr. George A. Lowe went north last evening on the Utah Central.

Sam Lowe, the smiling Utah & Western ticket poncher is in the city.

Mr. Earl, of Thomas & Earl, Seofield, is in attendance at the races this week.

Mr. Joe Young, assistant joint ticket agent at Ogden, is visiting this week's attractions at the capital.

Mr. Harrington, the editor of the Home Seeker, Manti, is in the city. Sanpete people never attend races.

Mr. Clem Seram, Ogden's popular pill-maker, is doing Salt Lake with his many brother prescriptionists.

Mr. W. Wescott, of Ogden, visited Salt Lake yesterday and was one of the lookers on at the diamond contest.

Mrs. Phillip Bank, of Ogden, and her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Hubby, of New York, are visiting friends in this city.

Major Stanton, U. S. paymaster, returned last evening from a circuitous trip, accompanied by his special clerk Chase.

Mr. M. Evans, agent of the Utah Central and Utah Western, at Lehi, is in attendance at the base ball tournament.

J. W. McNutt, W. Young, A. Greenwell, R. W. Wells and A. S. Condon are a party of five visitors registered at the Walker from Ogden.

J. R. Wilkins, of Beaver, the Clerk of the Second Judicial District Court, will leave for Texas to-morrow. The DEMOCRAT wishes him a pleasant journey and a safe return.

W. M. Rank, the faithful and trusty D. & R. G. agent at Ogden for some considerable time past, was recently transferred to the office in San Francisco, whither he has just moved his family.

Joseph R. Walker, President of the Alice Gold and Silver Mining company, accompanied by Judge McBride, arrived yesterday from Salt Lake. They are here to take part in the Rising Star Silver Safe suit, which will be tried in a few days.—Butte Inter-Mountain, 23d.

Mrs. L. L. Dryfoos, of Meridian, Miss., a sister of Mrs. Henry Siegel, is expected to arrive here this evening via the D. & R. G. Mrs. Dryfoos has lately lost her only child, a boy 4 years old, who died from a tumor of the stomach. The lady has visited here a number of times and prefers Zion to any other place for passing the Indian summer. Her many friends will be glad to see her.

Life Saved by Hanging Upside Down.

A singular affair occurred recently in one of the pleasantest homes in the suburbs of our city, the relation of which may not only be of some interest, but also of some use to the reader. A few days ago the family physician visited the same residence, and in the course of conversation mentioned that, while attending a sick child, the child had suddenly begun to suffocate, owing to a quantity of mucus getting into its windpipe, and he had turned the child upside down, in order to relieve it.

This story passed almost unnoticed, except by the sister of the lady of the house. The family, consisting of the husband, wife and wife's sister, were at the table eating. Suddenly the wife began to show signs of suffocation. Her husband resorted to the familiar remedy of patting her smartly on the back; but it was unavailing. She could not speak; her face became of a purple hue, and she was evidently at the point of death. At this moment, her sister, remembering the doctor's story, seized her by the ankles. The husband caught the idea instantly, and the lady was soon in an inverted position, whereupon she immediately coughed up the food which had nearly caused her death. The husband blesses himself for the story which the doctor so casually told, without any thought that it might help to save a life.—Providence Journal.

—The sloop-yacht "Puritan" was sold at public auction in Washington yesterday for $13,500. Edward Burgess, who designed the yacht, was the purchaser. After the sale, he stated that he had bought the "Puritan" for a man in Boston, but refused to give his name for publication.

SPEAKING of the triumphs of German surgery, a writer points out a number of men now walking around in the empire with only a fractional part of their digestive organs. Some are referred to as being without a spleen, or having but a single kidney, others lack a gall bladder and several metres of intestines, while the climax is reached by "the man without a stomach."

LINKING THE EVIDENCE.

Heavy Witnesses Against Hoyt—Jack Emerson Tells His Story Again.

The District Court resumed the Hoyt trial this morning promptly at 10 o'clock. The defendant was on hand with his attorneys, Messrs. Shreks & Williams, as were also the prosecution, witnesses, jurymen and a large number of spectators.

Following the examination of Sheriff Allison, of Summit county, as related in last night's DEMOCRAT, Mr. Alfred Simon, a resident of Park City in 1880, was called to the stand. He knew the defendant Hoyt; had seen him prior to the 4th of July, 1880; saw defendant at the McHenry mill with young Turner's horses and outfit. He knew defendant around Park City for some time as Fred Welcome. Last saw defendant and J. F. Turner sitting on the tongue of the wagon at about 8 o'clock.

A. J. Moore, a resident of Park City the year of the murder, saw Turner the last time on July 3d, 1880. Knew Welcome; saw Turner and Hoyt on July 3d, 1880; again saw Hoyt at the race course July 5th, when a short conversation about the races took place. Moore was asked by the defense if he was not one of the lynchers of Murphy two years ago, and replied that he would like the counsel to prove it.

Charles E. Bates was called, and testified that he resided in Park City in 1880, at the time of the tragedy. Knew Hoyt at that time; saw him on July 2d at 11 o'clock at night talking to a woman at a hurdy-gurdy house. He came out, and witness observed a spot of blood on defendant's white shirt. Asked Hoyt what he had been doing. Defendant replied: "I have hit a s— of a b— and hit him hard, and am going to get away with him." Saw defendant again on the evening following, when the same conversation followed. Hoyt was under the influence of liquor.

William Reynolds was sworn and testified that he ran a store in Wanship in 1880, and Hoyt called to sell some chopped barley; suspected something wrong and didn't want to buy it. Took it in exchange for trade. Witness went to take one of the sacks out of the wagon when Hoyt twice interfered with some remark and told Reynolds to take a sack out from the rear of the wagon. A man called Emerson was along and remained in the wagon. Hoyt had been drinking.

David Moore gave evidence that he saw Hoyt in Echo Canyon on the evening of July 6th, 1880, a little before dark. Hoyt tried to sell witness a span of horses as he (defendant) was going to Evanston.

To-day a part of Dr. Benedict's testimony, allowed yesterday, was stricken out on motion of the prosecution.

W. H. Moss, of Piedmont, who bought one of the teams and wagon of Hoyt, gave his entire evidence, substantially as in previous examinations; as did Sheriff T. J. Carr, of Wyoming, to whom Hoyt made his confession. After Mr. Carr was dismissed Fred Hoyt was called to the stand and sworn in behalf of the defense, to show what the policeman who had charge of him did before the confession was made to detective Carr. Hoyt testified against any admission of a confession. The confession was kept out by the prosecution not insisting on introducing it.

George B. Campbell, W. D. Sutton and Almon Clyde substantiated their former testimony in all material matters.

R. J. Johnson, of Park City, testified that Hoyt said in his presence that he would get even with the sons of b——— (meaning Turner's family), if it cost him his life.

Johnson is a new witness in the case.

Another new witness for the prosecution is John R. Funk, of Park City, who testified that he ran a barber shop at the Park in 1880. Hoyt came in to get shaved on Sunday morning, the 4th, and had on a shirt with blood on it.

Jack Emerson, alias John McCormick, which he claims to be his right name, was brought in from the Penitentiary today, looking rather thin and crippled from the effects of rheumatism. He was put on the stand and testified that he once followed minstrelsy and adopted "Billy Emerson's" surname. Got acquainted with Welcome in Park City on Saturday evening, July 3d, 1880, in Dodge's saloon. Welcome first approached him and said, "I will see you after a while." He came back in about half an hour and asked me if I wanted to go to the Gunnison country with him; said he had teams and outfit at the camp. I went to the camp, a quarter of a mile away, and saw his property. The witness continued his narrative of the long travel to Hillard via Wanship, Piedmont, Green River, and of all the trades and happenings along the way. Identified the coat and vest of young Turner's, which Hoyt gave him. Other witnesses of the prosecution will follow Emerson.

Too Much Irony for Him.

"I had no idea you were a machinist," said a bright young Gotham girl to her escort, an Anglomaniac of the first degree, as they stood watching the monkeys in Central Park.

"Aw, weally, you surpwise me, aw," he stammered, in great confusion.

"Will you, aw, do me the favor, aw, to explain your conundrum?"

"It is no conundrum, Mr. Addlepate; it's a fact."

"But, aw, weally, why d'ye think I'm a hobwid machinist?"

"Because every time you look in that cage you make a monkey wrench," murmured the cruel maiden.

Mr. Addlepate fell back into a baby carriage, and was taken to the Home for Incurables.—New York Journal.

THE "Thirteen Club" has just had its annual dinner in New York. This organization is devoted to killing the superstition that it is bad luck to have thirteen at table together. At this last dinner the bill of fare was printed in the form of a tombstone. They should banquet on Friday, and so kill two superstitions with one tombstone.

"THE German race," said Mr. Talmage, the preacher, telling of the travels from which has returned, "have attained a wonderful state of development, both mental and physical. You can talk with a cab-driver on a scientific subject and get intelligent answers."

How to Consult Dr. Foote, Sr., by Mail.

Dr. Foote, Senior, author of "Plain Home Talk," "Medical Common Sense," etc., etc., would say to those who would like to consult him by mail that they can have a list of questions and a circular of gratuitous advice by addressing Box 414, Salt Lake City. The doctor has arranged to have such information supplied in this way to save time. Receiving such printed matter the correspondent can describe his or her case fully and direct it to the doctor, in New York. Dr. Foote is successfully treating all forms of chronic diseases, a specialty to which he has devoted thirty years of study and practice. Evidences of his success can also be had by addressing Box 414, as above, but all letters of consultation and orders for remedies should be addressed to Dr. E. B. Foote, Sr., 120 Lexington Avenue, New York City, N. Y. Consultation free.

An advertisement of Dr. Foote, Sr., in another place deserves attention.

MINING MATTERS AT TINTIC.

The Scientific Point in the Great Suit—Activity in the Mines, and Other Matters.

EUREKA, September 21.—As this writing all but a few of the experts have left for Provo. Your readers are aware of the Eureka Hill and Beck lawsuit now in progress before Judge Powers of the First District Court. Captain Day remains here a few days to refresh his memory, when he returns to Provo to join his colleagues in one of the most interesting problems ever undertaken by a court in this Territory.

CAN THE COURT SOLVE IT?

That the compass is true to the pole, is an old saying; but younger men than Fred. Clayton will tell you that there is a variation of 17 degrees. Ten years ago the variation here was 16 degrees 30 minutes. Now a parent obtained ten years ago could be conveniently disturbed to-day if the present standard variation is followed.

Now, I wish to be understood. The location of a patented claim is permanently set down on the earth's surface and on record in the General Land Office. Our records show that the variation of the compass is easterly and science tells us that it will vary in that direction for two hundred and fifty years to come. Then, science shows how it will return, pass the sun's magnetic equator and the variation of the needle is then west of north. But to come to the point. If, as we know, the needle varies thirty minutes in ten years how in heaven's name are we to determine, permanently, our accurate position on the earth's surface?

If our garden spot to-day is due north and south, an accurate survey ten years hence would

THROW OUR PEACH TREES INTO A NEIGHBOR'S LOT,

Unless he too got into litigation, when a move of twenty minutes east would be ordered by court, and in a few years the peaceable citizens of this portion of Juab county would find themselves closely hugging the Wasatch range, while if the problem were fully followed out we would push Massachusetts into the ocean ere Ben Butler got to be President. This matter will not come up at Provo this term, but it is a journalistic duty to keep ahead of the times.

THE MINES OF TINTIC

Are being worked vigorously, but the District Court should receive some credit for the increased activity in Eureka. John McChrystal, assisted by Pat Shea, has charge of the Eureka Hill, while Dennis Sullivan handles the Beck property. The whole side-hill is filled with mineral, and the workings of both companies are, to a stranger, more complicated than the Mormon question is to an ordinary Senator. But the question at issue just now is not necessarily vital to either company. A slice of the watermelon has dropped. Who owns it? Let the Court decide.

THE BUSINESS OF THE CAMP

is conducted by three business firms. McCrystal & Co. carry all that one would imagine he could need, while Beck says he can make a stand-off with the Big Co-op, but "Bless you, my boy," says our old friend, Jim Robbins, "I make no comparison. My name alone is sufficient for all of our Utah trade." Robbins has a large stock of merchandise, and it is well handled.

Pat Cusick is the backbone of the McChrystal firm (the former occupies all his time in the Eureka mine, and that alone would keep a Jay Gould busy), but Cusick is a study. Go where you will there is Cusick. Leave him in a horse trade to buy a pair of socks and, unless you know the man, you'd be surprised to find him dilating on the superior quality of his seamless balbriggans. He is of the camp and the camp is of him.

LIKE ALL PROSPEROUS CAMPS,

Eureka has its saloons. There is smiling M. C. Sullivan, Harry Tompkins, with his Hyde; Dan Sullivan, the genial, good-looking, whole-souled. Dan McMurphy is here, too, with his quiet smile, ever ready to please, though the atmosphere may not be at all times pleasant; Johnson & Yates come next. That man Yates should be suppressed; the weather so oppressive, too, but he will talk. He cannot be interrupted. A cyclone is a whisper to him; but there are angels worse than Yates. Prosser & Connor don't say much, but my! it takes a big hand to make either lay down. Hatfield owns the tabernacle on the hill. He has a lofty position, and is well calculated to hold it. But do you wish to enjoy a pleasant nook across the street? Then cross the bridge with me and see Giblin; if he is not in Jim Macauly is, and if we cannot be entertained by old-time yarns there and treated like princes, why let us leave the camp and move to San Francisco. We could stop off long enough to tell Macauly's friends at Eureka, Nev., that he is the same old Jim.

THE HOTELS COMPARE FAVORABLY

With those of other camps, and are far superior to some in many of our "cities." They are the Eureka, Keystone and Union restaurant. The Eureka, owned by H. K. Tompkins, is at present under the management of —— Savage, who is a first-class caterer. Mrs. Holland runs the Keystone, and as landlady is second to none. The Union restaurant is under the management of Mrs. Naylor, so you see we want for nothing in the hotel line here.

The Palace barber shop is in the hands of Jim McFarland, and it is claimed by his many patrons that he is chief, while Prof. Le Beau, though not laying claim to the tonsorial championship, has many admirers.

NOTES.

Nesbitt, a well-known Silver Reed mining expert, is here expatriating for one of the parties to the famous Eureka-Beck suit.

Barlington runs a daily coach connecting with trains arriving and leaving Ironton.

Those who prefer a longer stage ride and Goshen buttermilk, can take Tuttle's coach for Santaquin.

Simon Bamberger was here yesterday, and from the manner in which he climbed the trail to his Blue Rock mine, a mountain sheep has no business in those hills.

J. R. Stephens, formerly of Salt Lake, has built up a nice boot and shoe trade here. MONOTONY.

AGAIN TAKEN INTO CAMP.

A Hard Fought Game, But the Denvers Win by Six to One.

The Denver and Salt Lake nines played the second game of the series on Washington Square yesterday afternoon. As will be seen by the score, several of the Denvers were changed from their usual positions, as was also the case with the Salt Lake team. The game proved equally interesting when considered throughout, and the crowd surpassed the first day's attendance in being made up of a larger portion of ladies and retired people who seldom patronize such exhilerating sports unless some uncommon inducement is brought to bear on them. The management of the ground did not sprinkle the diamond and the borders as requested to do, and in consequence the players and lookers on were greatly annoyed by the flying dust. The game started at 3:45 with the home nine in the field. O'Brien, captain of the Denvers, went to the bat and succeeded in dexterously making the first score. The Salt Lakes were whitewashed in the first eight innings, although the boys in blue worked themselves to third base, where they would make the final effort for the home plate and as surely die on the road. Larson missed reaching home by a hair's breadth. Barlow reached third, but was stopped there. In the last half of the ninth inning Bess reached third and barely made the home plate on a ball sent into left field by Ridges after the ball was caught. This ended the second game, with a score of 6 to 1 in favor of the Denvers.

Time of game—1 hour 40 minutes.

This afternoon at the same hour the two contesting clubs will play the third game of the series, with several changes in the position of the men in each club. Sullivan, who has been playing first base, will pitch for the Denvers, and Ross will back stop. O'Brien will hold down first with Harter on second and Marion in left field. Barker will pitch with Ridges and Barlow as catchers for the home boys.

The entire Denver nine are salaried and all are engaged from Eastern clubs with the single exception of Marton.

The Salt Lakers had excellent opportunities yesterday and the day before to study tact in base ball from the playing of the Denvers, and there is no doubt but that a great many good pointers were caught onto.

Kelly Golding as shortstop, and Larson as first base, received much applause for active and graceful playing.

Sullivan, of the Denvers, holds down first base with the same credit to his club that Larson bestows on the Salt Lakers.

Manager West of the Salt Lakers states that the expenses attending the present base ball series will amount to about $30 a day. The $500 guaranty goes to the Denvers for car fare of $300 and other personal outlay. The two days' receipts amount to $373.15, which leaves $73.15 toward the $200 due the Denvers after settling for their tickets. To-day and to-morrow should clear all expenses of the games.

Many persons fond of the national game have expressed a willingness to contribute to a list for the support of a good Salt Lake team to be organized for the coming season. There is no existing reason why Salt Lake should not possess as fine a nine as any of the Wyoming or Colorado towns, and if Mr. West undertakes to perfect a good team he should receive the same encouragement accorded outside clubs.

A FEMALE BEAR-SLAYER.

A Boulder Valley Woman Shows Her Montana Training.

Mrs. Sarah Ella Davidson, of Boulder Valley, Montana, is a little black-eyed woman with a tender heart and the courage of a lioness. Last Friday, says the Sentinel, of Boulder, while Mr. Davidson was away from home, Mrs. Davidson and her little 3-year-old daughter were in the garden, about thirty yards from the house, gathering potatoes, when the child exclaimed to her mother: "There's a bear, mother, go and get the gun." The mother looked up and discovered three bears coming. She took the little one by the arm and led her to the house, and taking down an old trusty Sharp's rifle, "started out for bear." The dogs in the meantime had chased two of them away, but the third one ran into a thicket about thirty yards from where she had stood at the time she discovered them. She walked within fifteen steps of the thicket, and kneeling upon one knee, waited several moments for Bruin to make his appearance, in order that she might seal his death warrant. The dogs soon chased him out, not, however, until he had slapped them right and left several times. As soon as the bear came to the edge of the thicket he stood erect, with outstretched arms. While he was in that attitude she gently raised her rifle, and without even a particle of fear, shot him through the heart. She waited only a moment for it to rise, and the bear showing no signs of life, she went directly up to it, took it by the hind leg, and, with the assistance of the dogs, soon had it at the house, and in less than thirty minutes the hide was hanging upon a peg. This is said to be the first bear killed by a woman in this Territory. She was asked if she felt any fear at the time and she said: "I only had one idea in my mind at the time and that was the bounty money, as I just needed $7.50 to finish paying for my sewing machine." The hide was sent to Boulder, the bounty money received and the last payment on that sewing machine has been made.

MEDICAL.

Dr. FOOTE, Senior

Of 120 Lexington Avenue, New York,

Hereby cautions the public against Employing or Communicating with a man styling himself "Dr. Foote," without making due inquiry.

This man came to Salt Lake City representing himself as the son of Dr. E. B. Foote, of New York, the well known specialist, as can be proved by affidavits. As rumors came to Salt Lake City from Dakota and Montana of his exposes made there, he changed his tactics, represented himself as the son of a well known specialist in New York City than Dr. E. B. Foote, the well known author. Dr. Foote, of the well known Town Hall, New York City (forty years in the same business), Ex-Governor FRANK FITZGERALD and the Hon. ABRAM WAKEMAN, late Postmaster in New York City, who know the Foote family, gave their affidavits that he is not one of the other doctors in New York by the name of Foote, excepting Dr. E. B. Foote, the author of "Medical Common Sense," etc., and his sons, Dr. E. B. Foote, Jr., and Dr. Edward Foote. The genuine Dr. Foote, Jr., never after always employs the initials, E. B., preceding his name. Heretofore he has been known not only at home but wherever his publications have been circulated, by the name of Dr. Foote, Jr. Greater care will be taken hereafter, in view of the fact that an unscrupulous person has assumed to profit by the doctor's reputation.

Those desiring further and more reliable information in respect to this matter, should write by addressing Box 414, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Persons having information of such impostor or plaintiffs will kindly communicate with Messrs. J. W. Ivey, with Sutherland & Kirkham, Salt Lake City.

Those desiring to consult Dr. Foote, Sr., personally or to order remedies should address either

Dr. E. B. FOOTE, Sr., or Dr. E. B. FOOTE, Jr.,
120 Lexington Ave., New York City.
Consultation Free, in person or by mail.
