When a fellow has to write six times a week to the house he uses up his explanations mighty fast, and he's pretty apt to hustle for business to make his seventh letter interesting.—Brains.

YOUNG WOMAN FOULLY SLAIN IN MARYLAND

Mrs. Edith May Thompson Woodill of Los Angeles the Victim.

BODY FOUND IN CREEK WITH SKULL CRUSHED

HUSBAND HAD ACCOMPANIED HER EAST AND RETURNED HOME.

St. Michaels, Md., June 24.—John T. Roberts, charged with murdering Mrs. Edith May Woodill of Los Angeles, was surrounded in the house of John B. McQuay of Coyman, seven miles from here, tonight. A posse left in automobiles to aid in his capture. Roberts is said to be heavily armed.

Roberts called at McQuay's house for water. McQuay invited him in and then sent his wife secretly to notify neighbors, by whom the house was surrounded.

Baltimore, June 24.—The body of the woman found yesterday in Back river, near St. Michaels, Md., has been identified as that of Mrs. Edith May Thompson Woodill, 20 years old. Mrs. Woodill resided at Los Angeles, but came east with her husband last week to spend the summer at the home of Captain Charles M. Thompson, her foster father, at McDaniel, this state. Following the discovery and identification of the body, with evidence pointing to murder, State's Attorney Turner of Talbot county today sent out telegrams asking that a man who had claimed to be a newspaper man be arrested.

A dispatch from St. Michaels says that a bloody sheet and a woman's garment said to have belonged to Mrs. Woodill were found in the room of the suspect, who disappeared last night.

The suspect was a comparative stranger in Talbot county. He went there last fall and bought a little farm near the Thompson place. He described himself as a writer and newspaper correspondent.

Last Seen With Roberts.

Mrs. Woodill had not been seen since Saturday, when she was said to have gone on Niles river in a motor boat with the man suspected, until her body, weighted down with an iron post and the skull crushed in, was discovered by two boys.

Mrs. Woodill was possessed of rare beauty and was well known socially in Baltimore and on the Maryland eastern shore. She numbered among her warmest friends former Secretary of the Treasury Lyman J. Gage. Soon after her arrival at her foster father's farm at Mcdaniel, the man now sought, John T. or Emmit T. Roberts, was noticed to have been much in her company. It appeared that the pair had previously formed an acquaintance and they were seen together a great deal in the few days before she disappeared.

Last Saturday Mrs. Woodill went to Easton and had some dental work done. When she left, Captain Thompson supposed that Roberts would see her safely home, as he was going in the same direction.

Met by Murderer.

It develops that Roberts met her at Royal Oak station with a horse and carriage and the pair drove to St. Michaels, where they embarked in Roberts' launch and headed for the little creek that passes their homes. The last seen of Mrs. Woodill alive was when the little launch left the St. Michaels wharf. Between that time and the discovery of the body in the creek there is mystery as to what transpired.

To Captain Thompson and others who became anxious at the continued absence of Mrs. Woodill, Roberts said that she had come to Baltimore. He sought to allay the fears of the foster father by telling him that she would return in a few days.

Lying Letter Received.

Roberts came to Baltimore himself on Tuesday and at that time a letter was received by Captain Thompson which purported to be from Mrs. Woodill. It was mailed in this city and said she would be back home in a day or two. Roberts returned to McDaniel, found that the letter had been received and then said: "I told you so." But Captain Thompson was not satisfied. He interested some of his neighbors in the matter and began searching.

Mrs. Woodill was said to have had a large sum of money with her and wore diamond ornaments when she left home. The body was nude when found.

HUSBAND HEARTBROKEN.

Los Angeles, June 24.—The news of the death of Mrs. Edith M. Woodill, the young wife of Gilbert Woodill, president of the Woodill Automobile company of this city, created a sensation here, where both are well known. Mr. Woodill, who returned from Maryland but a week ago, where he had been on a visit with his wife, is prostrated by the blow. Neither he nor any of their relatives or friends know of any affair in which Mrs. Woodill was involved that might have led to such a tragedy.

Mr. Woodill received a letter from his wife today filled with expressions of affection and of hope for their early reunion. A few minutes after reading the letter, Mr. Woodill received the telegram announcing the bare fact that his wife had been murdered in Maryland.

Mrs. Woodill was 20 years of age and was formerly Miss Edith May Thompson, a ward of Lyman J. Gage, former secretary of the treasury, now a resident of San Diego. The couple were married in

CHINAMEN WILL HELP HUNT LING

Murderer Will Not Escape if His Countrymen Can Possibly Prevent It.

NO CLUE TO WHEREABOUTS

MURDERER OF ELSIE SIGEL KEEPS CLOSE TO HIS LAIR.

New Jork, June 24.—With all tangible indications of any near approach to a solution of the murder of Elsie Sigel narrowing to the vanishing point, another day of the three-fold investigation by police detectives and district attorney ended tonight. Chung Sin, after thirty-four hours of steady grilling, with but one intermission for sleep, had a day of rest at last.

Either because the police despair of squeezing more information out of him, or because they believe that if he is left for a space to forget the details of his first answers, he may entangle himself in more contradictions, they did not question him today.

No Definite Clues.

The same stream of unsatisfactory clues kept pouring in from Chinatown, from Newark and the suburbs, and even from the cities of the Pacific coast, but so far as the police here could determine tonight, not one has any substantial basis.

A rumor that a war between the tongs was impending because of Chu Gain's revelations to the police found momentary confirmation in the arrest late today of a lone Chinaman with a revolver tucked under his blouse, but the police said they were unable to connect him with any concerted plan for an uprising.

The one bit of authentic information which turned up today did not greatly forward the search for Leon Ling. This information came from Chu Gain, who explained that the $260 advanced to Chun Sin. Leon Ling's roommate, did not come out of his private purse. The police have been much puzzled about this loan, because its existence involved a contradiction.

Fund for Members.

Chu Gain explained today that the money was part of a loan fund belonging to the Chinese Empire Reform association, of which he is treasurer. The society has for its object, among other thing, the supplying of funds to its members, who are entitled to draw on the treasurer in proportion to the amount of their paid-up dues.

Chu, despite the fact that he is out on bail, keeps close to his restaurant, and admitted today that he thought it would be worth his life to walk down a dark alley at night.

Chinatown is more deeply stirred by the Sigel murder than by any event of recent years. The Mongolians feel their sufferance in the land that harbors them is in the balance.

Chinese Statements.

Two statements were issued today from the rival societies of which Chu Gain and Leon Ling are members.

The Chinese Masons say Leon was a member of the Chinese Empire Reform association, and that they have no interest in him whatever other than to aid in his capture.

On the other hand, the Chinese Empire Reform association has sent a circular letter to its 170 branches throughout the United States instructing all to watch for Leon Sing, who, it is said, had deserted the society for the Masons.

A meeting was held tonight in the Morning Star mission, in the heart of Chinatown, to raise funds for running down Leon Ling.

ANCIENT LAKE DWELLERS

Japanese Scientists Discover Relics of Great Interest—Lives Lost in Attempt to Recover Salvage.

Victoria, B. C., June 24.—Eight lives were lost in an attempt to recover salvage from the wreck of the long lost Hill liner Dakota off Shirahama at the entrance to Tokio bay, shortly before the sailing of the steamer Kaga Maru, according to mail advices on the Kaga.

The wreck had been sold by the underwriters and a party of wreckers was engaged in breaking up the remnants of the wreck when a dynamite cartridge was exploded by one of the divers as he was about to go down. Several men were injured severely. Two dead bodies have been recovered.

Japanese scientists have discovered relics of ancient lake dwellers with customs apparently alien to those of Japanese. At Lake Suwa several hundred stone arrows, disintegrated pieces of earthenware and other relics of the ancient water dwellers have been located.

ORCHARD NOT PARDONED.

Boise, Ida., June 24.—Warden Snook of the Idaho penitentiary today made the following statement relative to the positive editorial announcement in the Appeal to Reason, Girard, Kan., that Harry Orchard, the murderer of ex-Governor Steunenberg, had been secretly pardoned: "Of course Orchard is here. He is employed in the shoe department and can be seen by visitors."

Good-by.

SHIP SUBSIDY GRAFT.

Humphrey of Washington Author of the Latest Bill.

Washington, June 24.—The first active step toward ship subsidy legislation in the Sixty-first congress was taken today when Representative Humphrey of Washington introduced in the house his ocean mail subsidy bill.

It is patterned after the bill which was considered by the last congress, but contains several new features approved by the Merchant Marine league, whose banquet last night in the interest of a greater merchant marine was attended by President Taft. The original bill provided that the pay for ocean mail service on vessels of the second class on routes to South America, to the Philippines, to Japan, to China and to Australasia should hereafter be the pay now accorded vessels of the first class.

In addition, the new bill provides for "free ships."

American ships are to be permitted to purchase vessels in any country they may choose, and run them under their own flag in the foreign trade or trade with the Philippines.

Another section of the bill reduces the tonnage taxes on vessels in trade with nearby countries and increases the tax in the transoceanic trade. In the former trade American vessels are now represented, while in the transoceanic trade foreign ships are found almost entirely.

PROTEST FROM MONTANA.

Helena, Mont., June 24.—Holding that under the ruling in the Spokane case they are being forced to the wall, Montana jobbers have filed a protest with the state railroad commission and a public hearing is expected thereon soon. Eastern jobbers benefit through the cut in class rates, while no reduction is afforded Montana shippers under the commodity schedules.

DEATHS CAUSED BY TORRID HEAT

People of New York, Philadelphia and Other Eastern Cities Sweltering.

New York, June 24.—The fourth day of unabated heat found the hospitals tonight crowded with cases of prostration. At a late hour there had been recorded thirty-four cases of prostrations and three suicides. The mercury went to 92 at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Tonight the thermometer still registered 80, and what little wind there was came from the southwest, uncooled by the sea.

At Coney Island thousands slept all night on the sand.

Pittsburg, June 24.—Greater Pittsburg is today sweltering through the fourth day of torrid heat.

The total death list due to the excessive heat is placed at four, while prostrations are reported hourly through the day.

At many of the mills substitutes are kept constantly on hand to take the places of the prostrated mill workers.

The charity milk and ice depots are overrun with applications for aid from the tenement districts.

Philadelphia, June 24.—Philadelphia today continued to suffer. At noon the temperature was 88 degrees, 1 degree higher than yesterday at the same hour. Three heat deaths were reported up to noon, making twelve since the hot weather set in Sunday.

Chicago, June 24.—Forty-eight hours of excessive heat, during which the mercury showed a maximum of 87 degrees, was broken here today by a heavy thunderstorm.

JEALOUSY CAUSES MURDER

Tragedy at San Jose., Cal., Which Recalls a Similar Occurrence at San Francisco.

San Jose, Cal., June 24.—Mrs. Ida Schley, who was shot at 2 o'clock this morning of her jealous lover, will recover. She is the divorced wife of a beauty specialist, and is the woman who was with Mrs. Armour when the latter was shot in the Russ House last winter by Fred Smith, who subsequently hanged himself in the city prison. She has been keeping a lodging house at 212 South Second street, and A. Cleve Urlin, a well known local newspaper solicitor, had been friendly with her. Recently they quarrelled, and last night Urlin saw her on the street with W. Evans Dent, the owner of a saloon on South Market street. Going to the lodging house, Urlin shot Dent and the woman, and then killed himself. Urlin's parents are prominent people in Missoula, Mont.

Missoula, Mont., June 24.—Cleveland Urlin was the son of one of the first settlers of Missoula, A. J. Urlin. The elder Urlin died several years ago. "Cleve" worked in Missoula for several years in newspaper offices and left here for the coast. He was highly regarded here and his habits were good.

Further Account of the Disaster Overtaking American Tourists in Ireland.

Killarney, Ireland, June 24.—The bodies of three of the women who lost their lives in the boating accident on lower Killarney lake yesterday have been found by a police searching party on Muckross shore, two miles from where the boat was swamped. Identification has not yet been made.

The row boat, which was swamped during a gale, had on board five American and four English tourists and four Irish boatmen. All of the tourists and one of the boatmen were drowned. The names of the American victims are:

Mrs. A. A. Hilton and son, Tacoma, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Loughead, Boston.

Mrs. Catum (probably Mrs. H. W. Coburn) of Lowell, Mass.

News Confirmed.

London, June 24.—Cook's tourist agency today confirmed the statement that the woman described as "Miss Catum," who lost her life yesterday on the Lake Killarney, was Mrs. H. W. Coburn of Lowell, Mass., who was visiting the lake under the auspices of the agency. The agency has no knowledge of the other victims.

KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Oscar Lewisohn, Husband of Edna May, the Actress, Meets Death in Europe.

Berlin, June 24.—A report reached Berlin tonight that Oscar Lewisohn, the husband of Edna May, the former actress, was killed in an automobile accident between Vienna and Berlin today.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 24.—Edgar C. Pettie, father-in-law of Oscar Lewisohn, tonight expressed the opinion that the latter had not been touring Europe.

A letter received today from Mrs. Lewisohn gave no intimation that her husband was to take a trip. He was at his home at Windsor Forest, near London, when the letter was written.

Mr. Pettie thinks the man killed in the automobile accident may be Jesse Lewisohn, a brother of Oscar.

LISTENING TO TARIFF DEBATE

Eighty Members of the House Rounded Up in Senate Chamber.

THREE LENGTHY SPEECHES

BEVERIDGE, NEWLANDS AND BAILEY THE OFFENDERS.

Washington, June 24.—A short time before adjournment tonight at 7 o'clock the senate returned to the consideration of the tariff schedules after devoting the greater part of the day listening to prepared speeches. Amendments were adopted increasing the duty on shoes from 15 to 20 per cent ad valorem, and increasing the duty on sole leather from 5 to 10 per cent ad valorem, the lower figure representing the house rate in each case. An amendment increasing the duty on collodion was also adopted.

Washington, June 24.—The course of the senate today was the reverse of its course yesterday, the entire day being given over to speeches. There were three lengthy addresses.

Senator Beveridge talked for about four hours and was followed by Mr. Bally at almost as great length.

Mr. Newlands was the last of the day's orators, and he had not long surrendered the floor when the senate adjourned.

Mr. Beveridge discussed an amendment proposed by him regarding the size of tobacco packages. He contended that while the size of the package had been reduced during the Spanish war to compel the purchaser to pay the war tax, those sizes had not been restored, nor the prices reduced, notwithstanding the removal of the tax, thus practically giving the tobacco affairs, and especially the tobacco trust, the advantage of the tax, even though it has not been in operation for about nine years. He declared the trust had influenced legislation for this purpose, and asserted it was being benefitted to the extent of many million dollars a year.

Mr. Bailey's Talk.

Mr. Bailey talked about free raw material for the purpose of justifying his vote as a Democrat against the free entry of iron ore, lumber and hides. He declared that previous to the Cleveland administration the established Democratic policy was in opposition to the free admission of raw material.

Mr. Newlands considered the income tax question, devoting especial consideration to the president's recommendation for a corporation tax. He discussed at length the legislation of 1898 providing for a tax upon the gross receipts of oil refiners, on which the Spreckels case was decided by the supreme court, and which is relied upon by the president as a precedent for the proposed corporation tax. He pointed out especially that the law of 1898 was applicable, not to corporations alone, but to every person, firm, company and corporation carrying on such business. He suggested that a tax applying only to corporations might violate the constitutional requirement of uniformity.

House Provides for Census.

Washington, June 24.—On the eve of the expiration of the current fiscal year, the house today authorized an emergency appropriation of $10,000,000 for defraying the expenses of taking the thirteenth decennial census.

In presenting the bill, Mr. Tawney, chairman of the committee on appropriations, announced that unless the money was forthcoming the census bureau would be compelled to suspend all business next Wednesday. Notwithstanding this warning, the bill met with much opposition, and it was only finally passed after Mr. Macon of Arkansas had forced a roll call on a point of no quorum.

To get the members for this vote the sergeant-at-arms and his deputies scoured the capitol under orders from Speaker Cannon. About eighty members were found comfortably seated in the senate, listening to the tariff debate.

LETTERS OF INQUIRY RECEIVED BY G. A. R.

Letters were received at G. A. R. headquarters yesterday from Grand Army men in Indiana, Washington, D. C., Minnesota, Colorado, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Oklahoma. Each of these letters asked for accommodations in Salt Lake during the week of the encampment. Some of the letters asked for quarters for two or three, and others for parties of ten and twenty.

The women who have charge of securing accommodations for the visiting old soldiers believe these letters of inquiry coming from all parts of the country indicate a large attendance at the encampment.

PRIVILEGE EXTENDED.

(Special to The Herald.)

Washington, June 24.—Secretary Ballinger has issued notice that settlers under reclamation projects may make full payment to the government of their indebtedness for their proportionate part of construction charges upon compliance with the requirements of the irrigation act as to residence, cultivation and reclamation. An order was issued July 9, 1908, extending this privilege to settlers on the Minidoka project, and the present order is made so that all settlers under the irrigation act will have equal privileges. Representative Mondell, who has been in Wyoming for the past month, returned here today.

CALLED BACK TO THE STAND IN REBUTTAL

Mrs. Katherine Clemmons Gould Denies Stories Told by Her Servants.

NEVER BECAME DRUNK ABOARD THE NIAGARA

NEVER HAD COACHMAN'S ARM ABOUT HER WAIST—FARNUM RELATIONS PLATONIC.

New York, June 24.—Katherine Clemmons Gould was called back to the stand for a final ordeal today, to explay away, if possible, the damaging testimony given by the witnesses for her husband in her suit for separation and alimony of $250,000 a year.

It was a day of denials, beginning with the reading of the deposition of Dustin Farnum, who denied all allegations of improper conduct with Mrs. Gould, and ending with Mrs. Gould's repeated denials of practically everything in word or action attributed to her by the witnesses for the other side.

Denied Everything.

For two warm hours Mrs. Gould answered the carefully framed questions of her counsel, repudiating with a monotonous flat denial all the testimony charging her with excessive drinking, profanity or other impropriety. Chauffeurs, grooms, stablemen, shopkeepers, laborers and other servants and employes were alike branded with the short and ugly epithet. She never drank to excess, never used profane language, never forgot her dignity as mistress of Castle Gould, and never overstepped the bounds of propriety, according to her statements.

She told her counsel she never tried to hitch up a pair of mules, never ordered dishes and food thrown from her St. Regis apartments, never referred to Dustin Farnum as "my new beau," never quarreled with her husband before company, never had a coachman's arm around her waist to hold her on the carriage seat, never discharged an employe in anger, never became intoxicated aboard the Niagara, never consumed two quarts of cocktails in two days.

Friendship for Farnum.

Mrs. Gould's explanation of her friendship with Dustin Farnum naturally took up much of her time today. Her testimony held close to the line drawn in the deposition offered in behalf of Farnum, who was unable to appear, it was announced, on account of illness.

Whatever intimacy there was between her and the actor was accounted for by her desire to have his advice regarding her plans to return to the stage.

"My home had been broken up," she said, "all authority had been taken from me, my happiness was gone and I wanted some occupation to divert my mind. I thought of returning to the stage and wanted to talk the matter over with Mr. Farnum, who, I was convinced, would be able to help me."

She had not seen Farnum, she said, from 1904 until 1906, when she talked with him about returning to the stage.

No Endearing Names.

Mrs. Gould said Farnum was never in her parlor at the St. Regis, except on the August afternoon in 1904, when they lunched together with several others present, and on the occasion of the automobile accident on Long Island when they returned there to arrange for bail for the chauffeur. She never addressed Mr. Farnum by any endearing names, she said, and never permitted any improper familiarity.

Only once was the even ripple of the question and answer between Mr. Shearn and Mrs. Gould disturbed.

The interruption was by Justice Dowling, who said that he wanted to look later at Mrs. Gould's now famous dinner checks at the St. Regis.

"I had not intended to mention them," declared Mr. Shearn, perturbed. He promised to produce them for the court's inspection, too, however.

It is believed the case will close tomorrow.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS

Bingham Furnishes Its Daily Quota—Child Narrowly Escapes Drowning.

(Special to The Herald.)

Bingham, June 24.—Mike Kaortovich, an Austrian mucking on the sixth level of the No. 6 tunnel of the Highland Boy mine, this afternoon had occasion to step on one of the timbers on a sett in a stope. He fell headlong a distance of about fifteen feet, striking on the rocks, inflicting several ugly gashes on the side of the head. He was taken to the Keogh-Hammond hospital in Salt Lake on this evening's train.

Georgie Dean, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dean, 2½ years of age, had a narrow escape from drowning this evening. While crossing a foot bridge near his home he lost his footing and plunged into Bingham creek. Mrs. Charles Peterson, a neighbor, was standing a few rods away, saw the accident and jumped into the stream and rescued the child before he could be carried down the stream by the rushing waters.

Dr. J. F. Flynn received a severe injury this evening by being kicked on the right leg by his horse, which he had just dismounted.

Louise Kantzman, the little daughter of Mr and Mrs. Barney Kantzman, had the fore finger of her right hand badly lacerated today in a clothes wringer.

SUIT DISMISSED.

Washington, June 24.—The attorney-general today directed the dismissal of the government's suit against the New, York, New Haven & Hartford and the Boston & Maine railways and others for violating the anti-trust laws. The Massachusetts legislature has expressly authorized the consolidation of those roads.

MARSHALSHIP UP IN THE AIR

(Special to The Herald.)

Washington, D. C., June 24.—Senators Sutherland and Smoot stated today that it was not certain that the question of appointing a new United States marshal for Utah would be settled in time to have the appointment made and go into effect on the beginning of the coming fiscal year, July 1.

Senator Sutherland said: "We discussed the marshalship informally a few days ago, but did not decide on any appointment, and I am not certain that we shall do so."

Senator Smoot said: "We have been too busy with the tariff to do much with the marshalship question. I expect to take it up, however, with Sutherland and Howell in a few days, and until that time I cannot give any definite statement about it."

Senator Smoot was informed today by President Taft that he would pass through Utah in September on his proposed trip to the Pacific coast, and would stop off at Salt Lake City for twenty-four hours. It is not certain what time in September the trip will be made. This depends, in part, upon the time congress will adjourn, and in part upon the condition of Mrs. Taft's health.

PRISON FOR ROBINSON

New York, June 24.—Sanford Robinson, personal counsel to F. Augustus Heinze, was convicted in the United States circuit court today of impeding the administration of justice in advising a grand jury witness to evade the service of a subpoena. The jury brought in a recommendation for mercy.

The trial of Arthur P. Heinze, indicted on a charge of abetting the escape of Tracy S. Buckingham from the subpoena server of the grand jury, who wanted the books of the United Copper company, was started today.

The remainder of the day was taken up with the selection of a jury and the opening of the trial. Counsel for both sides said that they expected to have all the evidence before the jury tomorrow.

A. P. Heinze and his wife were interested spectators. They appeared considerably affected at the verdict against Robinson.

Sentence will not be imposed upon Robinson until the conclusion of the Heinze trial.
