

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

CRIMINAL COURT TRIAL OF THE BROTHERS DEVLIN FOR MURDER.

Thursday, July 1.—The court met at the usual hour, and the trial was resumed by calling, on the part of the defense...

Dr. W. G. PHILLIPS sworn.—On the 6th of April saw Mr. Smith early in the morning at the Farmer's Hotel; witness left and went down Pennsylvania avenue with Mr. Berry...

John Wallace sworn.—Was connected with Mr. Berry in the directory business, and saw deceased on the day of his death; was with deceased most of the day; parted with him at Mr. McLaughlin's corner, on Capitol Hill...

George Siskler sworn.—Has known John Devlin about eight years; never had any business transactions with him, but merely a casual acquaintance...

Patrick McKenna sworn.—His knowledge John Devlin for some ten or twelve years; his father has lived in witness's neighborhood for eight years; knew very little of the prisoner, except as to his being the son of an esteemed neighbor...

Frank Riley sworn.—Is a guard at the jail; knew the prisoners at the bar; was at the jail when they were committed; never thought John Devlin a very sane man; when he was brought to the jail he came in a carriage...

James D. Bland sworn.—Has known John Devlin for several years; shortly after his father's death, which took place last fall, John came to witness; had two conversations on the subject, but witness could not make out what was desired; a memorandum was made out in writing by John; witness was unwilling to witness it...

George W. Phillips (deputy marshal) sworn.—Has known John S. Devlin four or five years; on one occasion went to his home, and saw him sitting at the table; witness saw him with eye-glasses on; he was dressed in a suit; witness saw him with eye-glasses on; he was dressed in a suit...

William A. Wheaton sworn.—Has known John S. Devlin for several years, and often remarked to other people that he was a peculiarly sane man; witness was present on the occasion alluded to by Mr. Phillips, and corroborated his statements in regard to the affair of the eye-glasses...

Hesey Bunker sworn.—Has known both the defendants for about twelve years, and for six years very well; lives right opposite their home; their characters have been good—more so now; witness thought John was a very weak-minded man, and his conduct was not to be expected of a man of his age; witness thought John was a very weak-minded man...

Anniversary Celebration of the Greek Academy at Georgetown College.—This institution, founded by the late Prof. George Fenwick, of Georgetown College, as a means of keeping alive the knowledge of the Greek classics acquired during the regular scholastic course of studies pursued in the College, and of affording the means of obtaining a thorough mastery of the physiological and literary treasures which lie buried beneath the surface of the rich but sadly-neglected language of Homer and Demosthenes...

Married.—At Alexandria, Va., June 29th, by the Rev. Mr. Park, Dr. S. W. EVERETT, of Quincy, Illinois, to MARY, daughter of the late Dr. S. W. Smith, of the former place.

Died.—Yesterday afternoon, at 6 o'clock, JAMES N., youngest son of John W. and Elizabeth N. Nicks. The funeral will take place from the residence of the parents this (Friday) evening, at 8 o'clock. The friends of the family are invited to attend.

The Annual Commencement of Georgetown College will be held on Wednesday, July 7th, commencing at 10 o'clock, a. m. On the previous day the graduating class will defend the principal themes of Intellectual and Moral Philosophy. The exercises on the 7th will be at 8 o'clock, p. m. The public are respectfully invited to attend on both occasions.

Regiment of Volunteers.—The officers commanding companies in Washington and Georgetown are requested to report at the residence of Col. Hickey, corner the City Hall and Pennsylvania streets, on Saturday, the 21st of July, at 6 o'clock, to confer in reference to the probable visit of the 1st Regiment New York Volunteers to this city, on the 6th or 7th instant.

Dr. A. W. Miller sworn.—Has known the defendants for some ten or twelve years; knew their mother and father about thirty years ago; witness's attention was first attracted to the condition of John Devlin's mind about six or seven years ago; had frequently been called to attend him for sleeplessness and nervous disorders; he is now known for his condition of mind to be one of insensibility and imbecility, which are forms of insanity.

Mr. Ratcliff asked the following questions: "From your knowledge of the mental status of John Devlin, and the facts proved on the trial, would he be likely to commit a homicide charged in the indictment, under an insane delusion?"

disease of the mind; was for fourteen years in a military hospital, where there were a great many cases of nostalgia; believes John Devlin was a demented man before Berry came to the house on the 6th of April, and the appearance of Berry stamped on his mind the appearance of a man who had inflicted such an injury would naturally cause great excitement in one's mind, and in this case probably aggravated the mental malady under which the prisoner was laboring; after his father's death John Devlin was sleepless for nights, and witness was called to prescribe for him; had to give him anodynes, and treat him as he would any other insane man.

Here the defence rested their case. The prosecution then introduced rebutting evidence. John Lynch sworn.—Had known John Devlin ever since he was quite a small boy; never considered him as bright as the generality of men; for some time past had not been on speaking terms with him; he had asked witness his opinion about his efforts in defence of Mrs. Anderson's case before the court, and witness expressed a disparaging opinion; and since then, he had not thought proper to speak to witness. Never had any business conversation with him. On this occasion, when he had the conduct of Mrs. Anderson's case, witness was on the jury and could not make any sense in what he said; he attempted to address the court and the jury, but failed, and witness felt mortified for him. An ordinary boy ten years of age could have done better than he did. When Berry kept house three or four years ago, he lived nearly opposite to witness; has seen John Devlin visit Berry's house. Never saw his father go there.

Wm. H. Langley sworn.—Has known John Devlin about eight years; never had any business transactions with him, but merely a casual acquaintance. Lived only one or two squares from him. Mr. Berry lived near witness two or three years ago, on one or two occasions saw John Devlin and Berry together, but did not hear their conversation. This was before the death of the elder Devlin.

George Siskler sworn.—Has known John Devlin about six years, but never was intimate with him. Have seen him twice in the company of a bartender, at Hayward & Wilson's, and Frank Berry, who lives very little of him some two or three years ago; they drank together, and appeared to be on friendly terms. Never had any other intercourse with Devlin than that.

Patrick McKenna sworn.—His knowledge John Devlin for some ten or twelve years; his father has lived in witness's neighborhood for eight years; knew very little of the prisoner, except as to his being the son of an esteemed neighbor. Never had any conversations with John Devlin of a business nature. Did not know Mr. Berry; had perhaps seen him on two or three occasions, but not enough to identify him. Some months subsequent to the marriage of Berry with Devlin, witness heard of it. Mr. Devlin showed witness a New York paper with a notice of the marriage as having been consummated in that city. Mr. Devlin lived near to witness at that time.

A. E. L. Kees recalled.—After arresting John Devlin, took him to the jail, and took a look at his own report. Have known him six or seven years; know a year ago, had some business transactions with him; he gave witness a bill and requested to have a warrant issued against some person, and the case was brought before Capt. Goddard. Witness told Devlin, when he was arrested, that he had better not say anything about the case; told him he would have to go to jail, he asked witness to go back and see that the house was locked up and his mother taken care of, and also have the body removed. Has long been of opinion that John Devlin was "a regular fool"—something wrong in the upper story; he sometimes talked rationally, but witness's general opinion is now that he is insane.

Mrs. Fanny Berry sworn.—Was married to deceased in 1852 in New York city; thinks her husband was in New York during June, July, August, and September of last year; cannot say positively, but believes he was; she has letters which will show; witness was in New York when her husband died; she was expected to go to Washington previous to her father's death; Berry was then in New York, where he had come from Pittsburg; they afterwards went to Cleveland, Ohio; they travelled a great deal. Witness's father visited Mr. Berry while they lived in Baltimore to make a settlement and assist them in housekeeping; John Devlin resided with them some time in Baltimore; witness's mother has said that while living at the hotel on 8th street, witness made frequent visits home to see her relatives; her husband often came there after her, but was not kindly received latterly; Berry had staid at her father's house over night, with her father's and mother's consent, in 1855. He came on business. Witness's mother has said that she wanted things peaceable and friendly, since her father's death. Was down in the city at the time of the homicide; left a note that day for Mr. Berry; it was left with her mother and the servant girl; and both knew about it; they saw witness put it in the table on the 6th of July; witness expected to go that morning. John Devlin was present when the note was left; thinks he knew the contents of the note; thinks he heard the request that the note should be given to Berry when he called.

Cross-examined.—Don't think Berry was in Baltimore last summer doing business; he may have been here last summer, but does not know exactly whether he was or not; they have been back and forth so much that witness cannot remember the exact time; does not remember ever telling Dr. Phillips that her father had threatened to shoot her husband last summer; witness may have heard of her father's plan to get a pistol to shoot her husband, but does not know whether he was or not; something said about the affair; when witness went away from her mother's on the 6th of April, she left a note which was addressed to Berry, and witness told her mother, Catharine Shea, and her brother John, the contents of it; knows that her father had forbidden her husband to shoot at the house; her mother had sometimes invited her husband to come in when he came there, but not since her father's death; was in bed asleep when her husband came in the night after her, shortly before her husband's death; thinks he went away and came back again; Berry was in Cleveland last summer; he came from Cleveland to Baltimore; the note was left for Berry, Catharine was just outside the kitchen door at the wash-tub, witness's mother was in the kitchen, and John was in the dining-room; the doors were all open, and they must have heard what witness said about the note, because they said that she need not repeat it so many times; witness spoke in a loud voice.

At five o'clock, p. m., the court adjourned.
