SEWER AGAIN NEARS FINISH

Contractor on Intercepting Pipe Line Says He Will Calk Staves With Dispatch.

PROTEST FROM SOUTHEAST

CITIZENS ROAR AGAINST MANNER OF LAYING SIDEWALK.

There was more about the intercepting sewer and its ramifications at the meeting of the board of public works last night. Chairman McMillan reported that it was his information that all of the machinery would be in place and working order by next Thursday, which is Thanksgiving day.

Mr. Campbell of the Campbell Construction company was present and made an exhaustive statement. He said that he had been under the impression that there was no great hurry about stopping the leaks in the stave pipe, inasmuch as there were no pumps in readiness to transfer from the intercepting to the gravity. Now that he is fully impressed with the urgency of the case, however, Mr. Campbell promises next Monday to put at work a large force of men, who will calk the stave pipe with oakum and make it absolutely tight.

After discussion it was decided to refer to the city attorney the question of whether or not the city may enter into an agreement whereby the final test shall be declared successful and the pipe declared satisfactory, the city, of course, withholding the balance due the contractor, which amount is about $5,000.

Want Inspectors Fired.

The petition or protest, already printed, about the character of the work done in sidewalk extension No. 108 was presented, together with two affidavits, one by Hyrum Bull, 976 South Eighth East, and the other by James B. Whyte, Windsor avenue. These affidavits said they had watched the work, that it was poorly done and that it was not up to specifications. Six petitions, containing about 500 names, were also presented supplemental to the main petition.

The petition asked that some of the inspectors be discharged. In this connection a communication was read from the city council, which referred to the board the plan of causing the construction of measuring cans not to exceed in total $50, for the use of inspectors, so that they might gauge accurately the proportion of gravel and cement which enters into the concrete mixture. Chief Inspector Fitzpatrick said that he had already had one can made as a guide for the inspectors.

The resolution of the council seemed to be regarded as pretty much of a joke by the board members.

Mr. Barlow suggested that it might be well to have the cans made for the measuring of potatoes.

Mr. Rooklidge said that while the measures might be necessary at some future time, they certainly were not necessary now when the work is stopped. "And," said Mr. Rooklidge, "I think the board is capable of caring for this, irrespective of the council or Mr. Hall either." Mr. Hall is the councilman who is the author of the measure measure.

Dead Ends of Water Mains.

The board agreed that the dead ends of water mains in the southern part of the city should be connected up.

Next Monday evening City Engineer Kelsey will ask the city council for permission to proceed with the work of connecting the Fifth South street sewer with the intercepting. There is only about fifty feet of work to be done. This connection would relieve a large section in the southwestern part of the city, the inhabitants whereof now are forced to resort to cesspools and to allow their sewage to run in the streets.

THANKSGIVING BASKETS.

Salvation Army Trying to Raise Balance of Fund.

The Salvation Army is in receipt of many appeals for the Thanksgiving baskets which will be distributed among the poor. The fund to be devoted to this charity is still about $175 short of the amount needed. The house to house soliciting was discontinued last evening, and today tripods supporting receptacles for contributions will be placed at the street corners. These, together with the boxes which have been placed in the stores, are expected to net sufficient funds to assure every needy one a basket of good things. Tickets calling for baskets may be secured at the Salt Lake Charity association, the Salvation Army store or hotel, and the county commissioners' office.

HEATH FAMILY IS DIVIDED AGAINST ITSELF IN SALT PALACE DISPUTE

The somewhat famous and admittedly complicated affairs of the Heath family are in court again. Yesterday suit was brought by one side against the other that involves the same old controversy—the Salt Palace.

The plaintiffs in the action brought yesterday are Henry O. Heath, John F. Heath and Joseph A. Heath. The defendants are Frederick Heath, Frederick G. Heath, Horace A. Heath, Francis D. Heath and Harriet Heath. The property involved is lots 12 and 13, block 22, Five-acre plat A, Big Field survey; in other words, the Salt Palace.

It is set forth in the complaint that, although the legal title rests in Frederick Heath, nevertheless during all of the times mentioned he held the title in trust for the benefit of the plaintiffs, Henry O. Heath, John F. Heath and Joseph A. Heath, and the defendants, Frederick G. Heath and Horace A. Heath. It is alleged that the parties last named contributed equally to the purchase of the property and the title was taken in the name of Frederick Heath for convenience only.

Frederick Heath is the father and Harriet Heath the mother, and when the property was purchased it was agreed that it was to be for the benefit of all parties. The property was improved and during the years 1901 and 1902 more than $10,000 was spent for this purpose.

Trustee Is Appointed.

During the year 1904 a dispute arose, which has never been settled. It is related that the estate of Frederick Heath consisted substantially of only the property mentioned; that he was of advanced age. On Nov. 21, 1906, it was agreed that a trustee be appointed for the benefit of the father and mother, and after their death all were to share alike.

The assertion is that nothwithstanding the contract, Francis D. Heath and Frederick Heath wholly repudiated the terms thereof. Francis D. Heath, it is claimed, has lived upon the premises and claimed right to remain there, and received a large portion in excess of his proportionate share of the rents and profits.

Frederick Heath has wholly repudiated his trust, it is set forth, and has threatened and intends to convey away and dispose of the property and deprive the plaintiffs of any benefit whatsoever. Unless he be restrained the premises will be sold, encumbered and so disposed of by Frederick Heath that the plaintiffs and the defendants, Horace A. Heath and Frederick G. Heath, will be wholly deprived of their interest as beneficiaries.

Accounting Is Wanted.

It is said, furthermore, that Francis D. Heath refuses to account for the surplus money received by him.

The plaintiffs say that unless a receiver is appointed for the property and the rents, issues and profits conserved, the property will be wasted and the rents and profits dissipated and lost to the irreparable damage of the plaintiffs. Horace and Frederick G. Heath are made defendants for the reason that they claim an interest in "said controversy," and are necessary parties to complete the determination thereof.

In consequence of all of which, the plaintiffs pray that the "rights of the parties hereto be adjudged and decreed and that the defendant, Frederick Heath, be declared to be a trustee for the other parties herein to the extent and the proportions hereinbefore recited. That Frederick Heath be restrained and enjoined from disposing of the property or encumbering the same, and that the injunction issue pending final judgment. That pending the trial and final determination of this action a receiver be appointed to take charge and conserve the rents," etc.

The plaintiffs also ask that Francis D. Heath be made to account for the money he received from Frederick Heath in excess of his proportionate share.

SPECIALTY MAKES GOOD

That "Mack and Marcus," the two young men in whom Salt Lake has an especial interest since they have forsaken the newspaper art for the stage, have "made good" in their new vaudeville specialty, was made manifest by the enthusiastic applause accorded their first appearance at the Orpheum matinee yesterday.

And they well deserved the applause, for their act is not only clever in conception, but well executed. The idea is not new, but its variations presented by Mack and Marcus are decidedly unique.

It is mainly along comic lines, although there is enough "high" art in the way of smart-looking women to take away any monotony. The funny pictures all drew a hearty laugh—for instance, when Mack drew an egg and Marcus transformed it into an old hen, the kind that leans over the back yard fence and tells her neighbor what she thinks about her. How easily the shamrock becomes a member of the Salt Lake police force was cleverly done, too, as well as "the fancy drink," and "the fancy drunk." There were a number of others, but the hit of the act was "Miss Salt Lake."

The team was somewhat handicapped yesterday in the lack of a suitable stage setting and equipment, but their work was such that their future success seems assured.

REPRESENTATIVE IS CHOSEN

A. S. Erickson of Salt Lake Will Go to Washington for Utah Wool Growers.

A. S. Erickson of Salt Lake, one of the most prominent and largest growers of wool in this state, has been selected to go to Washington to appear before the ways and means committee to represent the Utah sheepmen in their protest against the reduction of the tariff on wool.

The selection of Mr. Erickson was made yesterday afternoon by the committee of representative sheepmen who were appointed in Thursday's mass meeting in the Commercial club to meet to select a representative and to prepare a brief of arguments against wool tariff reduction and in favor of an increased tariff. The meeting was held in the office of C. B. Stewart, secretary of the Utah Wool Growers, in the Judge building, at 2 o'clock.

Besides Mr. Stewart, the other members of the committee there were E. H. Callister, president of the Utah Wool Growers, John C. Mackay and A. S. Erickson of Salt Lake, and Dr. H. M. Rowe of Ogden.

A statement was also drafted wherein the facts in regard to the wool industry in this state were set out and figures were tabulated which show the increased cost of the production of wool between 1897, the year when the Dingley tariff act was passed, and the present year.

Mr. Erickson will take the statement on to Washington and present it to Senator Smoot for use in his arguments before the ways and means committee. Mr. Erickson will leave here next Wednesday or Thursday for the hearings.

HIGHWAYMAN FLASHES GUN

Two Men Held Up on Third South and Relieved of Loose Change.

F. W. Brademeyer, living at 58 South Third East street, and his companion, Will Clive, were the victims of a highwayman on Third South between Fifth and Sixth East streets, last night about 7 o'clock. As the men were walking along in conversation, the robber stepped up behind and with revolver in hand, first ordered them to throw up their hands and then to walk on down the street. After going about twenty-four paces, with the man still following, he ordered them to halt again and then, under the threat of the gun, searched their pockets, securing about $3.75. The police were notified, but were unable to locate the highwaymen by the meagre description furnished.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASING

Fifty New Applications Have Been Received by the Commercial Club Traffic Bureau.

Fifty men, each one of them representing some industry or business in Salt Lake, have made application for membership in the Commercial Club traffic bureau since the inception of the organization about a month ago, according to Secretary W. S. McCarthy.

The traffic bureau was instituted to wage a campaign for a reduction in the railroad freight rates to and from Salt Lake, and every one of the business men has pledged his moral and financial support, as is required in the application blank for membership. The new members have been mostly secured by traffic bureau directors who have been around to interview business men and urge them to join, though several men have voluntarily moved to become affiliated with the organization.

"We're booming right along," said Secretary McCarthy. "We have been around to see the business men and have been greeted everywhere by enthusiasm. They have been desirous of joining as soon as they fully understood our purposes and objects, and we expect to get many more business men whom we have not yet seen but will see in the near future.

"The traffic bureau is destined to become a powerful and influential organization because its members have the spirit and determination and are using every possible means to push it along. We expect to gain many more members and then we will start actual work to achieve results for our business interests by getting the present unjust freight rates reduced."

The next meeting of the traffic bureau will be held Monday noon in the Commercial club. It is probable that the bureau will then select its traffic manager to have charge of its work and also decide upon the location of its permanent headquarters.

WILL OPEN NEW RESIDENCE PARK

Syndicate Buys Crismon Tract on East Bench and Will Make Extensive Improvements.

Still another improved residential district is to be built in the suburbs of Salt Lake. It will be known as "Valley View park," and is planned and will be placed on the market by a syndicate of local capitalists.

Announcement of the project is made in conjunction with the news of the purchase of 350 acres on the east bench by the Fitzgerald Bros. Land company. The land will be subdivided into five-acre lots and offered for sale in the near future.

The men interested in the building up of "Valley View park" are E. B. Critchlow, W. J. Barette, W. F. Adams, E. W. Kelly, Charles Tyng, James A. Melville, James Christiansen, H. J. and T. H. Fitzgerald. The purchase price of the 350 acres is given out as $100,000.

The land is known as the old Crismon estate, and is located east of Sugar House. The land will be improved with attractive parks, boulevards and streets, a water system and sewers. That section can be supplied with the city water system, in addition to which the property carries valuable water rights.

The transfer of the property was recorded yesterday. The plans for the landscape gardening of the park are now being prepared. Several members of the syndicate are preparing to erect homes in the new district.

TWENTY-FIVE CASES OF SMALLPOX IN QUARANTINE

Oscar W. Moyle was nominated last evening for candidate for the board of education from the Third municipal ward on the non-partisan ticket to succeed himself. The meeting was held in Gymnasium building of the High school and was well attended. Gus Backman was selected chairman of the gathering and appointed W. J. Cort secretary. Joseph Burdette nominated Mr. Moyle and his nomination was seconded by Nephi L. Morris. Mr. Moyle was chosen candidate by acclamation.

Mr. Moyle then thanked the voters of the ward for the honor shown him and said: "The city board of education is now working in peace and harmony and all the members are satisfied. There is no place for any religious talks in the school board's meetings or among its affairs."

A motion was made that a committee of ten be appointed to conduct the campaign, and that the chairman of the meeting be authorized to make the appointments, one man from each of the ten districts in the ward. The following are those appointed: R. K. Thomas, Joseph Burdette, Harry Walters, W. L. Emery, R. G. Collett, John Buck, William McMillan, G. B. Walker, F. S. Fernstrom and Pearly Hill.

WANTS IMMEDIATE TRIAL.

Man Charged With Non-Support Seeks Governor's Intervention.

Governor Cutler yesterday received a letter from P. F. Geiger in Ogden. Geoger says he is under a charge of failure to support his children. He says he has been a long time trying to get a trial, but there does not seem to be any immediate prospect of getting one. Geiger says that eight or ten months ago he was arrested on the charge, and after he was held for a time he was released and he returned to California. After a bit he was "picked up" again and returned to Ogden. His crops are ruined, he says, and he has been "kept" three months without a trial. He asks the governor to help him, and the governor has promised to take up the matter with District Attorney Halverson. Geiger lives at 2040 Jefefrson avenue, in Ogden.

The University of Utah has kindly consented to admit the boys in a body to the football game between the University of Utah and the University of Idaho. The boys will attend the football game and there will undoubtedly sharpen their appetites for the turkey which will follow. Eleven different business houses have already consented to assist in the dinner and others are much in favor and will undoubtedly lend a hand. POLICE PARAGRAPHS.

John Moore, charged with robbery, yesterday, through his attorney, waived preliminary hearing and entered a plea of not guilty. Judge Diehl fixed his bail at $500.

George Moyer will have his hearing Monday next on the charge of keeping a vicious dog.

J. E. Moore, charged with the theft of $5 from a cobblery shop, will be given his hearing today.

James J. Edgar, accused of battery by Ella Edgar, and who is reputed to make the creation of disturbances within his home his particular hobby, especially when under the influence of liquor, asked until tomorrow to plead, but when there was a suggestive opposition to his being released upon his own recognizance he changed his mind and said he would plead guilty. He then wanted to tell the court his story of domestic troubles, confessing, "Yes, I have caused a good many rows, but I had cause to." The court put him off, however, saying that he would have to hear the testimony in any event, and on the promise that Edgar would be on his good behavior and attempt no disturbance within his family, he was given his release until 10 o'clock this morning.

When J. McBetty objected to his being ejected from his room in a lodging house at 115 East First South street he gave expression to his ire by hurling one of his boots through a window. He admitted to the court that he had broken the window, but said it was done while he was endeavoring to protect himself from being clubbed by the night clerk. The latter told a different story, saying that on account of the behavior of McBetty he had been forced to eject him. McBetty refused to go and threatened the clerk, who promptly knocked him down. "He came at me again," the clerk said, "and I knocked him down again, and then some more." Then, according to the clerk, McBetty hurled one of his boots through the window. Judge Diehl assessed McBetty a $5 fine.
