THE HUNGARIANS in New York are organizing Grant and Wilson clubs.

THE straight-out Democrats of New York have issued a call for a convention to nominate Presidential electors and State officers, to meet at Albany on the 24 instant.

ALL that there is to Curtin's political position is this: If the October elections go against the Republican party he will be for Greeley; if they go the other way he will be for General Grant. Wonder if Governor Curtin believes that this shuffling policy deceives any one?

THE Tribune has been caught lying again. On Saturday last it charged that Speaker Blaine had received a large amount of stock for using his influence as a Congressman in behalf of the Leavenworth Pacific and Western Railroad Company. So far so all this being true, it is shown that Mr. Blaine was not in Congress at all at the time, and that the Tribune committed a deliberate forgery in altering the name "Blair," of Maine, to "Blaine," of Maine. This is pretty work for a Reform journal and the Professor of Journalism to be engaged in.

COLONEL RICHARD C. PARSONS is, according to the Ohio correspondence of the Times, having a pretty hard time in his district. His competitor was formerly a Republican, and has a fair share of popularity. Mr. Crounse believes that Parsons will win. In regard to the general result, Mr. Crounse writes as follows: "As matters stand in this State to-day, the election of the Republican State ticket is almost beyond doubt; and in looking over the Congressional districts, ten may be set down flat once as certainly Republican, four as certainly Democratic, leaving five Republican and one Democratic district as doubtful. In the doubtful Republican I have included both the Cincinnati district, the Dayton district, (Montgomery, Greene, Darke and Preble,) the Sandusky district, (Huron, Erie, Seneca, Hancock and Sandusky,) and the Marietta district, (Washington, Monroe, Athens and Meigs.) I have classed the Seventh district (Ross, Highland, Pike, Brown and Adams) as doubtful because, although it gave 1,588 Democratic majority last year, the nature of the canvass which John Q. Smith, the Republican candidate, is making renders it not improbable but that he may be elected.

THERE can be no longer any doubt that the Tribune has lost a large number of its subscribers since Mr. Greeley accepted the Baltimore convention and since it became the organ of the Democratic party. It has endeavored in several ways to account for this loss, the principal excuse being that the postmasters have thrown it out of the mails. The Times, however, has had the newsmen of New York interviewed on the subject, and ascertained that at the principal stands in that city the relative proportion of the sales of itself and the Tribune each morning are three copies of the Times to one Tribune. Now this looks bad. The postmasters have nothing to do with the news agents. They get their papers direct from the offices, and it is their interest to sell as many copies as possible. New York is pre-eminently the Democratic stronghold and the home of the Tribune. Why is its circulation falling off there?

It is no wonder that the shrewd business men, who care very little for politics and a good deal for their property and dividends, are dissatisfied and anxious to sell out if they could only get for their stock what it was worth a couple of years ago. But they cannot. There is a rumor in New York that the Hon. Thomas Murphy will buy the Tribune in a short time. He thinks the stock will be much lower after November than it is now.

THE THREE GREAT ELECTIONS.

The three elections to be held on the 5th instant, in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, will in a great measure decide the Presidential contest. During the last two weeks the Liberal Republican orators and journals have indulged in a good deal of "brag" in regard to those elections; they have claimed and are claiming now that they will carry them for their party; that Gen. Hartranft will be defeated in Pennsylvania; that Mr. Hendricks will be elected in Indiana; that the German vote will be transferred in Ohio to the Greeley coalition.

Now, there is not the slightest ground for these calculations. Pennsylvania is to-day more certain for Republican victory in October and in November than she has been at any period since the campaign began. Mr. John W. Forney has done his utmost, but he has not, according to the most trustworthy information, succeeded in alienating a thousand votes. Governor Curtin has come out against the State ticket, and his letter has fallen utterly flat. All this talk about Pennsylvania is merely Alick McClure's swagger and bluster. The State has been thoroughly canvassed and stirred up from one end to the other; the canvass has been conducted with signal ability on our side; our organization is perfect, and in many places superb; the soldier element is intensely active; the business interests are awakened; there is not a true Republican in the State who does not feel the importance of doing all that he can do to win victory in the coming contest; every precaution possible has been taken to prevent fraud at the ballot-box, and to secure a fair election. In the face of all this it is impossible that the Republican party should be beaten. We will not attempt to deny that there are Republicans in the State who have been influenced by the slanderous and malicious charges against Hartranft, but that they are numerous enough to defeat him is out of the question. Our best judgment is, that Hartranft will be elected on this day week, and that the Congress ticket will have a majority of at least twelve thousand.

In regard to Indiana and Ohio, we believe that both these States will give Republican victories. The contest is close in each of them; but when was it not close in Indiana? This time Indiana has been canvassed as no State has been canvassed for the last six years. The fight there is exceedingly bitter, but no one will deny that to-day she has within her territory more Republican than Democratic votes. Now, if we can only get that vote—and there is every reason to believe that we shall—the result will not be doubtful. Hendricks is a popular man, and in any other than a Presidential year would have an excellent chance of being elected, but the overshadowing questions that enter into the present campaign will be fatal to him. The same is true of Ohio. The Republicans have, in a great measure, neglected the campaign there, so certain were they of victory, but now they are actively at work; to use a vulgar but exceedingly expressive phrase, they have stripped to their work and will accomplish marvelous results during the next seven or eight days.

Without being at all over-sanguine, we await without the least fear the result of the forthcoming elections. Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Indiana are Republican States. It is true they are doubtful now, as they nearly always are in national contests, but they have uniformly come out on the right side. Their populations are perhaps the most intelligent in the Union; and it is on that account more than on any other that they are doubtful. But with the issues laid before them as plainly as they have been in the present campaign, they can render only one verdict.

GIVING UP THE SHIP.

The leaders of the Greeley party already begin to give up the contest. If any one doubts this, let him read the following electoral table, which is not Mr. Defrees' patent one, but that compiled by Horace White, the editor of the Chicago Tribune. In White's opinion the States that will go for Greeley are:

California	6
Delaware	3
Georgia	11
Indiana	15
Kentucky	12
Maryland	8
Missouri	15
Nevada	3
Nebraska	3
New Jersey	9
New York	35
Pennsylvania	29
Tennessee	12
Texas	8
Virginia	11
West Virginia	5
	185

According to the same eminent statistician, the States that will give their electoral vote to General Grant are:

Michigan	11
Alabama	10
Arkansas	6
Connecticut	6
Florida	4
Illinois	21
Iowa	11
Kansas	5
Louisiana	8
Maine	7
Massachusetts	13
Minnesota	5
Mississippi	8
New Hampshire	5
North Carolina	10
Ohio	22
Oregon	3
Rhode Island	4
South Carolina	5
Vermont	5
Wisconsin	10
	181

Mr. White, it will be seen, gives Mr. Greeley only one majority, and defeats General Grant by barely four votes.

Now, let us examine the Greeley column. Mr. Greeley will not get California, Indiana, Nevada, Nebraska, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and probably New York.

GOV. CURTIN'S LETTER.

According to the best and most trustworthy information from Pennsylvania, Gov. Curtin's letter has fallen very flat, and has thus far been utterly unproductive of any result. This campaign has developed one thing, so far as the Republican party is concerned, that no matter how strong or how influential a man may be within the party, when he leaves it he leaves it alone. Mr. Sumner did not change one hundred colored votes. Banks, Farnsworth, Blair, and the others did not altogether influence ten. It will be the same with Mr. Curtin. A newspaper correspondent writing from Gov. Curtin's home has this to say on the letter:

"Had he identified himself boldly with the movement against Hartranft a month ago, when sentiment was less settled than it is now, he might have had some influence. It is now too late for his efforts to have any effect except upon himself. Alexander McClure has been about the State boasting that he could compel Curtin to do as he wanted him to, and this has not prepared the way for Curtin's letter to influence those men in the State who are opposed to 'rings.' The most bitter enemy of what they term the 'Cameron ring,' if his enmity be honest and earnest, with some cause except that he cannot get into it, is the last person to desire a transfer of the State to a McClure ring, even if Andy Curtin be a member of it. Another week will enable one to judge more accurately of the effect of Curtin's remarkable recovery and participation in State politics. But thus far it has been without effect."

GENERAL HARTRANFT.

The whole force of the Liberal Republicans and Democrats is thrown against the election of General Hartranft in Pennsylvania, because they see in his defeat a faint hope of success for Mr. Greeley in November. The most terrible charges of fraud and corruption are preferred against him without the slightest foundation. If he is the bad and unscrupulous man that his enemies say he is it is certainly strange that the Press should have commended him as eminently honest and capable only a few months ago, and that the North American, one of the most respectable journals in the country, should advocate his election in the following strong and pointed article last week. Its reasons are:

Because he fought through the whole four years of the war, and was in every action of the Virginia campaign, distinguishing himself on all occasions by the greatest gallantry, and winning the high approval of his commanding officers.

Because he has served six years in the important civil office of auditor general of Pennsylvania, performing its duties with rare administrative ability, and so restraining outlays from the treasury as to render practicable the abolition of the State tax on real estate, which was accordingly repealed, and also the continual large reduction of the State debt, the surplus in the treasury constantly accumulating.

Because he has been, throughout the whole six years of his administration of this office, a most vigilant and faithful sentinel at the door of the treasury, and has saved large sums to the State in consequence thereof.

Because six years' experience in the management of the finances of the Commonwealth has eminently qualified him for the performance of the duties of Governor, whose most important functions relate to the fiscal management of the State.

Because he is an educated lawyer, and, in consequence of his recent training, much more familiar with the current laws of the Commonwealth and their practical application than is his opponent.

Because he is opposed to the conversion of the securities in the sinking fund for any other purposes than those designated by law and in accordance with the provisions of the constitution.

Because he belongs to none of the factions in the Republican party, but is an independent, self-exalted man, having faith in the principles and organization of the party itself, and determined to maintain its integrity.

Because, in this respect, he represents a large and increasing body of men who are resolutely bent on putting the party itself above all factions.

Because he belongs to no ring, personal or political, and was nominated solely on account of his force of character, his eminent services, and his marked ability.

Because his opponent is a man who held traitorous conference with the rebel commissioners in Canada during the civil war, as is proven by the official report of James Thompson to the Confederate authorities at Richmond, now in possession of the Government.

Because he represents the heroic achievements and grand revolutionary changes of the civil war and reconstruction, which reactionary demagogues and incendiary leaders are now seeking to overthrow, by returning to power the disaffected—or, at all events, not the war to be organized by the country.

Because, the election would be a death blow to the prospects of the Greeleyite coalition, and render the re-election of Grant certain.

Because he is a friend of the protection of home industry against the ruinous competition of foreign pauper labor and capitalist monopoly, while his opponent is a free-trader.

Because he is in favor of measures for securing to the farmer a valuable home market, by the creation of manufacturing concerns all over the country.

Because his election would introduce the civil service reform into Pennsylvania, by promoting to the chief magistracy the officer who has faithfully fulfilled for six years the duties of the most highest and most important office.

Because Pennsylvania has need, in the coming three years, of her best practical talent in the office of Governor—of talent trained in her own service and familiar with her affairs, in order to keep her up with the spirit of the times in the fierce competition to which she is subjected by other States.

Because his election would take the office of Governor, for one term at least, out of the sphere of mere personal and political ambition; prevent its being used to make or unmake Senators or Judges or Congressmen, and devote it to its proper sphere of usefulness, as was the case with the auditor general during his six years' service.

Because his stern integrity as auditor general furnishes assurance that as Governor he would be above reproach, and would bring to the performance of his duties a knowledge of affairs sufficient to enable him to keep at bay the corrupationists, and defeat many nefarious schemes.

Because he is identified with the advancing progress of the Republican party as represented in the tenets of the Philadelphia convention, and his election would be an indorsement of those principles by the freemen of Pennsylvania.

Because he has no sympathy with the pernicious doctrines of the State-rights school of politics, and would not array Pennsylvania against the National Government, and his opponent certainly would if in power.

Because he is friendly to all well-regulated corporations for the development of the resources of the State, and would favor an intelligent system of State banks, as well as a well-organized insurance system, and ample facilities for the creation of railroads, and the progress of external and internal commerce, while his opponent represents the narrow-minded prejudices against corporations that have marked the whole career of the Democratic party, of which he has been a life-long member.

IN ANSWER to the charge that the Philadelphia convention was composed mainly of office-holders, the Hon. Wm. E. Chandler, secretary of the national committee, bears the following testimony:

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE.
NEW YORK CITY, Aug. 29, 1872.

MY DEAR SIR: * * * I remember there was but one Federal office-holder from New England and one from Wisconsin. I think there was one from Minnesota, three from Pennsylvania, three from Kentucky, a few from Georgia and one from Florida. At the last count made by me there had been elected but thirteen office-holders as delegates, and I do not think there was more than five elected afterward. It is safe to say there was not twenty.

Yours, very truly, WM. E. CHANDLER.

A CORRESPONDENT writing from Bellefonte, Pa., reports the following incident:

A soldier in this village called on Curtin today, and, extending his hand, said:

"How are you Governor? Do you recollect when you presented our regiment with that flag?"

"Yes," replied the Governor, "I recollect it."

"Well, now, Governor, I want to tell you that Gen. Hartranft never allowed that flag to trail in the dust, and he is bound to be elected Governor of this State."

Curtin replied: "All right; I have nothing to say against Gen. Hartranft."

Election Notices.

OFFICIAL.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA,
WASHINGTON, September 19, 1872.

I, HENRY D. COOKE, Governor of the District of Columbia, hereby give notice that a general election will be held in said District on the second TUESDAY—the 5th day—of October, 1872, between the hours of 8 o'clock a. m. and 7 o'clock p. m. of said day, for the election of twenty-two members of the House of Delegates for said District; (one for each Delegate district, as created by an act of the Legislative Assembly of said District of Columbia, entitled "An act to divide the District of Columbia into election districts," approved August 15, 1871, and as hereinafter described,) to hold their respective offices for one year from the twentieth day of April, 1872, and a Delegate to the House of Representatives of the United States, to serve for the term of two years.

And that agreeably to the act entitled "An act regulating the holding of general elections in the District of Columbia, and providing for ascertaining the results thereof, and for notifying persons who may be elected to any office in said District," approved August 15, 1871, I have designated the following places to hold delegate districts as the places for holding the elections therein on said day, and between said hours, for the election of twenty-two members of the House of Delegates and a Delegate to the House of Representatives of the United States as aforesaid, viz:
