LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Utah sugar factory is enjoying a boom.

David Moore has a new advertisement in this issue. Read it.

Sheep continue to go through town, headed for their winter ranges.

The county clerk on Wednesday issued a marriage license to Hyrum Jorgensen and Lottie Walker, both of Peoa.

As soon as THE TIMES can secure the complete official returns of the election, it will publish them in tabular form.

The embezzlement case against Alma Hagen came up for trial at Provo on Tuesday and the information was quashed.

The Salt Lake banks report that a number of "counterfeit" coins are in circulation in that city.

The People's Mercantile company comes out again with some startling prices in their advertisement. Read them.

A man has been arrested at Ogden who is thought to be Kelford, one of the murderers of Sheriff Boone at Sanpete county.

Mrs. A. C. Pollock, widow of the late minister to San Salvador, has arrived in San Francisco and was due to arrive in Salt Lake to-day.

As I look there upends over for visitor check the list of the summer dawn; We're married now, and I'm free to see just how the stuff's put up.

Hamel, the man who killed a Mexican in Garfield county some time ago for intimacy with his (Hamel's) wife is now on trial for murder at Beaver.

Maggie Salmon has made a change in her advertisement this week. The holidays are close at hand, and she has many attractions in her stock of goods.

The latest re have been able to obtain with regard to the political complexion of the constitutional convention is that the Republicans claim sixty out of the 107 members.

The Logan Nation painted the town red last week by issuing its paper printed on red ink, red eagles, a good deal of red cross and we certainly read it with much interest.

The weather being favorable and nothing else preventing itself to block the wheels of justice, Charles Thiede, the Murray wife-murderer, will be hanged on the 16th of next month.

For some reason our reliable and wide-awake correspondent from Peoa missed us this week, and our readers will note the absence of his bright letter in this issue. This is the first time in nearly a year that he has failed us.

From the fact that we didn't know anything about it, THE TIMES failed to mention that a booming fourteen-pound boy made its appearance at the residence of Fred Wilde last week. The mother at this writing is quite ill, though improving and the babe is doing nicely.

Fred S. Conley, two traveling photographers from Butte, Mont., passed through Coalville Monday. They are traveling through the territory taking views and photographs of the scenery and various buildings in the towns they visit.

Superintendent Lollar of the Wrought Iron Range company of St. Louis, informs us that he is meeting with marked success in the sale of his goods in this county, and that he has ordered another carload of wagons. Hold the new boilers mentioned published this week, and look out for them.

Frank Warde, a miner at the Silver King mine, Park City, was fatally injured yesterday morning by a boulder falling on him and fracturing the spine. The injured man was taken to Salt Lake, and Dr. Pinkston operated on the spine, but has no hopes of the patient's recovery. He leaves a wife and two small children.

The program at the Webster Literary Society last Tuesday consisted of an address by John Cullis, a parody by George Field, short lecture by James Calderwood and a debate on Resolved "That Fire is More Destructive Than Water." Frank Biggins and Bo st stood for the negative and W. Calderwood and D. Gareth for the affirmative. Every number on the program was well rendered, and the interest and rapid improvement of the participants since the organization of the society was very marked. [illegible] at the last meeting. The debate was decided in favor of the negative. A good program will be given next Tuesday night.

F. M. Pinney, Jr., gave a birthday party to about twenty-five of his playmates on Saturday afternoon, it being the occasion of his seventh birthday. A very enjoyable time was had by the little ones.

Word reached here to-day that a Mr. Lambert, who was hauling coal, near near Kamas, fell from his wagon and was run over. No particulars further than that he was badly injured and had been unconscious for six hours, could be obtained at this writing.

George W. Edgington, by advice of his physician, has gone to Ogden for treatment in the hospital at that place. Mr. Edgington has been a great sufferer the past month, and it is supposed the wound he received in the shoulder in the war of the rebellion is the prime cause of his trouble. When he departed for Ogden his arm was swollen to an alarming extent.

The remains of J. D. Hunter, the old gentleman who wandered away from the infirmary at Salt Lake several weeks ago, mention of which was made in THE TIMES, were found Sunday near Bonneville in a badly decomposed state. The deceased was identified by the clothing and the testament found in his pocket with his name on the flyleaf. The body was taken to Salt Lake and the funeral services held Monday afternoon.

The election is over, the signs of Democratic and Republican headquarters have been taken down and stored away until they are again needed, and things have settled down into their natural channels. The final showoff was held by the victorious party from all over the territory at Salt Lake last Monday, while the defeated party accept the results good naturally and philosophically.

The Ontario mill will ship 50 bars of bullion to-morrow, the five ounces of which have not been figured at this writing. The ore shipments are light again this week, the Silver King, Daly and Ontario not being represented. They are as follows: Anchor concentrates, 883,100; Silver King concentrates, 173,280; Apex, 20,010. Total pounds, 717,250.—Record.

On Monday of this week W. H. Smith circulated a list around the city for the purpose of securing contributions to assist Mr. James Walker, who last week suffered the loss of his wife. Mr. Walker is an honest and industrious man, but for many months past has been out of employment. By the death of his wife, eight small children are left to his care, and while Mr. Walker personally made no application for charity, his friends understood the situation. Again the spirit of charity, for which the good people of Coalville and vicinity are noted, manifested itself, and in a remarkably short time $19.75 in cash and $12 in merchandise were down on the list. It was given in a spirit worthy the good cause, and we will warrant that the heart of every contributor beats with satisfaction at the result. Surely the greatest joy that comes to man is that following an act of charity toward a fellow man in distress.

A number of the young and enterprising men of Coalville held a meeting at the Academy building last Wednesday night for the purpose of taking the preliminary steps toward the organization of a savings and loan association, to be conducted and controlled strictly as a home institution. The interest shown certainly warrants the belief that the society will be pushed to success. About twenty-five signified their intentions to identify themselves with the movement, a committee of five was elected to draft a constitution and by-laws, and who will submit the same to the members at the next meeting, which will be held one week from next Wednesday. The formation of this society is certainly a move in the right direction, and if properly conducted will prove one of the most valuable institutions for the young men and for the town that has ever been established. It will teach them to save, educate them in business, and in many other ways prove of great value to them.

THE Herald, in commenting on the jubilee at Salt Lake on Monday, says: "The Republican party of Utah doffed its champion to Colonel Isaac Trumbo yesterday and it had reason to. When it was determined to have a territorial celebration in Salt Lake of the only victory the Republican party will ever achieve in Utah, Colonel Trumbo was selected as a man to handle it and he discharged his duties admirably. Very low rates were obtained from the railroad companies and all roads led to Salt Lake yesterday. The g. o. p. adherents commenced to arrive on the first train and they kept pouring into the city all day. They came afoot, on horseback, in carriages, on bicycles and on railroads. They came from Cache county, Sanpete and pretty nearly everywhere else, and, with the entire territory to draw upon, it is no wonder that Trumbo was able to keep his promise and give the people a great show. After the barbecue at the exposition grounds the parties took a rest and prepared for the grand splurge at night. For several hours the town was painted a vivid carmine, while torches flared, rockets flashed and the crowds cheered. After the parade mass meetings were held at the theatre and the Continental Market.

When Others Fail

Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the shattered system by giving vigorous action to the digestive organs, creating an appetite and purifying the blood. It is prepared by modern methods, possesses the greatest curative powers, and has the most wonderful record of actual cures of any medicine in existence. Take only Hood's.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or gripe. 25c.

A School Society.

A society has been organized in the district school. Some of the members of the society hold offices and have control of the meetings. Those who have held these offices up to November 9th are as follows: President, Annie Thomas; vice-president, Blanche Ball; secretary, Effie Allison.

The Fuller School Society met Friday, November 9, 1894, at the Brick school house. The following program was rendered:

Address, "Improvement"	[illegible]
Recitation, "Battle of Ivry"	[illegible]
Instrumental Music, "And of the Fathers"	[illegible]
Recitation, "Marco Bozzaris"	[illegible]
Recitation, "The Leaves are Falling"	[illegible]
Instrumental Music	[illegible]

The following essay on "Obedience" was delivered by Effie Allison:

"Especially in the schoolroom true obedience need to be enforced. If the pupil is disobedient, he knows that he is injuring himself, and no one else in particular, unless it be his fellow students, that school laws are not so right but that any student can observe them and profit by so doing. No teachers in these days will require anything of his pupil but what would be for the student's benefit, therefore it should be the student's principal aim to be obedient. It not only makes it more pleasant for himself, but also for those around him. A pupil who is disobedient is very liable to be the cause of some other student following the same example. It makes the schoolroom more pleasant, and I am certain it should be the most pleasant place on earth, but if there are students who disobey the simple rules of school the consequence is that the teacher is compelled to resort to severe punishment, altogether against his own will. A student should be made to obey, even if the teacher is compelled to severely punish the violator. If it were not so, especially in some localities, the students would control the school, but on the other hand, if all the students do as they are required, it creates love between the teacher and pupil. A student who disobeys the rules and is punished will always dislike his teacher and dislike to attend school. The consequence is that he who disobeys progresses very slowly in his studies. Be studious and always willing to do as you are asked and all will go well, but if you don't all will go wrong. Let us then all try to obey our teachers and he will be the one who will appreciate it."

Miss Lizzie Ball acted as critic.

The term had expired for those who were [illegible] school [illegible] for president, Martha Savage; vice-president, Albert Bullock; secretary, Nellie Shineber. The meeting adjourned until Friday, November 16, 1894.

The society holds its meetings every Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Brick schoolhouse. A general invitation is extended to the citizens to attend these meetings.

Aspiration of Youth.

Higher, higher will we climb,
Up the mount of glory,
That we may pass our joy through time
To our country's story.
Higher when life's welfare calls
Its who conquers, he who falls.

Deeper, deeper let us toil
In the mines of knowledge;
Nature's wealth and learning's spoil
Will now reward assiduous;
Delve we then, for every grain
Then the stars of darkness

Onward, onward may we press
Through the path of duty;
Virtue is our happiness,
Excellence our beauty;
Month are of infinite price,
Make we then a treasure of earth.

Closer, closer let us unite
Hearts and hands together,
Where are friends countless as
In the without weather;
Oh! this wander with who care
For the poor of life from home.

MISS COVEY.
