BETTER TONE TO STOCK MARKET

Power of Resistance to Unfavorable Factors Exists to a Considerable Degree.

LONDON IS BUYING AGAIN

METAL INDUSTRIALS AN INFLUENCE FOR GOOD.

New York, April 19.—The stock market once more proved its power of resistance to what were considered unfavorable factors in the outlook, and developed a considerable degree of positive strength. The bears continued their covering operations today when they perceived how little effect was produced on foreign stock markets by the admittedly serious situation of affairs in Turkey. The speculative tone abroad was more confident. London, instead of adding in depressing prices here, was a buyer of stocks on a considerable scale. The circulation over the week end of market letters and reviews brought no increase of outside selling orders. Influential advices from the wheat market also were not calculated to disturb feeling amongst the financial element. Weather advices from the crop regions were reassuring. The weather situation probably had as much general infuence on the tone of the market as any one factor.

During the morning hours there was more confident expectations than for some time past that a decision from the supreme court would be forthcoming today on the validity of the commodities clause of the Hepburn act. The dealings flagged for a time after it became known that the decision would not come today. The coalers maintained their strength well. The metal industrials also were a strong sustaining influence in the market, the movement embracing not only the iron, steel, copper and lead dealers, but companies engaged in more advanced stages in those industries, including electrical equipment companies. Steel trade sentiment is reported conservative on the continued heavy tendency of the price movement, such as to-day's announcement of reductions in steel wire prices. In spite of the unimproved prices, however, the decided expansion in orders in some branches of the steel industry is accepted as a certain precursor of later restoration of conditions prosperous to the trade. Railroad officials share in the conservatism expressed in the steel trade and report moderate, if any, improvement in the freight movement.

The hopeful expressions on the prospect reported from the head of the Union Pacific's banking house in the course of his travels abroad was a perceptible influence in keeping up the tone of the day's stock market. The renewal of the gold flow from London to Paris and the demonstrated ability of London bankers to command gold in New York strengthened the expectations of an outflow of gold from New York to Paris. New York cash supplies continued to be replenished from other sources, but the time money rates were appreciably firmer today.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $6,196,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, April 19.—Bullish enthusiasm in the wheat market was on the wane today and on several occasions it required the combined support by bull leaders to check the declining tendency brought about by a general selling movement. The change in sentiment was due in some degree to the heavy movement of wheat from Russia, the total exports from that country last week being 2,056,000 bushels, compared with only 216,000 bushels a year ago, and to more favorable reports regarding the fall-sown crop in this country. The marmarket opened weak at declines of ⅝c to 1⅛@1¼c, following a break of ⅝d to 1¼d at Liverpool, but recovered partially early in the day, owing to good demand by commission houses for the September and December deliveries. After rallying to within ¼c of Saturday's close for July the market broke sharply again on renewed selling, July declining from 118¼ to 116. Support by the bull leaders caused a mild recovery, but a decidedly weak tone again developed late in the session and all deliveries sold off to new low points for the day, July dropping back to 115⅞. The close was weak, with July at 116¼@116⅜. May closed at 127 and September at 107.

Substantial advances in corn prices were scored during the early trading, but owing to the slump in wheat a large part of the gain was subsequently lost. May advanced to 71¼ and July to 69, which is the highest price recorded so far for this season for those options. The September delivery also rose to a new high point at 63½. Light receipts, wet weather over the corn belt which will delay planting, a decrease of 1,259,000 bushels in the visible supply, were the bull factors. May sold between 67⅝@70 to 71¼. The market closed firm at net gains of ¼@¾c to ⅝@⅞c, with May at 70¼@70⅝.

Trade in oats was on a large scale, investment by out-of-town sources for the distant deliveries being a feature. The market closed about steady, with prices a shade lower to ¼@⅜c higher compared with Saturday's close.

Provisions were firm during the first half of the day, but weakened later and closed barely steady and unchanged to 2½c lower.

$98.03 Insurance Money

We collected $98.03 for H. L. Nelson of the New York Life Insurance company. This money was collected from a man who at one time wanted life insurance, but he gave a note in payment of the premium, and then he forgot about it. Later he denied his signature to the note, and could not remember ever having seen it before, and did not recognize the agent when he saw him. But we refreshed his memory, and now he knows his mother's name and can even remember the place of his birth. Turn in some of your claims and we will collect some for you.
