PREPARING FOR GREAT CHANGE

Railroad Lawyers in Session at Atlantic City to Discuss the Rate Bill.

GOES INTO EFFECT AUG. 29

STATEMENT OF JUDGE BAXTER OF NASHVILLE.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 14.—More than sixty lawyers, representing all the larger railroads east of the Mississippi river, particularly those traversing the territory south of the Ohio river and the New England states, assembled here today to make a detailed study of the provisions of the railroad rate bill, which will go into effect on Wednesday, Aug. 29. The members of the assemblage consist of the chief counsels, general solicitors and other members of the legal departments of the railroad corporations.

Object of the Meeting.

Former Judge Edward Baxter of Nashville, Tenn., special counsel to several of the leading southern railroad companies, the presiding officer, said:

"This meeting of attorneys was called by the executive and traffic officers of the railroads east of the Mississippi river and south of the Ohio river. Counsel of all the eastern trunk lines were also invited to participate in the meeting, although we afterward learned that the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore & Ohio and the New York Central roads, with some other companies, were holding a meeting of their own.

Questions Presented.

"A series of printed questions, asking opinions as to the meaning of various provisions of the interstate commerce act as amended on June 29 last, were presented to us for answer. I answered them, and my answers are being taken up one by one for discussion. Already some have been approved, some rejected, and others laid over for further discussion. They involve many important subjects and cannot be discussed in one or two days.

"We have not met here to find any way to evade or avoid the new law. We are here solely to consult among ourselves and decide just what our clients will be compelled to do in order to carry out the provisions of the new measure. The questions are not secret, but they are lengthy. We would not object to making them public if the daily press would give the space to print them in full, together with their answers.

Mission Is Peaceful.

"There are questions which, if printed alone with their answers, would be misunderstood by the public, so it has been decided to keep the questions to ourselves. It cannot be made too emphatic, however, that we are here on a peaceful mission, and we do not expect to even communicate with the interstate commerce commission."

A large corps of stenographers is present to take in detail the arguments over the many points of difference among the legal representatives. A guard is stationed at the entrance to the committee room and strangers are not permitted to get within earshot.

Some of Those Present.

Among those present at the conference are J. M. Culp, third vice president; H. B. Spencer, general manager; T. Green, freight traffic manager; S. H. Hardwick, passenger traffic manager; Alfred P. Thom, general counsel, all of Washington; Alexander P. Humphrey, general counsel, Louisville; Hamilton McWhorler, assistant general counsel, Athens, Ga., representing the Southern Railway; E. L. Russell, general counsel, Mobile & Ohio railroad, Mobile, Ala.; John I. Hall, general counsel, Georgia Southern & Florida railroad, Macon, Ga.; Edward Colston, general counsel Queen & Crescent road, Cincinnati; H. L. Stone, general counsel, Louisville & Nashville road, Louisville; W. G. Elliott, general counsel, Atlantic Coast Line; L. A. Watts, general counsel, Seaboard Air Line; Charles L. Hamlin, Boston & Maine railroad, and others.

PERISHED IN FLAMES.

Syzran, Aug. 14.—Since the fire which destroyed the greater part of this city July 19, ninety-eight persons have been missing and it is thought they have perished in the conflagration and that their bodies were consumed. According to official figures seven persons suspected of incendiarism were killed during the progress of the fire.

STATE NEWS

COUNTY OFFICERS' RAISE

Uintah County Commissioners Grow Generous, but Overlook Themselves.

Vernal, Aug. 11.—At their regular monthly session the board of county commissioners of Uintah county, raised the salaries of several county officers. The clerk's salary was advanced from $900 to $1,000, the sheriff's from $800 to $1,000, the recorder's from $800 to $900, that of the assessor from $500 to $600, the attorney's compensation was advanced from $500 to $600, and the county superintendent of schools from $300 to $450. The compensaeion of the commissioners and surveyor were not changed.

Deputy State Auditor E. A. Box has just visited Vernal and has given the books of the county auditor and of the treasurer a minute examination. He found the books in excellent condition and gave the treasurer and auditor a high compliment for efficiency. Here are two staunch Democrats whose services are eminently satisfactory to a Republican state administration.

Several new precincts have been created, one at Dragon, near the Colorado line, and another in the vicinity of Fort Duchesne. W. H. Donaldson, formerly county clerk of Carbon county, has been appointed registration officer at the latter place.

The bridge over the Uintah river, near Fort Duchesne, which was carried away during the last high water, will be rebuilt in a short time. O. D. Allen, Uintah county's representative in the last legislature, will have charge of the work of construction. The plans and specifications for the structure were furnished, gratis, by the bridge builder of the Uintah Railway company. That company will also donate liberally toward the rebuilding of that much-needed bridge.

The company, which is operating the placer ground on the Green river, near Jensen, has commenced sluicing the pay gravel and is about to make the first clean-up of the season. The machinery installed last winter works like a dream. In a short time now Uintah county will add its mite to the gold production of the state. The company operating the placer ground on Green river hails from Dixon, Wyo. C. Alfdenbrink is in charge of the work, and L. B. Wilder, formerly connected with the Dyer mine, is doing the assaying.

Building material is now plentiful, both in Vernal and on the reservation, as the sawmills are all running full blast and large quantities of lumber are being stacked up. Settlers will experience no further difficulty in securing lumber for building their homestead cabins.

Water is plentiful and crops are abnormally large this year, which augurs well for the new reservation settlers.

Professor H. S. Cummings arrived this evening and will conduct an institute here next week.

There are four boot-leggers in the county jail awaiting trial at the next term of the district court. Their arrest is due to the vigilance of our veteran sheriff, William Preece.

MAY DIE FROM INJURIES

While Picking Apples, James Hovey Falls on Chair, Sustaining Serious Injuries.

Logan, Aug. 13.—James A. Hovey, a well-known resident of Millville, met with an unusual accident last night as a result of which he may lose his life. While visiting at the home of Willard Pitkin he mounted a dry goods box to pick some apples for the children. The box was overturned in some way and he was thrown forward across a chair standing near.

Four of his ribs on the left side were broken and one lung and a kidney hurt. One of the ribs was torn from the spinal column, and it is feared that this hurt may cause serious complications to ensue. He fell a distance of about two feet, and yet sustained injuries that a twenty-foot fall seldom inflicts.

Mrs. Sarah A. Herrick, for many years a resident of Ogden, died at the home of her son, L. A. Herrick, in this city, last night. She was in the 75th year of her age. Death was due to dropsy, from which she had suffered for some time. The remains will be taken to Ogden for interment tomorrow.

The Hyrum Irrigation company has filed suit in the district court against the Wellsville Eastfield Irrigation company to obtain what it claims to be its proper proportion of the waters of the south fork of the Little Bear river, which supplies water for irrigating something over 5,000 acres of the most fertile land in Utah.

The case has been in court before and a stipulation was entered into by which the amount of water each party claimed was given to it, but a dispute arose over the point of division, one side contending that each party should measure the water at the headgates, and the other asserting that the dam was the proper place.

If the water were equally divided at the Hyrum dam Wellsville received an addition to her one-half, all the seepage and spring water that came in below and, and Hyrum won't stand for that, as this seepage water forms a considerable part of the flow.

The Cache Fish company, a corporation formed for the purpose of raising fish for the market, filed its articles of incorporation with the county clerk today. The concern is capitalized at $12,000, divided into $100 shares. There are eight incorporators, four of this city and four of Ogden. J. C. A. Lindquist is president, Thomas Rose of this city, vice president and George W. Lindquist of Logan, secretary and treasurer. The fish ponds, it is said, will be located on the Blacksmith Fork river.

GOLD FROM AUSTRALIA.

San Francisco, Aug. 14.—The steamer Ventura, which arrived from Australia tonight, brought $2,500,000, consigned to local banks.

WATERWORKS FOR MOAB

Wilson Mesa Placer Company Will Furnish Ample Supply of Pure Water.

Moab, Aug. 11.—Moab is to have a waterworks system. No longer will the citizens of this bailiwick be compelled to drink liquid mud and suffer the agonies of typhoid fever as a result. No more will our front lawns be composed exclusively of sand and cockleburrs; and in the future a barrel on a sled will be useful only as a reminder of the olden days before Moab moved up with the procession among the towns with decent water to drink.

Within a couple of months a resident of this town can, for the nominal outlay of 50 to 75 cents a month have all the pure spring water his heart desires, and he won't have to go from under his own roof to get it, either.

All of this was decided at a meeting of the stockholders of the Moab Irrigation company today, at which they announced that they were getting rid of old conditions. The meeting had been called to consider a proposition of the Wilson Mesa Placer company to furnish the pipe for a waterworks system in lieu of settling reservoirs which they were under contract with the water company to build in order to settle the waters of Mill creek after they had used it for placer purposes. Manager J. R. Emmitt, representing the placer company, increased his original offer, until by the terms of his proposition, which were accepted, the placer company is required to lay down in Moab for the irrigation company within forty-five days two miles of two, three and four inch black pipe, and one half mile of inch and two miles of half-inch galvanized pipe, with all T connections for laterals; all tools necessary to put the pipe together and the placer company agrees to lay the pipe after the water company digs the trench for it. The pipe laid down here will cost about $3,000. Work will commence on the trench within a few days.

F. D. Parks of Grand Junction, manager of the Sieber Cattle company, came in yesterday and secured a warrant for the arrest of J. A. Bloomingkemper for stealing a couple of calves. The calves were found in Bloomingkemper's possession in Colorado, but when the authorities there found that the property was taken in Utah they refused to take action in the matter.

Judge Erickson and the officers of the Seventh district court will arrive here Wednesday and court will be opened Thursday. Aside from some probate matters there will probably be nothing done this term. There is one criminal case on the calendar, but it will likely go over. The court will go from here to Monticello Sunday and will open court there the next day. The case of the state vs. Harry Montgomery is the only thing on the docket there.

David A. Johnson has been notified by Congressman Howell that he has recommended him for postmaster at Moab. George F. Powell, the other aspirant, will continue in the honorable, but not particularly lucrative position of leader of the Moab cornet band.

HIS DEATH WAS SUDDEN

Jess Penny Overtaken in Field While Haying and Expires in a Few Hours.

Richfield, Aug. 14.—A very sudden death occurred at Joseph Saturday afternoon. Jess Penny of that place was out hauling hay and at about 11 o'clock he was seized with a severe pain in his chest, and in a few hours passed away. Dr. J. B. Nelson of Monroe was at once summoned, but Mr. Penny died soon after the doctor arrived. The deceased was a very highly respected citizen of that place, and leaves a wife and four daughters to mourn his untimely death. The funeral was held yesterday at Joseph Relief society hall.

Plans for a new dancing pavilion which have been under consideration for the past two months were completed yesterday and the corporation papers filed. The company is incorporated for $12,000. Shares are valued at $100 each. E. A. Foutz was elected president, O. L. Farnsworth vice president, John Hood treasurer, S. G. Clark secretary, who, with G. M. Jones, constitute the board of directors. Mr. Farnsworth has been selected as general manager.

While the excursion train was returning from Provo Sunday night, a young lady whose home is at Gunnison was attacked with a spell of heart failure. She collapsed at Castella and it was thought she would die before reaching her home. Everything was done that could be done under the circumstances. She had revived a little by the time she reached her home town.

The little six-year-old son of John Hood fell from a wagon onto his head Sunday and cut quite a bad gash in his skull, but it was not deep enough to cause serious injury.

DIES FROM HEART FAILURE

Henry S. Brooks Passes Away Suddenly Near Provo at an Advanced Age.

Provo, Aug. 14.—Henry S. Brooks died this morning at the home of his son, William Brooks, on the Springville road, at the age of 74 years. Death came suddenly and unexpectedly from heart failure, there being no premonition of death till the fatal attack seized Mr. Brooks, and death followed in a few moments. The deceased was well known in this county. He was a native of England, but has lived in Utah for many years, and was one of the early settlers of Lake Shore. About a month ago he returned from a visit to southern California, where he has a son living. The remains will be taken to Lake Shore for burial.

Edwin Peay of the Second ward is suffering from a severe case of poisoning supposed to have been caused by eating some tainted food, although the origin of the trouble is not definitely known, as Mr. Peay was ill some days before a doctor was summoned and the nature of his ailment determined.

Don C. Workman of Vernal is in Provo in the interest of some mining enterprises on the reservation which he is pushing.

A son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Wren Wilkins; all well.

A marriage license has been issued to George W. Hardy and Myrtle A. Freshwater, both of Provo.

The descendants of the late Charles D. Miller held a family reunion Sunday at the North Fork resort in Provo canyon. There were present four of his children, with their wives and husbands. Two other daughters were represented by their children, one of them, Miss Margaret R. Johnston, coming from St. Louis. There were fifty-eight grandchildren and twenty-three great-grandchildren present. The next meeting will be held Aug. 24, 1907, the anniversary of the birth of Father Miller, at the Provo lake resort.

The Basque who was arrested in a starved condition at American Fork a few days ago, and who was thought to be insane, has left for Reno, Nev., where there is a colony of Basques. He improved rapidly after being fed in the county jail, and it is believed he will be all right if he can get to his own people, and he believes he can. At any rate, he wanted to try.

Professor J. C. Swensen left today for the southeastern part of the state, to be gone for about two weeks in the interest of the Brigham Young university. While away he will take in the Grand Canon of the Colorado.

The young people belonging to the various evangelical churches in the city are having an outing at the Lake resort today.

The mayor, city council and several of the city officers are in the canyon today inspecting the waterworks extension work.

At the meeting of the city council last evening, the matter of arranging for an election to vote on bonds for an electric plant was discussed and it was decided to wait till the city obtains the terms of the option to purchase the electric company's distribution plant in writing. Before the election is called the matter will probably be presented to the taxpayers in a mass meeting.

The deceased was a native of England, having been born at Bradford 79 years ago. He leaves a family of grown up children, John W. Burton, James Burton, Heber Burton, Mrs. Richard Perkins, all of this place, and Frederick Burton, a prominetn sheepman of Idaho. Mr. Burton was well known throughout Utah, having many relatives in Ogden and other points. The funeral will take place on Wednesday from the Kaysville meeting-house.

FREIGHT ENGINE RUNS INTO PASSENGER TRAIN

Fort Scott, Kan., Aug. 14.—A St. Louis & San Francisco freight engine ran into the Missouri, Kansas & Texas fast passenger train No. 6, northbound, at the crossing of the two roads near this city, early today, overturning a chair car and one sleeper. Twenty-seven persons were hurt, but none of them is seriously injured.

The passenger train was bound from Texas to St. Louis and was six hours late. The chair car was turned completely over, but the sleeper fell against a telegraph pole which prevented its falling to its side.

All the injured were able to continue their journey.

GOVERNMENT ALSO AFTER THE "JOINTS"

Kansas City, Aug. 14.—Secret service men of the United States government are now assisting C. W. Trickett, assistant attorney general of Wyandotte county, in his crusade against the joints. The secret service men are seeking men who sell liquor without a government license in Kansas City, Kan.

Mr. Trickett today filed a number of suits in the court of common pleas against the owners of property being used for joint purposes. It has been discovered that liquor has been sold at several private residences. A few men are still trying to operate "blind tigers."

The various committees were appointed; reports of officers, and all old routine business transacted. Tomorrow night the election of officers will be held. The day was spent by the veterans in visiting the various points of interest about the city and in attending company and regimental reunions.

According to Joe Schroeder of Detroit, who presided at the meeting, there has been an overproduction.

VIRGINIA'S HAUNTED HOUSE.

(Washington Star.)

This is a true ghost story, and even though it harks back a full twoscore years, there are still a few of the oldest inhabitants of the neighborhood concerned who remember the narrowly averted tragedy which exposed the human agency behind the alleged "haunts."

The scene of the story is laid in an old house which still stands on one of the hills not far from Alexandria, Va. At the outbreak of the civil war this house was nearing completion, and when the Union forces occupied the country south of the capital this house became picket headquarters for one of the Massachusetts regiments. Subsequently, upon an outbreak of smallpox, which spread through the camps and countryside thereabouts, the structure was converted into a smallpox hospital. Many deaths occurred there during the epidemic, and it was in accounts of the disembodied spirits of these disease victims that the ghost stories originated.

After the war the house was leased time and again, but the tenants rarely stayed more than a day or two, each of them vacating in a hurry after telling stories about being awekened in the night by horrible groanings, whisperings, rattling of chains and of hearing other weird sounds usually attributed to spooks. To the owner of the premises the situation grew gradually more serious, until the time finally came when he could not secure a tenant for the house at any price.

In the emergency a sense of the ridiculous appealed to the strenuous young son of one of the neighbors, and he announced his desire to see a real ghost (if such a thing existed), to talk to it and to learn about its habits, and he stated his determination to sleep in the house until his wish was granted.

On the night appointed, at about the midnight hour, he started on his mission, carrying a double-barreled gun in anticipation of a possible physical encounter with the supernatural inhabitants of the dwelling. Scarcely had he entered the door when a subdued clanking, as of chains, greeted his ears, but he bravely pushed ahead toward the sounds, calling as he went "Who are you and what do you want?" Apparently the sound emanated from the attic, but as the ghost hunter drew nearer the sound grew faint, and it trailed off as though a chain was being dragged down the back stairs. A series of hair-raising shrieks halted the pursuer for a moment at the next landing, but he pressed onward as softly hurrying footfalls indicated the nearness of his quarry, and so the chase continued until the supposed ghost vanished down the cellar steps. Only one other entrance to the cellar was available for either a man or a spook, and to a window, commanding this the young man hurried. He was just in time to see a shadowy form jump into the open and head for a clump of bushes, and he leveled his gun and emptied both barrels, but the spirit kept on running and vanished in the darkness.

Fortunately for all concerned, the heavy charges of shot blew away nothing more valuable than one side of the window casing, for if it had found its intended mark the ghost hunter would have killed his own brother. The latter confessed next day that he and one or two close friends had been playing pranks in the old house of nights for several months, and it was their antics that materialized in the ghost stories. To this day, however, the superstitious point to the old house with varied expressions of awe, and with bated breath tell tales of the spirits of the departed who came back to earth to linger round the place where their deaths occurred. Even one or two families, recent occupants of the house, have declared that on several occasions plainly audible footsteps passed them in the halls, but they would reach out to touch nothing but the air, and no one would reply to their questions as to who was there.

WANDAMERE PRIZE DIVIDED

Hospitals Get Money Won by Person Suggesting New Name for Park.

The management of Wandamere, formerly Calder's park, has received acknowledgment from the three leading local hospitals of $33.33 each, which was won by the anonymous winner of the prize of $100 for the suggestion of the new name for the old resort.

The Rev. Dr. C. G. Hunting of St. Mark's hospital says that the money received by that institution will be used for the purchase of a new wheel chair, upon which will be placed a silver plate, bearing the name "Wandamere."

ALL POLICE OFFICERS SAVE ONE DISHONEST

Oroville, Cal., Aug. 14.—A hurried midnight session of the board of trustees last night resulted in the unearthing of corruption in the local police force. It was disclosed that gamblers and dissolute women were paying regular weekly contributions. The city marshal and all the police officers except Officer Toland are implicated in the charges.

GOING TO SWING HIGH.

(Judge.)

Some girls were playing in a lawn swing, while a boy, a trifle older, stood near watching them. One little maid said, "I'm going to swing so high I can touch the sky."

The next added to the height of the imaginary ascension with, "I'm going higher'n that—'way up in the clouds."

Then Margaret, anxious to set a limit that could not be surpassed, made this astounding announcement, "I'm going high enough to hug God's heels."

The little girls laughed, but the boy looked shocked. He evidently thought such irreverence merited swift and terrible punishment, for he said sternly, "Margaret, if you say that again you'll be lecturecuted."

NECESSARY COURTESY.

(Life.)

Jones—Why did you give that woman on the car your seat and leave your wife standing?

Browne—Great Scott, man! that was our cook!

COURTEOUS TO THE LAST.

(London Sphere.)

The steamer was nearing the completion of a very rough passage, and most of the passengers were silent, sad and thoughtful. Only one gay and sprightly individual looked as though an earthquake hadn't suddenly swallowed up his friend and all his worldly goods.

"Look here," he said, dancing nimbly about, "I'm all right. If you chaps just brace up and be cheerful you'll feel all right."

He did a hornpipe and a jig, and one of his fellow passengers raised his head long enough to say:

"George, will you do me a great favor—a very great favor—possibly the last favor I shall ever ask of you?"

"Why, certainly, old man! What can I do for you?"

"Nothing. I simply beg of you to stop dancing. It shakes the ship so."

MANY CHANCES TO GET LAND

Government Engineers Tell of Opportunities on Uintah Indian Reservation.

W. H. Code, chief engineer of the Indian irrigation service for the department of the interior at Washington, and W. B. Hill, assistant engineer of the same bureau, are at the Wilson hotel. They have charge of the work of building irrigating canals on the Uintah Indian reservation in this state.

Congress appropriated $300,000 for this work at the last session and the work is being completed as rapidly as possible. About $65,000 of the amount appropriated has been expended.

"The Deep Creek canal from White Rocks river to the Deep Creek country, near Fort Duchesne is about three-fourths completed," said Mr. Code last night.

"This canal is only six miles in length, but with the laterals which will run from it, fully 10,000 acres of fine land will be reclaimed.

"There is a fine opening for white settlers in this section, and excellent opportunities are offered them by the government. White settlers can lease the lands from the Indians, and can do well there.

"It would be physically impossible for the Indians on the reservation to farm this vast area of rich lands, and the government will sell a part of it on easy terms. The matter of the sale of the lands is in the hands of Captain C. G. Hall at Fort Duchesne, and he will be glad to supply information to any who are interested.

"The land is very rich, and when the water is put on it, it will yield abundantly. That section promises to rival all other sections of the intermountain arid lands in a few years in the fruit-raising line."

TO BOOST FOR GOOD ROADS.

Colonel W. H. Moore, president of the National Good Roads association, is on his way to the Pacific coast states, where arrangements will be made to hold the National Good Roads annual convention. All the commercial organizations of Utah, with the officials of the state, have extended an invitation to hold the convention in that state. Among the cities that have invited the annual convention are Salt Lake City, Ogden, Portland, Denver, Colorado Springs, Chicago, Pittsburg and Cincinnati. It is generally understood that the convention will be held in one of the Pacific states.
