BANKS SHORT OF CASH

Loss In Reserves Runs Up to $5,217,400.

THE WEEKLY STATEMENT

DECREASE MUCH WORSE THAN WAS EXPECTED.

The New York Institutions Are Now Nearly $3,000,000 Below the Legal Requirements—Prices Gave Way All Around On the Stock Exchange—Money Market.

New York, Nov. 11.—Today's bank statement proved rather worse than the most extreme estimate had foretold. The loss in the cash reserves ran up to $5,217,400, whereas the extremest estimate had been for only $4,500,000. Some sanguine persons had hoped the cash losses would be offset by a loan contraction as high as $12,000,000. Instead of that the decrease in loans reached only $7,151,000. As this only reduced the reserve requirements to the extent of $2,766,800, the cash losses have resulted in increasing the deficit below the legal requirements of $2,788,950.

It was not to be expected that so formidable an encroachment on the already depleted reserves of the banks should be without effect and prices gave way all around. The losses in the railroad list are strikingly small in spite of a large volume of dealings. This department offered a stubborn resistance to the pressure and there were evidently heavy buying orders to be executed. In the specialties, especially those recently active in speculation, the losses were more severe. In sugar the coalets, the local traction stocks, especially Manhattan, Tobacco and Tennessee Coal there were wide breaches in prices. Even in these the bears were eager to cover at the decline and some sharp rallies were achieved.

As loans made on Friday on the stock exchange carry over until Monday, the day's money market was nominal. Liquidation was in anticipation of Monday's money market and was not forced by actual calling of loans. Yesterday's large calling of loans is probably not fully reflected in the statement so that the actual condition of the banks may be slightly better than indicated, but the course of the money movement makes the necessity of further loan contraction a practical certainty. The foreign exchange market like the money market is almost wholly nominal on Saturday, but the nominal rates for sterling were marked down an additional half cent.

Traders in stocks generally seek to anticipate a certain amount of outside buying which comes into the market after an election, owing to the relief from the unsettling influences on business of a political campaign. There was professional buying of stocks on Monday with this object and a resulting advance in prices. There was also some outside demand on Wednesday as was expected. But it proved insufficient to absorb the offerings. The large buying by the bear element during the previous week had resulted in elimination of much of the short interest from the market and its technical position was thereby weakened. The course of events in the money market demonstrated that the hopes of a relaxation during the previous week had been illusive. New York exchange which had hardened at various points and at Chicago had risen to 10 cents premium per 1,000, eased off again in the latter instance to a discount.

The activity of trade is making extraordinary uses of money in all the countries of Europe and in England this need is aggravated by the war expenditures and the cutting off of the Transvaal gold supply, so that a withdrawal of this country's credits would have a widely unsettling effect on foreign financial markets with an effect on our own market. For this reason the calling home of credits is considered undesirable.

But it is the conviction that in the event of any actual distress for money in the country the world would have to pay its debt to us. The active and profitable use of money in trade even to the exclusion of speculation on credit is not felt to constitute a threat to real values, even of stocks and securities, but so long as expansion continues in the country's use for money and the sub-treasury continues to make demands on the New York banks, it is evident the banks must continue to call loans to meet the encroachments on their reserves, while the reserves continue near the border of the legal requirements. Stocks held with borrowed money are thus forced to sale and fall into the hands of those who have money in hand without the need to borrow.

Bonds have moved slightly in sympathy with stocks, but changes have been narrower. United States old 4s reg. advanced ½; United States coupon new 4s and 5s, ¼ and the 3s, ⅝ in the bid price. The 2s declined ¼.

New York, Nov. 11.—The weekly bank statement shows the following changes: Surplus reserve, decrease, $2,450,600; loans, decrease, $7,151,100; specie, decrease, $3,386,900; legal tenders, decrease, $18,280,500; deposits, decrease, $11,607,200; circulation, increase, $154,700.

The bank now held $2,788,950 less than the legal requirements.

New York, Nov. 11.—The associated banks of New York City are now $2,788,950 below the required 25 per cent reserve. The week's operations, as disclosed by the statement of Nov. 11, show taht the decrease of cash was $5,217,400, of which loss $3,386,900 was in the form of specie and $1,830,500 in legal tenders. Deposit contraction lowered reserve requirements only about $2,750,000, so that half the cash loss came out of the reserve on hand.

The statement does not differ much from what had been expected. The banks, in their week's operations with the treasury, were debtors to an amount approximating $3,000,000, and the interior took nearly, or quite, $2,000,000 additional. In the face of a temporary spurt in the stock market transactions the decrease of $1,151,100 in loans is interesting. The loan item has shrunk since the opening of July about $105,000,000, and now stands at about the same point reached at this time last year.

In other words, the banks have lost in loans all that they had previously gained as the result of twelve months' active business. They are, on the other hand, getting a higher rate on their present commitments. It is difficult to forecast future operations, but the very lack of money in New York now must bring relief from some source soon.

The interior has been looked to to supply the usual fall replenishment, but as yet there are no signs of aid in this quarter. Specie imports are not improbable with exchange falling. The third alternative is assistance from the treasury, which has been absorbing heavily from the banks all summer. Washington officials say that they have at present no intention to furnish funds to banks through public bond purchases, and the only remaining form of relief, if indeed relief be needed, is to allow internal revenue funds to remain on deposit with the bank depositories.

The situation, however, is nto to be regarded as critical, for the simple reason that the present conditions are due more to a condition of prosperity than anything else. The demands of business in all quarters have brought to bear on New York a pressure for money that is unprecedented. This money, aside from what the treasury has taken, is not being hoarded. It is in active use somewhere, and in the course of time will return to its logical center. Just now its absence is severely felt. Were it not for excess treasury payments at New York it is not probable there would be much of a stringency at any point.

Stocks at London.

New York, Nov. 11.—The Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram: The markets here were quiet, but irregular today. Americans opened fractionally above parity and hardened slightly toward the close. Changes were unimportant. Union Pacific was bought, while Baltimore & Ohio was weakest. Coppers were heavy. Tintos, 46; Anacondas, 9⅛; Rostons, 11⅛; Utahs, 7⅝. The official statement shows that on the average the six-months' treasury bills were taken yesterday under 4 per cent, instead of over 4 per cent, as reported, the market having misapprehended official statements.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Downward Rush In Wheat On the Chicago Board of Trade.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—The story of wheat today was one of continuous liquidation, based on the bearish tone of statistics. The downhearted bulls let their holdings slide in a despondent stream. The decline was in spite of Liverpool. The opening was a shade lower at 67⅛@67⅜c for December and May at 71¼@71⅜c. This was the highest price of the day. Receipts in the northwest were liberal. There was a prospect of an increase in the visible of 2,000,000 bushels and in the local stocks of 1,000,000 bushels. The cash demand was small. With this array of figures as an impulse, the market eased off from the opening, going ⅛c under puts, December to 67⅛c and May to 71c. There was a momentary rally of a shade on buying against puts, but it was merely a straw in the downward rush. At the close there was continued buying against puts and some covering by shorts, which put the closing figures at 67⅛c for December and 71⅛c for May. The market was dull and there was a belief that the price would sink still more Monday, when statistics are expected to be bearish.

Corn stubbornly opposed traveling parallel with wheat. In this it was assisted by the statistics. There was a report of damage from frosts and dry weather in Argentine, and Liverpool was firm. There was a difference of opinion concerning country offerings, but a majority apparently held that they were still small and not increasing. December closed at 31¼@31⅜c and May at 32⅝@32⅞c.

There was quite a good trade in oats, the selling of May by professionals and commission people being the feature. The demand was sufficient to consume the offerings. December closed at 22½@22⅝c and May at 25⅝@25⅞c.

Provisions were a dull market and the price tended downward with wheat. January pork closed 7½c lower at $8.60. January lard 2½c under yesterday's close at $4.82½, and January ribs 5c lower at $4.95. Exports for the week showed up badly.

Hog prices were also lower, a fact which had a depressing influence.

Melodrama In Essence.

(Detroit Journal.)

"My darling," cries the hero, throwing off his disguise, "I am he!"

"And I," falters the heroine, laying aside her maidenly reserve, "am she!"

Meanwhile the villain cowers in the corner.

"I am it!" he gibbers, for he has gone mad under the strain.

Men may come and men may go, and all the time melodrama in its essentials is the same old story.

Not Three of a Kind.

And write some rhymes upon it;
Add "fading year
And "twilight clear"—
You've an October sonnet.

Take piece of felt,
Give it a welt
And stick a feather on it,
A twenty dol-
Lar price-mark's all
It's an October bonnet!

CONCERNING CHURCHES AND CHURCH PEOPLE

The Unity Church society, which was left without a minister when the Maynards went to Denver, will probably soon be supplied with a pastor. The Ladies' Unity Circle continues to hold regular weekly meetings.

Dean Halsey of St. Mark's cathedral was taken to the hospital yesterday, suffering from nervous prostration. He has not been feeling well for some time. He will remain at the hospital for a few days, when he will take a vacation of several months. Rev. Mr. Cox will fill his place during his absence.

J. Fred Roth, who has so ably represented the Colorado Catholic for the past five years as traveling agent and solicitor, is here in the interest of the Intermountain Catholic, which was formerly the Colorado Catholic of Denver, but has recently changed to the Intermountain Catholic, published in this city. Mr. Roth arrived on Friday, and will be here ten or twelve days, calling on many of his old friends and subscribers and making new ones. He is a genial and well informed gentleman, and in this reflects the character of the journal he represents. His many friends in this city gladly welcome him back. Catholics of this city and in Utah cannot do better in subscribing for a paper of their faith than by giving their subscription to Mr. Roth for the Intermountain Catholic.

CARBON COUNTY PROSPEROUS.

Proposed Railway Extension Will Help Castle Valley.

M. P. Broffet, a prominent attorney from Price, was in the city yesterday attending to important legal business. Mr. Broffet speaks in very glowing terms of the conditions and prospects in Carbon county. Everybody, he says, has plenty of money. In speaking of the mining interests he states that there are now over 800 coal miners employed in the towns of Scofield, Winter Quarters and Clear Creek, and many more are needed to enable the mines to supply their demands for coal.

The people of the Castle Valley district appreciate very highly the prospect of having the Rio Grande Western build a line from Furnham, which is located ten miles south of Price, to Salina. This would pass through the towns of Cleveland, Huntington, Castle Dale, Ferron, Orangeville and Emery, and would open up one of the finest mineral countries on earth, rich in coal, silver, gold and copper. The city election of Price went Democratic, he says, for two reasons: First, there are a number of Republican sheep men who are doing some vigorous kicking against the low prices they are getting for mutton and wool. The other reason was purely local. It seems to have been a fight against the methods hitherto employed by the Pina Trading company.

ARMY OFFICER DIED.

Expired at Ogden While On His Way to the East.

(Special to The Herald.)

Ogden, Nov. 11.—Paying Inspector George H. Griffing, of the United States army, died here this morning on a Pullman sleeping car while on his way to his home in Philadelphia.

Griffing was accompanied by Lieutenant Charles A. Davis, U. S. N., who was his clerk, and from him it was learned that Griffing, who has been stationed at Cavite, Philippine Islands, for the past year, lived at 12011 North Twelfth street, Philadelphia. He is supposed to have been placed on the retired list, as he is over 40 years of age and of poor physical condition.

He had in his possession a number of Philippine souvenirs, and from papers in his pocket it was learned that he is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution. Lieutenant Davis notified his family by wire.

Cut His Jugular Vein.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 11.—Samuel Ritchie, once a prosperous real estate dealer and lumberman of St. Paul, committed suicide here this morning by severing his jugular vein. The reason is said to be despondency. He was about 50 years of age and before coming to Seattle owned a lumber yard at Grand Forks, S. D. He was a widower and has two daughters in Los Angeles, Cal., and a brother in San Francisco.

French Conspiracy Cases.

Paris, Nov. 11.—The senate sitting as a high court was occupied today with the arguments for and against the competency of the senate to try the conspiracy cases. Eventually the senate, by a vote of 157 to 91 declared itself competent to try the conspiracy cases. There were domiciliary visits here and in the provinces today, in connection with the conspiracy cases. The offices of La Croix, a paper which is conducted by the fathers
