FOR PRESIDENT:

ULYSSES S. GRANT,

OF ILLINOIS.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT:

HENRY WILSON.

OF MASSACHUSETTS.

THE GENERAL TONE of all our Republican exchanges is extremely kind to Mr. Wilson. While Mr. Colfax's defeat is regretted for many reasons, it seems to be conceded that the nomination of Mr. Wilson has, if possible, strengthened the ticket. His identification with the labor movement gives him a hold and a claim upon a large portion of our voting population, which Mr. Colfax does not possess, and which, we have no doubt, will bring thousands of voters to the Republican party.

THE Eighteenth National Sangerfest Festival will begin in St. Louis on the 12th inst. A large building, three hundred and fifty-two feet in length and one hundred and fifty feet in breadth, and rising to a height of upwards of fifty feet, has been erected for the occasion. The stage will seat fifteen hundred singers and one hundred and fifty musicians. The hall will altogether seat about fourteen thousand people.

THE LAST CENSUS shows that the total number of colored people in the United States is $4,879,107. Gentlemen who are just now figuring up the political chances and probabilities would do well to remember that the colored people are the dominant race in the States of South Carolina, Mississippi and Louisiana, while they are quite close to the whites in Florida, Alabama and Georgia. That they will secede from the Republican party, even if Mr. Greeley should be nominated, is utterly out of the question, so that those States may be counted sure for Grant and Wilson in November.

COMPLIMENTARY.

In the editorial correspondence of the Sunday Morning Chronicle of yesterday we find the following complimentary reference to our representation in Philadelphia:

"The city was visited by a great many of our citizens. The delegation from the District was comfortably located on Walnut street, near Eleventh, with private quarters of their own, presided over by "Uncle George" in his usual hospitable manner. Our friend Murtagh deserves great credit for the enterprise he got up for the occasion, by issuing a large Convention edition of the REPUBLICAN, which was circulated free among the delegates and visitors. There was also a branch office of the concern opposite the Academy on Broad street, where everybody was kindly welcomed by the proprietor and attaches of the paper."

SENATOR PATTERSON.

We gather from a New Hampshire dispatch, in a New England paper, that certain influential parties have arrived in that State from Washington, and are now engaged in an attempt to defeat Senator Patterson for the Senate. Among the "influential gentlemen" mentioned we find the name of John H. Crane, of the District of Columbia. The citizens of Washington who know Mr. Crane will be very apt to smile at this announcement, but we assure them it is a solemn fact that Mr. Crane has entered upon the broad field of national politics to defeat a candidate for the United States Senate as worthy and as distinguished in every way as Senator Patterson.

That a man of his character should have been selected by the opponents of Senator Patterson to help defeat that gentleman in New Hampshire, does not certainly look well for the opposition. It is a proverb as old as the hills, that men are known by the company they keep. If he has succeeded, by false representation, in getting any one in New Hampshire to listen to him, or to accept what he says as the truth, it is, we are certain, because they do not know him.

That Senator Patterson will be injured by anything that men like Mr. Crane may say or do, we do not for a moment believe. His reputation is this city and among his peers in Congress is too high to be hurt by such men. We sincerely hope that Senator Patterson will be sent back to the Senate, which he has for so many years adorned. He is all that a representative of New Hampshire should be, able, eloquent, courteous and dignified. He has been true to the Republican party; has voted for all its measures, and steadily defended it in a hundred campaigns. To the Administration he has given a firm and unflinching support. The false lights of Liberalism have not led him astray, notwithstanding the strong efforts that we know have been made in that direction. In honoring Mr. Patterson New Hampshire only honors herself and New England.

MR. GREELEY'S ORGAN SATISFIED.

Judging from its repeated grumblings, Mr. Greeley's organ for some time past has found very little in the actions of the Republican party to please it. Strange to say, at this late time it finds something to commend, and stranger still, its commendation is brought about by one of the most important planks of the Philadelphia platform—that concerning the tariff.

If there is any one attractive feature of a political character in the Tribune just now it is embraced in the articles advocating protection to American industry. So earnest was its advocacy of this doctrine in its good old days, when the paper was regarded with pride by every Republican—when it studied the interests of its party and endeavored to promote them—that the Tribune was the text-book of protectionists. Indeed, since Mr. Greeley's acceptance of the Cincinnati nomination—in doing which he forgot the glory of his old battles in dreaming of ambition' gratified, and agreed to leave the settlement of the question to the Congressional districts—ever since this accommodating and agreeable acceptance, some of the old spirit of the paper has occasionally blazed forth, recalling a once faithful service in the Republican ranks. Perhaps these fires were lighted by an incautious gentleman who had forgotten, for the moment, that the philosopher-politician wished to have the tariff left to the Congressional districts for adjustment.

We are glad that Mr. Greeley finds some comfort in the great work of the Philadelphia Convention. His organ, in speaking of his pleasure, says: "It"—the tariff plank—"affirms the doctrine of protection so fully and clearly as to satisfy the Tribune, which has always believed and taught that doctrine—taught it to some of those who now proclaim it." Whether the Democratic free-traders will find equal satisfaction in the protection out-croppings of the Tribune during the campaign, remains a question Mr. Greeley and his friends will find it very difficult to answer. It will go far to make up one of many humorous elements which are sure to enter into the fight of the Liberals for the ascendency.

General Orders No. 36.

The following acts of Congress are published for the information and government of all concerned:

I—AN ACT to authorize the construction of certain bridges across the Mississippi river, and to establish the same as post-roads.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That it shall be lawful for the Western Illinois Bridge Company, a corporation existing under the laws of the State of Missouri, to build a bridge across the Mississippi river at the city of Quincy, Illinois, for the purpose of crossing persons and property, such as are usually crossed on wagon-bridges; and also to lay on and over said bridge railway tracks for the more perfect connection of any railroads that are or shall be constructed to the said river at or opposite said point, and that, when constructed, all persons and property so aforesaid, and also all trains of all roads terminating at said river, at or opposite said point, shall be allowed to cross said bridge for reasonable compensation, to be made to the owners of said bridge, under the limitations and conditions hereinafter provided; and in case of any litigation or allegation of obstruction to the free navigation of said river, the cause may be tried before the district court of the United States of any State in which any portion of said obstruction or bridge touches; and that all railway companies desiring to use the said bridge shall have and be entitled to equal rights and privileges in the passage of the same, and to the use of the machinery and fixtures thereof, and of all the approaches thereto, under and upon such terms and conditions as shall be prescribed by the Secretary of War, upon hearing the allegations and proofs of the parties, in case they shall not agree.

SEC. 2. That said bridge shall be at the option of the company building the same, to be built either as a pivot draw-bridge, or with unbroken or continuous spans: Provided, That if the said bridge shall be made with unbroken or continuous spans, it shall not be of less elevation, in any case, than fifty feet above high-water mark, as understood at the point of location, to the bottom chord of the bridge; nor shall the spans of said bridge be less than two hundred and fifty feet in length, and the piers of said bridge shall be parallel with the current of the river, and the main span shall be over the main channel of the river, and not less than three hundred feet in length: And provided also, That if said bridge shall be constructed as a pivot draw-bridge, the same shall be constructed with a draw over the main channel of the river at a place accessible and navigable point, and with spans of not less than one hundred and sixty feet in length, in the clear, on each side of the central or pivot pier of the draw; and the next adjoining spans to the draw shall not be less than two hundred and fifty feet, if the proper location of the draw over the channel will admit spans of this width between it and the shore, and said spans shall not be less than thirty feet above low-water mark, and not less than ten feet above extreme high-water mark, measuring to the bottom chord of the bridge, and the piers of said bridge shall be parallel with the current of the river: And provided also, That said draw shall be opened promptly, upon reasonable signal, for the passage of the boats whose construction shall not be such as to admit of their passage under the permanent spans of said bridge, except when trains are passing over the same; but in no case shall unnecessary delay occur in opening the said draw during or after the passage of trains.

SEC. 3. That any bridge constructed under this act, and according to its limitations, shall be a lawful structure, and shall be recognized and known as a post route, upon which, also, no higher charge shall be made for the transmission over the same of the mails, the troops, and munitions of war of the United States, than the rate per mile paid for their transportation over the railroads or public highways leading to said bridge, and the United States shall have the right of way for postal telegraph purposes across said bridge.

SEC. 4. That said company may execute a mortgage upon said bridge, and issue bonds, payable, principal and interest, in gold or United States currency.

SEC. 5. That the right to alter or amend this act so as to prevent or remove all material obstructions to the navigation of said river by the construction of said bridge, is hereby expressly reserved; and the said bridge shall be built under and subject to such regulations for the security of the navigation of said river as the Secretary of War shall prescribe; and the said bridge shall be, at all times, so kept and managed as to offer reasonable and proper means for the passage of vessels.

SEC. 6. That the plan and specifications, with the necessary drawings of said bridge, shall be submitted to the Secretary of War for his approval, and until he approves the plan and location of said bridge it shall not be built or commenced; and should any change be made in the plan of said bridge during the progress of the work thereon, such change shall be subject to the approval of the Secretary of War; and all changes in the construction or any alteration of said bridge, that may be directed at any time by Congress, shall be made at the cost and expense of the owners thereof.

SEC. 7. That the Warsaw and Alexandria Bridge Company, their successors and assigns, a corporation existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Missouri, be, and is hereby, authorized to construct and maintain a bridge across the Mississippi river at and between the city of Warsaw, in Hancock county, and State of Illinois, and the city of Alexandria, in Clark county, and State of Missouri; and the bridge authorized to be built by this section is hereby declared to be a post-route, and shall have all the privileges and be subject to all the terms, restrictions and requirements contained in the foregoing sections of this act: Provided, That the construction of the bridge mentioned in this section shall be commenced within eighteen months from the passage of this act.

Approved May 17, 1872.

II—AN ACT authorizing the Secretary of War to pay certain certificates issued for fortification purposes in Lawrence, Kansas.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of War is hereby authorized and directed to cause to be paid certain certificates or vouchers issued pursuant to military authority, at Lawrence, Kansas, in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-four, for service performed in the erection of fortifications at that point, as recommended by General James H. (A.) Hardie, Inspector General of the United States army, of his investigation into the claims of citizens of Kansas, reported to the War Department, and that the amount thereof be paid out of any funds under the control of the War Department. Said certificates shall be paid upon presentation to the Secretary of War, or such disbursing officer as he shall appoint for that purpose; and such payments shall not exceed in the aggregate the sum of three thousand dollars.

Approved May 18, 1872.

By order of the Secretary of War:
E. D. TOWNSEND, Adjutant General.

AN elderly gentleman returning home from church, began to extol the merits of the sermon to his son. Said he: "Jack, I have heard one of the most delightful sermons ever delivered before a Christian society. It carried me to the gate of heaven. "Why didn't you dodge in?" replied Jack irreverently, "you will never get another such chance."

COAL! COAL! COAL!

As many of my customers habitually depend on me to inform them when to lay in their WINTER COAL, I take the liberty to say that I think it safe, that now is the time to do so; when coal and freights are at its lowest point. In support of that I quote from the Journal of Commerce of May 28, 1872: "Coal thing is certain, that persons abroad need not expect coal to go any lower this year; consumers, therefore, need not hesitate to lay in their stock now, as they will not lose by so doing and may be greatly the gainers." I have several cargoes, of different kinds and sizes, coming, and am now taking orders, to be delivered on the arrival of vessels, at very low prices.
