FORT DOUGLAS NOW DESERTED

Fifteenth Starts for Colorado Springs to Take Up March Into Wyoming.

MARCHES THROUGH CITY

COL. SCOTT IS SEEN AGAIN LEADING REGIMENT.

Fort Douglas is deserted. The soldiers of the Fifteenth United States regiment departed yesterday for Colorado Springs to commence their long march to the summer maneuvering grounds near Cheyenne, and all that remain at the military post are a few men to see that the reservation property is not molested during the absence of the warriors.

There were three sections of the soldiers' train. The first section left Salt Lake at 11:37 o'clock. The second section left at 11:45 o'clock and the third section at noon.

There was a crowd at the Rio Grande depot to see the regiment off.

Among those who gathered to bid the soldiers adieu were a number of pretty girls.

"It is awful to make those boys walk 208 miles," said one.

Her companion, who was tall and athletic, tossed her head scornfully.

"The papers say that the soldiers will have to walk only fifteen miles a day," she said. "Why, I could do that every morning before breakfast. I can't see why these men grumble about a little thing like that. It ought to be easy for those big young fellows."

But as she did not wave a fluttering handkerchief when the section bearing the soldiers pulled out, it was plain that she had no sentimental feeling for one of the boys in blue to quicken her sympathies.

Even before the three sections started eastward the regimental cooks commenced their preparations for the midday meal. The traveling kitchens were in baggage cars attached to each of the sections. They were equipped with stoves and all the needed utensils. The warrior-cooks went about their duties with a calm manner born of long experience with unusual situations.

Colonel Scott in Command.

The soldiers were up yesterday morning at 5 o'clock and at once commenced their preparations for the march from Fort Douglas, through the city, to the Rio Grande depot.

Colonel Walter S. Scott and his staff led the regiment. Then came the band, the marching infantry, the hospital corps and some of the wagons, which, with their contents, remained to be loaded before the time of departure.

The regiment marched in Brigham street to Main, then south to Second South street and west to the Rio Grande depot.

The regimental colors were draped in crepe in obedience to the orders of President Roosevelt that this token of mourning be displayed because of the death of former President Cleveland.

The Fifteenth regiment rifle team departed with the other soldiers, but will not make the long march to Wyoming. The team will go to Camp Perry, O., where it will take part in the national rifle match. Members of the regiment expect that the team will capture the national trophy.

STOLEN WATCH FOUND.

Two Men Arrested While Attempting to Pawn Timepiece.

Earl Mitchell and G. L. Loerch, who claim to be railroad men, were arrested yesterday morning by Detective Wilson and Patrolman Phillips while attempting to pawn a valuable watch belonging to Henry Tromeyer, a railroad conductor living in the Wellington hotel. Tromeyer notified the police yesterday morning that his room had been entered during the night and his watch stolen. While making a round of the pawn shops the officers discovered that two men had offered a watch agreeing with the description furnished by Tromeyer at the Uncle Sam loan office, and that the men had promised to return. When they appeared later in the day they were immediately apprehended by the officers, the watch being found in their possession.

DIRECTORY SHOWS 696 SMITHS IN CITY; ONLY 28 O'BRIENS ARE RECORDED

City directory statisticians are having their annual orgy. The big book is just out, bigger than ever.

There are 56,173 names, indicating a population of 112,346 inhabitants, which shows that the city took long strides during the past year toward the 200,000 of Greater Salt Lake.

John James declares that 95 per cent of the names in the directory are Welsh, but it is suspected that he made the claim because today is Welsh day at Saltair.

The first citizen of Salt Lake (in the city directory) is Dagmar Aamodt, a wrapper employed at the J. G. McDonald company's candy factory.

The last name in the directory is that of Ralph Zwicky, who boards at 24 K street.

Delvers into the directory have not yet alighted upon the name in the middle of the book.

Up to a late hour last night the shortest name discovered in the directory is Ek.

The list of names shows that there are 696 Smiths in the city and only 7 Smyths.

There are 12 plain John Smiths, and 23 John Smiths whose parents have endeavored to give them greater individuality by giving them middle names. That makes 35 John Smiths, with and without embellishments.

The Youngs number 251, and there are 319 grown up persons by the name of Jones.

An indication of the growth of the Greek colony is given by the fact that there are 51 persons in the city by the name of Papas.

There are only 28 O'Briens and 76 Murphys.

The directory statisticians are still counting.

TWO WOMEN FOR ONE JOB

Compromise on City Jail Matronship Is Not Satisfactory to Bransford.

More trouble is expected to grow out of the fight over the matronship of the city jail.

The council, as a compromise, last Monday evening gave to Mrs. Zella Gifford the matronship, and to Mrs. Mary Bero the contract to feed the prisoners at 9 cents a meal.

The mayor yesterday did not approve of this action, and it is understood that he will veto the measures.

The trouble began at the first of the year when Mrs. Bero and Mrs. Gifford were both applicants for the matronship which heretofore has carried with it the contract to feed the prisoners. Chief Pitt appointed Mrs. Gifford and the Woman's "American" club set up a terrible roar, as Mrs. Bero belongs to that organization, and Mrs. Gifford is a rank outsider. Several conferences were held with the police committee of the council, which were enlivened by tilts between the two applicants. The committee wanted Mrs. Bero to have both jobs, but Chief Pitt would not go back on Mrs. Gifford, and the thing remained at a standstill until recently, when it was decided to compromise by giving both women a job.

As the matronship only pays $240 a year and is hardly worth while without the contract to feed the prisoners, the friends of Mrs. Gifford believe she has been given the worst of the deal.

It is understood that the mayor is not at all pleased by the compromise, believing that the public would be better served if the matron also feeds the prisoners. He will investigate this phase of the matter before taking any action.

WILL PUT UP GOOD FRONT

Walker Brothers to Put in New Display Windows and Make Other Improvements.

Improvements which will cost about $12,000 will soon be commenced at the Walker Bros.' department store. All of the show windows on the ground floor of the building at Third South and Main streets will be lowered almost to the level of the street and new plate glass will be put in.

Marble tiling will be laid in the vestibules and marble steps will be built on the Main street side to the main floor of the store.

At present the show windows on the Main street side of the building are so high above the sidewalk that much of the effect of the window displays is lost upon passersby.

The alterations will change the appearance of the store front and will in particular make the Main street front more attractive.

The low ring of the show windows will necessitate the lowering of the main floor of the store. It will remain as it is at present.

Contracts have been let for the improvements and work will commence as soon as the new plate glass for the windows reaches Salt Lake.

JAR OF TRAIN AT BINGHAM EXPLODES GIANT POWDER

(Special to The Herald.)

Bingham, July 15.—An explosion which might have been attended with serious results occurred this afternoon at the porphyry workings of the Boston Consolidated company. Seven boxes of giant powder which were stored about fifty feet from the track of the Bingham High Line were exploded by the jar of a passing train, consisting of a switch engine and seven cars. The cars were hurled from the track, the engine cab splintered and the rails torn and bent by the force of the explosion, which was plainly felt for several miles. Jack James, an employe of the Boston Con., who was standing near the track, was severely cut about the head and face by flying splinters, but Engineer Fred Shafer, who had charge of the train, was uninjured, although thrown from the cab.

Tony Slovin, an Austrian miner, was severely injured by a falling rock in the shaft of the Highland Boy mine this afternoon. He was taken to the Keogh-Hammond hospital in Salt Lake, where his skull was found to be fractured.

QUICK WORK AT BLAZE.

Fire in Basement of Salt Lake Hardware Company.

The efficient service of the fire department prevented what might have been a most disastrous fire early yesterday morning. At about 2:30 o'clock Night Watchman Manning of the Salt Lake Hardware company discovered a blaze in the basement of that building and immediately turned in an alarm, which was responded to by Acting Chief Ayland and fire companies Nos. 1, 2 and 3. The fire had started in a pile of greasy waste in the basement from spontaneous combustion. It was rapidly gaining headway when extinguished by the use of chemicals.

Secretary M. S. Sowles denies the rumor that there was any gasoline stored in the building. Mr. Sowles presented the department with several boxes of cigars as a token of the appreciation of the company for the work done by the department.

WORK OF CYRUS DALLIN.

Great Interest Shown in Exhibit at Commercial Club.

Great interest is being shown at the Commercial club in the photographs displayed there of the work of Cyrus E. Dallin, the famous Utah sculptor. Mr. Dallin is now visiting in Salt Lake.

The photographs give some idea of what Mr. Dallin has accomplished since he left Utah to win recognition in the east.

Among the photographs are those of his groups for the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument, which some critics have declared are proof that Mr. Dallin is the foremost of American sculptors.

LEWIS DIVORCE HEARING

Couple Trying to Be Freed of Each Other After Being Married Thirty Years.

After nearly thirty years of married life, Mary J. Lewis and David B. Lewis are trying to free themselves of each other, and the only controversy is in regard to which one shall secure the divorce. Judge Morse yesterday began the hearing of the evidence in the case which has been for the most part given at preliminary hearings on the question of temporary alimony. Lewis owns a twenty-acre farm near Sandy, and on one occasion when he had no money his wife was awarded fourteen chickens as temporary alimony.

The contention of Mrs. Lewis is that her husband has been cruel to her for many years, and this is denied by him. In addition he asserts that his wife has not worked in harmony with him in the upbuilding of their home and has been cruel.

Mrs. Lewis occupied most of the time yesterday. She asserted that on one occasion her husband had wished that there was poison in her coffee so that she might die and he thus be rid of her. She also declared that on several occasions he has threatened to blow her brains out.

The case will be continued today.

LET CONTRACT FOR CANALS

Important Step Taken Toward Completion of Piute Reservoir Irrigation Project.

Another step toward the completion of the largest irrigation project ever attempted by the state was taken yesterday by the board of land commissioners, when it let a contract to R. D. Young & Co. for the construction of twenty miles of irrigation canals for the Piute reservoir. The price for the work was $30,000.

The company is composed of R. D. Young, Martin Jensen, J. M. Lauritzen, A. G. Young and John W. Ross.

The Piute reservoir is to be located between Richfield and Marysvale, and the contract for the outlet tunnel was made six weeks ago. The reservoir proper has not yet been contracted. The whole project when completed will cost $300,000, and will reclaim 20,000 acres of valuable land.

A large number of bids were received for the canal work, most of the bidders submitting estimates on small portions of the work. These bids were disregarded, as it was thought better to let the contract for the entire work to one firm.

Other bidders on the entire work were J. W. Hoggan of Manti, $40,000, and H. T. Reynolds of Springville, $50,000. Stillman & Co. of Richfield offered to do five miles for $10,000.

SHIPMENTS OF SHEEP.

Twenty-six Cars Are Loaded at Thompson, Utah.

Heavy shipments of sheep from Utah points to the eastern markets are now being made. Twenty-six cars of sheep were loaded at Thompson, Utah, yesterday. There were about 275 sheep in each of the cars.

These shipments, it is said, will continue as long as the eastern market is satisfactory to the sheepmen.

The shipment of sheep from western points usually begins immediately after the shearing season and continues until December.

Railroad men who have examined the sheep that are now being shipped from Utah say that they are in fine condition.

PURPLE DAY AT LAGOON.

Salt Lake Elks Will Celebrate on July 30.

"Purple Day" of the Salt Lake Elks will be celebrated at Lagoon on July 30, according to the decision arrived at last night at a special meeting of the members of the Elks' lodge.

The committee which will have charge of the arrangements is composed of the officers of the lodge and three members. It is as follows: A. J. Davis, exalted ruler; J. W. Thomas, esteemed leading knight; C. C. Slade, esteemed loyal knight; H. J. Robinson, esteemed lecturing knight; A. W. Raybould, secretary; James Leary, Thomas Homer and C. S. Pulver.

DROWNED IN RESERVOIR

Brother of Thomas Matthews Says He Was Pushed Into Water by Companion.

CALL RESCUER TOO LATE

JOHN M'DONALD, LIFE SAVER, FINDS CHILD'S BODY.

Thomas Mathews, the 9-year-old son of T. W. Mathews, an employe of the Utah Light & Railway company, of 644 East First South street, was drowned yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock in the reservoir east of Mt. Olivet cemetery. His body was not recovered for nearly fifty minutes after he disappeared beneath the surface of the water, and, although every effort was made to revive him his rescuers were not able to revive the spark of life.

The story told by his companions is conflicting. His younger brother, Glade Mathews, who accompanied him, states that the two Mathews boys left their home shortly before noon, with Lloyd Davis, a colored boy, 11 years of age, who lives at 757 East First South. The boys went to the cemetery and the two colored boys took off their clothes with the intention of going into the water. Glade Mathews says that they teased and dared his brother Tom to go in also, and even wanted him to go.

Says Boy Was Pushed In.

When Tom had removed his clothes he became frightened and refused to enter the water. He was standing on the bank facing away from the water, when, according to Glade, Lloyd Davis pushed him off the bank into the water. The other boys watched his struggles for some time, believing that he was all right, but when he had sunk three times, Carl Scott became frightened and waded into the water after him. The reservoir deepens gradually for several feet from the bank, when it suddenly attains a depth of six or eight feet. The bank where the boys entered was nearly opposite the outlet and the body of the drowning boy was drawn beyond Scott's reach by the current toward the outlet. Seeing that they could not reach the drowning boy, Carl Scott and Lloyd Davis hastily slipped on their clothes and ran to the cemetery, where they notified a number of men employed there. These men at once telephoned to police headquarters and Chief Pitt and Detectives Chase and Janney hurried to the scene in a patrol wagon. Before they arrived John McDonald, the engineer of the electric locomotive on the Emigration Canyon line, had arrived at the reservoir. Stripping off his clothes, he began diving for the body. He finally discovered it near the outlet in an almost perpendicular position and hastily carried it to the bank. He was joined by the police officers and they worked over the body for an hour and a half. When it was finally determined that life was extinct the body was taken to the Mathews' home.

The Davis boy and the Scott boy both assert that they did not push young Mathews into the water, but that on the contrary they warned him against going in. They did not return to the reservoir after giving the alarm, but ran home immediately.

Dangers of Reservoir.

The reservoir has claimed more than one victim, and is surrounded by notices stating that bathing is forbidden. The bottom of the reservoir is thickly grown with weeds and extremely dangerous for even an expert swimmer. None of the boys of the party were able to swim.

The police department is making an investigation of the affair and the colored boys will be examined by Chief Pitt this morning at 10 o'clock.

John McDonald, who found the body, has a splendid record as a life saver. He was formerly a resident of Auckland, New Zealand, where he saved seven persons from drowning. He is the proud possessor of a medal from the Australasian society and also from the British Humane society for saving life. The English medal was forwarded to him in this country, and was presented to him publicly by Mayor James Sharp, twenty-five years ago.

THOUSANDS CURED.

Wonderful Success of Hyomei in Curing Catarrh, Even in Chronic Stages.

Hyomei is the most unusual remedy ever known for the cure of catarrh.

It follows nature in her method of treating diseases of the respiratory organs, as its healing balsams are taken in with the air you breathe, thus reaching the most remote air cells in the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs and preventing their growth.

Use Hyomei at the first symptoms of catarrh. Do not allow the disease to extend along the delicate mucous membrane, gradually going from the nose to the throat, thence into the bronchial tubes, and then onward and downward until the lungs are reached. Hyomei will cure all curable forms and stages of catarrh. F. C. Schramm takes the whole risk and offers to refund the money for a dollar outfit if it fails to cure.

COURT TRIMS WIFE'S VELVET

Curtain Rung Down on Clay Divorce Suit With Decree of Separate Maintenance.

Three times and out is the record of Delia Clays, the "out" being out of matrimony. This, however, is not technically correct, as Delia really is only partially out. Her previous efforts have been to secure a divorce, and when her suit was heard yesterday before Judge Morse she only asked for separate maintenance. It is lucky for her husband, M. V. Clays, and unlucky for her, as during the past eighteen months he has been paying her $50 a month temporary alimony, and yesterday she was given but $40 a month, the judge stating that the husband had shown good faith so far and he thought the $50 burden too much. The decree of separate maintenance was granted and besides the alimony $75 was awarded for attorney's fees. For twelve months the alimony is to be a lien on the Bingham Opera house, owned by the defendant, but all the remainder of his property is released from the restraining order which prevented him from disposing of it during the pendency of the action.

When the evidence was concluded Mrs. Clays stated that she was willing to live with her husband again, provided he would provide her with a home. This he refused to do, stating that he could not get along with her. It was upon this ground alone that the judge made the order, as the evidence of non-support presented by the wife was not substantiated, it being shown that Clays had abundantly supplied her with money and had taken her on several trips.

Clays filed a cross-complaint charging cruelty, but this was dismissed on the ground that the offense had been condoned by the parties living together after the charge was filed.

The case has been in the courts eight years, as Mrs. Clays filed her first suit in 1900. Both are well known in Bingham.
