CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Forty-First Congress—Second Regular Session

FRIDAY, APRIL 29, 1870.

SENATE.

The House concurrent resolution to provide for the funeral expenses of a portion of the late Geo. George H. Thomas was read.

Mr. Davis hoped it would not pass. He had known Gen. Thomas through the whole war, and honored him for his noble character and his great military services, and would do him all honor; but he thought this should not pass, because it would be setting a precedent which would lead to innumerable cases of the same kind. He was sure that if Gen. Thomas was here he would be opposed to anything of the kind.

Mr. Howard concurred entirely in the views of Mr. Davis, and moved that the resolution be laid on the table, but withdrew the motion at the suggestion of Mr. Morrill, of Maine, when the resolution was referred to the Committee on the Library.

Mr. Sumner presented memorial of George T. Downing and F. G. Barbadoes, president and secretary of the National Colored Executive Committee, asking equal rights for colored children in the common schools of the District of Columbia. Referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. Fenton introduced a bill respecting commerce between the United States and British North America; which was referred to the Finance Committee.

[It authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to appoint an agent to inquire into and report the amount of trade and commerce between the United States and the several dependencies of Great Britain and North America for the information of Congress.]

On motion of Mr. Casserly, the vote by which the bill to appoint a stenographer for the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia was passed, was reconsidered, and the bill was again placed on the calendar.

The House concurrent resolution appropriating $1,000 for the purpose of making experiments in ventilating the halls of the Capitol was taken up.

Mr. Trumbull would not object to this resolution, but believed that no good could come of it. The ventilation of these halls was a perfect failure, and a proper ventilation would never be secured until the halls were extended to the extension of the building, so that the fresh air could enter.

Mr. Fowler did not know who had done it, but it was certain that the ventilation of this chamber had been better this session than ever before.

The resolution was then passed.

The bill to provide for the creation of corporations in the District of Columbia by general law was taken up and passed.

The bill to incorporate the Washington and Georgetown Railroad Company was passed.

The following bills were also passed:

Joint resolution authorizing the supply of rations for instruction and practice to certain colleges and universities.

Joint resolution for the return of evidence of honorable discharge to officers.

The House bill to authorize the corporate authorities of Georgetown, D. C., to pave and improve the streets thereof, was passed.

The Senate bill for the same purpose was indefinitely postponed.

The bill to incorporate the Zoological Society of Washington was passed, the third and fourth sections being stricken out; also the part allowing wire material to be imported free.

The bill to establish a National Institute of Applied Sciences coming up,

Mr. Howard said it had a very large name for what he feared was a very small affair. He suggested that it could come in under the general incorporation law, and on his motion was indefinitely postponed.

The Senate then, at 1 p. m., went into executive session, and after some time spent therein adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The regular order was demanded immediately after the reading of the Journal, which was the call of committees for bills of private nature, and a number of private bills were reported from the Military Committee and passed.

Mr. Stevenson, of Ohio, desired to call up a contested election case from the Third Louisiana district.

Mr. Schenck resisted the motion, and the motion was submitted to the House; which came to take up the case.

Mr. Ingersoll, of Ill., moved to go to business on the Speaker's table; and after a short discussion as to the consideration of the order of the House, it was agreed that one hour should be devoted to business on the Speaker's table.

A number of bills on the Speaker's table were then disposed of, and among them the following:

Senate amendments to House bill extending time for revising and consolidating the statutes of the United States were concurred in.

Senate amendments to the House bill to incorporate the Washington Market Company were then read.

Mr. Tanner, of N. Y., moved that the House non-concur in the Senate amendments, and ask a committee of conference be requested.

Mr. Van Wyck, of N. Y., wanted to discuss the question. He said it was proposed to give away a piece of land worth at least a million dollars for the paltry sum of $18,000. The Senate had increased it to $25,000, and yet it was proposed to non-concur.

Mr. Tanner, who held the floor, said he did not yield for discussion. He did not propose to delay the business of the House. He wanted a direct vote.

Mr. Van Wyck thought there was no business more important than this, as the Government should protect its interests here.

Mr. Tanner insisted that he would not yield to debate.

Mr. Sedgfield, of Pa., moved to lay the bill on the table.

On a vote by tellers, it was decided in the affirmative.

The yeas and nays were then demanded, and the result was announced as 95 yeas to 41 nays.

It is stated, however, that a subsequent tally and revision of the tellers' list showed the vote to be 95 yeas to 84 nays, and that it will so appear upon the journal.)

The House then non-concurred, and a conference was ordered.

Senate bill to locate the New Era Printing and Publishing Company of Washington was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Senate bill to fix the salary of the bailiff of the Court of Claims was referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Senate joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of War to take charge of the national cemeteries at Gettysburg and Antietam was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Senate bill to exempt charitable institutions from taxation was referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

Senate bill to incorporate the Metropolitan Presbyterian Church of Washington was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Senate bill making a grant of public land for railroad and telegraph line from Astoria to Portland in Oregon, was taken up.

Mr. Holman, of Ind., opposed the bill and moved its reference to the Committee on Public Lands. He thought the prevailing evil was of giving away the public lands to railroad companies or other corporations as a fraud on the laboring classes, and contended that the lands granted to railroad corporations should not be used as Congress has intended they should for actual settlement and occupation.

Mr. Wood, of N. Y., in corroboration of what Mr. Holman had just said, stated that he was within his knowledge that railroad companies had gone to European cities to obtain loans, and had no security to offer, other than the bounty in lands granted to them by the United States Congress. This proved the assertion that the lands were not used for actual settlement.

Mr. Holman continued at some length in opposition to the bill.

Mr. Schenck obtained the floor at the conclusion of Mr. Holman's speech, and indicated his purpose to move to go into Committee of the Whole on the Union on the tariff bill. He yielded, however, to a great pressure to allow the tariff bill to be disposed of, and said he had little hope of his chances of getting the floor before for an evening session.

Mr. Pitch, of Nevada, made a strong and eloquent speech in favor of the bill.

After further debate by Messrs. Smith, of Va., and McCormick, of Maine, the previous question was seconded on the motion to pass the bill to the Committee on Public Lands, the motion to refer was rejected—yeas 78, nays 69.

The Speaker announced as the conference committee on the part of the House on the Washington Market House bill, Messrs. Tanner, of New York; Logan, of Illinois, and Van Wyck, of New York.

Messrs. Knott, of Kentucky; Orth, of Indiana, and Rogers, of Arkansas, were appointed a conference committee on the Hot Springs reservation bill.

The House then, at 5.50, took a recess to meet in committee of the whole on the tariff bill at 8 p. m.

EVENING SESSION.

The House resembled in Committee of the Whole, at 8 p. m., on the tariff bill. The amendment offered by Mr. Garfield, of Ohio, to insert at the beginning of the paragraph, on "iron and less than ¾ of an inch but more than two inches in diameter, and on square not less than ¾ of an inch or more than two inches in diameter, or on round iron less than ¾ of an inch but more than six inches in diameter, or flat or hoop iron less than ¾ and more than six inches square, $11.20 per ton.

Mr. Garfield's amendment was rejected—51 to 44.

Mr. Hoar, of Mass., moved as an amendment the following, which was adopted: Provided, That rolled iron in coils not more than six nor less than ¾ of an inch in diameter shall be subject to the same duty as wire.

The next paragraph was read as follows: On iron or steel wire rope, or twisted iron or steel wire not less than number sixteen wire gauge five cents per pound; made of wire not less than number sixteen, and not less than number twenty-five wire gauge, six cents per pound; made of wire less than number twenty-five wire gauge, seven cents per pound, was, on motion of Mr. Schenck, further amended by striking out the words "or twisted iron," that article having already been included for in the bill.

Mr. Griswold, of N. Y., moved to strike out and insert two cents per pound.

While this paragraph was being considered it was much conversation and confusion, and the Chair was compelled to rap to order.

Mr. Rogers, of Arkansas, rose to a question of order, that there were lobby members on the floor, by their conversation disturbing the proceedings.

The Chairman said he could not take cognizance of the suggestion of the gentleman as a question of order, but if lobbyists were on the floor conversing, he would request them to retire.

Mr. Allison, of Iowa, moved to amend by striking out five, six, and seven, and insert two and a half, three and a half, and four respectively, and in addition thereto twenty per centum ad valorem. Agreed to.

Mr. Cox, of N. Y., moved to strike out the next paragraph, which is as follows:

"On iron wire cloth, two cents per square foot and thirty-five per cent. ad valorem. If painted or printed with figures, four cents per square foot, and thirty-five per cent. ad valorem."

The paragraph on all insulated telegraphic or electric wires or cables for sub-marine purposes, forty per cent. ad valorem, was read, when

On motion of Mr. Benjamin, of Mo., the committee rose, and the House, at 10 minutes past 10 o'clock, adjourned.

THE COURTS.

SUPREME COURT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA—General Term.—Chief Justice Carter and Justices Wylie and Olin sat in banc yesterday and acted on the following cases:
