The Gold Panic.

We devote considerable space to-day to the publication of the report of the Committee on Banking and Currency in relation to the gold panic in New York last September. The committee labored hard to get all the facts, and the result is now given to the world. No one who reads it will fail to discern one of the most damnable conspiracies ever put in motion, and almost accomplished. Nor will they be slow to discern that President Grant, Secretary Boutwell, and every gentleman connected with the Government in Washington, were true to the best interests of the Government, and unflinching in their determination to break the back of the conspiracy just at the proper time. The report completely explodes all the charges that the President was in complicity with the conspirators even in the most remote degree. We hope Congress will promptly act upon and pass the resolutions recommended by the committee.

The statement of bonds issued to the Pacific railroad companies, interest payable in lawful money, shows totals as follows: Amount outstanding, $64,457,280. Interest accrued and not yet paid, $637,541.30. Interest paid by the Union States, $6,501,664.96. Interest repaid by transportation of mails, &c., $1,994,074.61. Balance of interest paid by United States, $4,887,590.35.

THE SPANISH CLAIM OF THE MEADE FAMILY.—This claim, arising under the treaty of 1819 with Spain, was yesterday argued before the Supreme Court of the United States. Prior to the signing of the treaty R. W. Meade, the father of Commodore Meade and General Meade, who long resided in Spain, had a claim against that Government on account of certain contracts and alleged injuries by personal violence, and which was about to receive the attention of that Government. Upon the signing of the treaty, which provided that each Government should pay its citizens any claims held by them against the other, and which had six months for ratification, a court which had been appointed by the Spanish Government to adjudicate the claims, deferred action until it should be known whether the treaty was ratified. At the expiration of the time Spain failed to ratify, and the court then gave notice to Mr. Meade to appear before it and prosecute his claim. This was done, and the court finally awarded him the sum of $372,879.78, with interest from May, 1820, the date of the judgment. Subsequently the treaty was ratified by Spain; one condition being, as alleged, that the United States should pay this judgment which had ceased to be a claim such as contemplated by the treaty. A commission was appointed by the Government, under the treaty, to ascertain all claims, before whom Mr. Meade appeared and submitted his judgment against Spain, which was ultimately rejected because it took the form of a judgment after the date of the treaty. The case went against the claim, in the Court of Claims, on technical grounds. It is brought here, the claimant contending that as its payment by the United States was one of the considerations moving Spain to the ratification of the treaty, the Government is bound to satisfy it.

A COMPARATIVE STATEMENT, showing the aggregate of certificates of deposit received at the internal revenue bureau, during the first eight months of the fiscal years ending June 30, 1869-'70, were as follows: For 1869, $91,997,341.76; for 1870, $111,148,784.28. Total gain for the above period in the present fiscal year over the corresponding period in the last fiscal year, $19,161,442.52, or 20 per cent. The receipts from the different sources for the whole of the above period in the present fiscal year cannot now be ascertained. Exclusive of the month of February in the two years, the principal gain is from the following sources: Spirits, $5,747,000; tobacco, $5,928,000; sales, $591,000; income, including salaries, $2,883,000; banks and bankers, $675,000; special taxes, $530,000; legacies, $357,000; successions, $190,000; net receipts for stamps, $417,000.

FROM J. C. PARSONS, Seventh street, opposite the post office, we have the "Herald of Health and Journal of Physical Culture" for March. Published by Wood & Holbrook, New York.

FROM J. Shillington, corner of Four-and-a-half street and Pennsylvania avenue, we have "The Overland Monthly" for March.

THE PRIZE CASES.—The decision of Judge Wylie, in the Farragut prize cases, will be found among our court reports. The bill for bounty claims by the Western Gulf Squadron was dismissed. In the case of the ship Metropolis, the libellants were allowed to amend their suit so as to make the United States a party.

WE ARE INDEBTED to Messrs. Smith & Strong, F street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, for a handsome chrome representing a collection of fruit. The design is tasteful and the execution is good.

Telegraphic Summary.

THE Southern railroad bill was defeated in the Kentucky Senate yesterday by a vote of 22 to 13.

THE BANK OF HOLLAND yesterday reduced its minimum rates of discount to 4 per cent. The opinion is general that other continental banks will follow the example.

AMONG the jurors drawn for the March term of the Albany county (Wyoming) court were eleven ladies, some of them the wives of the most prominent citizens. The excitement caused by this proceeding is immense.

IT was reported in St. Petersburg yesterday that J. McLeary Brown, secretary of the Chinese embassy, will be appointed to the place made vacant by the decease of Burlingame.

SILVER MINES of unparalleled richness have been discovered in Grayson county, Ky. The ore is found to contain a larger percentage of silver than any heretofore discovered. The mine is almost inexhaustible, and will be developed in the spring.

A MASS meeting of the ship-builders and ship-owners upon the Penobscot (Me.) bay and river, in favor of the bill to protect our navigation interests, introduced into Congress by Mr. Lynch, will be held on Thursday afternoon next.

THERE is much indignation in the sporting circles of London at the result of the boat race yesterday between Sadler and Heath. It is supposed that the result was pre-arranged between the parties for betting purposes.

THE resolution amending the Virginia constitution for enfranchising negroes and ex-rebels passed the Senate on Monday by a vote of 18 to 4. It passed the House on Friday by a vote of 58 to 18. It has to pass the next Legislature, and be submitted to a popular vote in October of next year. Under it ex-rebels will vote in October, 1872.

LAST THURSDAY a small party of intoxicated Piegan Indians came to a ranche some twenty miles from Helena, Montana, and their demands for whisky being denied, they destroyed most of the furniture about the premises and left. The three white men barricaded against the Indians, who returned in a short time, but were unable to enter the house, and stole twenty-five head of horses. The whites recaptured the horses the next day. The Indians threatened further violence.
