JAPS USING NO UNFAIR MEANS

Counsellor Miyaoka Claims That Manchuria Is Open to All Comers.

PRIZE WORTH POSSESSING

JAPAN WILL CORRAL THE TRADE IF POSSIBLE.

Washington, July 13.—Complaints which have been made recently against the supposed discrimination on the part of the Japanese military authorities in Manchuria in favor of Japanese subjects in allowing them trade advantages denied to merchants from other countries were answered today in a statement by Counsellor Miyaoka, now in charge of the Japanese embassy here.

"We are anxious to learn of specific cases of such unfair play," declared Mr. Miyaoka. "A good deal was heard recently about irredeemable war notes with which the Japanese army had flooded the country, making trade difficult for foreigners, but when the matter was investigated it was found that these notes were above par. That some of the ports have not opened sooner is because, as at Dalny, the embarkation of troops was continuing. It is a fair privilege for the army to perform these military operations unhampered by the presence of ordinary trading obstacles. But whenever a town, such as Mukden, was opened to civilian merchants at all it was opened on an equal footing to the whole world. The Japanese merchants who have followed the army have not been licensed to trade with the native population.

Advantage of the Japs.

"The trade of Manchuria is a prize worth possessing, however, and the Japanese merchants are certain to do their best to capture it. They have too many natural advantages to need any unfair favors from the government. The lower cost of production and the lower charge for transportation from home markets would be sufficient advantage. In addition, the Japanese merchants have a better knowledge of the needs and ways of the people with whom they trade. They do not establish themselves in treaty ports in residences and maintain a manner of living which is wholly above that of their customers, but they push out into the country on foot without ostentation, urging their wares in every possible way. The same tremendous activity is going on in southern China. The Japanese people have a heavy war debt to pay; they must prosper commercially in order to pay it. The energy with which military operations were prosecuted is now transferred to the peace of the pursuit of trade and industry. In that pursuit we are confident of a fair share of success. The market is close to us, we have the first call upon it and we ought to be able to win it.

Will Play Fair.

"In this commercial rivalry with all comers, nevertheless, the imperial Japanese government cannot and will not interfere to the detriment of the policies of the open door, in which we are at one with the United States. No exclusive privileges can be granted to Japanese trade without undermining the principles of the open door. No such privileges have been or will be granted. Japan is unalterably committed to the group of nations opposing such exclusive privileges. It is possible that in the course of time a zoltverein may be negotiated between Japan and Korea. At present Japanese goods enter Korea under the Korean tariff on all goods."

LUNCHEON IN HONOR OF DEMOCRATIC LEADER

London, July 13.—Secretary Riggeley Carter of the American embassy and Mrs. Carter gave a luncheon today in honor of William J. Bryan and Mrs. Bryan. Those present included James Bryce, the chief secretary for Ireland, and Mrs. Bryce; Chancellor of the Exchequer Asquith and Mrs. Asquith; Henry White, the American ambassador to Italy; John Morley, the secretary of state for India, and Dr. Nansen, the Arctic explorer.

PERSIANS WANT FULL FREEDOM

Constitutional Government Demanded by Great Majority of the People.

SHAH WILL LIKELY SUBMIT

DIVINITY STUDENTS LEADING NEW MOVEMENT.

Teheran, Persia, July 13.—There is a recrudescence of political unrest among the mullahs and divinity students which was noticed earlier in the year and it carries exceeding great uneasiness in government circles. The divinity students broke out into active opposition to the authorities yesterday and forcibly released a professor who had been imprisoned on the charge of using seditious language. In an affray a student was killed and two were wounded. The heads of clergy immediately assembled in the great mosque and issued insistent demands for the immediate granting of the reforms, previously promised in January.

All the shops except the butchers' and bakers' are closed, the city is patrolled by troops and the grand vizier and other ministers who were in the country have hastily returned to their posts. Constant conferences of the authorities are taking place, but the situation remains strained and nothing thus far has been done to satisfy the demands of the malcontents.

No Longer Contented.

According to dispatches from St. Petersburg, Jan. 22, a movement was on foot in Persia to obtain a constitutional government. A thousand merchants and mullahs suddenly left Teheran, the capital, as a protest against the government of the shah and in a neighboring village took steps to establish a representative body known as the "house of justice," over which the shah was to preside. The members of this assembly were to be elected by the mullahs, merchants and land owners; it was to exercise administrative and legislative powers, and the equality of all before the law was to be proclaimed.

On Feb. 3 a dispatch from St. Petersburg said the revolutionary upheaval in Persia was assuming a more acute character. The shah, in alarm, had summoned his most trusted advisers in Europe in order to consult with them on the best methods to meet the popular movement, and, while a constitution had not been granted even on paper, the powerful mullahs were pressing the advantage they had already gained and were hopeful of attaining their ends.

Progressive Policy Urged.

It is understood that the advisers whom the shah summoned from Europe urged a progressive policy, and the Babists, a strong sect of Mohammedans, exerted strong pressure in the same direction. The question of the official establishment of a representative assembly was thoroughly discussed and the grand vizier was charged with the task of formulating the plans.

The shah in a rescript addressed to the grand vizier laid down as a cardinal principle under the new ideals of government the equality of all persons before the law, regardless of rank or influence. It was also contemplated to establish representative assemblies or "houses of justice" of a local character in the larger cities of Persia, with the view to checking the venality and rapaciousness of the local officials.

ANOTHER COMPLAINT FROM OVER THE WATER

Bristol, England, July 13.—The alleged adulteration of American leather was the principal topic of discussion at today's closing sessions of the yearly conference of the royal sanitary institute. Speakers averred that Great Britain imported from America in 1905 leather so impregnated with epson salts and glucose that the country paid $420,000 for what cost $45,000. The public health, it was added, suffered owing to the flimsy shoes put on the market.

Discrepancies and shortages in the office were alleged to have been found by a firm of accountants employed by the state. Judge Dana's decision is that if there were any discrepancies or shortages, as charged, Mr. Kelly is not liable.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS.

Considers Order of City Council to Vacate Emerson Building.

The board of education last evening considered the resolution passed by the city council calling upon the board to vacate the Emerson school building, which is to be refitted as a fire station. The question of what was to be done with the improvements that have been made there was discussed at length, but finally the matter was referred to the building committee, which will make the necessary arrangements with the city.

President R. S. Joyce reported having written to Governor Cutler concerning the introduction of military features in the public schools, and also concerning the use of the gymnasium in the new armory building. No reply from the governor has been received. Mrs. Alice Collins appeared before the board and complained against Janitor H. A. Bell, who was arrested early this week for assaulting a boy who, Bell asserted, was damaging the school property. Mrs. Collins interfered at the time and Bell threatened her. The matter was taken under advisement by the board.

A lengthy report was submitted by the building and grounds committee relative to a large number of necessary repairs required at the different school buildings. The committee was authorized to do the work recommended by them. Six applications for positions as teachers were received and placed on file. The finance committee reported cash on hand in the sum of $2,511.75.

INQUEST TO BE HELD.

Investigation of William Lacey's Death by Company Officials.

At 10:30 o'clock this morning the inquest in connection with the death of Linemar William Lacey will be held at the city hall. A careful investigation into the accident was conducted yesterday by William Scott of Salt Lake, general superintendent of lines, assisted by Local Superintendent of Lines Scott. The result of the partial investigation is said to have satisfied the representatives of the company that the death of Lacey was an accident. Telegrams were sent yesterday to the parents of Lacey in Seattle informing them of his untimely death. A sister living in California has also been notified. It is expected that they will come to Ogden to attend the funeral services if the body is not shipped to Seattle for burial.

New Tabernacle Organ.

Work on the remodeling of the Ogden tabernacle choir stand and the basement below for the reception of the new organ will be commenced early next week by Architect Whittaker, who will supervise the work. Until the tabernacle is remodeled the structure will be out of commission. The entire front of the building will be torn out during the installation of the organ and some radical changes in the arrangement of the choir stand will be made. The immense proportions of the new instrument will limit the present space to diminutive proportions and to offset this more space will be taken in front of the operator's board. The company from which the organ has been purchased has asked for thirty days in which to set it in place. The dedication will probably occur about the first of September, when an elaborate dedicatory service will be held.

Parking Depot Grounds.

The Union Depot company has already taken action in connection with the parking of the depot grounds between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-sixth street. Since the approval of the improvement by General Manager W. H. Bancroft, Superintendent E. C. Manson has been busy getting the preliminaries out of the way for the commencement of actual work. The staking of the property was done yesterday and the other work will follow at once.

Boy Breaks Arm.

Albert, the 6-year-old son of A. Malan of 2756 Jefferson avenue, fell from a swing yesterday afternoon while at play and fractured both bones of the lower right forearm. The fracture was reduced by Dr. E. W. Baker.

W. H. Hansen Fined.

W. H. Hansen, on complaint of Metz Frandson, was found guilty of cruelty to animals and assessed a fine and costs amounting to $14.80 in the municipal court yesterday. Hanson will carry the case to the district court.

Sues for Divorce.

Divorce proceedings have been begun by Alta Cook against Junius Cook, alleging desertion and nonsupport. The couple were married on Oct. 26 of last year. They have one child. Mrs. Cook, the plaintiff, asks for the custody of the child.

Ogden Briefs.

The will of the late Tydianda L. Brainard was filed for probate yesterday. The estate consists of real estate in Weber county valued at $1,000. Byron S. Brainard, husband of the deceased, is the petitioner. The appointment of Attorney Valentine Gideon as administrator for the estate is asked for.

An answer to the complaint has been filed in the case of the Utah Construction company against the Oregon Short Line in which the court is asked to dismiss the complaint on the grounds that the defendant does not owe the plantiffs any further sums of money for the work performed on the Leamington cut-off.

Notice has been served on the property owners along the streets recently included in the parking districts that unless they do the parking in front of their land the city will do it and tax them for the cost of the same. The work must be commenced within ten days from date. Much of the work has been done and the city officials have been urged in the matter by the improvement league, who fathered the move.

C. Leonardt of Los Angeles, who is one of the principal stockholders in the Union Portland Cement company, visited the property of the company at Portland near Croyden yesterday and left for Los Angeles last evening. He considers the facilities and rock beds of the local company the best of any plant in the west. He stated to the local officers of the company that he would be able to use the entire output of the concern, as soon as operations were commenced. Mr. Leonardt is one of the largest cement contractors in the west.

Province of Veronezh Being Devastated—Troops Sent to Disturbed Districts.

Veronezh, Russia, July 13.—The whole of the province of Veronezh is affected by excesses arising from the agrarian movement. The peasants are rising everywhere and burning estates. The estate of Prince Bariantinsky has been completely demolished and its splendidly stocked stable burned, the horses being hamstrung.

In the Garansk district 2,000 peasants have started to pillage and many estates have been burned. That of M. Kapshakoff is a total wreck, everything of value having been carried off or burned.

The trouble northward is increasing. In this vicinity fifteen estates, including those of former Minister of Agriculture Yermoleff and the late Count Orloff Davidoff have been destroyed.

Troops have been sent to the disturbed districts, and the governor of the province has asked for additional troops from the province of Vitebsk, those of Voronezh being insufficient to cope with the disorders.
