FIGHTING THE TRUST

Smelter Combine's Attitude Stops Ontario Ore Shipments.

AN INDEPENDENT PLANT

PROBABLE OUTCOME OF PRESENT CONTROVERSY.

Smelting Trust Refuses to Accept Ores Sampled By the Park City Sampler and the Ontario Company Will Suspend Shipments—Cause of the Trouble.

The relations existing between the Park City ore producers and the local management of the American Smelting & Refining company are still very much strained; in fact, the difficulties arising from the refusal of Manager Jones to accept returns from the Mackintosh sampler as a basis upon which to make settlements, has had the effect of causing the Ontario to cease shipments entirely, and Superintendent Chambers declares that none will be made until an adjustment has been had. He held a conference with Mr. Jones yesterday afternoon, but no understanding was arrived at, and when evening came the breach was rather widened than otherwise, and Mr. Chambers said he had no idea as to how the fight would terminate. It might, he said, result in the closing of the mine, at least as far as ore production was concerned, until other arrangements could be made, and he reiterated his declaration of a few days ago, that rather than be imposed upon by the smelter combine a consolidation of interests would be effected and an independent smelting plant erected.

Manager Jones Non-committal.

Manager Jones of the American Smelting & Refining company's local plants was seen and asked to explain his side of the difficulty, but he said he had absolutely nothing to say.

From what Mr. Chambers has said, it appears that the demand for a change of samplers came about through an alleged failure on the part of the smelter to get the values from a shipment of Park City ores as indicated by the samples, but no satisfactory explanation of how it happened has been given by Manager Jones. Mr. Chambers is satisfied that it was not the fault of the sampling at all, and says if a shortage occurred it was due to something wrong in the method of treating the ore at the smelter, and, therefore, he cannot reconcile himself to the demand of the smelter management to change samplers.

Explanation Suggested.

From another source it was stated that Manager Jones' love for the Taylor & Brunton sampler is of a very recent origin, and the belief was expressed that either Mr. Jones or his company had become interested in that mill, and that, hereafter, or as soon as the new addition is completed, every person or company selling ores to the combine would be compelled to ship through the Taylor & Brunton company.

What foundation existed for this statement it was also impossible to learn from Mr. Jones, as he would not go into any phase of the fight. That he feels secure in the stand he has taken, and that he has no doubt that shippers will finally have to submit to his terms, he leaves no room for question, but the trouble is not over by any means.

POLL TAX SUITS IN THE COUNTY

WAGE EARNERS IN VILLAGES CANNOT ESCAPE.

Residents of Bingham, Murray, Sandy, Mill Creek and Other Towns Must Pay Cash Now.

The able-bodied rural citizen liable to payment of poll tax can no more escape paying his annual road dues of $3 than can the average resident of the metropolis bent upon defying the poll tax. In the country districts the farmers cheerfully turn out and do enough work on the roads to satisfy the law's demands, but occasionally an able-bodied man over the age of 21 and under 50 thinks he is the whole thing and refuses to either work at or pay in cash $3 worth of poll tax. It is this class of men whom County Attorney Putnam has been directed to look after. The jacking-up process last year was profitable to the county, and the same medicine—suits at law—will be applied again this time. Somehow the men who were sued last year have already paid this year's tax.

Already two complaints have been made out in the county attorney's office against delinquent poll tax payers. This is only a beginning of the crusade, and soon the rebellious wage-earners at Bingham, Murray and Sandy who have not yet paid up will be proceeded against as in ordinary civil actions. After judgment is rendered for the county it costs about $20 instead of $3 to settle, and no property of a defendant is exempt from execution, not even an overcoat.

The complaints made yesterday were sworn to by Road Supervisor Bringhurst of North Jordan and Road Supervisor Boam of Mill Creek precinct. The latter charges Charles Platts as one of the won't-pay kind, and Bringhurst is determined to make Louis Bringhurst, one of his relatives, feel the cost of resisting the demands of the law.

HOBOS LOOT A CAR AT MURRAY

PLUNDER FOUND IN THEIR POSSESSION.

Another Charge Will Be Made Against the Toughs For Destroying Jail Property.

Deputy Sheriff Goldman had his hands full at Murray Thursday evening arresting two hobos on the charge of breaking into a Rio Grande Western construction car near the Taylor & Brunton ore sampler a few hours before and stealing clothing, blankets, tools, a watch and a pistol. Nearly all the plunder was found in the possession of the suspects.

The hobos gave their names as John Mosier and John Barnum, and after being locked up in the Murray jail the prisoners proceeded to demolish the stove and break the window lights. An additional charge of destroying jail property will be lodged against the toughs. The preliminary hearing of the prisoners will be held before Justice McOmie at Murray either today or on Monday.

Barnum is considered by the officers a particularly desperate man.

Ex-Congressman Dead.

Bedford, Ind., Nov. 24.—Ex-Congressman J. A. Hosteler died at his home eight miles east of Bedford today of paralysis. He represented this district in congress in 1889. He was 61 years old.

HALF CENTURY OF MATRIMONY PROVES MARRIAGE A SUCCESS

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE B. EDGAR.

With the quaint ceremony of a Scotch wedding, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Edgar, who live at 324 South Seventh West street, were last evening married again, after fifty years of nuptial bliss. It was their golden wedding, and they celebrated it with their children and grandchildren, after the style that prevails in bonny Scotland. Until the small hours of the morning they danced and made merry. The sons and daughters were toasted, and the old folks wished them over and over again that their married life might be just as long and just as full of happiness.

The grandchildren were all there, forty-eight in number, and they formed a pretty picture as they feasted at two long tables. Joking and rollicking in a way that only children know, they wished their grandparents all the joy that there is in the world for the remainder of their days. The six sons and one daughter, with their families, were there, too, and they showed their esteem for their parents by a present of $50 in gold. When the presentation was made the old folks were taken by surprise, and when they had recovered they thanked their children heartily for the gift, saying that it would serve to keep them in their new married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar are not an old couple, and they have kept their years well. Mr. Edgar is but 68 years of age, and his wife is two years younger. They were married in the county of Fife, Scotland. As the custom runs, the notice of the marriage must be posted for three days after the wedding in a prominent place in the church. The notice calls upon all those who have any objection to the marriage to come forward and state them. As there were none in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar, they entered into life as husband and wife and lived as such for fifty years to a day. The Scotch custom also makes it necessary for the couple, when they are again married after fifty years, to post a similar notice for three days, and await the objections of the populace. That is the way they do it in the old country, but as the custom does not prevail here, the notice will not have to be put up in this case.

The happy couple lived in Scotland until 1860, when they came to America and to Utah. Mr. Edgar is a locomotive engineer, and he worked with the old Utah Central for years. Four years ago he had an eye injured in a railway accident, and has worked in the shops since that time, being at the present time in the employment of the Oregon Short Line.

Both of the old folks agree that marriage is not a failure. "I have been married fifty years," said Mr. Edgar, "and I think that I ought to be a competent judge. Marriage is not a failure by any means. My advice to all young men is to get married and be happy. A good woman is the greatest treasure there is in the world."

"I agree with my husband," said Mrs. Edgar. "Married life is not a failure. I would advise all girls to get married when they are young. But," she added, naively, "they should find a good man, and that is sometimes a hard thing to find."

The decorations were appropriate at the home of the couple last evening. Portraits of the couple were hung in a prominent place, and roses and other flowers were scattered artistically around the table.

Mrs. Henry Stevens, the only daughter, came from California to attend the anniversary. The six sons are John, George, Walter, Andrew, Thomas and David. They all had their wives and families present.

ARCS AND INCANDESCENTS MAY GO ON SAME CIRCUIT

Robert F. Hayward, electrical engineer for the Union Light & Power company, returned yesterday from a week's investigation of the latest developments in the use of electricity for light and power in the east.

The special object of Mr. Hayward's investigation on this trip was with reference to the alternate current and light. In many places in the east the arc lights in the streets and the incandescent lights in the houses are on the same circuit. This is found to work admirably and at a great saving of cost to the companies.

The tendency everywhere, Mr. Hayward found, was to concentrate the work on fewer circuits, thus saving the expense of extra wires and economizing in power. This change is in contemplation for Salt Lake by the Union Light & Power company, but not for the immediate future. The first cost of the change, in Mr. Hayward's opinion, would be $25,000 or $30,000, but it would result in a continuous saving to the company, and afford better satisfaction to the people.

JUDGE TIMMONY IS WEARY OF COMPLAINANTS WHO FLUNK

Judge Timmony is getting weary of the practice of some people of swearing out complaints against offenders, and after they have been arrested, asking for their dismissal. It is turning the court into a collection agency or a scare-crow, as the case may be, and the judge expressed himself on the subject yesterday, when the case against Joseph Hicks for destroying property was called, Mrs. S. H. Klipack being the complaining witness. The lady asked a dismissal.

"I desire the clerk," said Judge Timmony, "in his annual report to the city council to suggest an amendment to the law so that the costs of these complaints may be imposed on the complaining witnesses. There is altogether too much of this play business."

BRIEF LOCALS.

BANK CLEARINGS.—The bank clearings yesterday were $519,479.70, compared with $456,094.49 for the corresponding day of last year.

REVENUE OFFICE CLOSED.—The internal revenue office in this city will be closed today at 12:30, out of respect to the memory of Vice President Hobart.

REBATES ON WATER RATES.—The waterworks committee met in Superintendent Caine's office and passed on some applications for rebates on account of vacancies. It was agreed that amounts aggregating $300 should be knocked off.

BIG MORTGAGE RELEASED.—A chattel mortgage for $40,000 which had been given on a large herd of sheep owned by W. L. White was released yesterday, the amount having been settled in full. The mortgagor was Clay, Robinson & Co. of Chicago.

OFFICES RENOVATED.—Considerable improvement is being projected on the offices of the presidency of the Mormon church. Everything is being cleaned and the walls are being whitewashed, so that the appearance of the rooms is much better than it has been.

FINE BUILDING FOR PRICE.—The Emery County Mercantile company is finishing an $18,000 business block in the town of Price. The main building is 45x125 and there is an annex 30x60. It is two stories high, built of brick and stone. It is to be finished ready for occupancy early in the new year.

NEW ICE MACHINE.—The Salt Lake City Brewing company has ordered a new Linde ice machine, one of the best in the world. It costs $6,000 and is intended for their new cooling plant, being built in connection with their brewery on Tenth East street. It is expected to arrive from Chicago, where it is made, in two weeks.

EXAMINED THREE APPLICANTS.—The state board of dental examiners held a called meeting last night in the office of Secretary Ellerbeck. President Bucher called the session for the purpose of examining three applicants for the privilege of looking after teeth in Utah. The result of the examinations will be made known today.

LAST DAY FOR TAXES.—Treasurer Lynch announces that this is the last day for payment of taxes without the imposition of penalties. All next week the county treasurer's office will be closed to permit the preparation of the delinquent list for publication, and after today advertising charges will be collected from each delinquent.

FINED $150.—George Harmon, who was charged with petit larceny before Justice Nielsen yesterday, was fined $150. The justice granted a stay of execution for two days, to give the prisoner a chance to raise the amount. If he does not secure the money by Monday, he must serve one day for each dollar of the fine, making five months.

BROUGHT SHANNON BACK.—Sheriff Howells returned last evening from Pueblo, bringing with him Thomas A. Shannon, the Bingham miner who was arrested in Colorado on the charge of carnally knowing Cora Copenhaver, a female under the age of consent, last July in Bingham. Shannon will be arraigned today before Justice Sommer.

MADE A CITIZEN.—Frank Hanson, a native of England and now a resident of Salt Lake, was admitted to citizenship yesterday by Judge Cherry. The applicant barely passed a satisfactory examination. One of his sponsors explained Hanson's apparent deficiency of knowledge of American institutions as due to the fact that he became rattled at the court's queries.

JUBILEE POSTPONED.—The semi-centennial jubilee of the Salt Lake Sunday schools of the Mormon church has been postponed one week, bringing it on Dec. 17. This action has been taken because the Mutual Improvement and quarterly conferences of the Salt Lake stake were appointed for Dec. 16. The Sunday school missionary meeting will also be postponed until the week following the jubilee.

SHERIFF'S DEED.—A sheriff's deed under foreclosure proceedings in May, 1897, was yesterday executed to the German Savings & Loan society of San Francisco for 4x10 rods of ground fronting south on Third South street, a short distance west of West Temple street. L. P. Kelsey, J. K. Gillespie and other defendants formerly owned the property, and the price at which it was bid in, $6,250, is away below the present value of ground in that vicinity.

PERSONAL MENTION.

W. P. O'Meara was in Ogden yesterday on business.

Apostle John Henry Smith leaves for Bear Lake today.

Apostle Grant and F. Y. Taylor will attend conference at Beaver tomorrow.

E. W. Wilson will leave this evening for Cedar City on business, to be gone two or three days.

Parley P. Christensen leaves today for Tooele on a business and legal trip. He will return Monday.

Bishop W. B. Preston and Elder Le Roi C. Snow leave today for Preston, Ida., to attend the Oneida stake conference.

Apostle Brigham Young returned from a visit at Ogden yesterday. He states that President F. D. Richards is steadily improving in health.

Charles Perkins, the Rawlins (Wyo.) merchant, who has been under treatment at Dr. Lewis' private hospital for nervous prostration, has entirely recovered and left yesterday for his home.

Judge W. H. Dickson, who was confined to his room at the Knutsford with a threatened attack of sickness, has recovered and was out last evening. He will be able to attend to business again in a few days.

Miss E. G. Reedall, one of County Clerk Dunbar's most efficient deputies, is back from a stay of several months in California, where she went for her health. The lady is considerably improved, but it will be nearly a month yet before she will have recovered sufficiently to resume her duties in the clerk's office, where her presence has been missed.

Increase In Immigration.

Washington, Nov. 24.—Reports to the immigration bureau show that the total immigration to the United States during the last four months was 115,276, an increase over that of the corresponding period of last year of 30,544.

QUEER POINT RAISED

Was O'Melveney's Death Due to An Accident?

AN INSURANCE PROTEST

CLAIMED THAT COMPANY WAS NOT LIABLE.

Adjuster Contended that O'Melveney Placed Himself In Danger By His Relations With Mrs. Mills—Finally Paid $4,500 on a $5,000 Policy—Railway Officials Interested.

Since the killing of John C. O'Melveney by F. J. Mills in this city the Fidelity & Casualty Insurance company of New York has refused up to this week to pay the $5,000 accident policy on O'Melveney's life on the ground that the insured had sustained improper relations with Mrs. Mills, and thus put himself in the way of unnecessary peril. The company also claimed that O'Melveney's death was not due to an accident, within the meaning of his insurance policy, but that it was due to the intentional act of another. On either of these points, it was claimed, the widow of the murdered man could be deprived in court of the amount of the policy.

An Interesting Controversy.

The struggle over this matter and the outcome are of interest. Soon after the death of Mr. O'Melveney, P. J. Conway, the local agent of the Fidelity & Casualty, went to P. L. Williams, Mrs. O'Melveney's attorney, and said he trusted this policy would be paid quickly in full. Proofs of O'Melveney's death were sent to the home office of the insurance company in New York, but before a response came back, Guy M. Walker, the adjuster of claims, arrived in town. After making a careful study of the case he called upon Mr. Williams, read the law and the policy to him, informed him that Mrs. O'Melveney had no just claim against his company, but that he would be generous and allow the widow $1,000 on her $5,000 policy.

Mr. Williams refused point blank. Then Mr. Walker argued that if the matter went to trial it would be necessary for the company to lay bare the alleged intrigue between O'Melveney and Mrs. Mills, which would be unpleasant all around.

Mr. Williams retorted that Walker had got his information from Mills' attorneys; that their line of defense was to blacken the dead man's character, but such facts were not yet admitted. Walker left town, declaring that he would compromise on no other basis than $1,000.

Adjuster Came Back.

On Saturday last he returned. On the train coming in from the north he found Mr. Williams, and persisted in talking over this claim. Mr. Williams said there was no hurry—let the matter run the regular course. Walker pointed out the folly of going to law when the chances were at least even of getting beaten.

"Then you admit our claim is worth $2,500?" said Williams. Walker said he would settle on that basis. Williams told him he could settle for $5,000 or let the company settle—there was no hurry. Then Walker began coming up—first to $3,000, then to $3,500, finally to $4,500, when he halted. This offer was submitted to Mrs. O'Melveney, who was in Pocatello. She and Mr. Williams consulted over the telephone and decided rather than go to the annoyance and cost of a trial to accept.

Mrs. O'Melveney Indignant.

Mrs. O'Melveney came down from Pocatello on Thursday and received her $4,500. She was indignant over the matter. She said the insurance company could better afford to pay her in full than she could afford to lose any part of it. Mr. Williams was also indignant. He said if the company was liable at all it was liable for every cent of the policy.

It is quite well known, too, that the insurance company has heard many things from a number of other heavy policy holders among the Oregon Short Line officials. The officials took up the cause of Mrs. O'Melveney to a man, and had undoubtedly much to do in bringing the company to terms. One strange thing is that when the company finally decided to pay as much as $4,500, it did not pay the other $500 also and get the credit for paying its claim in full.

A NEW HOTEL.

Cause and Effect.

Don Porter has stood manfully behind "The Kenyon" since its opening, a year ago, pouring out money like water to make it the best. But Mr. Porter was an hotel man previous to this successful venture, which is new a delightful reminiscence that will "point a moral and adorn a tale," and the traveling men take great pleasure in criticising and analyzing things, and pointing out how each EFFECT naturally grows from appropriate CAUSE.
