GROVES' PHARMACY
Olive Oil

Most of the Olive Oil that is used in this country is made in this country and adulterated with cotton seed oil. We have handled a great deal of this grade but have at last discarded it.

The best Olive Oil there is comes from Southern France where the Olives grow and is far superior to any other.

This is the grade of oil we now offer for sale, and while it costs nearly three times as much we sell it for the same—5c an ounce, or 50c a pint. Give us a call.

POET DUNBAR IS DYING

Paul Lawrence Dunbar, the Colored Author, Is Dying From Consumption at Dayton, Ohio.

By Associated Press.

Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 20—Paul Lawrence Dunbar, the colored poet and author is dying from consumption at the home of relatives here. Dunbar is one of the most prominent and noteworthy members of the colored race. He was born in 1872 of African descent, and graduated from the Dayton High schools in 1891. He worked on various newspapers and took the public platform as a reader of his own poems. His poems and other compositions won for him fame and distinction.

WANTED! LAUNDRY HELP. THE WALDO.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS

Received From the War Department By Local Recruiting Station On Subject of Enlistments.

The local recruiting office has recently received instructions from the War Department in regard to increasing the requirements for enlisting in the amy and limiting applicants for the cavalry and infantry to men who have had previous service and have been discharged with honorable character.

In spite of the fact that over 500 men have been enlisted by Lieut. D. T. Merrill, 12th Infantry, U. S. A., in charge of this district, and of a large number of enlistments elsewhere, the army to day is at the minimum strength authorized by the law, having been successively reduced from a strength of 100,000 in 1898, by executive orders of Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, to less than 60,000 at present. The large number of men enlisted during the past six month was due to the fact that they will replace men enlisted in 1901, during the war in the Philippines, and henceforth it will be difficult for a man to enlist for Uncle Sam's service unless unusually disirable.

Former soldiers are always reenlisted for in their case no time need be spent for preliminary training, and their previous service entitles them to consideration.

At present they are the only class of men who may be taken for the most popular branches of the army, the infantry and cavalry, and they may be enlisted even though out of service more than three months, the period allowed by law for reenlistment, although this restriction may be added in the near future.
