BOOM STARTED FOR MAJOR YOUNG

Proposed as a Candidate for Mayor.

OPPOSITION TO EZRA KELSEY CONTINGENT WILL FIGHT MAYOR.

The latest thing in the mayoralty line from the Democratic standpoint is the suggestion that Major R. W. Young, who is soon to return from the Philippines, be nominated for the honor by the Democratic city convention. Friends of Major Young started a considerable boom yesterday for him and there was a decided opinion to the effect that if he wants the place he can have it. It was urged that he would get fully as many votes as any other candidate who could be named, and an easy victory at the polls was predicted. The opinion expressed was that Major Young would not consent to run. It is known that he desires to resume his law practice and to settle down in peace and comfort with his family. This would, of course, be impossible if he entered upon a political campaign and then took up the executive reins.

Opposition to Thompson.

The Republican convention promises to develop a very pretty fight. Mayor Thompson sees breakers ahead, for he has been intimating lately to a few of his friends that he doesn't care very much whether he is renominated or not. The executive will not say for publication that he is not a candidate, but he is thought to be paving the way for stepping down and out. His experience in ruling the city hasn't been uproariously hilarious.

When he went into office his friends were many and his enemies few. It's different now. He couldn't get the nomination without a struggle. This is conceded by men who are close to him. Feuds and factional bitterness have developed that will make some pretty hard sledding for his honor. Councilman Robertson and others of the Dooly faction, who will be behind the mayor if he desires to run, profess to believe that City Engineer Kelsey's friends will cut no figure in the convention.

In this they are mistaken. Headed by George Buckle, himself a mayoralty possibility, provided the organ consents, the Kelsey warriors will make somebody hunt for tall timber. They may not be able to nominate Buckle, but they expect to dictate the nomination, and if their wishes are fulfilled, the standard bearer will not be Thompson.

Richard Bullyboy Whittemore figures he has more than a fighting chance. If the big councilman from the Second goes after the nomination in earnest he's likely to make it interesting for the other boys.

There is also some dark horse talk on the Republican side. It is said that several prominent Hannaites are preparing to sacrifice themselves. They can tell better after they see what kind of impression they make on President McKinley when he hunts them up next month.

GETTING NEXT TO BILLY.

How Republican Politicians Can Get to McKinley.

Billy O'Meara is as popular these days as the lone man at a summer resort. The impression has gone abroad, through no fault of William's, of course, that he is going to be outer guard at the Kearns residence on the Sunday McKinley spends there. Some hundreds of gentlemen who would like to pour sweet somethings into the presidential ear are trying to get close to Billy.

They believe he can usher them into the august presence, or he can keep them out, just as he desires. There is no reason for wonder, therefore, that people are willing to let Billy into all kinds of good things on his own terms.

With true Irish modesty William is running around denying that he is to be outer guard. He says he is not well enough posted on the passwords and hailing signs of the Kearns Benevolent & Protective association to fill such an important position. He could answer "Pony" if somebody said "Fill," but that's about the extent of his knowledge. Mr. O'Meara believes the job should fall to Johnny Axton or some other of the nineteen who is thoroughly up on the ritualistic work of the order.

Political Notes.

John Halvorsen, city license collector, is frequently mentioned as a candidate for city treasurer. Mr. Halvorsen says he has given the subject no consideration at all.

There is much speculation as to the candidates for judges of the city court, the offices created by the last legislature. The positions, two of them, pay $2,500 per year each and a number of lawyers are known to be aspiring for them.

Some people are wondering why Mayor Thompson has never named a deputy to succeed Dennis C. Eichnor. The executive laughs it off by saying he needs the money himself.

John C. Lynch, who has been wearing a most joyful expression since the warm weather set in, declares he's liable to run for mayor if he sees a chance for things to come his way. There are those who say Johnny will have to keep his ambition on his own ice for a long time to come.

Those close to Senator Kearns say he is going to take an active hand in the city campaign. He has some friends he'd like to see on the ticket, and he's going to get them there if he possibly can.

Country Team Creates a Sensation on Second South.

That an ordinary hay rack, under the right kind of circumstances, can create more commotion than a whole battery of machine guns was demonstrated to the perfect satisfaction of a few teamsters and pedestrians on East Second South street at 6 o'clock last evening. It was at that hour that an East Mill Creek farmer, J. Seeley, after unloading his hay wagon at Marnane & Co.'s feed store, 125 East Second South, started to climb into the seat. The horses attached thereto seemed to have misunderstood the condition of affairs, for at a most inopportune moment they made a concerted move towards the new university building this side of the reservation. The hot-foot was not without its disastrous results. The farmer made connection with mother earth, after a lofty aerial contortion, somewhere between the Presbyterian church and the Thirteenth ward school house, a half block up the street, and was last seen in hot pursuit of the mustangs. They were stopped on Fifth East. But others who chanced within the radius of the cyclone fared less fortunately. Young Will Trezise, who drives for the Alexander Commission company, had his team backed up to the sidewalk in front of the grain store, and it was capsized when the runaway made its swift turn out into the street. Trezise was thrown violently, and his wagon was wrecked.

Passing along in front of the store was a buggy occupied by Herman Meyer of the Zang, a bridegroom of scarcely twenty-four hours, and Dick Ladewig. The business end of the runaway succeeded in tearing off a hind wheel, and both these worthies encountered terra firma with more suddenness than delight.

It all happened in less time than it takes to tell it. The way wheels, horses, hay and grain and human beings were mixed up there within a radius of fifty feet was a sight for the gods. Fortunately no one sustained serious injury, unless it be Trezise, who could hardly regain his feet for some minutes. A bicyclist of youthful appearance got mixed up in the incident, but made a quick get away with a few pounds of real estate which his clothing absorbed from the middle of the street car track.

KENNETH ANDRUS CRUSHED TO DEATH

Little Boy Instantly Killed on State Street.

STRUCK BY HEAVY LOG

SKULL WAS CRUSHED, CAUSING INSTANT DEATH.

A shocking accident yesterday afternoon resulted in the instant death of little 8-year-old Kenneth Andrus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Andrus, residing at 334 State street.

Filled with the spirit of venture peculiar to childhood, the unfortunate boy, with his 4-year-old sister and an elder brother, were climbing and crawling over a pile of logs, when one of the heavy timbers rolled down, crushing little Kenneth's skull, so that death was almost instantaneous. The log then rolled upon little Nevada, the 4-year-old sister, and she, too, would no doubt have shared the sad fate of her brother had not the log lodged against an obstruction on the steeply inclined ground and been stopped in its course. Pinned to the ground by the log, the child lay screaming until two men, who heard her screams and saw the accident, rushed to the log pile, one of them rescuing the little girl, while the other lifted the lifeless form of the boy in his arms and carried him into his home. The mother, forced by circumstances to work out by the day, was not at home, and knew nothing of the terrible accident to her child until a messenger was dispatched for her. When she saw the form of her little one she almost fainted, and moaned piteously.

The sad accident occurred in the rear of Ziler's wood shed, next door to the Andrus residence, and happened about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The logs, which were some fourteen feet long and a foot or more in diameter, were piled on an inclined place, and Ziler said that despite his warnings to the children to keep away from the logs, little Kenneth, his brother James and the little sister were climbing over the logs and playing about them all the afternoon. According to the story of James, he and his brother and sister were riding one of the logs when it suddenly rolled over, throwing Kenneth to the ground, and little Nevada some distance beyond him. The log rolled completely over Kenneth and crushed his skull, so that death came instantly. The log then rolled upon the limbs of the little girl and lodged, holding her pinned to the ground. Mark Jeffs, an employee in the woodyard, and A. Elenworth, who was passing in time to see the accident, rushed to the rescue, and while Elenworth rescued the little girl, Jeffs lifted the form of Kenneth into his arms and carried him into the house.

The mother was immediately sent for and Drs. Beer and Fisher were summoned, but they found that life had been extinct some time before they arrived. The injuries of the little girl, they found, were not more than bruises. The father of the child, who is employed in tearing down some buildings near First West and South Temple streets, was located after some difficulty. The grief of the mother was most pitiable, as she sat over the lifeless form of the little one and cried piteously that it might not have happened had she not been forced to leave her children to help earn a livelihood for them. The child, it is said, has been sickly from his infancy, and was just beginning to improve when the cruel blow took him away. Although only 8 years of age, little Kenneth, his mother said, had bravely started out only yesterday morning, declaring that he was going to hunt some work to do, so his mother would not have to go out and work. "He went looking for it," sobbed the heartbroken mother, "and returned to this." Kenneth's loving disposition made him the favorite among his playmates and all who knew him.

The body of the unfortunate little boy was taken in charge by Undertaker Joseph William Taylor, and the funeral will take place from the home of the parents at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

FATHER WAS SURPRISED.

Romantic Wedding Without Consent of Bride's Parents.

The English Lutheran church at 336 South Fourth East street was the scene last night of a quiet wedding ceremony, the culmination of a romantic attachment which had its beginning in Eureka more than two years ago. The contracting parties were Miss Rachel Taylor, who lives at 73 T street, and Mr. Ed Herman of Butte. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Herbert Martens, in the presence of the bride's sister and Colonel C. E. Spillman of Eureka, an intimate friend of the bridegroom, and the father of the young lady was not apprised of it until later in the evening. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. August Vogeler, on First street, where refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Herman leave this morning for Butte, where they will reside.

Mr. Herman was well known in business circles in Eureka two years ago, and first met his wife while she was there on a visit. In spite of opposition from her parents, the two were finally wedded last night.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Emily Platts will be held Friday at 2 p. m., from her late residence, 49 Apricot street. Friends are invited to attend. The remains may be viewed between the hours of 12:30 and 1:30.

HELEN KNOX SUES HUBBARD

WANTS $20,000 DAMAGES FOR ASSAULT.

Suit is Filed by Her Mother and Alleges Four Separate Causes of Action.

Helen Knox, by her mother and guardian ad litem, Frances Knox, yesterday filed suit in the district court against W. E. Hubbard to recover damages in the sum of $20,000. Four separate causes of action are alleged, it being charged that on sundry dates between April 1 and 15 defendant with force and violence ill treated the plaintiff and made an assault upon her and debauched her, causing plaintiff to suffer great pain, shame and disgrace.

The child's age is 13 years and it is she who is the complaining witness against Hubbard in the criminal action pending against him. Dininny & McMaster are Miss Knox's attorneys.

NOT LEAVING CITY.

False Report Concerning Mrs. Knox and Her Daughter.

Some one telephoned to the police yesterday that little Helen Knox, who, it is alleged, was assaulted by W. E. Hubbard, and her mother were making preparations to leave the city immediately. Investigation of the report proved that some relatives of Mrs. Knox were preparing to leave the city, but she has no intention of going away.

Mrs. Knox said that she had understood that someone representing Hubbard had been to her attorney, Judge McMaster, and tried to induce him to get her out of the city, and that he had been kicked out of the office.

Judge McMaster, when seen last night, said that the report was a mistake and had probably grown out of the fact that when the civil suit was first begun against Hubbard, a representative of the defendant had been to him and wanted to compromise the suit, but had been informed to go to a place said to be warmer than a furnace.

BOND APPROVED.—The bond of Charles L. Rood as administrator of the estate of the late Robert C. Chambers was approved yesterday by Judge Stewart. PETER OSELLO'S FUNERAL.—Funeral services for Peter Osello, who died in Holy Cross hospital Monday, were conducted yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Christofero Colombo society. The pallbearers were O. Giuj, F. Bertihi, L. Ruberti, P. Toso, M. Evangelista and John Maccono.

SCHOOL REPORT.—The report of Superintendent Cooper for the sixth school month shows that out of the total enrollment of 32,819 for the year, the numbers of pupils enrolled for the month was 11,237.
