LOCAL BREVITIES.

The night school is progressing nicely with seven students enrolled.

The Cash Bargain Store and [illegible] change in their large ad this week.

The City Council met Monday and adjourned till tonight without transacting any business.

Rev. George Hoxie is at Park City and will preach at the Congregational Church in this city next Sunday.

The Wahsatch Library society gave a ball at Cluff's Hall Wednesday evening. The party was well attended, and was one of the most enjoyable socially that has been given in Coalville for a long time.

A petition has been circulated and about fifty names secured to organize a company of soldiers in Coalville. A meeting will be held Monday night to complete arrangements, and we hope to within a few weeks to hear the new company of the territory.

Dr. Homes was called to Grass Lake last night to attend Lawrence Neff, son of Conrad Neff, who received a very serious injury Thursday by his team falling with him while on his way to school. The Doctor found the [illegible] the leg badly fractured, but thinks he will recover.

At this writing, Friday, Mr. Y. Lambert, who has been so very ill with typhoid fever, is reported on the mending, although still very low, his little boy is also [illegible]. Mr. [illegible] reached home from Chicago Tuesday, the telegram sent last evening reached him.

During the political excitement and the nightly holding of caucuses, a great many of the cross bridges have been badly disarranged, and are in need of repair immediately, before accidents occur. We understand that many pickets have also been torn from the fences and in all parts, there are bars broken down that must replace them.

The masquerade that will be given in the Pavilion, on Thanksgiving night promises to outdo anything in this line ever given in this city. Many valuable prizes will be given away, and the whole affair is to be carried out on a good scale. The prizes will be exhibited at the People's Mercantile company store. Maggie Nelson has a large stock of masks direct from the east.

Since the last report published, the Ontario has sent two shipments of bullion: On the 28th, fifty bars, containing 26,787.35 fine ounces, and on the 31st, fifty-three bars, containing 27,[illegible] fine ounces of silver. On November 1st the Mayne sent shipped eighteen bars of bullion, containing 9,[illegible] fine ounces of silver. Following are the assessments from the Mineral Range for the past week: Anchor consolidated, $40,400; Silver King Mammoth, $1,000. Total payments, $43,000.—Herald.

John Farrish, who was with an accident from the dislodging of a dynamite and was taken home to Park City a week ago, a report of which the Times printed last week, died from the effects of his injuries last Sunday morning. Commenting on it, The Tribune says: John Farrish had been a resident of Park City for over twenty years. He invested his surplus earnings from the Blackmailer's lode in developing mining claims, of which he owned many in various parts of the district, including Park City. His holdings are prospects, are chiefly unpatented, but they are well located. He was one of the fortunate losers in the famous Woodside lawsuit, and lost not only his interest in the good ledge, but before it was made productive. He was fortune did not last long, and while he had money he was lavish in expending it so that employment could be given to all who desired it. He was a genial, generous bachelor, and when death came he was approaching the age of threescore and ten. Of the five Woodside losers who made themselves rich, the Wellman brothers are the only ones left in the land of the living. Senator Dolph, Farrish, John Drake and Cornelius McLaughlin having long since departed this life.

The life was instantly crushed out of Carl F. Bergstrom, between 4 and 5 o'clock Saturday morning, at Longyear's lime quarry, a short distance north and above the Warm Springs. Bergstrom and a fellow employee, named Kelsey, were moving over a large rock, when a heavy weighing several hundred pounds, slipped from its position about [illegible] feet above them and came down [illegible] on the unfortunate young man. His head, chest and shoulders are a hopeless, unrecognizable mass, and death was certainly instantaneous. Fortunately, Kelsey escaped injury. The deceased came here from Sanford about seven years ago. He leaves a wife and three small children in straitened circumstances. Their loss is keenly felt in the community, and he was well thought of by his acquaintances, who were horrified to witness his tragical death. Coroner Taylor has charge of the remains and will hold an inquest Monday morning at 10 o'clock.—Tribune.

A Sad Death.

Mrs. Louie Walker died last night at 11 o'clock, she never fully recovered from the effects of an attack of scarlet fever last year, and her strength was not sufficient to withstand the second attack, she leaves a husband and eight children to mourn her loss, the youngest being an infant only 1 year old. The sympathy of the community is extended to the grief-stricken family. Mrs. Walker had a very large circle of friends, who loved her dearly for her many virtues. The funeral will take place from the Relief House at 2 o'clock Sunday.

THE HOME COMFORT RANGE.

What the Users Have Was Shown About Them.

Saturday Messrs. J. C. Bennett and H. Engeldt, who have charge of our interests for the Wrought Iron Range Company under Division Superintendent J. H. Lister, invited a Times representative down to their headquarters to see one of their ranges. The invitation was accepted, and we certainly saw something in the stove line that was a decided surprise.

A range was dissected for our benefit and every piece and fixture battered and pounded with heavy weights, the range representative stating that if we broke or spoiled a single piece he would make us a present of a stove; but our attempts in this direction made no impression whatever. A side shell, dropped by two men shell broke without a pressing of more than 300 pounds, the oven door was let down, and a man weighing 175 pounds jumped on it without any perceptible effect; the lids and fixtures were subjected to all kinds of knocks, so we had to see every part of the stove, until the stove pipe was bent and twisted, straightened out without leaving a flaw. The stove was heated until red hot all over, when a bucket of cold water was thrown on it; but the result was the same—no injury following. The ranges are equipped with every modern improvement and are certainly as near perfection as a stove could possibly be. The range is built of wrought steel and malleable iron; the oven is solid steel, without a joint. No rods are used in its construction, and its representative claims it will last a lifetime. To all appearances their claims are well founded. They will remain in this city several weeks, and have already the proof of several of their ranges.

A BRANCH OFFICE.

The Columbia Building & Loan Association Will Start One in Coalville.

H. S. Bryant, general agent of the Columbia Building & Loan Association of Denver, is in the city with the view of establishing a branch office in this city.

This association is one of the strongest building companies in existence. It stood safely through the panic of '93 and '94, and closed the latter year in a prosperous condition, notwithstanding the fact that withdrawals were heavier during that year than ever before known. Its stability and soundness is due to the safeguards by wise methods and rules adopted by the company against loss to its stockholders.

This an office in Coalville will prove a great convenience and benefit to the citizens here, and it is thought that there will be no difficulty in securing enough stock here to warrant the establishment of the branch office. Several of our citizens are already identified with the company, and Mr. Bryant will be found at the Coalville House to give all the desired information to those wishing to look into the matter. The company not only will give information on all points, but invite a thorough investigation of their business methods. Last year, notwithstanding the money panic of that panic, the total profits of the company amounted to $115,854.62, and $11,586.47 were distributed among the stockholders in dividends.

If the branch office is established, the name of the officers will be published in The Times next week.

LAND DECISIONS.

Published by H. M. Harlan, Land Attorney, Washington, D. C.

A person who files his Soldier's D. S. to an agent is bound by agent's action and exhausts his rights and cannot make a new filing or H. E. entry.

An application to enter, to be valid, must be made at a time when the land is free from application, and legally subject to entry.—Duke Smith, Secretary.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE.

A Good Attendance and Much Interest Taken.

Meeting was opened by the choir singing from page [illegible].

Prayer by Edward Eldredge.

Continued the singing by the choir.

President Cluff arose and said that he was sorry that such a small audience was present. He spoke upon the duty of the Saints to be charitable and forgiving, and helped them to try and live without carrying with them harsh feelings towards those with whom they should associate.

Meeting was brought to a close and adjourned until 2 p. m. by the choir singing from page 101 and benediction by Robert Walker.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Meeting opened by choir singing from page 122.

Prayer by George Roff.

Elder B. S. Young was the first speaker. He felt pleased to announce that he was a member of the church of God; spoke of the many blessings which follow self-sacrifice, and urged the Saints to practice the same.

Bishop O. F. Whitney was the next speaker. He said that the Saints should leave all the things and feelings of the world, outside when they go into the houses of God to worship, and that they should not carry with them a feeling of hatred toward each other; related his experience when called on his first mission, and how he received the starting point of his testimony from dreams which he had after he had been on his mission about five months, which he said was a grand season to him.

Meeting was then brought to a close by the choir singing hymn on page 277, and adjourned till 9 a. m. Sunday morning.

Benediction by J. H. Williams.

SUNDAY MORNING.

Meeting opened by the choir singing from page 32; prayer by Thomas Bell.

President Cluff was the first speaker. He reported the Summit Stake as being in a prosperous condition, and that the health of the people in general was good; that their faith in the Latter-Day Saints was very strong.

Fred Rasband of Park City was called upon to give a report of the branch at Park City. He said that when they first started to hold their meetings they held them in private houses, but the houses soon become too small and they hired a hall in which they could accommodate more of the people, and now that is too small; said that they were all taking a great interest in the church.

Apostle Lyman next addressed the congregation. He advised the Saints not to take so great an interest in politics that they would forget their religion; told the people to consider the Stake tabernacle so that it might be dedicated free of debt; said if there were any improvements needed in this stake that the people should at once make them, and make this place one worthy of the attention of the visitors.

The choir sang an anthem, "Enter Into Heaven," after which meeting was adjourned till 2 o'clock.

Benediction by F. W. Marchant.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

Meeting opened by the choir singing from page 244; prayer by Bishop Sargent of Heberville. Continued by the choir and congregation singing hymn on page 196.

Sacrament was administered by Elders Thomas Cooley and E. H. Rhead assisted by four other elders.

President Cluff made a few remarks, referring to the completion of the Stake House; notified the bishops of the various wards to meet with their counselors and the leading men of their wards and appoint a committee to go around and see what the people were willing to give toward the completion of this building.

Apostle Lyman next arose and spoke upon the order of administering the sacrament; also of the necessity of having and taking to the last meetings their offerings so that the poor in the ward may receive the benefit; said that at last meeting was the place for those who are in transgression to acknowledge their sins, and of the necessity of prayer in the last meetings; spoke upon the necessity of keeping the minutes of the conference written down in ink and bound in a substantial book, and recommended that the same be done; said the same go to keep the records of conferences, Ward, Stake, Sunday schools, etc. He then presented the general and local church authorities and they were sustained unanimously by the people.

Richard Tooth was then ordained a patriarch in the Summit Stake.

W. H. Branch was ordained a member of the high council.

Meeting was brought to a close and adjourned for three months by the choir singing an anthem, "The Lord is My Shepherd."

Benediction by Bishop Attwood.

NOTICE.

The Columbia Building and Loan Association.

Has passed through the panic without being in the least embarrassed or crippled. We have met every obligation, fulfilled every promise, and in the past year and a half have paid to our depositors nearly two millions of dollars with interest, and at the same time made loans to worthy applicants all over the land.

We are still prepared to go on as before and take the public into our confidence in any reliable Banking House or to the Commercial agencies of either Bradstreet or Dun. We need the closest investigation. We will be in Coalville for a few days and would be pleased to see and talk with all who may be interested in having a good substantial branch of our savings department established here. Don't be backward. If you can, come and see me let me know and I will call on you, am staying at the Coalville House.
