WANT ALL MINES ON GODIVA HILL

That is Believed to Be Franklin Syndicate Plan.

B.-B. TUNNEL IN DEAL

SMELTING COMPANY EXAMINING BULLION-BECK MINE.

The binding of Uncle Jesse Knight's remaining interests in the vicinity of the Yankee and May Day mines by David Evans at a cool half million, directly following the purchase of the Humbug and the Humbug No. 2 by the Franklin crowd, has led to no small amount of speculation as to what it means. As the days slip by, the impression gains strength—denials from all sides to the contrary notwithstanding—that one of the biggest combinations of property ever pulled together in the Tintic district is quietly but surely being rounded out by the astute Dr. Franklin and his co-workers. The idea that he has any notion of quitting with the purchase recently made is scouted by those who know him best, and many there are who declare, with all the emphasis possible, that when he gets through he will have acquired practically all of the properties on Godiva hill and launched a company that will pale into insignificance every other organization in the camp.

In support of this theory one gentleman stated yesterday that a rumor had gained limited currency to the effect that two different combinations were right now sparring for the control of the Bullion-Beck Tunnel company's holdings. This property bumps up against the Mountain View and the Cyrus Oliver, and through the avenue pushed into its territory gives a direct route to the Humbug and all the other mines on that hill, passing on its way the north side lines of the Le Reine.

It was pointed out that the securing of that property would give the purchasers the right to mine all undiscovered veins along the course of the tunnel for 1,500 feet in each direction, besides opening all the other mines in that section at a very good depth. "Who is after the property," the gentleman said, "I have not been advised, but that it is either the Franklin or Evans crowd, or both, I am firmly convinced, and if something don't drop concerning it during the next few days I shall be ready to confess that my scent is poor."

WEEK AT BINGHAM.

New Manager at Louise S.—Eastern Capital for Carr Fork.

(Bingham Bulletin.)

The Strickley Montezuma company expects to place an order this month for new hoisting and pumping machinery.

The Silver Shield has this week sent 125 tons of second-class to Rogers' mill, and today teams are hauling fifty tons of first-class to the cars.

Henry Gutzen, the new manager of the Louise S. mines, is building a road down into the main canyon, a distance of about one-half mile. The property will ship ten cars of first-class lead ore before the end of June.

Wednesday ore shipments from Bingham filled eighteen ironclads—about 900 tons—mostly Highland Boy and B. C. & G.; yesterday there were thirteen ironclads and two common cars—the latter from small shippers.

A party of New England capitalists is expected here in a few days to look at property at the head of Carr Fork, covering nearly thirty claims, lying above the Boston Con. and Highland Boy holdings. A deal is not improbable, as the locality is good and there are a number of veins showing mineral.

At the York the old incline is being sunk to cut the big ore chute at 400 feet depth, with about seventy feet to go. The Petro-York joint tunnel is still driving and expected to reach the ore chute within 100 feet. The York is now employing nine men.

Bert Walker is stringing poles down Black Jack gulch to Butterfield mill, which is to be provided with electric power. A motor was delivered at the mill last Saturday and will be installed in a few days. George Mallett has succeeded John Brown as superintendent.

The Telluride Power company is sending a 100-horse power current to the Bingham C. & G. mines, at present used only for running the big air compressor and timber saws. The service gives excellent satisfaction. The company can furnish energy in excess of present contracts of over 1,000-horse power.

Work was resumed on the Vespasian and Hoogley April 1, and eight men are employed. A drift is being run from the incline 100 feet southerly to cut a fissure vein that is making a good showing in the claim below, owned by Henry Weiss. The Vespasian has plenty of milling ore in sight and should be sending it down the hill this spring.

RECORD-BREAKING CLEAN-UP.

Bonanza Mine at Baker City Breaks All Oregon Records.

(Baker City Democrat.)

Baker City camp has outdone itself. Yesterday the largest mine clean-up on record in this state was passed through the Citizens' bank. It was the April output of the great Bonanza mine, which was sold last year by the Geisers to the Standard Oil people for $750,000.

Piled upon the bank counter was a little mountain of fine gold made of ten large bricks, each averaging between $6,000 and $7,000, according to the estimate of Vice President Baer of the bank. Superintendent Thatcher brought the treasure down from the mine, and it was learned on the side that the concentrates for the month produced about $18,000.

Banking men who have handled mine outputs here for years past state that this is the largest single month's returns from any mine in this or any other district in Oregon. The next largest clean-up for the same period was that of the Old Virtue mine a few years ago, which turned out $61,000 in one month. The other record was that of the Red Boy mine a short time ago, which cleaned up about $30,000 in one month, besides doing a large amount of development work and making improvements in the plant.

Crowds of business men and miners thronged the bank all yesterday to feast their eyes on the heap of shining, yellow metal. Mining men all over the district soon learned the news, and sent in their congratulations to the Bonanza people and their associates in the district generally. It was a red letter day for eastern Oregon.

AFTER THE BULLION-BECK.

Property Being Examined in Interest of American Company.

Either with a view to purchasing the property or for the purpose of being better able to offer an advantageous rate on treating its second-grade ores, an expert examination of the Bullion-Beck mine is now being conducted for the American Smelting & Refining company. The examination, it is reported, is being made under the direction of Parrington M. McCrea, who has lately had much to do with the investigation of Tintic mines for different combinations, and the result will be awaited with interest by not a few, who see in the movement at least a fulfillment of Manager Jones' declaration of a few days ago, that his company proposed to make it possible for all mines to have their low-grade ores marketed at a profit.

It is a matter of history that the Bingham company has had a whack at it, also, and the question of who will get it most likely hinges on which company will make the best offer.

The Star Consolidated is believed to be in exactly the same boat with the Bullion-Beck.

PARK MINING NOTES.

Week's Happenings in the Great Silver Camp.

(Park Record.)

The work of stringing the two standing cables of the Silver King aerial tram was completed Tuesday and the tension put on Wednesday.

The Marsac refinery on Tuesday shipped thirteen bars of silver bullion, 1,000 fine, to the eastern market. The bars averaged about 1,200 ounces each, or about 15,600 ounces in all. It is the product of Ontario ore.

Superintendent John Bogan reports the new Cameron sinking pump, which arrived Thursday, installed and pumping water very satisfactorily. From this time on no less than four men on a shift, three eight-hour shifts, will be kept sinking down the shaft. A new cage has been ordered, which will dispense with the use of the buckets.

The last load of ore was hauled to the Marsac mill from the Ontario mine on Tuesday of this week, but there is enough in the bins to run the mill to the middle of the month or longer, when the mill will make it final clean-up on this ore and begin working on tailings from the upper dump. The change from the treatment of ore to that of tailings will make a reduction of fourteen men in the present force.

Charles Luchler was over from Snake creek Tuesday. He says that although there is plenty of snow in that neighborhood, it is fast disappearing and active operations will soon commence on several properties in that section. He has two men at work getting things in shape at the Steamboat for active development, and says he will be disappointed if that property does not come to the front this season.

Following are the shipments of ore from the Mackintosh sampler for the past week:

Silver King	1,192,610
Daly-West	1,313,000
Anchor concentrates	347,000
Ontario	638,000
Daly	117,000
Total number of pounds	3,607,610

Last Week's Shipments.

Silver King	1,459,000
Daly-West	1,295,000
Ontario	388,000
Anchor concentrates	201,000
Daly	224,000
Total number of pounds	3,567,000

TO SUPERINTEND LITTLE BELL.

J. A. Kirby of the Daly-West to Have Charge.

It is claimed by many in the Park who seem to be posted in the matter, says the Park Record, that Superintendent J. A. Kirby of the Daly-West is to have general supervision of the Little Bell, and that James Quinn, the well known miner and former foreman of the Daly, will be installed as foreman when work starts up on this property. This means, of course, that operations will be pushed in a manner that will insure the best results and show what the property is capable of producing, for these men are thorough, practical miners, and no better men could be found to conduct the work for the benefit of all concerned. That the Quincy vein, or at least one similar in character, will be uncovered there is little doubt among those best informed, and that all haste, consistent with good mining, will be made to reach it is certain. Work is to be started as soon as supplies can be gotten on the ground, so the prospects for an early listing of another Park City bonanza are most promising, if not absolutely certain.

TO HANDLE ZINC ORES.

Colarado Company Just Formed for That Purpose.

(Denver Mining Reporter.)

The organization of the Colorado Zinc company is announced. Mr. Henry E. Wood, the well known Denver assayer and chemist, is, we understand, the active man of the concern. The plans of the company in detail have not been settled, but it may be accepted that this is the first step in the creation of a market for western argentiferous zinc blende, of which there is an enormous amount available. A fifty-ton plant will be at first built, which will be enlarged as required. It has not yet been decided where it will be located, but Denver is, perhaps, the first choice.

EXCITEMENT AT DAWSON.

Discovery of Second Bedrock on Eldorado Creek the Cause.

A Dawson special to the Skagway Alaskan, says there is the greatest excitement in camp—in fact, the activity resembles that manifested on the occasion of the recent Ottawa order to close all saloons and gambling houses. It was occasioned by a report which has been verified from No. 3, Eldorado, to the effect that a second pay streak has been struck five feet deep carrying $1 to $15 per bucket. The strange part of the find lies in the fact that the miners at work passed through clay which had formed a false bedrock. It is confidently expected that the strange mineral condition will be found to prevail in other claims, and if they do, surprising developments may be expected.

Mining Notes.

A movement is on foot to organize a miners' union at [illegible]ev.

The delinquent sale of Four Aces stock on account of the recent 5-cent assessment occurs this afternoon.

Representatives of Captain De Lamar are reported to have closed contracts for a valuable gold property in the Susanville district, Arizona.

Eureka Reporter: About forty-five men were laid off at the Grand Central last Monday on account of work being stopped on a piece of territory which is still in dispute between the Mammoth and that company.

A large number of mine operators and investors spent yesterday in Tintic.

After three or four days in the city, Foreman J. H. Keetley of the Ontario drain tunnel workings returned to camp yesterday morning.

Elko Free Press: Work on the Elko coal mine is progressing at a most satisfactory rate, a day and night shift now being employed. J. H. Bacon, the secretary of the company, was over from Salt Lake this week looking at the property. A steam hoist has been ordered, and a new shaft will be sunk some distance down the hill and connected with the present workings.

Captain J. B. Black left for Hailey last night to meet the eastern crowd that undertook the purchase of the Golden Star property some time ago. The final payment will be made on the captain's arrival at the mine.

Reno Journal: At present water is hauled nineteen miles to the Dog-skin mines. A well is being sunk in the camp, and when water is encountered greater activity will prevail there. Dog-skin "City" consists of two cabins and two tents.

Manager N. W. Sonnedecker returned from the Silver Bell last evening, well pleased with the condition of that property. The face of the west drift from the tunnel is now out about seventy-five feet, with ten inches of nice ore in the face.

Reno Journal: The sale of Tonapah mines to Price and Brent is all off. The parties named insisted on raising the royalty of leasers from 25 to 50 per cent, and abandoning the present townsite, as well as on other conditions, to which Mr. Butler would not consent. There are numerous other would-be purchasers.

Hawthorne Bulletin: A. Ranch is working a mine three miles east of Soda which is producing good ore. There are six ledges which average two feet in width. Six samples taken from different parts of the mine returned an average of $52.98 per ton. It is the general belief that this will prove to be valuable property.

If indications count for anything, the talent that has been playing Martha Washington to a finish during the past week will have a hard job on hand to keep the shares at or above Saturday's figures today. There are some very sore holders, and rumors of further unloading were numerous yesterday. Manager Snow would give no intimation of what he intended to do. That he will withdraw his support seems very probable, however, and if he does there will likely be a period of scalping between the holders of the 125,000 shares now said to be loose.

Assistant General Passenger Agent Dan Spencer made the announcement last night that on Sunday next the Oregon Short Line would run a special fast train to Tintic for the benefit of all desiring to spend the day among the bonanzas of that camp. The train will leave here at 7:45 a. m. and reach Eureka at 10:15. It will leave for the return trip about 4 o'clock, and arrive in Salt Lake at 7 p. m. The train will run through without a stop, even at Lehi Junction, thus giving the sightseers practically six hours in camp and landing them at home early. A great crowd is expected to take advantage of the special service offered, as hundreds of people are now speculating in Tintic stocks, and not a few of them will want to see the properties into which they are casting their money.

One Thing She Knew.

(New York Tribune.)

There is a little girl in Detroit whose passion for the truth under all circumstances embarrassed her father very much the other day. Not long ago he lost a high salaried place in a business house because of its absorption by a trust, and in the evening denounced all persons connected with trusts in the vilest and rasbest. But the trust found that it needed him, and he was soon holding his old place, in addition to a good block of stock. It was noticed that the little girl was deeply impressed with the incident, and looked at her father doubtfully when he was home. One evening there was company at the house, and the host became involved in a heated political debate with a peppery guest. The former made a statement which the latter flatly denied.

"Why, my dear man," laughed the host, "you don't mean to call me a liar?"

"No, he don't," declared the little one, as she sprang in front of the visitor and glared at him with flaming eyes. "And I won't have it. My papa is a robber and a thief, but he is no liar!"

The explanation was soon secured from the child and the hilarity following the expose was the joy of the evening.

Molineux Busy Writing Something.

(Chicago Chronicle.)

New York.—Roland B. Molineux, under sentence of death at Sing Sing for the murder of Mrs. Kate Adams, spends his time now in composition. Page after page of manuscript is turned out daily, but on what subject no one outside his family knows. Each Monday his devoted mother, who has again taken up her residence near the grim old prison, visits him, and when she sets him good-by she takes away the manuscript that has accumulated during the week. Most of the forenoon is devoted by the prisoner to his writing, while the afternoon as a rule finds him browsing in Shakespeare, in which he has been an eager student, or thumbing the leaves of some popular novel.

Prison life is telling on Molineux. He is less careful of his appearance than formerly, talks but little with fellow prisoners and is not so cheerful. His weight has dropped from 140 to 137 pounds. His young wife visits him every two or three weeks and he receives a letter every day from his father, General Molineux.

Will Return the Washington Relics.

(Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, D. C.—Senator John W. Daniels of West Virginia several days ago addressed a letter to President McKinley indorsing the application of General George Washington Curtis Lee, submitted by him on behalf of Miss Mary Custis Lee, his sister, for restoration of the relics of General George Washington, of which he (General Lee) became owner on the death of his mother, who was the wife of General Robert E. Lee. In reply President McKinley informs Senator Daniel that it will afford him great satisfaction to have the articles, which are now in the Smithsonian institute, restored to the present head of a historic family. The president in his letter says that all the government did was to accept the trust of their custody at a time when the owner could not protect them, and they were consequently exposed to the risk of destruction.

STOCK MARKET IN LONDON WAS LIVELY

Dealings in American Securities on an Enormous Scale.

DEMAND FOR RAILROADS

PRICES FOR FINE GRADE OF WOOL ADVANCE 5 PER CENT.

London, May 5.—Local business on the stock exchange has been quieter during the past week, but dealings in American securities have been on an enormous scale, with much animation and many fluctuations in price. After Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe touched 83¾, Union Pacific 113, New York Central 172, Northern Pacific 119, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul 187, Southern Pacific 58¾, all those securities closed materially lower, but still above the best prices of last week, while only Erie preferred, Missouri Pacific, Pennsylvania and Wabash closed lower than a week ago.

The slump on Saturday, however, was serious. Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe fell 1¾, Union Pacific fell 7 points, Baltimore & Ohio 5¾, Northern Pacific fell 7, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and New York Central 5, Chesapeake & Ohio, Louisville & Nashville, and Southern Pacific fell each 4½, while Norfolk & Western and Baltimore & Ohio preferred fell 4 points and most of the other American securities showed declines.

The railroad market was decidedly nervous and excited. The other markets, however, were little affected and their tone remained firm. Prices generally were better except Canadian copper shares, which were lower in sympathy with Americans.

Foreign securities were firm during the week, the feature being the advance in Argentines, which were from ¼ to 1 point higher. Kaffirs were well supported. Rands were ⅛ better. Silver was slightly better at 27 5-16d.

Money was easy on call at 2 to 3, fixtures at 3 to 3¼, and three months' bills at 3 7-16 to 3½.

The offerings at the wool sales numbered 12,835 bales. Fine crossbreds were firm and coarse grades strong. Prices, however, showed no improvement except for fine cross-breds, which were 5 per cent higher. Several parcels of crossbreds were taken for America. A good selection of Cape of Good Hope and Natal was in steady demand. Superfeds were in moderate supply. The offerings for next week are announced at 75,000 bales.

ON THE BERLIN BOURSE.

Markets of German Capital Were Uninfluenced by New York.

Berlin, May 5.—Although the bourse greeted the political developments of late week jubilantly, they were not sufficient to inaugurate a bull market. Even in this city official circles were gratified at the fall of Herr Von Miquel and Herr Brefeldt, believing that a reform of the bourse law is now made more practicable.

The financial reviews point out that the Berlin bourse was almost uninfluenced by New York. While the general tone was rather firm, business was very dull. One feature of the week was a revival of interest in domestic loans owing to the great abundance of money. Imperial and Prussian 2s gained 20 pfgs. and the new 4s advanced. Interest in foreign rentes was very slight, and the same is true of bank stocks. Municipal funds were more quiet.

The American situation continued strong, and the general attitude remains skeptical. Nevertheless, says the Frankfurter Zeitung, some speculators are buying American railway shares. The Vossische Zeitung and the Frankfurter Zeitung profess to have discovered much disappointment among German holders because of too early a sale of Americans. Some journals continue to warn investors. The National Zeitung says today:

"The Wall street movement has reached the bounds of crazy over-confidence. Financiers here are expecting a crash."

J. Pierpont Morgan's purchase of the Leyland steamship line is discussed. The Vossische Zeitung says: "The transaction involves an earnest striving for Germany to put forth her utmost exertions to survive the struggle."

The Berliner Tageblatt says: "Unquestionably there is danger ahead for the iron industry in Europe."

SECRETARY ROOT TO LEAVE CABINET

Can Make Much More Money by Practicing Law.

HAS PRESIDENTIAL BEE

HE WILL PROBABLY BE SUCCEEDED BY JUDGE TAFT.

(Special Correspondence.)

Washington, May 1.—There was a time when it seemed as if Secretary of War Root would resign because of conflict in the cabinet. This was all settled by the president consenting that all legal questions connected with our insular possessions and the army in Cuba and the Philippines should be taken out of the hands of the attorney general and left exclusively to the secretary of war.

Now, a new important suggestion has arisen. It means Judge Taft of the Philippine commission for secretary of war. Mr. Root is a very eminent lawyer. His firm has been involved in the New York street car litigation concerning the cold air system. Root was the counselor to the company. They demand his services, and he could also be employed by those holding Cuban bonds, and claims against the United States growing out of the Spanish-American war. He feels he is losing $25,000 to $100,000 a year. He also sees the prospects of a presidential nomination to the state of New York, with himself as a possible candidate. More than this, he sees the possibility of succeeding Platt in the senate.

Root has the Roosevelt influence and friendship behind him, and can win over Governor Odell. This means that Root has signified his desire to leave the cabinet and return to his profession. As the war department has the most to do with the islands and the army stationed therein, and has the severe burden of avoiding international complications, a person acquainted with the islands, particularly the Philippines, and who is a good lawyer, is needed for that place. Taft will fill the mission, and has indicated his willingness to do so, as he desires to return from the Philippines. He feels that his work is done there; his subordinates can carry out what is left, and his health is being seriously affected by the tropics. Upon the return of the president from his western trip these changes will take definite shape.

An interesting development has resulted in the investigation of the Atlin mining claims. James Hamilton Lewis appeared at the state department seeking to have these cases assigned for argument, when the discovery was made by him that the British government claimed that $700,000 of property, for which compensation is demanded through the United States, was subject to the Canadian laws. The claim is made that when the American citizens took their oath of improvements under the mining laws, they also, in the oath, made declaration of their allegiance to the British crown. This being so, it is contended by the government of Canada that these Americans were as completely subject to the British law as the British citizens. Therefore, if they claim any rights, they must make their claims in a British court. The claimants answer that if they took such oath it was inadvertent, and they did not know it existed on the paper.

Solicitor of State Penfield gave out the official information today that the Canadian government, in answer to the Atlin law claims, referring to all of them, that the law requires for its legality the approval of the head officers at Ottawa; that these officers have now formally disapproved the act, which gives it the effect of an unconstitutional law; that all acts by the officers of the British Columbia government become thereby illegal. The Canadian government, therefore, claims that for the illegal acts of the officers in destroying the mining property and confiscating it, the officers alone are responsible; that the American citizens must sue the officers for damages; that the government can only become liable for acts done under a law approved, making the same valid law.

Solicitor Penfield has submitted to Colonel Lewis a question for him to answer by a legal brief in behalf of his clients, whether or not this disapproval by the Canadian government does or does not affect the liability of the Canadian government as such, and whether the claimants are now relegated to a Canadian court to sue the officers who dispossessed them. In the communications addressed by the state department to the counsel for the claimants, he is given very flattering credit for being the authority and influence in bringing about this repudiation by the Canadian government, by the vigor with which he sues for the American citizens were pressed through the state department. Solicitor Penfield said that whatever the effect of this act upon the present claimants, the situation had succeeded in protecting future Americans from similar deprivation of property, such as had befallen those who had brought their suits.

I recently called attention to the possibility of Mr. Wilson, now minister to Chili, being appointed minister to Japan in the place of Minister Buck. I stated that Buck had started back to Japan to close up his affairs. He did not go; he was taken ill, and is now lying sick at the Hamilton hotel in this city. It is now most probable that he will resign, giving health as the reason. The real fact is that in the eastern complications a diplomat and statesman is needed. Buck is a good Georgia farmer, and was a successful lumberman, but the attempt to build up a white Republican party in the south by giving foreign missions to men who have no fitness for them proved that such was bad for the mission, and that men who were good for such missions were not in the southern Republican party.

CONDITIONS IN COLOMBIA.

Revolution There Has Degenerated Into a Guerrilla Warfare.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 5.—Claude C. Mallet, the British consul at Panama, arrived here today on the steamer Atrato on his way to England. Mr. Mallet was interviewed by the representative of the Associated Press on conditions in Colombia, and said the revolution there had degenerated into guerrilla warfare, and that the strength of the rebels was not known. One week perhaps 5,000 men are in the field, while the next week there will be but 1,000, as the rebels are in the habit of returning to their homes in order to gather supplies, and the following week they are out in full force again.

The Colombian government has taken the most strict precautions to guard the more important towns of the country, especially Panama, which is considered to be perfectly safe. In spite of the strong garrisons, however, the rebels occasionally manage to get near enough to the towns to inflict damage by sniping. No organized attack has been made during the past two months.

The country is altogether unsettled in consequence of the continuation of the struggle. Business is paralyzed, as the merchants are afraid to trade under the present conditions. Exchange on London is at 130, and on New York it is 140. The people in the interior of the country are suffering from the trade stagnation.

The Colombian government officials, concluded Mr. Mallet, are exercising very strong precautions in order to prevent news affecting themselves from leaking out of the country.

Advices from other sources report heavy fighting last week in the interior near Sqavinilla and Barinquilla. Rebels repulsed an attack of the government forces with heavy losses on both sides.

A GREAT MAN'S IDEA.

GENIUS, as Ruskin defines it, is simply a superior power of seeing. Have you the genius to see how important an element in the success of your house-keeping is the use of Ivory Soap? Judged by the work it does Ivory is the cheapest soap in America to-day. It is harmless. Embroideries, laces and delicate stuffs should be washed only with Ivory Soap.

TRACTION CARS COLLIDE.

About a Dozen People Injured in Accident at Akron, O.

Akron, O., May 5.—Two Northern Ohio traction cars collided at the foot of a steep hill on North Howard street this afternoon, and about a dozen people were injured. The two cars were loaded with passengers, and were traveling close together. For some reason the brakes on the second car failed to work, and it dashed down the hill at a terrific speed, striking the forward car, which had stopped to take on more passengers.

Strange to say, none on the second car was injured except Motorman Scott, who sustained serious internal injuries. The rear platform of the forward car was crowded, and all on the platform were more or less injured. The more seriously hurt are:

John Rausch, left leg crushed.
George Authenreith, foot crushed.
John Hobacht, leg crushed.
Miss Georgia Copp, injured about hips.
William T. Sawyer, attorney, internally.
A. B. Scott, motorman, internally.
James Mitchell, legs broken.

Here's The Suit Opportunity Of the Season

We have just received a shipment of men's suits that were made for a California clothing house, and were stopped in transit.

We have accepted them by request of the manufacturer, at a figure much less than the regular price.

The lot consists of five different patterns of all wool chevfots. They're blue, green and gray mixtures. Some with single thread invisible stripes.

All are the newest cut. The coats are splendidly shaped, neatly trimmed, and tailored throughout in skillful manner.

These suits were made to retail at $15.00 and $16.50. But under the circumstances by which they came to us, we'll close them out quick at—

$10.00 A SUIT.

You can't afford to overlook this generous offer. It's the manufacturer's loss.
