An Idaho Case

C. A. Troyer, miner, Main St., Wardner, Idaho, says: "I had a gnawing pain in the small of my back. When I straightened up after bending I had a knife-like pain and my kidneys acted irregularly and bothered me at night. A friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. After using three boxes, the pains disappeared and my kidneys were in good shape."

Governor Shoup of Colorado Affixes Signature to Measure Appropriating $6,000,000 for Big Bore Through Mountain Range

Denver, Colo.—Governor Oliver H. Shoup of Colorado signed the Moffat tunnel bill at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

The governor left immediately for Washington D. C., and upon his return to Denver he will appoint the five members of the board of tunnel commissioners. Immediately after their appointment the five commissioners will meet and lay plans for awarding the contract to bore the tunnel.

The actual work of breaking the ground at the portals of the tunnel should begin about August 1.

The bill recently passed both houses of the Colorado legislature with overwhelming majorities. It was sent to the governor following its final passage April 30. The governor decided to wait for the legal opinion regarding the constitutionality of the bill before signing it. With this to hand with the statement that it was constitutional, the governor affixed his signature and the bill became law.

Under the terms of the bill, $6,000,000 will be spent in constructing a tunnel six miles in length through the Continental Divide, near the foot of James peak, which will link a vast area in northwestern Colorado with Denver and shorten the distance between Denver and Salt Lake City.

SMASHING BLOWS AT TERRORISM

Indictment of Labor Leaders in Chicago Causes Trouble in Labor Circles

Chicago.—Police and civic organizations Friday saw in the indictment of eight Chicago labor leaders and the state's attorney threat to use against them the law invoked thirty-six years ago to obtain conviction of the Haymarket rioters, a smashing blow at what they termed gang terrorism.

In a long night session Thursday, a Cook county special grand jury returned true bills charging murder against "Big Tim" Murphy, head of the Gas Workers' union; Fred Mader, president of the Chicago Building Trades council; Cornelius P. (Con) Shea, secretary and treasurer of the Theatre Janitors' union, referred to as the "Big Three" of the Chicago labor circles, and five others.

The indictments returned in connection with recent bombing outrages and police killings are forerunners of scores of others, official said.

More than 400 persons were arrested in the past few days and but few have been released, with the greater number denied freedom even on writs of habeas corpus.

Additional Bonds Sold Quickly

New York.—Over-subscription of the recent offering of $75,000,000 four and one-half per cent farm loan bonds of the Federal Land bank resulted Friday in an announcement by the syndicate managers that additional bonds to the extent of $42,000,000 had been purchased from the farm loan board. The bonds will be used to retire the five per cent Federal land bank bonds now held by the United States treasury. The additional bonds have all been sold.

Man Identified as Explorer

Saranac Lake, N. Y.—The body of a man who died here several days ago was identified Friday as that of Dr. Carl Lumholtz, internationally famous scientist, explorer, lecturer and author. He was 72 years old. Lumholtz, born in Norway, was particularly famous for his explorations in Mexico. He spent seven years among the Sierra Madre Indians of northern Mexico and added much to the science of anthropology by his studies there.

Portland Rose Festival Postponed

Portland.—Portland's annual rose festival has been postponed by action of its board of directors to June 9-22, to insure a plentiful supply of roses. The original dates set for the event were June 7-9. Roses this year, in common with other growing things, are about thirty days behind their usual schedule of growth and budding, due to unusually prolonged cool weather.

Jugoslavs Approve Loan Conditions

Belgrade.—The Jugoslav government, it was announced Friday, has accepted the conditions of an American banking syndicate for a loan of $100,000,000 at 8 per cent interest, issued at 80. The loan is guaranteed by a customs monopoly.

Carpentier and Dempsey Will Fight

London.—Jack Demsey, world's heavyweight champion, and Georges Carpentier, heavyweight champion of Europe, signed articles Friday afternoon to fight in Europe before June, 1923, according to announcement made by Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, to the United Press. An English syndicate has offered £100,000 for the fight and another offer, made by Douglas Stuart, a noted bookmaker, stipulated £75,000 for a fight in London according to Kearns' announcement.

WAR ROBS THREE OF MEMORY

Trio Among Most Unusual Cases on Record at Veteran's Bureau in Washington.

Three men who have lost themselves and whose memory does not extend back to the war where they received injury, are among the most unusual cases on record at the Veterans' bureau in Washington, D. C., among the long list of war victims. The American Legion is endeavoring to assist the unfortunate ex-service men in finding their relatives.

Hayward Thompson—at least that is what he is now called—is one of the most peculiar cases. He has forgotten who he is. In his head is an ugly shrapnel wound. His memory goes back to January 22, 1922, when he arrived at a hotel in Denver, with a bill in his pocket from one of the most expensive hotels in Colorado Springs. His memory, he now believes, lapsed somewhere, either far back in France or on the trip between Colorado Springs and Denver. Thompson remembers having had $1,200 in his pocket and access to many thousands more.

In searching Washington records for some trace of the lost man, it was found that a certain Hayward Thompson enlisted in the Marine corps June 5, 1918, and was discharged January 6, 1919. He had a wife and three children at Flemington, Mo., and a mother, Mrs. Louise Thompson, at Chicago. The man with a shrapnel wound in his head and no memory of any relatives at all, telegraphed in great eagerness to Flemington, Mo., and to Chicago. He received no answer.

Not so long ago a clean-cut young man appeared at a Los Angeles hospital. He wore an American Legion button. When questioned as to who he was he stated he did not know. "I think I am thirty-two years old," he said. "I am five feet, nine inches and weigh 130 pounds. My eyes are gray and I have blond hair. I believe I was a soldier. If any one can tell me who I am, or anything about my past, please let me know." The Los Angeles post of the Legion is making every effort to help the man find himself.

A third "unidentified living" lives at 735 North Thirty-first street, Louisville. He is known as Leonard Wells, to the neighborhood. His memory is hazy. He believes that he enlisted in the old First Kentucky infantry, and with the command was transferred to a replacement detachment and sent to France. His photograph was forwarded to his company commander, who recognized the face but did not recall a name. A machine gun bullet had pierced his abdomen and injured his spine. Another had injured the left shoulder cap. No compensation or insurance can be awarded to this man, the Veterans' bureau regrets, until his identity can be established.

France, it is said, has six of these "unidentified" living ex-service men. Great Britain has a few. These lost souls who cannot find their memories, and who know they cannot, present a spectacle unique and pathetic. They are lost and know it.

ON "GREATEST HEROES" LIST

Sergt. Samuel Glucksman of the American "Devil Dogs," Rival for York-Woodfill Honors.

Another rival for the crown worn alternately by Sergeants York and Woodfill as the greatest hero of the World war has been uncovered by the United States veterans' bureau in the person of Sergt. Samuel Glucksman, member of the American "Devil Dogs" during the war and decorated by both the American and allied governments.

Although born in Austria, Sergeant Glucksman enlisted with the marines at the outbreak of the war and although too modest to tell the story of his achievements while fighting against the Germans, the American Legion at Washington discovered that Glucksman fought in seven major engagements, Verdun, Belleau Woods, Chateau Thierry, Marbach, St. Mihiel, Soissons and Mont Blanc.

On the morning of October 3, 1918, Sergeant Glucksman started out to get water for his comrades. He returned without the water but with 20 Germans and a painful wound. The "Devil Dog" sergeant captured a lone German and instead of bayoneting his captive forced him to lead him to the rest of the advance party. Coming onto the whole batch of 20, Sergeant Glucksman waved a hand grenade and ordered them all out of the shell hole they were occupying and into the arms of his American comrades. By executive appointment Glucksman is now employed at the navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H.

Pithy News Notes From All Parts of UTAH

Ogden.—Stoppage of the city sewer system by the great quantities of mash being poured into it has resulted in Ogden, according to Commissioner A. F. Larsen, superintendent of the department of streets and parks. In certain districts of the city, he said, it was found the main line of the sewer was stopped up by the mash which had blocked the pipe.

Provo.—Snow-fed streams in Utah have continued unusually high, and, while lower temperatures have checked the melting of snow, the rain over the lower areas has temporarily augmented the flood waters, causing the worst local inundation of record in some sections, according to the weather, crop and range bulletin for Utah, issued by the Salt Lake weather bureau. The moisture, however, will benefit the range, meadows and growing crops. Fruit bloom is heavy and general, having advanced rapidly during the week.

Salt Lake.—In response to an inquiry from Governor Mabey, prompted by a protest from Utah sheepmen regarding the closing or vacating of a stock driveway over the White River national forest, E. C. Phinney, first assistant secretary of the interior, has telegraphed that the matter will be referred to Secretary A. B. Fall. Utah sheepmen using ranges near the White River forest have asked Governor Mabey to use his influence to have the matter adjusted.

Salt Lake.—Assessed valuation of mining property in Utah this year, as fixed by the state board of equalization, and subject to change at public hearings, should the mining companies care to protest any items, totals $48,003,583. Last year the mining companies paid taxes on a total assessed valuation of $61,290,470. Decrease in net proceeds of metalliferous mines as a whole more than accounts for the decrease. The value of the mineral contents of a metalliferous mine is fixed by the state constitution at three times the net proceeds. Last year the value of such mineral contents was assessed at $21,095,016. Coal properties hold about the same in value, there being increases in the values of mining properties in Carbon and Grand counties and a decrease in Emery. There is also a considerable decrease in the value of mining properties in Uintah county, where the gilsonite industry is prominent.

Salt Lake.—Hugh J. Cannon, president of Liberty stake of the L. D. S. church, for many years interested in the dairy business in Salt Lake and also a practical farmer and horticulturist, will be recommended to the state board of agriculture at its next regular meeting, in June, for appointment as deputy in charge of the dairy and food bureau of the state department of agriculture.

Salt Lake.—Patrick H. O'Neill, once a saloonkeeper at Orpheum avenue and Commercial street, was shot through the heart and killed by a bullet from a 45-caliber pistol in the hands of Nels Kjoss, a miner, who then turned the weapon on himself, dying shortly afterwards. The men are said to have quarreled over alleged attentions to Mrs O'Neill.

Salt Lake.—Cattle scabies has been discovered in Rich county, supposedly imported from Wyoming, according to word reaching the state board of agriculture, and Dr. A. J. Webb, who brought samples of the infection to Salt Lake, has returned to Rich county with instructions to do all possible in stamping out the trouble. So far as known at present, the scabies is of the "psoroptic" variety, in which the microscopic mite, which produces the disease, does not bore very deeply into the hide of the animal which it makes its victim. The variety of the disease usually yields to two dippings.

Provo.—Five counties in the Great Salt Lake valley are willing to place $12,000 at the disposal of the United States Geological Survey to match an equal amount from the federal government for a topographical survey of portions of each which will be suitable for use in laying the foundation for a study of the water resources of each and formulating plans for the utilization of such resources to the greatest possible advantage. A sixth county, Davis, may come into the agreement with a contribution of $1500, making the total $13,500.

Salt Lake.—Dr. Douglas Gamette, a Salt Lake graduate of the University of Utah and of Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia, has accepted an appointment as house surgeon of St. Mary's Free Hospital for Children at New York.

Salt Lake.—A widespread demand for rigid economy in the expenditure of public money is indicated by indorsements on a petition which is being presented to every taxpayer in the state by the state and county farm bureaus, according to E. T. Capener, secretary of the tax committee of the Utah State Farm Bureau. Copies of the petition have been mailed to every county farm bureau and local in the state with instructions to give taxpayers the chance to sign it if they wished.
