Facts and Impressions in the City

Secretary Boutwell will return to-day.

Internal revenue receipts on Saturday were $1,081,012.06.

The crew of the Plymouth has been shipped at Norfolk, and she will sail for the Mediterranean fleet in a few days.

The Secretaries of War and Navy had long interviews with the President yesterday. Rev. J. P. Newman also saw the President in the afternoon.

On Saturday at the first public contest for prizes in the gymnasium at Princeton college, the second prize of $75 was awarded to P. T. Kelly, of the District of Columbia.

Post Office Established.—Postmaster General Creswell has ordered the establishment of a post office at Valley Mills, Woods county, West Va., and appointed J. S. Hall, postmaster.

Commodore R. M. Pennock, who has been on duty as a member of the naval examining board since last October, will leave here this evening for Portsmouth, N. H., having been ordered [illegible] of the Portsmouth navy yard.

In our local columns will be found a full report of the great McGarrahan decision. It is an exceedingly interesting [illegible] case, and will repay all persons who will peruse it. We shall publish a report of the trial from day to day during its progress.

Solicitor Smith, of the Internal Revenue Bureau, left on Saturday after an absence of ten days. His assistant, Mr. Wm. Armstrong, left yesterday, to be absent a few days. He will attend the National Convention of the Sons of Temperance, to be held at Newark.

Discharged Officials.—Jared Benson has been nominated as collector of the second district of Minnesota, vice Col. A. C. Morrell, removed. Byron S. Dunlap nominated as assessor in New Mexico, vice Samuel B. Davis, removed.

Supervisor Torrey visited the distillery of the vinegar manufactory and contents of David Wimpflheimer, at Burlington, New Jersey. On the premises was a secret apartment devoted to the distillation of spirits, and several barrels of the "article" were found in the building, which were neither stamped nor branded.

The Senate last evening indulged in a little warm work, devoting the time to the consideration of the Southern Claims collection bill, with the thermometer at ninety and the cooling ventilation Senate chamber not much lower in temperature than old Sullivan's Dublin, only with coals on the fire, so powerful is the heat which comes from the gas-burners overhead.

Naval Orders.—The following naval orders were issued yesterday: Ordered—Lieut. Lieut. Edward H. Miller, to Washington for examination. Detached—Chief Engineer O. H. Lockey, from the navy-yard, Norfolk, and placed on waiting orders; Assistant Surgeon Thos. R. Brown, from special duty connected with the Treasury Department, and ordered to examination for promotion.

Judge Hoar has left here for Boston and the Harvard commencement, but will return and close up the business of his office. He expects to resume the practice of his profession in Boston next fall. Assistant Attorney General Field, who resigned some weeks ago and expected to go out in about a fortnight, will probably remain in Mr. Hoar's office in connection with the office.

Deputy Commissioners of Internal Revenue Pardee, now connected with the office of Secretary Boutwell, will retire from the revenue service at the close of the present month. Supervisor Williams, of Indiana, who has for several months past been in charge of accounts and performing the duty of deputy commissioner, will, it is understood, be nominated as Mr. Parnell's successor.

Admiral Hoff, president of the board of visitors to the Naval Academy, has submitted his report to the Secretary of the Navy, the tenor of which is that the institution sustains its reputation, and its affairs are excellently managed. It is doubtful whether the report will be printed this year in the Navy Department [illegible] and cutting off bits of extravagance here and there.

The House Military Committee has appointed Messrs. Hecht of Pa., Broomall of Mich., and Slocum of N. Y., a sub-committee to investigate the financial management of the National Asylum for Volunteers. General Butler appeared before them yesterday morning and presented the report of the board of managers, showing what moneys they had received, and how it has been expended. The real estate purchased is worth more now than it cost, and fifteen hundred veterans are being maintained at a very low rate.

At the annual meeting of the Bunker Hill Monument Association held in Boston on Friday last, the president, Hon. G. W. Warren, read letters from President Grant and Generals Sherman and Sheridan, acknowledging the receipt of handsome diplomas of the association, accompanied by letters informing them severally of their election as honorary members, and signifying their acceptance of the honor. Commodore James Alden, Commodore Steedman, and Admiral David D. Porter were made honorary members of the association.

The internal tax bill, with the tariff bill appended, over which the House labored so long and painfully, was reported to the Senate from the Finance Committee yesterday, with a great number of amendments, some of them quite material. If the Senate spends as much time upon this bill as was occupied in the House the time set for adjournment will come long before the bill is ready to go back to the House. The number and character of the amendments proposed are such as to render it quite probable that the bill will go over to December, leaving Mr. Boutwell to go on under the present taxation in paying off the public debt at the present rapid rate.

The President has declined in every case to allow additions to be made to the original programme in visiting Connecticut next month. He will leave here with his family and staff on Friday evening, July 1, accompanied by Gen. Butler, who is the orator for the occasion, and will be joined in New York by the other orators, Henry Ward Beecher and Stewart L. Woodford. They will breakfast in New York, and leave at once for Hartford, where they will attend a card reception at Gov. Ewell's. Sunday will be spent in Hartford, and a special train early on Monday morning will take the party to Woodstock to attend the celebration, at which Governor Buckingham will preside and deliver an address, to be followed by orations from Woodford, Beecher and Butler.

Local Matters.

Complimentary Excursion.—By invitation of Capt. Thomas Stackpole, of the steamer Arrow, a merry company of ladies and gentlemen took passage upon the staunch little boat, and at 7 o'clock last night started on a pleasure trip down the river. A delightful breeze prevailed, and this with the pleasant company on board tended to make the trip very agreeable to all who participated.

Stopping for a moment at Fort Foote the steamer proceeded on her way to Mount Vernon, where five of the lady guests of the Mount Vernon Association disembarked, leaving the sacred soil the boat was headed across the river, and Marshall Hall, that pleasant summer resort, was made the objective point. Here a pleasant surprise awaited the party. The grounds were elegantly illuminated with hundreds of Chinese lanterns, while the new and commodious pavilion was brilliantly lighted.

Blackpole's band took possession of the music stand, and soon merry feet were "tripping it" to the merry strains discoursed. The swings of Terpsichore were thus furnished amusement, while the more staid folks enjoyed a delightful promenade neath the grand old parks surrounding the former homestead of the Marshall family.

At thirty was then agreeably pulsed, when the mountain spirit called the laborers to the boat for the homward trip, which was commenced about 10:30 o'clock, the party reaching the city shortly after 12 this morning, all greatly pleased with the pleasurable occasion, and full of thanks to the genial Stackpole for the enjoyment furnished.

A feature of the Arrow is the pilot, Capt. Ben Magar. This "old time rock" has been trying his profession on the Potomac since 1836, and to his day has guided the helm of nearly every steamer that has run in these waters. Capt. Ben is in his element on a pleasure party, and last night he jolly-ed and chaffed his guests with good-natured ease. The result of the excursion last night but proves the oft repeated assertion that Capt. Stackpole is a courteous and gentlemanly commander, the Arrow a staunch little boat, and Marshall Hall a delightful place for an enjoyment furnished.

Primary School Examinations.—Third District. Secondary No. 3, (Male,) Miss Victoria L. Nourse, teacher. This school was examined yesterday by Trustee J. W. Clark and N. A. Wott, esq., principal of the Wallach school building. Quite a large number of the parents and friends of the pupils were assembled, and listened with pleased attention to the various exercises. The school-room was very tastefully decorated with beautiful hanging baskets and choice flowers, and offered a very pleasing appearance. The little fellows acquitted themselves most creditably in all the different branches of study, but the examination in arithmetic and geography was of a particularly high degree of excellence, and would have done credit even to a school of a superior grade.

The premiums were awarded as follows: Gold Medal—John Darr. Exemplary Conduct and Punctuality—Frank Taylor, Joseph Osborn, Willie Falcey, Samuel Scott, Willie Lehman, Thos. Crutty. Attention to Study and Improvement—Chas. Fenke, Harry Burnham, Michael Chambers, Pennsylvania—Geo. Cramer. Neatness—Chas. Thorn. Improvement in Vocal Music—John Corcoran. Honorably Mentioned—Wm. Kelleher, Willie Hertzfeld, Eddie Bartlett, Pomfret Steck, Turney Meigs, Willie Camlo, Fred. Darr.

The examination proved very satisfactory to the visitors, and reflected much credit upon the teacher, who, though young, is truly earnest in, and devoted to, her work.

Notwithstanding most of the boys in this school were too soon transferred from primary schools, and have been a comparatively short time under Miss Nourse's tuition, the examination yesterday proved that the school is in no way below the standard of its grade.

We congratulate Miss Nourse upon her success, and the parents and friends of the pupils may congratulate themselves that the instruction of their little ones has devolved upon a young lady so excellently qualified to perform this noble but difficult work.

Decision of Chief Justice Chase.—Chief Justice Chase, in chambers, yesterday, announced his opinion upon the Alexandria and Washington railroad case, so far as the same involves the question of the status of the company controlling that portion of the road which lies in Virginia. Sometime ago the Virginia State court of appeals undertook to decide the effect of which was to give possession of the road to the Alexandria and Washington Railroad Company, as distinct from the Alexandria, Washington and Georgetown Railroad Company. Several years ago, when the suit was instituted, there was but one body claiming to be the Alexandria and Washington Railroad Company; but at the time the suit concluded there were two organizations, one with W. G. Shoemaker as president, and the other with Alex. Fraser as president, each claiming to be the Alexandria and Washington Railroad Company.

There was as may be remembered some months since much litigation, injunctions, by Judge Underwood and counter injunctions by Judge Hill, of the State Court, and for a day or so the running of the road by the Shoemaker Company was interrupted. But the Shoemaker Company kept possession of the road, and with their energetic managers, Messrs. Stevens and Dodge, have continued to run the trains.

Judge Chase yesterday fully sustained Judge Underwood in recognizing the Shoemaker Company as the legal Alexandria and Washington Railroad Company; he sustained all the attachments for contempt issued by Judge Underwood, but dissolved the injunction and made perpetual an injunction restraining any interference with the possession of the road, against the rights of its present holders, the Alexandria and Washington Railroad Company, of which W. G. Shoemaker is president. This ends the old contested litigation on this branch of the subject.—Alex. Gazette.

Local Brevities.—George alias Bonny Ward, a notorious Navy Yard rough, was sent to jail by Justice Handy yesterday, on the charge of assault and battery on T. H. Christman and Joseph Fox.

Judah Green stole sheep from Roland Grout, and was brought before Justice Clark yesterday, who committed him to jail for court. As Officer Roderick was starting with him to the jail his prisoner started to run, but shot shots from the policeman's revolver brought him to time, and he was carried to the jail.

The steamer Lady of the Lake left Georgetown yesterday for Boston with 17,500 barrels of flour for Boston.

Mr. Philip Berry, of Georgetown, was badly hurt while riding on the dock near the Chain Bridge. While attempting to cross a small bridge it gave way, and he was precipitated into the ravine.

Henry Hinter, Bowen's First ward commissioner, was at the City Hall yesterday, and submitted his accounts to the Mayor and asked to be relieved from duty.

Spreading of the Aqueduct Bridge.—For some time past a portion of the Aqueduct bridge, spanning the Eleven Locks, has been in a dangerous condition, there being no appropriation by Congress to have the necessary repairs made. On Saturday afternoon, about five o'clock, a span of the bridge, in extent about twenty-five feet, midway between the shore on this side and the draw, settled some six feet, owing to the rotten condition of one of the stocks. At the time a horse and cart were on the sunken portion, and a lady in a carriage, driving over, became so frightened that she halted her horse on nearly the same spot. Fortunately, both vehicles were safely got off, and the bridge is now barricaded, in order to prevent accident to those unaware of the condition of the structure. This is a very important bridge, as travel to and from the race course lies by this means, and farmers in the vicinity use it daily and hourly in bringing their products to our market. It is hoped Congress will at once make a liberal appropriation to put the bridge in a permanently safe condition.

The Finance Commission.—The accounts of the commissioners of the Second and Fifth wards were received to-day by the commission appointed to ascertain the indebtedness of the corporation. The accounts of the Fifth ward, which show about $30,000 to be due, are said to be in such a condition that will require considerable work to straighten them out. The accounts of the Second ward footed up in round numbers, about the same amount. The accounts of Commissioner Hinmer are said to be the best complete of those yet handed in. A number of other accounts were received. Mr. W. P. Bell assisted the regular clerk yesterday.

A Fracas and Just Punishment.—A Mr. Wotten was cowhided in the Pennsylvania avenue, near Four-and-a-half street. The affair occurred at the house adjacent and was occasioned by Wotten offering insulting remarks to the gentleman's sister, while the lady was walking along Market Space yesterday morning. The verdict of the bystanders was that the punishment was justly inflicted.

THE NEWS BY CABLES.

CUBA.

Successful Landing of Men, Arms and Ammunition from the George B. Upton—Six Filibusters Killed—Bonhomie to Pursuit of the Upton—Troops at Puerto Principe.

Havana, June 20.—The steamer George B. Upton has effected a second landing on the Cuban coast.

The following particulars are given in official reports from Puerto Principe: The Upton left Aspinwall on the 8th inst., and on the 12th reached Herradura, on the Cuban shore. There she landed Colonel Lond, with twenty-two men and her entire cargo, consisting of 1,000 stand of arms, a large quantity of ammunition, and a French repeating cannon.

Some correspondence between Cisneros and Cespedes, which has fallen into the hands of the Spaniards, shows that this cargo consisted of material left on board at the first landing, supplemented with fresh supplies embarked at Aspinwall.

Six filibusters have been killed since the landing; but whether they belonged to the first or second party is not stated.

The rumor that the Upton was ashore somewhere on the coast has started a number of gunboats in search of her.

Ten cases of vomito and cholera are reported in the jurisdiction of Puerto Principe.

New York, June 20.—The George B. Upton arrived this morning. The officers confirm the previous reports of the landing of the first expedition which left this port on the steamer, May 16th, and report the successful landing on the return trip of a force of 100 men and additional supplies taken on board at Aspinwall. A landing was effected at an unfrequented and unguarded port of the coast without being molested by the Spaniards. The officers of the Upton knew nothing of the fate of the first expedition until they reached this port. The entire cruise to Cuba, Aspinwall and return was made under the American flag.
