CONSERVATION REPORT ISSUED

Utah Delegate to National Congress at Seattle Discusses Purposes of Movement.

STATES ARE REPRESENTED

RESOLUTIONS URGING CARE OF RESOURCES ARE PASSED.

O. J. Salisbury, vice chairman of the Utah State Conservation commission, who has just returned from the First National Conservation congress, held under the auspices of the Washington Conservation association at Seattle, August 26, 27 and 28, spoke in interesting manner last night of the good work accomplished by the congress.

Mr. Salisbury said delegates and representatives of state conservation commissions to the number of 200 were in attendance at this congress.

"The Utah State Conservation commission was represented by Governor William Spry, Dr. J. A. Widtsoe of Logan, Professor Joseph Merrill and myself," said Mr. Salisbury.

"The needs for the conservation of natural resources and various plans and suggestions for the putting in practice of a conservation movement were freely discussed and received the hearty endorsement of the delegates attending this congress.

"Gifford Pinchot, Secretary Ballinger, J. J. Heney and other prominent speakers expressed themselves to the effect that the conservation of the nation's resources and the perfecting of plans and policies to obtain these results are the most important problems confronting the people of America today.

"It was strongly urged that the State Conservation commissions should at once proceed along active lines and the general endorsement of conservation operations should be given by the legislatures of the respective states and of the people at large.

"The Utah State Conservation commission received due recognition at this congress, and was assured of hearty co-operation in its work by the other state conservation commissions and the men active in conservation work of the nation.

"The Utah State Conservation commission is now engaged in the collection of data which will be embodied in a formal report on the natural resources of the state of Utah, and it is earnestly hoped that the people and the officials of each county in the state will co-operate with the commission in this very important work."

Resolutions Adopted.

The resolutions adopted by this congress follow:

Resolved, That we urge active and earnest support by all citizens and especially by all members of state legislatures, of measures insuring state aid in the prevention of forest fires and insect pests, and in promoting other lines of forest conservation.

We favor legislation looking toward the reforestation of such cut-over lands as are more valuable for other uses and as will tend when reforested to conserve the waters and regulate the flow of streams; and we favor forest planting on waste lands, especially of the headwaters of streams.

We urge the unification of state laws relating to woodlands and timber and the adoption of a system of taxation under which woodlands will pay a moderate annual land tax and the timber will be taxed only when cut.

We urge on the states the enactment of comprehensive water laws framed in accordance with the policy pursued in several western states during recent years, incorporating the principle that the waters belong to the people. We hold that this right of the people is inherent and indefeasible. Recognizing the necessity for administering this invaluable possession of the people, we deny the right of state or federal governments to alienate or convey water by granting franchises for the use thereof, for commercial or power purposes in perpetuity or without just compensation in the interests of the people.

Since the conservation of the forests and waters is essential to the welfare of the people of all our states, and since the forest service and the reclamation service have initiated and carried forward the policy of conserving these great resources, we declare the endorsement of the aims and policies of these branches of the public service and urge our representatives in state legislatures and the federal congress to give them adequate support.

Realizing that the waste in mining, treating and using our mineral resources and the loss of life in mining operations have reached national extent and importance and concern the welfare of both present and future citizenship, we urge the congress of the United States to establish a national bureau of mines, authorized to conduct such inquiries and investigations as will aid our citizens and states in lessening the loss of life and waste of resources in our mining industries.

We hold that all natural resources belong primarily to the whole people and should not be alienated by municipal, state or national grants or franchises to individuals or corporations except for limited periods.

We commend the actions of President Roosevelt in creating and of President Taft in maintaining the National Conservation commission; we consider the establishment and work of this commission to mark a notable step in national progress; and we demand that the federal congress take early action toward sustaining that commission or some equivalent agency for the public welfare in an adequate manner.

Since the territory of Hawaii is approaching the limit of its ability to develop the natural resources along the usual industrial lines and would be enabled to increase materially the number of American homes through a comprehensive system of irrigation, we urge the congress of the United States to extend the reclamation act of June 17, 1902, to that territory.

With a view to the better development of the resources within their borders, we demand of the congress of the United States legislation at an early date providing for the admission of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona as sovereign states of the union.

Since the measure of success attained by this congress has been due to the initiative and enterprise of the Washington State Conservation commission and the Washington State Conservation association and to the courtesies extended by the state, by the city of Seattle and by the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, we signalize our hearty appreciation of these agencies and their respective officers and recognizing the able efforts and personal sacrifices made by him in the past fourteen weeks, we tender a special asknowledgement to Richard W. Douglas as organizer of this congress for the great public service freely rendered by him.

FLOODS COVER UTAH RAILROAD

Denver & Rio Grande Tracks Repaired and Delayed Traffic Is Resumed.

Five Denver & Rio Grande trains went over the washout at Mounds at 10 o'clock last night after a delay of thirty-six hours, due to one of the most disastrous floods which has ever visited eastern Utah. In addition to the five trains tied up at the washout there were several trains scheduled to have left Salt Lake yesterday which were canceled on account of the floods.

The great flood occurred at noon Tuesday, shortly before No. 6, which left Salt Lake at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, reached the scene. Through the serrated cliffs of Mounds, Utah, a station fifteen miles east of Price, the water poured in great torrents. At the same time great floods of rain were coming from the heavens. For miles the water covered the Denver & Rio Grande tracks and in places washed them out altogether.

The eastbound train was held at Helper waiting definite information concerning the flood. Passenger trains No. 2, leaving Salt Lake at 5:05 Tuesday afternoon; No. 4, leaving Salt Lake at 7:10 that evening, and No. 8, leaving at 7:20, reached Helper during the night and all were held up awaiting the completion of repairs. The railroad company opened its dining cars and supplied food to the passengers without charge. About 1,500 passengers were then in the tieup.

Word was received from Price yesterday forenoon that the repairs on the track would be completed some time during the evening, and No. 6, which had been held in Salt Lake awaiting this word, left at noon yesterday. Trains No. 2 and 4 were canceled and two sections of No. 8 left Salt Lake at 7:20 last evening.

JUDGE DISPOSES OF MANY CASES

Fifty-Four Men and Women Face Judge J. M. Bowman.

The first afternoon session of police court since July 6 showed a total docket call of fifty-four names, equally divided between the sexes. Many of the cases had been held over for the last three months and it required three hours for Judge J. M. Bowman to clear the docket.

Theodore Harris, proprietor of a chili parlor at the Salt Palace, charged with battery upon H. N. Anderson, a waiter, after defending his case with no small degree of ability, was released pending an investigation which will be made after the resort closes.

H. Bradley, charged with obstructing the sidewalks by leaving his automobile upon the street the night of the "Living Flag" parade, was found guilty, but no fine was imposed. His attorney, F. B. Scott, filed notice of appeal.

Peter Alexander, a negro, charged with assault upon A. Grosky, an old man who was attempting to effect the arrest of two negro women for robbing him, will receive his sentence today. A smile passed over the court room after Alexander stated that the old man had struck him, giving him a black eye.

The case against Fred Neeley, Harry Fernol, Jake Gerver, C. J. Starr, Frank Yorey, Bob Bernstein, Edward O'Brien and Charles Leeley, newsboys, charged with gambling, was dismissed as the boys expressed their desire to be good.

Lulu May, Agnes Gilman, Dora French and Ida Johnson, regresses charged with robbery during the G. A. R. encampment, were released Wednesday on account of the witnesses against them having departed from the city.

K. Kanaba, a Japanese charged with being drunk, who appeared with a badly swollen face and two eyes blackened and closed, was released on the recommendation of the assistant city attorney, who said that the man had been sufficiently punished.

E. Glasier, a special officer, who assaulted a Greek when the latter was attempting to give a newsboy a thrashing, was fined $10 for his trouble.

The case against E. H. Whitlock and J. A. Fritch, charged with keeping an unsafe building, was dismissed on the recommendation of the assistant city attorney on the grounds that the law was defective.

S.S.S. CURES ECZEMA, ACNE, TETTER ETC.

While Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, etc., are troubles which affect the skin, their source is far deeper than the outside cuticle. These affections are caused by irritating humors, or uratic acid in the blood. Such impurities inflame and irritate the delicate net-work of fibrous tissue which lies just beneath the surface of the outer skin, and the inflammatory discharge thus produced is forced out through the pores and glands, and is continually kept up while the blood remains infected. This exudation causes the formation of scales and crusts so often seen in Eczema, and when they are scratched off the flesh is left raw and more susceptible to other infection. It can very readily be seen then that to produce a cure the circulation must be purified and cleansed. This S. S. S. will do. It goes down to the very bottom, removes all humors and impurities, neutralizes the excessive acids of the system and in this way removes the cause of disease. Local applications can only soothe the irritation and assist in keeping the skin clean; they never produce a cure because such treatment does not reach the blood. S. S. S. restores to the thin, acrid blood all its lost properties, makes it pure and rich and enables it to nourish the skin and keep it soft, smooth and healthy. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free to all who write.
